BIG SEND-OFF FOR TEAM TO BE STAGED THIS MORNING

NURSES SUBSCRIBE OVER $378 TO Y. M. C. A. CAMPAIGN FUND

Hospital Women Organize Early and Make Large Contribution to University Campaign.

RUMORED LAW COLLEGE IS IN LEAD

Must Subscribe $15,000 to Save Good Name of University, Says Professor Weller.

The women of the University hospital have contributed $378.50 to the Y. M. C. A. funds. At the beginning of the campaign the women of the hospital organized under Miss Ada Ritz and canvassed all nurses and women of the faculty.

It is rumored that the law college is contributing better than any of the other colleges. The average of the freshmen of the liberal arts college is above what has been expected. They have subscribed so far almost $900.

The total subscription of the women of the faculty is $2167. The men of the faculty have so far contributed $1173. Reports from the students so far show the women students as donating $1613 and the men $1157.

A telegram from George Irving, national secretary of the war work council at New York City to Mr. Maynard states that the reports which have come from the small colleges so far have been very good. They are, however, looking to the larger universities for large donations.

"On the whole the reports have been pretty good so far," Prof. C. H. Weller said, "but they must be even better. To save the good name of the University we have to pile it up to at least $15,000 and I intend to do it. There are some people who are working their way through school and have no other means of support, and they are really unable to give. It is up to the rest of us to contribute to keep up to the average. We have met with very few refusals so far, and we ought to be able to make the $15,000. We may have to extend the time or even come back for a second drive but we have to make our apportionment."

EXTENSION GIVES COURSE

A short course for business men was given by the extension division, at Manchester, Wednesday and Thursday. Lectures were given Thursday by O. E. Klingaman, director of the extension division, on "Meeting Competition," and by Dr. P. W. Ivey on "Analyzing the Customer." Dr. Norris A. Brisco spoke Wednesday on "Efficient Retail Management" and Prof. C. W. Wassam on "Know Your Goods."

GIRLS SING AT OAKDALE

Several University girls went to Oakdale last evening to sing for the patients. They were invited to dinner and afterwards, put on a little program of songs. The girls were, Bernice Cole, Gladys Shoemith, Katherine Townsend, Alice Hinkley, Ethel Blythe and Gladys Coon.

More than 6,000 announcements for home-coming have been sent out by the Alumni association.

SOLDIERS TO HAVE SPECIAL TRAIN

Iowa Men at Camp Dodge to Go to Homecoming in a Great Body.

A special train from Des Moines to Iowa City for the University's alumni and former students at Camp Dodge who have been granted a leave of absence to attend the annual homecoming, November 23 and 24, is practically assured, according to Prof. F. C. Ensign, chairman of the committee on homecoming arrangements.

Several of the men in training at Fort Snelling have obtained furloughs to attend the celebration and attempts are being made, to enable Iowa representatives in other camps and training stations to be present. It is expected that the greater part of the University's great legion of military delegates will be assembled.

"There is no question but what this will be the greatest homecoming in the seventy-five years' history of the University," Professor Ensign declares. "Graduates who have not been back for ten years have written that they will be here this year. The coming of the soldiers in itself is enough to insure a great celebration."

"Every effort is being exerted to furnish the best of entertainment for the graduates and former students, both soldiers and civilians, and the large number of newspaper men of Iowa who will be guests of the University at this time."

IOWA MAKES BIG WAR CONTRIBUTION

Nearly One Thousand Graduates and Former Students in Military Service.

Nearly one thousand graduates and former students of the University are engaged in military service now, according to data obtained by the alumni association of this institution. Over two hundred men who were registered in the University last year are under arms.

At the first Fort Snelling training camp, 181 Iowa men were given commissions. Thirteen were appointed captains, 16 first lieutenants, and 152 second lieutenants. Among these were 19 members of last year's faculty. The institution also has a large representation in the various reserve officers' camps now in progress.

At Allentown the University's ambulance corps, made up of 35 Iowa men under the command of a former Iowa student, is making ready to go overseas. Fifteen former students are training at the aviation camps throughout the country. Practically the entire class graduated by the college of dentistry last year joined the dental reserve corps and are awaiting their summons. A large number of nurses, graduated at the same time, are holding themselves in readiness for service.

RIENOW CHAIRMAN OF AUDITS.

