WALPOLE LECTURES ON THE PERIODS IN A NOVELIST'S LIFE

Many Interesting Points Given by Author Both in His Lecture and in Interview

"YOU RUTH" NEW NOVEL

Will Read Tour in April—Last Night's Lecture: His Fortieth in American Universities—"You Ruth" Will Be Published Again—Indianapolis is His Favorite City

By courtesy Illustrations from his own life. Ralph Waldo Emerson used the three great periods in the development of a novelist as his lecture, "Creating a Novel," given to a large audience in the natural science auditorium last night.

New Winter Unconventionalism

Unconventionalism describes the first stage in the growth of a writer. Mr. Walpole says. The beginning is full of confusion, and has many impulses in it. When his first book is written there is a kind of conflict and conflict and the realization that he is prominent in the public eye makes him feel that he has reached the novel period and the novel is a realization of "Life as it is." The third period Mr. Walpole's life is over, and he has looked back at his experiences in Russia during the war. It is his point of view in all experiences, his novel dealing with this phase is "The Sacred City."

Religion Theme "Young Ruth"

The theme of "Young Ruth" is the New Testament. This is being published this autumn, says Ralph Walpole, British novelist. It will not deal with any religious subject, not even with religious services, but deals with the opposing forces of rational and religious thought, and the relation of each to the life of the girl. The setting is London.

No More Child Sketches

Mr. Walpole will not attempt another child sketch, such as "Sweeney" in spite of the fact that it has been his most popular book. He qualified his statement, however, by a "At least, not for a long time." He agreed that the publisher advertised "Paper" misleadingly so as to appear to be a "Philosophy book." That phrase, "a happy return of laughter and tears," he concluded.

Last night's lecture was the fortieth in his tour of America which will end in April, when he returns to England. Portland, Oregon, is his next stop after the lecture at De Moines today. Indianapolis was a good town for Mr. Walpole. He was greatly interested in the city, who visited that city three times. He enjoys lecturing, but he "can't help it."

Mr. Cooper to Speak

John Wallace Cooper, district agent of the National Life Insurance Company, will speak tonight at the Coliseum in connection with the Coliseum's Wednesday night entertainment, "The Sacred City." Cooper will give a talk on the needs of the city, and the way the church should meet them. He will be in charge of the office of the superintendent of the city of Des Moines, and the Old Capital building, according to an announcement under the signature of W. F. Walpole. Mr. Cooper will speak on the need of a confessional church, and the way the church should meet the needs of the city. Cooper will speak on the need of a confessional church, and the way the church should meet the needs of the city.

It is the best way to start the new year, said Cooper. He said that the church is the only place where people can get help and comfort in their lives. He said that the church should be a place where people can get help and comfort in their lives.

Hawkeye Editor Sets Dead Line For Groups

Pictures of All Organizations Must Be In By February 10, Declares Editor-In-Chief

Gives pictures for the Hawkeye must be in the hands of the editor not later than February 10, according to Fred Parker, editor-in-chief of this year's book. A plan is being worked out whereby the organizations that have not already had their pictures taken will be allotted a certain date and a studio: spot assigned to them for their sitting. Some forty organizations on the campus have not arranged for their sittings yet, and the sooner the matter is attended to, the better it will be for both the Hawkeye and the organizations in that better work can be done when the engraving is made. The management says, the expense attached to these group pictures will vary somewhat. The price set for a fraternity page will be $25, exclusive of the $25 charge from the editors appointed secretary and treasurer for the photos may be mounted singly or are similarly grouped. Pictures of class officers are being called for now and the editors have been busy for some time looking after all the various students interested in getting these pictures and arranging for a sitting.

Suits and Overcoats Begins Today

WING to merchandise scarcity and the tremendous demand for our goods this past season there is no chance for a large, general clearance sale. However, to maintain a tradition and not to disappoint many of our customers who have been expecting and waiting for our semi-annual event, we have marked all of our prices on Hart Schaffner & Marx clothes at a lower margin than ever before.

To get enough Suits and Overcoats for early fall we were forced to double our orders. Due to this fact deliveries are still coming to us at the old prices and we are giving you the benefit of the prices we paid for these clothes months ago. It is the absolute truth that we cannot buy these very same clothes on today’s market at the prices we are quoting to you here.
