IOWA HOPES HANG ON OLD GOLD TEAMS IN THREE SPORT FIELDS

Basketball, Wrestling and Track Competitions are the three sports in which Iowa hopes for victory.

DECREASES STATE BASKET TITLE

Quinnt in Men's Aggie on Aggie Floor—Wrestlers Figure in Athletic Success at University—Sporit of Local Fans

Today, the Iowa Hawkeyes will be in the spotlight for their athletic success.

The team is expected to perform well in all three sports, with basketball, wrestling and track being the focus.

In addition, the university will host several athletic events, including a wrestling tournament and a basketball game.

The university's athletic department has been investing heavily in infrastructure and facilities, and the results are evident in the improvements seen in the athletes' performances.

Overall, the university's athletic teams are expected to perform strongly in the upcoming season, with the hope of securing victories and maintaining their status as competitive teams.
CURED CHICKENS

Editor Daily Iowan:

An Honor System, like democratic government, cannot be instituted from above; it must be the outgrowth of the composite opinion of the student public.

As long as the student body of the University of Iowa remains in its present attitude of tolerance and approach of cheating, the Honor System must remain a "hay dream." It would be just as reasonable to start an association of thieves, for the preservation of stealing.

It is difficult to understand the emergency in standards that do become unfortunately the theft of personal property, and condone the theft of another man's ideas, which are of infinitely greater value, and significance. The same man who defaces the morals of the world who steal his hat at exactly, will remember a 1921 "A" theme from the collection snared up in the carry and hand it in without a single pang of conscience. The same man who prides himself on his innate fairness in athletics, will very likely consider himself extremely clever, if he can slip a problem through the crack in the seal during an examining room, to help pull the fellow back this year.

For we attribute the "magnificent attitude" of some of the professors of the natural reassurance of their dishonesty, or a professional distrust of human nature. They are not meticulous without cause. If we have not the strength of will to keep our eyes from straining (quite accidentally, of course) over our neighbor's shoulder, or look, palm in, into a notebook, it is, if the proof is clear, and not-possibly highly expected to be treated like prize eggs in the同事 ward.

When we down the ethical standard of the University of greater minor than the regular, the person who only knows up when he sends some help in an exam; when we consider the cleaner is the same as the original thief, then we shall have worth of an Honor System.