Robert E. Rienow, advisor of men, has been appointed chairman of the board of audits to succeed Prof. F. G. Higbee. Mr. Rienow announces that University organizations that have not already secured their books may get them by calling at his office for them.

The band which plays "Ramble" this morning at the Rock Island station when Iowa's fighting football team leaves for Northwestern may be somewhat depleted in number, but no one will accuse it of being depleted in the stuff which puts determination into a football machine.

Plans for permitting a big representation from several of the colleges of the campus were discussed in some of the colleges yesterday but no final action was learned of by the Iowan last night at 7 o'clock. It is anticipated, according to the chairman of the mass meeting in an interview last night, that no small number of students will be ingenious enough to devise some method of getting themselves down to the station at 10:10 o'clock.

When questioned further he merely smiled.

Engineering students last evening took action, resolving to attend the mass meeting at the station and return to classes at its conclusion. But here are the facts:

The event is a send-off for the team which leaves for Northwestern for the final conference game of the year.

The place is the Rock Island station.

The time is 10:10 a. m.

The actors are all students who can possibly be there, plus a large quantity of "Iowa Fights" and music by the band.

SENIOR LAWS ARE WEARING CANES AGAIN

The senior laws are again advertising the fact that they have reached the age of derbies and black cigars by wearing class canes. They were officially adopted and declared good form last Tuesday morning.

This custom was originated by the class of '17, in an effort to start some effort that would be distinctive. The canes are of black ebony, and a second ring of sterling has been added which bears the initials and numerals.

The laws now insist that the seniors in the other colleges should in augurate some traditions likewise. They say that they are in favor of having the seniors in all colleges wear canes as emblems of their greater dignity and longer experience in the University.

The class of '18 considers itself fortunate, according to some of its members in not having to alter any of the canes on account of the height of the members. Last year one of the canes had to be shortened.

BAND TO NORTHWESTERN

The University band will go to Northwestern. Almost enough money has been raised to defray expenses, which for the whole band will be $500. The money was raised by the sale of tags and by contributions. The band will accompany the team to the depot this morning and they will leave this evening at 8:10. Upon their arrival at Northwestern they will march to the field in a body.

Harry C. Westphal and J. B. Cross, senior laws, went to Cedar Rapids with the expectations of enlisting

Prof. Elsworth Faris was called to Texas yesterday on account of the illness of his wife.

COACHES SEEK TO AROUSE INTEREST

Plan Interclass, Intercollegiate and Interfraternity Games.

The greatest problem that the athletic coaches have at the present time is to get men interested in athletics, according to R. G. Schroeder, director of physical training. Upon this one thing depends the success of the different branches of athletics. Whether or not a college has a team that is a success depends upon the men who are competing for the teams.

In order that this thing may have better backing and may arouse greater interest among the men of the University the coaches and the directors of the different departments are proposing the installation of intercollegiate, interclass, and interfraternity, games of all sorts. It is thought that if this system can be installed in the colleges that it will act as a feeder for the varsity and furnish many more men for the teams than are at present available.

The first effort along this line will be in organizing, if possible, interclass, intercollegiate, and interfraternity basketball tournaments. Director E. G. Schroeder plans to meet the representatives of these different organizations and get them to forward the plan. If this initial effort meets with success it will be continued in other branches of sports and the result will be better teams and more interest in all the sports.

PUSHBALL CONTEST IS STAGED TODAY

Sophomores Hope to Break Traditions—Girls to Root for Favorites.

Stretcher bearers have been summoned, doctors have been mustered, two hearses have been ordered, in fact every detail has been arranged for the annual freshmen-sophomore pushball carnage to be battled on Iowa field this afternoon at 4 o'clock.

The traditional battle, long delayed (on account of the war), promises to be one of the fiercest struggles in the history of the University. Emulation and friction between the two classes have advanced steadily with the age of the school year, until the rival factions have reached a high pitch of antagonism.

Both classes held meetings last evening to complete plans for the contest, to study methods of attack, to take an invoice of the material on hand and to consider the dangerous personnel of the enemy, giving special thought to means of strategically eliminating the enemy's heroes from the contest. The captains of the opposing forces have each selected forty choice men to represent, two teams of twenty men each, for the first two periods of the struggle. The final period of the contest will be a free for all.

Loyal girl followers of both factions are determined to do their bit toward winning the contest and will be on hand to administer water and nourishment to their respective heroes during the intervals of push and pull.

