THE CAMP DOGGER
EDITED BY FORMER UNIVERSITY STUDENT

"Stookey" Fairall, Editor-in-Chief of First Series of History of the Commandant of Present War.

CIRCULATION IN CHARGE OF MILLER
Old Gold Circulation Man Handles Same Position on the Camp News Boat.

The first issue of the Camp Dogger is set. Edited by Lawrence R. Fairall, all of University newspaper fame, this official organ of the 85th division of the United States National reserve is being put up to its mark. Like its arcur, First in the Field, Neible Miller, former circulation manager of the Old Gold, is circulation manager of the new paper.

The Camp Dogger sign is short. Every phase of soldier life in the camp from the forty pounder down to the chicken with a rhythmic falaww to the old New York by the camp post.

The life history of Major General Plummer, commander-in-chief of the division, was the subject of the first issue. A description of the new range is given together with the methods of the range system of firing which has been adopted by the United States. Development of field guns will be a part of the equipment of the division, 24 of which will be the largest field guns in the service and which throw eight to twelve inches in diameter.

One of the strongest football teams in the middle west could be developed in the cause of the camp. This was due to the Camp Dodger. About half of the strongest Minnesota teams of last year and numerous men from Yale, Cornell and Nebraska aggregations.

As to where, when to adults, a legend to explain the emblems that are a part of the new camp, is the feature articles in each number of the Camp Dogger. A military expert on the order will answer all questions coming from the camp. A large column of comics will be included.

The Camp Dogger is published on order of each week.

Scrubs Play Well

Opposed to this, was an eleven who gave it a worthy composition in the shape of a driving school for the Backers of Caliburn and Jenison. Team VI at the extremes of the line directing ends runs, and in this Weiss was covered by the consistent performances of Dooley and De Geet.

At the right guard, Reeder kept up to the star of the scrum to a high degree, and again breaking through, was the variety backs of Backers and Caliburn. Moderns and Caliburns also ably flanked by Weiss, made Ken's backfield a very impressive and efficient one throughout the entire session.

Sprints, as frequently in the past, were made by Weiss, and particularly was this the case in the first forty minutes. "Treadle Jack Wilson continues to work those so physically so well further work, and result is the dash material.

With scrimmage, practice in progress in earnest, no longer will be capable men be able to maintain their positions, and the development of the next few days, will largely determine the men who can successfully wear the Gold and Black.
