NEW DORMITORY NEARING COMPLETION

Interesting Data on New Dormitory Work by Labor Shortage

The department of grounds and buildings of the University has been active this past week in securing bids on the work at the dormitory. A year ago this building was begun under the supervision of Mr. E. E. Lewis of the College of Education in connection with the army training corps. Many other workmen have contributed to the building of barracks for the use of the men, but it seemed best to beg the army to contribute the most valuable work in the way of building toward the cost of the dormitory. The work has been begun and the present contract is $125,000, to be done by Mr. McGinnis, of Dubuque, Iowa, to whom the subcontracts have been given.

Discussions of the cost of the dormitory have been given full consideration. The board of education, realizing the need for men's dormitories, voted to expend $125,000 to complete the barracks into rooms and in the building up for use as a dormitory to accommodate 200 men. The work has been carried on with speed during the past two years, but during the past six months there has been a labor shortage. This shortage was caused by the need for men's dormitories at the University, which made it necessary to leave the building in a pretty fair condition after an inspection made by Mr. Wells.

The dormitory is being maintained at the University at an average cost of $100 per month. The dormitory is expected to be ready for occupancy in about six weeks.

FRENCH OPPOSED TO LEAGUE, WELLS SAYS

Ears Wells returns from Second Visit in France—Prices are High—Much Trouble

Ears Wells, who returned to the United States after a very brief trip to France, has given to the Iowa Memorial Club a brief report of the trip he took last spring to France, where he was a member of the American Legion. The report was given in the interest of the Iowa Memorial Club, which is working very hard to raise money for the Iowa Memorial.

Wells says that prices are very high in France, and that the work of the American Legion is being hindered by the very high prices. The work of the American Legion is being hindered by the very high prices.

Wells' second trip to France included visits to Nice, Marseilles, Lyons, Champagne, Munich, and Paris, as well as trips to other places. He returned from the battlefields, the study of the history of the war, and the work of the American Legion.

Wells states that the American Legion is being hindered by the very high prices.

WITHOLD YOUR HAT

More spent on the part of the senior societies and patience on the part of the student body will permit the inauguration of an All-University day this fall. The Iowan has succeeded for an abbreviation day for several years, believing that the present bookshop methods do not meet the requirements of a well regulated and democratic electoral system.

The two honorary societies of the senior class, A. P. 1. and Staff and Circle, have recommended that no class elections be held until a day has been set aside by a committee of representative men and women for such elections. The recommendations have met the approval of the administration. A committee is now out drawing up plans for the creation of an All-Class Day, A. P. 1. and Staff and Circle will meet again this week to complete the plans for the special election and arrange the date.

Next Tuesday day will fill a long felt need in the life of the campus. In the past, class elections have been handled in a hurried and disinterested manner, and have not been democratic. Other elections have been held at odd and convenient times throughout the school year interrupting the ability of students to vote at various intervals. The proposed plan will make it possible to coordinate the students’ interest and foster greater concern in class spirit.

The idea is to put the new system in effect this fall. Political aspects can be avoided by allowing the University a servicable withholding their hats from the political ring until other the senior societies have completed their plans of organization and named the day for elections.