The new steel shelves for the addition to the law library have arrived.

CLOSING SCRIMMAGE SEES IOWA PRIMED FOR NORTHWESTERN

Freshmen, Using the Formations of Enemy, Fail to Gain With Consistency.

HAWKEYES POSE FOR PHOTOGRAPH

With dusk slowly terminating the final practice on Iowa Field before the game with Northwestern tomorrow, the Hawkeyes went through a brief scrimmage with the freshmen. The latter, armed with the plays scouted from the opponents, gave the varsity a real workout; and the value of the first year men in the development of a team, received added proof.

"Follow that ball every minute," said Coach Jones in his instructions to the linemen on defense. "Never leave your positions until you know where it is." That the attention directed on the protective wall by the coaches of late, has had good effect, is fully evidenced by the stiff resistance offered the freshmen. Frequently Barron's men got away for long gains on some fake formation, but their advances on straight football are steadily growing less.

Team in Good Shape.

With the exception of the standing injuries to Von Lackum and Jewell, the squad has seldom entered a game in better physical condition than they will be when the opening whistle starts the contest at Evanston tomorrow. The varsity has received light work for the last two weeks, and every man is in condition for a hard game.

Reports from Northwestern indicate that the Purple is having an easy time. Following the decisive victory over the Michigan Aggies last Saturday, the Evanston eleven is evidently enjoying a brief rest before stiff work is begun for the game with Ohio State on November 24th. Iowa is not considered a very dangerous opponent, although the return of Laun and the defeat of South Dakota made Evanston sports writers hedge a little on dope.

Despite the value of every minute of light, Coach Jones took time out for a picture to be taken of his battlers. The entire squad arranged itself on the east side of the field and posed for a large group photo. The picture will doubtless appear in Luscombe's window within a short time.

The Hawkeyes are scheduled to leave for Northwestern at 10:10 this morning. Iowa is doped to furnish her opponents a close contest. Every student who can possibly get away is urged to be at the train, and give the squad a send-off which will stimulate every player to the height of his ability.

ON WITH YOUR OLD ONES.

A chestnut roast will be given by the Congregational students on Saturday evening at the conference house. The "Iron Cross" will be awarded to the one who tells the oldest "chestnut." All young people are invited.

SCRAPBOOKS PLANNED FOR SOLDIERS

Library Has Blank Books to Hold Contributions to Cheer Sick.

Clip that clever story and witty jingle and make a scrap book for our wounded soldiers who are too ill to be physically able to hold a book, or mentally capable of extended reading. The University library has a supply of regulation size blank books for this purpose which may be obtained in room 110 natural science building.

Instructions will be furnished which are based on the experience in England where thousands of such scrap books have been made upon the original suggestion of Rudyard Kipling.

"It is expected that the individuality of the contributor will be brought out in many novel ways with a great variety of pictures, poems, live topics of interest and serious articles and in fact anything which is cheerful and bright," says Miss Jane E. Roberts, University librarian.

Only a limited number of books is available at this time but more are hoped to be obtained if these are made up satisfactorily.

Cosmopolitan club will hold a short business meeting in the hall Saturday night at 7:15.

SHOULD STUDENTS KNIT IN CLASSES? FACULTY SAYS "NO"

"I'd like to see anyone knit in my classes," was the statement made by one professor in the college of liberal arts when asked his sentiments on the "knitting in class" problem. "My students have a difficult enough time trying to get all I say without bringing their knitting along."

Though stated in less emphatic terms by other professors, the foregoing statement expresses quite well the general opinion of the faculty. Heretofore, it has been an axiom that one cannot do two things at once and do them well when in comes the knitter who states he rabidity to "get" a lecture perfectly and knit at the same time.

This super-ability, however, is discredited by more than one faculty member. A language professor, while stating his sincere belief in the cause itself, decried the growing tendency of girls and women to knit at lectures, at church, in fact everywhere. As to knitting in class, he stated that it had always been his belief that one should put his whole heart into the thing in hand and not scatter one's energy.

A doctor in the medical college declared it as his opinion that if there were any classes in the University in which the subject matter was of so little weight that it did not take up all the student's attention, they should be abandoned.

"There seems to be a widespread belief that it is not at all necessary to knit in classes and she who does so is likely to lay herself open to the accusation of following a "fad."
