IONIAN BUSINESS MANAGER

Howard S. Davidson, business manager of the Hourlian for the year, will close the office July 1st and go to Cedar Rapids where he will meet with the quarter's advanced advertising. The Redhot Xylofor the year is now being published and will go direct to the chauvinistic advertising work which he will carry on all summer. In September he expects to begin work in the advertiser's department.

Miss Ethel L. Hasser, who has been chosen business manager of the Iowan for next year and is serving on the managing committee this year, will take up work at once on that work.

THE AMBULANCE UNIT
The State University of Iowa has two ambulances which they will soon offer for service to France.

Of the hundred and fifty universities called upon to send a unit, Iowa has been doubly honored by also being chosen as one of the fourteen out of that number to supply an additional unit.

In calling upon the State University for an additional group of men, the International Intelligence Bureau has recognized the willingness and patriotism of the men. This Iowa unit was formed in late February, and has been kept in constant readiness for service. The first call came on February 22, and the unit, carrying all the necessary equipment, went into service immediately.

Three weeks later the Iowa unit was re-established at Okoboji, with a larger contingent of men.

Is It Music or "Jazz"?

Pianist Explains It All

The insatiable hunger for "Jazz" which affects the modern dancer is responsible for the following group of manufacturers of that substance for music, written by a student musician who often figures in University facilities.

"I will not attempt a distinct definition for the word "Jazz" but will use your kind permission and as a professional artist I shall give you my own conception of the application of the word in its relativeRICT.

"After wipping the perspective from my brow, which has amounted to a result of notting a flinc/um suite, which collectively I call luck, I seat myself at the piano and listen to the resultant tuning up. After playing a perfectly good "Crescend" to the grinder, who has established a world-wide reputation for not being more than an eager one at a time, we set to begin.

"We start out with "Allah's Hallelujah!" sounding up with that old baritone that never fails to extract the ego. "She Left Me on the 27 at Kansas!" The crowd roars for more. We begin again, and by this time they have relinquished their eagerness in voicing their appreciation of the fine music and begin to notice that we are then there with the peak. They jump in unison as I hammer on the pattern with a violence that would make it difficult for Hindlall to recognize his own instrument, inciting the "beautiful" hideousness chord produced by a cymbal. "What? This is accompanied by something sharp and it natural in quick succession?" It is a chance to show the refinement of the royal order of music in this manner, but it cannot be helped; the dancers want music."

"In finishing a dance number I submit to hit the piano in the grandest of over. This is a very difficult feat for me, but after I work only on the excellence of my own rhythm. This makes a pretty neat beat with the dancers, as it gives an effect similar to that of a few trills of glee since falling through light, the rays and landing on a choppy of dynamics."

"Now that is real music, and if you doubt the truth of this statement right next to the dance, you should who have a cloud of dustly lady go into hysterics over such a wonderful interpretation of melody as we have described."

"What would you call it, music or "Jazz"?"

SUMMER COURSES
GAIN IMPORTANCE

Late docks have ceased to be the ruling class at the University summer session. They no longer enjoy the prestige of numbers since the summer courses are now a regular quarter in the University. Both students who wish to shorten or lighten their courses and those who desire for more hard labor can give them, are aware of the pressure that will come in the next 5 weeks summer session.

The prophecy made by Prof. C. G. Miller, chairman of the summer ses-ses of the discipline of the summer sessions, that the war would not affect the enrollment of the summer session in any way but favorably has been reversed by the registration. Most registrations come in each day and a great number have stated positively that they are coming, and there will not be at last minute the registration as hundreds as last year.

"Teachers trained in the Army will be able to come out and give the courses on any day, and the definite action of the U.S. government to regularize the military service is the only reason that the summer session moves unequally, not equal.
