AN APOLLOGE FOR IDIORS

Sensational stories of poor but honest young men who alone and single-handedly have won a black-moustached university and the respect of their professority by winning a job as secretary of a Wall street trust company and the heart and hand of the beautiful daughter of the owner of the trust. The man, even though overworked and slaving away all his life as he usually lived.

The following man makes his way by waiting for something to turn up suitable to his many talents and ambitions and opulence as the proverbial Midas.

Today Prof. Benjamin F. Shambaugh observes the anniversary of twenty-five years of work as an instructor in political science in the University, and sprays his share of official work in the State Historical Society of Iowa. We quote from the direction of the department and the society have made remarkable records.

Professor Shambaugh's record does not read like that of our daring young man. During the holidays local merchants are certain that in a few days he will be giving us the cold shoulder.

Our esteemed contemporary Dan Zapara of the Daily Iowan declares that he is aware of publishing pictures in the University newspaper that a lot of good open eyes upon which to lean. He might even by the way throw a little bit of mud at our student editor.

Yes, it seems that Dan Zapara and his column intellectuals have a lot of good open eyes upon which to lean. He might even by the way throw a little bit of mud at our student editor. THIRTY SWIMMERS FROM DES MOINES MAY ATTEND MEET

The Des Moines high schools plan to send a squad of about thirty men to the invitation swimming meet which the Riot club has scheduled for Feb. 2, according to Stanley Russell, superintendent of swimming in the public schools of Des Moines.

According to Mr. Russell, there is good material in the capital city high schools, but up to the present there has been little interest in the sport since swimming has been a major activity in the high schools in the past.
