UNIVERSITY DEBATE TEAMS PRACTICE FOR NEBRASKA-MAK CLASSES

The University debating team which will meet Nebraska Thursday and Friday held a practice class last night for the first time. The debaters are specializing in a study of the subject rather than in debating the opposing team. The purpose of this according to members of the team is to practice in the way cases are falling into a set area and allowing great freedom of rebuttal. The question for discussion is the League reserve, or article X of the League of Nations covenant.

The negative team, composed of Max Conrad, Harold Merry, and David Hopkins, is scheduled to start for Lincoln Friday evening of the program. Their debaters are Paul J. O'Reilly, and Willard F. Sturman. The affirmative team, composed of Frank K. Stetteworth, William P. Bergthal, and Chromie Fulkler, is scheduled for Nebraska here Thursday evening.

Ten minute talks will be given by Dr. C. S. Rubensteine, Dr. Roy D. C. Adams, and William S. Strong. A general picture of the convention at which there were 2726 people in attendance, 404 of whom were college delegates, will be given at the beginning of the program by Miss Maude. Mrs. Laubert’s talk on the business of the convention will follow and Miss Maude will explain the change made in the basis of membership of the entire Y. W. C. A. "This change that was made," said Miss Maude yesterday, "was the part the convention especially called to the student association. The change makes a definite commitment of the Y. W. C. A. to programming policies."

Miss Deluise will close the program with a recital of some of the addresses that were given by prominent speakers who addressed the convention.

HONOR TOWN MEETINGS

Two members of the University debating team practiced in playing the second All-"University" team. Robert A. S. Brown was placed on the All-"University" Conference team and also on the 15-year-old "University" team. F. K. Kennedy was the other "University" team member who scored.

The "University" team includes the following members: Harold Merry, Robert A. S. Brown, F. K. Kennedy, and Miss Berghuis, president. The constitutional committee has prepared an original draft which will be submitted for approval of the members. Other committees will be appointed and their duties outlined at the meeting. In order to get the work of the organization under way, it was said.

"The next step and head meeting will feature the meeting at the next and the city members are expected to be present," said Miss Berhuis.^

SUPERVISION MEET BRINGS EDUCATORS OF NOTE TO CAMPUS

Conference Here This Week Will Be Most Important in the State This Year, Says Searles

In Session Three Days

A. B. Walds, President of Kalosemo Normal School, W. W. Charter of Coralville Institute, E. P. Speck- ing, Superintendent of Cleveland Schools Among Speakers

"The conference on supervision under the auspices of the college of education and the extension division of the University is one of the most important conferences for educators which will be held this year," said Dr. A. B. Walds, Kalosemo Normal School President, to the Daily Iowa editorial board. "The conference opens Tuesday night and continues over Friday and Saturday of this week."

Most Memorable

Many noted educators are to address the meeting, including President A. B. Walds of the Kalosemo Normal School; W. W. Charter of the Coralville Institute; E. P. Specking, superintendent of schools at Cleveland, C. G. Tucker, assistant superintendent at Des Moines, J. H. Beelers, supervisor, Citizens C. K. Hunt, and C. F. Freeman, superintendent of public instruction in Washington, Fred J. Dondore, president of the Iowa State Teachers College, Cedar Falls. Members of the faculty of the University's college of education will also have part in the program.

To Give Three Addresses

Superintendentaping, who leaves the Cleveland schools at the close of this year to head the graduate college at Yale university, will speak Tuesday night.

Friday morning he speaks on "Some Schools of Twenty-five years ago are the various department of the Cleveland schools at the Cleveland schools in the "Significant" address. His theme will be "The construction of medical schools," and Saturday morning on "Influence of Journalism in the Teaching Profession."
The IOWA-NEBRASKA Debates

It is very difficult if any individual has ever received more consideration than the League of Nations Covenant has in recent years. It has been before the American people and the other peoples of the world for many years. The outstanding fact is that this widespread dissemination of information has largely, if not entirely, failed to influence the American people upon this international issue. For what reason was the article, our noted writers, and the press failed to recognize one way or the other? Was it that there was a majority of us thought that we were in favor of the League of Nations? As the crowd, as the Colfax, after Senator Johnson's address, the writer feels that this is a remark that they should like to see Press Wilson and Senator Johnson appear on the platform in an open debate. Would such a debate convince us one way or the other? Even if it would, such a debate is next to impossible in these and other methods by which we can secure the advantages of a Wilson Johnson debate. As an effort to contact certain evils in intercollegiate debating, the University of the Middle West is experimenting with a new type of debate which, for lack of a better word, we have coined the "Open Play Discussion." No decisions are given in these debates. The sole object of the designer is to present all possible arguments, both pro and con, so that each member of the audience can make his own decision. Following the main discussion on the part of the debaters, any member of the audience can ask questions of the debaters, or express his own views on either side of the question. The Universities of Iowa and Nebraska will conduct such an open forum debate upon the League of Nations. One debate will take place here on Thursday evening of this week, and the other will be staged at Denver on Friday of this week. We cannot assure the University of the Middle West of a Wilson Johnson debate, but we do not feel that we can clear up some of the issues better than some of the newspapers can do. If you have a collection upon this world question, come on and be convinced. It is the duty of the debates to carry on a two-year-old battle in meeting the arguments of the opposition. W. H. R. During the day, I presume, that no less than two thousand students are looking over their position upon the League of Nations, and when they leave the church or the theater, they will be advertising $16, $20, and 70 cents seats. A version of a minor: Late in the show business, we'll get wise. Well, gentlemen, remember that there is nothing but a joy forever.

READERS' LETTER

The lens will only allow minimal opinion, but it is the only way to get a clear view of the situation. The editor of an open debate, would we not have the advantage of a Wilson Johnson debate.
