ENGINEERS ORGANIZE BASKETBALL TEAMS

Twenty-one Games on Card Given Every Man Chance to Make First Tryout

Allen Wales, athletic director of the students of applied sciences, has formulated a plan by which every man in the engineering colleges can be seen in action on the basketball floor. In an effort to win the intercollegiate basketball championship, and to keep up the high standard of the university, it is necessary that the engineers of other colleges have the opportunity to tryout.

Director Wales has organized a team of twenty-one games, the first of which was played on the first day of November. These are to continue until January 17, by which time twenty games will have been played.

The all-American tournament which follows will be held on the last day of the following month; eight schools will compete for the championships of two sections and two sections each from the junior and senior colleges.

In this way, said Director Wales, "every man will have played in at least one game and we can therefore have, without cutting a single man, enough material to build a team that will be a credit to the university and the intercollegiate league."
Patent Leather Hair

HERE'S HOW—Rub a little Bandoline in the hair, comb and brush it till it lays as you want it to, and then pour a little Brilliantine in the palm of your hand and apply it to your hair. This will impart an unusual luster to the hair and keep it in place.

THE LISTENING POST

This may be Leap Year but we aren't being bothered any.

"Did you spend a pleasant vacation?" asked a pretty co-ed. "Yes," we replied, but not wishing to narrow her eyes we failed to add that most of our pleasure came from reading "Vanity Fair."

And may we write further that we found William Makepeace Thackeray a very human being? His lot on "How to live well on nothing a year" proved finely indeed. Before many months pass we may be practicing that somewhat quaint art.

The girl may not believe it but a nurse-clerk man once said that only parlor bovinales have their hair shocked.

A remarkable picture of General Pershing, published recently in the Life Magazines Register, showed the military leader "for the first time since his return from France without his hat on." This was amusing indeed to a dignified aunt.

Anonther senior said this would be best for the Post: "A junior model says the first hundred years are not the hardest."

Column contributors, you know, always mean well.

It looks like Afternoon Special Par­ler is trying to take the end out of the Red, White and Blue.

state high school association abolished the annual state tournament under its auspices, and the action of the athletic board will quit provide this competition.
Iowa Malec First Attempt Such an open tournament has never been provided in this state and this attempt promises to be an interesting affair.
A system of graded relays will be worked out by the committee in charge of staging the tournament whereby a certain number of the high school teams will have their expenses paid. It is possible that many of the counties which rank high will come under this provision.
The athletic board is now working on this issue and more definite inforamtion will be given out soon.

HAWK EYES BATTLE
Gophers Tonight
About to face one that will word for championship. Frank Shiblek, who has been playing a white-field of games at forward, seems to be about the only man on the squad who feels reasonably sure of a place. In numerals last night, Fliebner, Frenkova and Leaman were all given an opportunity at the remaining forward position while Captain Nick-son, Worth, Kasafia and Kahl seem to have established their waves a guards. McConnell is developing fast at center and looks much better than he did before vacation. He may be able to land a regular job.
Karl Kuppler a former Iowa City high school star, turned to as a player of exceptional ability, made his first appearance on the floor Wednesday night. He may be a strong con-inder for a place on the regulars when he works into condition.
Next week end, the Iowa squad will make another long trip before the Alumni games.
