STUDY OF PROPERTIES OF WATER UNDER PRESSURE SIMILAR TO WORK OF OCEANS IN HOLLAND

In a talk to be delivered by Dr. P. W. Bridges, assistant professor of physics at Harvard university, on Tuesday evening at the college club Monday, the subject of high pressure gases will be discussed. In his new investigations, Dr. Bridges, who is well known for his work on the subject of high pressure phenomena, will give new arguments for the assumption that high pressures produce large quantities of water vapor. In his new high pressure gases and for the most part, have neglected any phenomena that may be expected to be due to low pressure observations.

Thus far his subjects have been unknown in the past, but in the last ten years, Dr. Bridges, who is well known for his work on the subject of high pressure phenomena, will give new arguments for the assumption that high pressures produce large quantities of water vapor. In his new high pressure gases and for the most part, have neglected any phenomena that may be expected to be due to low pressure observations.

THE DOWAN'S STAND

At the meeting of the men of the liberal arts college on Monday evening in the natural science auditorium, one of the speakers of the evening took exception to the stand of The Iowan on the universal training question, intimating that this was not the sentiment of the student body but only of a few. A few minutes later, the students assembled showed their approval of the stand the paper had taken.

WHAT MEN SHOULD BUY

WHILE THEY LIVE

When a man reaches the age that he needs the personal blanket of security, and steps into the realm of self-support, naturally he will be guided somewhat by the "old hands" who have paid their tuition for experience. He attempts to adapt himself to the vigorous limits that must of necessity follow. Tuesday a senior violinist was shown the Chicago Tribune which stated that J. Pierpont Moran had applied for one million and a half per cent of life insurance to be placed upon his own life. One million dollars to be placed upon the life of his private secretary. This additional insurance takes care of one man's income tax for the rest of their lives. J. Pierpont Moran expresses life insurance as the foundation of every man's estate. That to build upon a foundation of life insurance will very well. He also advises every young man who starts out in life be himself, to build his foundation. The fact that the Phoenix Building placed their limit of insurance which is $500,000 on the lives of both of these men is recognized enough to the Phoenix. It might also be a reminder for you to start the foundation of your future estate. Therefore, I will explain how a life insurance estate will be of service to the young man.

YOU can't make the best.

The best is out of the best, out of the finest raw materials, and our fabrics, are out of both. But it would have neither the luster, the weight, the full body that Hartman's have, if we had not been a manufacturer for 36 years.

When we select our models and fabrics of Society Brand Clothes we had you in mind. Come here and look them over.
