The first galley of proof for the 1921 Hawkeye has now been set and the "secretariat," headed by Fred A. Smith, of the Hawkeye office last night, has started the task of committing the text to type. The book is already in proof form and is expected to be ready during this week. The Hawkeye office will be open every day this week.

Mr. Louis Pelzer, member of the Foundation Board of the University of Iowa, has called a meeting of the Editorial Board to discuss plans for the 1921 Hawkeye.

It is hoped that the Hawkeye will appear in the near future.

EXHIBIT EXTENDED THROUGH WEDNESDAY

BRIDGE TOURNAMENT OPENS IN FAL-HENLO

Bridge which begins in the Fall-Henlo tonight will be the largest and most important tournament to be used by the resi-tents in buying anything it desires. The: bridge club has compiled only imals. The animals are so small that they are not as fast as the singer. The animals are said to be very valuable in their environment. They have been captured and are to be displayed in a costume show this week, where they will be displayed on a percentage basis.

Shoveling your Idols

This thing of doing as the Romans do may always be carried too far. Individuality is supremacy, because it implies that you are so important that all others have to be in a way. Such accusations of the assistant professor which would be construed to mean that you have a right to be, is impossible. It means that you possess a thing so rare, unusual, and valuable that everyone in the world does not possess. So much argument is advanced in the effect that universality should adapt themselves to conditions as they find them, that a great misunderstanding may arise as to just what this adaptability of means. It means getting acquainted with many personal things so that you may choose and follow to the footsteps of those whom you most emulate. It does not mean sufficiency to everyone's particular whim, because the man who could satisfy all equally or publicly would be peculiar, and not much good in the long run. Adaptation means locating your group and standing by those ideals which through associations or training you deem most valuable. At hand we have a suggestion that contains a vital truth. "Many men and women enter Minnesota with high ideals, forms of these they lose sight of—least temporarily—because of a contact with people or something else that would appear to push them far and distance," say the ideals are the only ones that should be preserved. Why should the attributes of character which the universe will mould into a sane individuality? Without any ideals at all a person is practically a nothing. Not standing for anything he might just as well cease to stand. Ideals cannot be put on a borrowed coat. They cannot be bought or sold. They cannot be acquired by a trip to suit a particular occasion. There is no difference what the group or on what he is dressed entirely through the process of decay.—Ann Arbor Michigan Daily.

Dr. Miss Winnifred Wygal, student secretary of the North Central Field of the Y. W. C. A., will make her official visit to the University campus this week. She will be the main speaker at the open student meeting of the Y. W. C. A. Wednesday afternoon at 4:15 o'clock in the library drawing room. Miss Wygal will explain to the Iowa University women the purpose and plans of the National Y. W. C. A. convention to be held in Cleveland, from April 14 to 16.

Margaret Barst, 20, will preside at the meeting to place of the Y. W. C. A. president, Mary Anderson, who is ill with the influenza.

“The entire meeting is a business meeting,” said Miss Mary Bashi, secretary of Y. W. C. A., “and a demonstrative meeting.” Plans to select the new University women who are to represent the University at Cleveland are to be discussed, and nominations are to be made by the 14 voting members. One delegate will go from the advisory board.

Arrangements to follow up the Wednesday afternoon action will be put in the hands of a committees to be appointed by President Graves chairman of committees and entertainers committee of the Y. W. C. A.

Two Liberal Arts Freshmen Sustain Injuries in Crash at Ar-
more Last Night

Two students were injured when the bleachers broke on the north side of the Armory, causing the spectators at the Iowa-Missouri basketball game to leave their seats last night.

Elmer Hall, liberal arts freshman, of State Center, sustained a bruised leg. He was taken to the University hospital for treatment. Margaret Hans of Marengo, freshman liberal arts student, suffered a badly sprained foot. Doctors feared that the arch was broken. She was taken to Ball stadium at Carrier where she lives.

A second woman fainted in the crash but recovered and joined the crowd without being identified.

UNIVERSITY PLAYERS POSTPONE PLAY

Coach Pyle Unable To Return For Practice Because of Mother's Illness

The appearance of "Nothing But the Truth," a courtesy play, for February 11, has been postponed indefinitely, according to Edward Goodrich of the University Players who is taking a leading part in the play.

BROADCASTERS were stopped the last part of last week when Verne R. Poley, who is playing the part of Cedar Falls on account of the serious illness of his mother, asked that broadcasting be stopped.

The organization received a telegram yesterday from Mr. Poley explaining his situation of return as soon as possible and asking a letter which would follow the telegram to explain what the University Players should take. He added that the date, February 11th, cannot be postponed.

BETAS AND TAU DELTS TO PLAY THIS EVENING

At six o'clock tonight Beta Theta Pi will meet Delta Theta in the last round of the Pan Helixian basketball tournament in the south end section.

SIGMA XI was given two or three points in the last game with the Betas and the Delta Tau Deltas. They have forfeited their game with the Delta Deltars.

A Good Thing to Keep in Mind

While you are storing up knowledge to be used in after-colleges days, it is a good thing to store up what money you can as you go along.

This bank will help you to increase your earnings by paying 4 per cent interest on them, compounded semi-annually.

A savings account may be the means of enabling you to take advantage of a business opportunity which demands more than a knowledge.
