"AN EYE FOR AN EYE!"

For the past, Joseph Pulitzer sounded the sentiment of the great university world Wednesday night in his address to the University when he advocated the "eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth" code of ethics for a settling with Germany. "The loss of battle should entail fifty miles beyond the Rhine that the Hans may feel the effects of a war of their own making," he declared.

It is a little disquieting to think that our dedication, particularly in university circles, must revert to a philosophy which originated in the same past, a system which was abandoned generally before the war. It certainly cannot be locked upon as a hopeful sign. However, it must be given considerable weight as a current philosophy which is the immediate hour when so authoritative a figure as the Professor of London University, who has seen the war waged by the Teuton's ambition, forbids it. It is more than a spirit of vengeance that prompts this message-laden from the warring territories in its advocacy.

It is clear that this ancient philosophy has been brought upon us by a degenerate nation, a people whose highest aim was to rule the world withmight. The philosophy, as stated by the speaker of Wednesday night was a philosophy which grew out of Germany's unprecedented barbarism. It saw its inception when Bolinger was translated from the German into all international ethics. The Golden Rule philosophy simply will not work when dealing with a nation possessed of unlimited egoistic emotions.

Our "eye for an eye" philosophy will not obtain for long after the war. When Germany is crushed, absolutely crushed, and made to feel the size of her own effort, then, and only then will The Golden Rule be possible as the world's standard of ethics. The mind taken by Doctor Newton will find endorsement by thousands of his colleagues in the university world.

THE DANCE LEAGUE OF AMERICA offers three prizes of $100, $50, and $100, respectively, for the three best patriotic plays suitable for performance by university groups. The subject must be American, but need not be historical, and the word "patriotic" is to be construed in its broadest sense. Any play concerned in the spirit of "Golden through service" and dealing constructively with a political, social, economic, or other phase of American life, is, for the purpose of this competition, a "patriotic" play.
