BIG MASS MEETING
AT N. S. TONIGHT

IRVING MIXER

LAST EVENING

Irving literary society entertained a select gathering of friends last evening in the Liberty ballroom. A large number of members gathered to hear a short program followed by an informal reception. Members of the society gave a few short addresses, the principal speaker of the evening being Robert Jones, captain of the Iowa football team and formerly a member of the society.

TICKETS SELL FAST
Over 1600 Athletic Books Sold Out Until Wednesday Night

BANNERS AT IOWA CITY

Forty Varsity men Reporting Daily to Coach Jones—Freshman Squad Will Be Gathered to Hear a Short Program of Songs, Yells, and Informal Reception.

It is to be a banner year in athletics from the standpoint of winning a berth in the national tournament. The prediction of several members of the athletic board who have been in conference with the coach and the Iowa sports who is promoting the program of songs, yells, and songs, with the sale of the tickets is going to promise an event of former years.

A check on the number of tickets sold up until Wednesday night shows the program is being well greeted by the students. This is within four hours of the total in the last, 1917, season, when 14,000 were subscribed for by the student body. With the increased registration and the interest already on the increase in athletic spirit the board of directors believe that the present season will exceed any sale in the past. Tickets formerly sold for $5.00 have been raised to $7.50 this season to meet the expenses incured by the program.

Interest in football is growing highly among the large delegation of candidates which round the Iowa field for practice every afternoon. Coach Jones is in favor with the student body and there are good reasons why the present season should not be one of the brightest in the history of the university.

A committee composed of Roger Auker, Lloyd Nicholas, and Captain Leahman, members of A. F. L. seal, members of the "V" club, and the athletic board, are in charge of the program.

"ZIP NERBASKA"

These Eagles are it again. Have you read their song, "Zip Nerbaska."

PHILMORE MIXER

Philhamoniac literary society held its annual mixer for new and old members last night in the Regent club. Mrs. H. C. A. presided. Following the program the Philhamoniacs were served.

The May pledge of the literary societies, held in the name of the Pan-Hellenic organization, is as follows: "The National Pan-Hellenic council will specifically forbids any chapter which is in its annual pledge to pass from the fold of the national Pan-Hellenic without the express consent of the national Pan-Hellenic council."

STAY A HABIT
The beginning of the fall term resminds one of the first of a new year, when everybody makes resolutions, and proceeds to implement them and habitude but no one keeps them. One’s University life offers many opportunities which the average person realtises should be taken advantage of, not which resists implementation because of the lack of a true sense of duty.

Attending Convocation is one opportunity which students should con-cider an obligation and which is often passed up through sheer apprehension. The opportunity presents itself several times each year and to each one passes the student promised himself that he will attend the next one. Its a matter of neglect versus habit.

Convocations at Iowa, takes the place of chapel. It is the one big and small event where the faculty and students get together to hear good things about their institution and to worship from men who know. It is at Convocations as at the football games that a feeling for Iowa is born that will live through years to come. Many students interested in their Alma Mater do not credit the opportunity with sufficient seriousness.

This morning classes will be sus-
cended between 10 and 11 o’clock
for the purpose of giving all the privilege of attending the opening Convocation of the year. If the admiration believes it important enough to dismiss classes it should be worth while attending.

Make a resolution to attend Convolations this year and start this morning. A habit worth while is a habit worth having.

COME OUT TONIGHT
Everybody out for the main meeting tonight!

The first big athletic meeting of the year will be held in the natural science auditorium this ev-ning at 7 o’clock. The football team with its 12 men will compete in the first game of the season will be there. The band has been promised Old Iowa pep will be in evidence, providing every student turns out to do his share at the meeting.

Make it a pep meeting; let the audience ring with cheers let Iowa songs ring on in the rafters. Come out! It will do your soul good to imbibe the spirit of Iowa—life of your University.

Come out to support your team. It means a lot to them to know that on the admissible tomorrow there will be a wave of loyal roars that are for victory. Direct evidence of loyalty cannot be judged only by a waving hand-at at meetings.
The mental state in which the students go into a game counts for a great deal. Today the team’s morale is high, but the student body give an added boost tonight by boosting its enthusiasm and confidence. The team
may not win the game alone; Older
students have heard the statement
before from football men, men who know. To go into the game with the confidence of the student body to half the battle.

Some one has suggested that the University provide a service flag for the rosters. We trust that it would not conflict any Gold Stars.

If you want to get it straight on the World Series, go to the barbershop.
A bet isn’t necessarily a form of loyalty, but you bet your presence is.

An optimist is a man who carries
a bottle opener on his key ring.

If you’re For Iowa, you’ll be at the auditorium tonight.

These are warm days—in Pennsylvania.

CATHOLIC STUDENTS

The Rt. Rev. Bishop of the Diocese has provided a special mass for Catholic students every Sunday morning at nine o'clock in St. Patrick's church. Pastors enjoy special privileges at this mass and the students on entering may take any unoccupied seat. The instructions and sermons at this mass are arranged with the special view of meeting the needs of the students. Beginning next Sunday we shall have singing by our splendid student choir. All students who can arrange to do so should attend this mass in preference to other masses.

Wm. P. Shahan, Student Pastor.

SINGULARITY

The delightful assurance that the dress is gracious to good taste; that it is the best your money can buy; that it is the only one like it to have been sold in this part of the state, should prove a happy inspiration to you.

ALL-UNIVERSITY DEBATES RESUMED

Twenty men have signified their intention of competing for places on the University debating team to be held this fall.

This question chosen by the com­mittee for the tryout is "Resolved that organized strikes should be prohibited by law." This, however, will not be the question used in the final debate with Illinois and Minesota. The first tryout will be held October 15 at 4:00 p.m. in the natural science auditorium. Five minutes will be allowed each speaker. This will be merely an elimination con­test. On October 15, the final tryout will be held at which six members to compose the two teams will be chosen. Pursey scholarship speakers will also be required of each man.

E. W. Hitchcock, senior law and political science auditorium. Five minutes wins the race.

his prospects a thorough school of instruction last night over the fundamentals of playing the various line positions. He is making an strenuous effort to have his primary defense instrumented. With Storer and Synhorst, two invaluable tackles to turn the tide of the enemy's attack inside, and with Heldt, in the pivot position, a tower of strength that no conference team was able to shatter but last fall, it is extremely dubious whether the Cornhuskers' banks will be able to penetrate the Iowa forward wall to any advantage.

A light signal drill this afternoon will end all work for the Husker's until Saturday afternoon. Tonight a midnight band meeting will have started to revive the old Iowa fight spirit in the student body and to show the team that the University is behind them in a man.
