Maroons Do Not Look Any Better Than Iowa, Says Colonel Manna—Lauds One of Strongest Cup-

ons in Old Gold Machine Saturdays—Main Post-Up Today

Returned from a decisive triumph northward at Evanston, the Iowa football team has entered a strenuous week of practice in preparation for the big highlight of the fall, which will bring about the opening of the Big Ten and that a victory over the Maroons would be the acknowledgement of the success of the team.

Iowa stands in the Big Ten Conference in a good position to win the championship by the victory over the Purple, from which it is expected to edge Washington State on Saturday. The Maroons will make the Old Gold officials take notice, for Illinois and Ohio State suffer defeat.

Next Saturday, October 11, Iowa will meet Minnesota at Minneapolis, another game as munificent as the Chicago-Minneapolis encounter both in prize money and the Illinois-Iowa game, stated last night that the Maroons do not look any better than Iowa and that hardfisted playing the Hawkeyes can obtain the long end of the score this week end.

ARTISTIC DAY

One year ago the greatest war in the history of the world ended when the central powers surrendered after two years of ceaseless strife. At 11 o'clock on the morning of November 11, 1918, the Armistice was signed by the Allies at the quay at Compiegne, and the war which had been so long and so cruelly fought was at an end. The terms of the Armistice were carried out. A few battalions in some arm of the service are helping with the reconstruction work in France, but the great mass of the military men have been returned to the home of their fathers. There are many who have who will never return from the faraway land across the sea, and it is in memory of them that we observe Armistice Day. Through the blessings of its American best, are resting on the sunny hills of France. They have lost their, beloved, for, they. Died that we might live.

We pay tribute to the men who have given their lives that we may live. And to this end we have established a central organization in which their benefits stand gives the students a central organization in which their benefits stand. The council may place on its program of making many undertakings, which will attain results which will culminate. The council's program for the welfare of the students; will contain live times. Their memory will become.

The Iowa needs.
IOWA IS FAVORITE OF VISITING RABBI

Approves of Work of Student Council and Thrall House is Interesting Paper.

"Of all the many universities and colleges in this country, the University of Iowa is my favorite," said Rabbi Stephen S. Wise, who addressed a University audience last night from an invasion of Jews. The Rabbi is highly impressed with the sympathy and understanding of his audiences at this time. While in Old Capitol, Rabbi Wise toasted the student council in session last Friday afternoon and spoke with a few moments. He is glad to see Iowa taking such a step toward self-government and remarked that it had proved successful in many other schools.

The Rabbi enjoys his acquaintance with the members of our family and believes that we have many talented men here of whom we should be proud. The committee in charge has signed him to speak here again next year.

The faculty house is a most interesting paper, according to Rabbi Wise, who spoke about A. Devine, "he said. He felt greatly honored at being received by hand mints and cheering at his true Sunday morning call. He discovered it was off for A. Devine, not the students," said a member of the council. "The program has been planned with this thought foremost. Men who have been in service will speak. George Dillon, who served overseas with the University ambulance unit, will probably speak.

Decorations of the auditorium will be drawn and executed by the council. The University service flag will be prominently displayed and flags and national colors will be used prominently.

The audience will sing "Old Gold" and "There's a long, long trail a-windin'." John Parsons will end with the singing of the "Star Spangled Banner."
