U HIGH LIFE DISCUSSES IOWA PATRIOTIC LEAGUE

The current copy of U High Life, the weekly published by the Quarterly, has deviated from the pages of its news paper to a discussion of the Iowa Patriotic League and the work it is doing in the high schools of the state.

The Little Hawkiness monograph appears for the third time, but they have not a single page that is not of interest to the regular reader. Mrs. S. A. Kersten, dean of women, says that this new paper is not for any student to read, but that it is for all students who have an interest in Iowa politics.

Virtues and Objections to Honor System

From Day to Day the Iowa Will Carry a Series of Discussions, and Reports on the Merits of the Honor System at Other Institutions, to Familiarize the Student Body with the Various Systems.

MINNESOTA

Following is a brief account of the Honor System used at the University of Minnesota, taken from the Minnesota Hand Book, 1913-1916. The Honor System requires that no student in the college of science, literature, and arts shall endeavor to secure credit for any work in the University which is not the direct result of his own conscientious effort. (This includes copying of outside reading matter, or given in recitation periods, or existing gymnasium classes after roll is taken.)

Total Bodies (1) Class or Fellowship, or unpremeditated violation of the requirements of the system shall be investigated and tried. (a) In the case of men, by the Men's Academic Student council, and (b) in the case of women, by the Women's Academic Student council. (2) Decisions of these councils shall be in the nature of recommendations of penalties, to be imposed, if at all, by the Academic Faculty. The decision shall not be delivered to the faculty until two days after the notice given to the trial, during which period the restricted party may appeal to the All University Student council, and uphold, reverse, or amend the decision of that body. In case of reversal or amendment the recommendations shall be laid before the Academic Faculty, which shall be the final body of approval. Notification and Procedure. Whenever any student or instructor has reasonable cause to believe that a student is not doing work in or for a class or examination in a fair and honest manner, each student or instructor immediately shall write down the facts that give rise to his belief, the name of the student he suspects, the class for which the work is done, and the hours, day, room, and building in which the class is held; and, with his signature seal of approval, to be sealed, and delivered to the Academic Faculty. The decision shall not be delivered to the student for any reason.

A Good Thing to Keep in Mind

While you are storing up knowledge to be used in after college days, it is a good thing to study up what money you can as you go along.

A savings account may be the means of enabling you to take advantage of a business opportunity which demands more than a knowledge.

This bank will help you to increase your savings by paying 4 per cent interest on them, compounded semi-annually.
