they have had practical in literary society debates. In extravagant speaking, is declamatory contests. Some of these, even of the achievements of Jeanette Rankin, the class officer in the.past, have started to public life. The admiration of the class and the little mad, who are the in the true worth of any junior woman's efforts. The greatest of all the important things is to give the new men a little competition.

ON THE TOP STAGE
Don't you remember when, in your more or less delightful youth, your mother had a party? You went to stay up late, maybe, so as to have to go to bed. When all the company had gone, though, you sneaked out and circled over the top stage, crawling your neck to see the people and smelling the coffee. But you wanted to be grown up and down there. Just like us now go to war. We have to stay at home and hole and think of all that have gone. So just fast enough, too, real, so that we can't go over to Prussia. There is no small, it is true, in the top stage. We can sit there and see at least a small part to what is going. We all can buy a Liberty bond.

NEXT WEEKEND NIGHT
They say that the Girl's class that gave a superior concert to an audience of 1100 empty seats and 200 attentive persons. They had worked steadily and consistently for months on the average of work. Such was their reward. Wednesday night they are pre- senting another concert, in which, they say, are to sell out last year's record. True musical work should not be unappreciated. They serve in return for their faithful and conscientious work a reversal of last year's ratio between empty seats and filled seats. The concert will be a real treat.

AMERICAN WOMAN DOCTORS
(New York Times)

The announcement that more than fifty women physicians and surgeons will soon leave for Prussia under the auspices of the American Hospital in France to be conducted by women physicians. The greatest number of doctors in all the world. The women's active participation in the war work. Thousands of nurses, of course, and other women workers have crossed the ocean to serve in war work, and many of women at home have been engaged in knitting and making hospital supplies. Even so, the decision of this number of women practicing physicians to the front is a notable thing both in the history of the war and the history of medicine.

A CLASH GRAVITIES
This year, the winter season of the class of 1918, has been a war year. It has not been a war year. Gradually, hesitatingly, women have assumed more control in University affairs. With a little success, so much confidence. The men themselves are pushing on with the enterprises and determination. Now, some 6000 women in the United States have proved their strength and 7500 have joined the American Woman's National Association, from whom membership this contingent of half a hundred women doctors is recruited for war service abroad.

The most important thing is to keep a line of hospitals and clinics to France and Britain to be conducted by women surgeons, dentists, bacteriologists, and nurses, to the entire extent of their potential power. By 1918, the American woman is armed with all the military strength of the Union, which it to the American surface and it to our support should be correspondingly prepared.

The women at the University of Missouri are planning a May fest to show the history of their state. It will be an all-university event and will precede the past history in the dances and the dances of the players.

What Others Think

The Iowan will study your express opinions in this issue. Your confidential opinions will be given more due weight, so we are told.

A few weeks ago an article appeared in the Iowan which failed to give the course of correct walking in the curriculum of the women's gymnastics. The writer thoughtfully engaged with the sentiment expressed in the words of some of our colleagues. Women at Iowa do not walk gracefully but all the women who would be engaged by the faculty to the university would walk as long as women go uttering about on an open field. It is a common thing on the campus to see thin girl-like individuals who look as if they had just stepped out of a picture of Vogue, their 3-latch boots crunching ever-decorated long into narrow shoes and throwing behind them a process of evolution once decreed should be uplifted, forward at an angle of 45 degrees. Shoulders lifted, thists ballooned, and heads thrust out determinedly. Wonder they do not walk gracefully. They can't any more than the Chinese women of a past generation could. The Chinese have awakened, however, and—perhaps should be the example of swimming American women and growing to sleep.

They have had great talking points in literature, society debate. In extraordinary speaking, in declaratory content, some of them seem to the achievements of Jeanette Rankin.

CONTEMPORARY OPINION

(The New York World)
The announcement that more than fifty women physicians and surgeons will soon leave for France under the auspices of the American Women's Medical College will doubtfully be hailed with joy by women's active participation in war work. Thousands of nurses, of course, and other women who have been in various fields of work. The number of women practicing medicine in the front is a notable thing both in the history of war and the history of medicine. Only a belief that generation age the very question of the woman's capacity for medical practice was in the United States.

Some 6,000 women in the United States have proved their competence and 2,700 have been the United Woman's National association, from whose membership this fortunate of half a hundred women doctors is recruited for war service abroad.

This special section is to establish a state of hospitals and clinics in France to be controlled by women surgeons, dentists, bacteriologists, nurses and girls, to the entire en- joyment of the women of the United States. The declaration through which American woman may be given a new admission into the woman's profession of France, and its appeal to American support should be considered.

CHIMESTRY IN THE GOOD OLD DAYS

What If You Had Taken Chemistry in the Olden Times When To Break A Tobacco Was A High Crime. The Reporter Within She Had Lived in Those Days.

Thirty years ago it was a serious crime for a chemistry student to break a tobacco pith. To break a tobacco pith was the most heinous offense imaginable.

For, the two hundred medical and dental students, who took chemistry in the old medical building, housed south of Old Capitol, had but fifteen test tubes, three beakers and a few old Desson burners.

In 1886, though, their apparatus was increased by an appropriation of $1,000, out of which the head of the department had to purchase chemicals and chemical apparatus to fill up an entire laboratory. At that time there was one professor, who had two assistants and one man on part time.

Of course, the chemistry professor in those good old days had an advantage over the modern professor.

ANNEX GIRLS GET OTHER QUARTERS

WILL ABANDON FIRE DAMAGED ROOMS AND LIVE YOUR LOW BUILDING.

Carrie had never felt quite at home for the rest of the year after fire Thursday evening, authorities say. The house is so badly damaged that other quarters will be used until the fire is repaired and for the remaining part of the year.

The girls found temporary accommodations Thursday night by moving their notes from the scene of destruction to Carriere Hall proper, where they were speeded in between the two trees already in the rooms.

Clothes were carried over to the temporary shacks in bundles wrapped up in sheets. The furniture was put back into the icon and a guard stationed to watch over it for the night.

Five of the fifteen girls made the fire, but the few will find permanent places in rooms recently let vacant in Carriere. The other ten found shelter in the basement north of the law building which is owned by the state. Miss Ellen Greer will continue as chaplain of the girls.

Lend Him a Hand

Your hand—my hand—

Every hand in the land stretched out to help him to VICTORY! That is the way that America is going to win this war. It is the only way she can win it.

We are fighting a United German people. Until every American is backing the boys in the trenches, until every hand in the land is stretched out to help, we cannot expect our army to defeat the German armies strengthened by the toll and sacrifice of the one hundred and fifty million people of Germany and her allies.

This is a war of national resources, and everyone must add his share to America's fighting strength if we are to make our superior resources count. Every hand in the land must be stretched out to help our boys if we would send them over the top to early and certain victory.

Save for the Third Liberty Loan. Invest in the Third Liberty Loan. That is the way to lend a hand. That is the way to make a nation invincible for freedom and justice.

Every bond bought now is a direct fighting aid to this boy in the trenches in France.

Lend Him a Hand
