BASEBALL TEAM TO START WORK

First Practice of Season Will Be Held Saturday Morning at 10 O'clock

The first baseball practice of the year will be held next Saturday morning at 10 o'clock, at which time candidates for the varsity are asked to report to Coach James N. Ashmore. Practice will be held in the main gymnasium on Monday, Wednesday, and Saturday mornings at 9:45 a.m., and on Friday afternoons at 3:15 p.m.

All baseball men should be devoted to batting practice, throwing and the catching of balls, working in a different pool. As soon as the weather permits, the team will start for Evanston, Ill., to practice at Bunting Park in the month of February, where the snow will have melted and the weather be much better.

IOWA TO MEET AMES EQUALLY

Brown and Bond Ineligible—Many Wounded in Swimming Tryouts

The time made last night in the swimming tryouts indicates that the name of Iowa and Ames are in the front rank as far as mental equipment is concerned. The men will be swimming in a different pool. This seems to be an important factor.

According to Iowa, Iowa should have a chance to win from Ames and lose to Chicago and Northwestern, which are probably the teams in the Big Ten. Robert Brown and Wilberm Bond will be stranded ineligible and will not compete in the meet Saturday. Brown and Bond will be offset in importance by the fact that the boys and Clark have been making good in recent meets.

Wade, a member of the 1919 swimming team, has his ineligible last year is expected to make up for the ineligible men.

A series of five practice games has been scheduled for the men, including two of the Three I leagues, which will be held Monday and Tuesday. A series of three games will probably be arranged in case that they should prove successful and will be licensed to practice dentistry in the state of Iowa.

Students of journalism and those who intend to enter journalism in this state need not be bent to Northwestern, under the belief that they willreceive better training there than they will at the less advertised schools of journalism here at home. Though a right of passage of the course offered in the Joseph Medill school indicates that students who follow the program, which extends over a period of four years, will be prepared to hold an average newspaper job, providing the student had some inherent ability along the lines at the start.

To affect their carefully selected courses, the student at Northwestern will be confronted by the task of actual newspaper practice. It is admitted that there are many agencies in Chigago where journalism is carried on day by day, but few are for the beginners. The way to learn to write a newspaper is to write for it. It matters little whether the journal be nothing daily or a college weekly, the one who write the most business is the one who will go high in the field of journalism.

A growing profession does not always bring promised returns. The new school of journalists at Northwestern cannot forever be public. Smaller schools may not be bad in their day, but they have never been.

DR. ERNST WOULD PREVENT WAR BY HUMAN SYMPATHY

"I am speaking to the American public in order to further international peace and human brotherhood for the preservation of future wars," said Dr. Larry Hesch Ernest P. of Godesberg, Germany, who will give a lecture here on "The National and Human Solidarity to be secured by universal, after and during, and after the war," this evening at 8:15 at the Hotel St. Louis. "It is of no use to specialize in one subject, withoutbecoming acquainted with all others," she said. For this reason she has spent for public graduate work in different universi­ ties all over the world."

Dr. Ernst began her education at the University of Paris on the Eiffel and from there attended a girl's boarding school at Brussels to study French. After her graduation, she spent years traveling with her parents. At this time, a serenity edu­ cation for women was out of the question, but, after her return from Egypt, she studied psychology and English literature in the London university. When she was eighteen years old she knew from heart and later wrote books on it. As psychology seemed of little worth to her with eat natural sciences, she then attended the Freiburg University in Basel, Germany, and studied anatomy and botany. She then became interested in medicine at an early age, as was her natural inclina­tion, so as for 13 degrees north in Norway. In Norway, she has written four novels, one of which has been trans­ lated into other languages. She is at present a professor on anthropology that may be found in the University library.

CURIOUS BOOKS EXHIBITED
AT UNIVERSITY LIBRARY
Several curious and interesting books now on exhibition in the exhibit case of the general library.

One is a copy of Manuscripts recently purchased by the library from a second hand book company in England in which was found fragments of an ecclesiastical manuscript written by a monk sometime before 1237. This was carelessly used to bind the book; illuminated capitals are used and the writing which is in Latin is well drawn.

Another is "Antonini de Florentia Confessuram," a fifteenth century manuscript presented in the library in 1881 by D. R. Talbot of Clontarf City. It is the only complete hand written manuscript owned by the library. Mr. Talbot has contributed many books of history and travel composing what is called the Talbot library.

ORGANIZATIONS MUST HAVE CONSTITUTIONS APPROVED

Several University organizations have neglected to secure the approval of the school officials and the approval of the university organization, according to an inquiry by Dean Will J. Teeter, chairman of the organization committee.

University regulations stipulate that all organizations, composed of University students, having officers and regular meetings, must submit their list of members and their constitutions by the 15th of the month to the committee for approval. Failure to attend to this matter in time to approve the organization in serious difficulties, "Dean Teeter said. Because the approval is the only check the university has on organized activities.

Several nominations have been filed in Dean Teeter's office during the week that there over half a dozen organizations which are violating this regulation.

In this small space we are telling the biggest story Denecke's have thus far had the privilege of telling.

Briefly, the story is—

Denecke's 35th Anniversary Sale begins Friday, February 18th

WAIT FOR IT.

The whole of 1920 saw Denecke's buyers from every department combing the markets of the nation and indeed the world for values to surpass anything ever before hoped for. And they found them.

Remember that prices will not be this low again.

We sincerely believe that not only were these purchases made under extraordinary conditions, but that they were made at the lowest of market ebb.

If it's an Easter frock, or dress, or footwear, or silk, or any of the thousands of things you may need, you will find it here at prices far lower than you expected.

The Anniversary Sale is Denecke's tribute to 35 years of public faith and confidence.

Spring Round-Up

Clay landed on Broadway in the togs he wore in Arizona. They wouldn't. He went into a store and bought the first suit he saw. In a week he had to buy another .... he got stung.

And that is just what we do not want you to do .... get stung. So we are going to have you look around thoroughly before you buy.

The Spring Round-up starts to-morrow but to-morrow is only look day ... we will sell only if you insist upon buying.

And there will be more than two hundred advance season Hart Schaffner & Marx suits for you to look at, suits In new patterns, new colors, and new models. And the price will be no more than half what Clay paid on Broadway.

Of course, if you find something you simply must have, why, we let you have it.
The Pan-Hellenic basketball schedule has been greatly upset by the competing schedule of University activities. On Monday evening there were two intensely played games scheduled: Phi Delta Theta vs. Sigma Xi, and Delta Tau Delta vs. Phi Sigma Chi. These games could not be held because of the Iowa-Minnesota game. Last night between Beta Theta Phis and Sigma Chi it had to be postponed because of the Boy Scout conference, which was held in the gym at that time.

It will be necessary for these teams to play their games at some later time in the season, but no time has been set as yet.

The next fraternity game will be played at the armory February 12 at 1:30. It will be between Alpha Tau Omegas and Delta Tau Delta.
