BREMONDS SPEAKING AS OF RAINCOATS

Just received a shipment of Ten Belted Raincoats with Yoke and Pleated Back that exceeded our wildest expectations. While we knew these RAINCOATS would make up fine, we had no idea of them being so well tailored and perfect fitting as they really are. And the price too is very modest—

$14.50

Our forecast came true. Sport models in Raincoats is just what the young fellows want. And we have all of them in sizes.

LATEST CREATION IN MUSICAL INVENTIONS

Arrives from Mecca

In print it looks like a new outburst for a musical dress or a new shriner invented by the Engineer's probably it is, and it is, invaders by the engineer, but it is designed for a very different purpose.

It stands nine feet high, has a base of twenty-five square feet, and will produce music. It is guaranteed to reproduce any record except the Engineering News Record.

The metallic frame of this large musical instrument, the mechanism, the latest invention of the students of applied science, will be cranked for the first time at the Engineer's show this evening. The merit of the mechanism will be demonstrated again at the parade next Saturday.

ENGLERT THEATRE

Closing Events Saturday

The annual banquet of the students in the college of applied science will be held Thursday, at the Commercial club rooms. At this time the names of seniors elected to Theta Delta Phi, the honorary engineering society, will be announced.

The parade, exhibition, and dance, the closing events of the meetings, will take place on Saturday.

TWENTY-FIVE ORGANIZATIONS ACCOUNTS AND APPROVED

Accord books for about twenty-five organizations have been looked over, approved, and are now ready to be turned back to the organizations, according to a report from Dean Robert H. Luscombe's office.

"As a rule, the books were satisfactorily as far as the accuracy of the accounts were concerned," said Tulip O. Grelck, secretary to the Doctors of Men, "but they were not very well kept. In many cases the books were not even balanced or the accounts added up.

Spring's Around the Corner!

IT'S TIME to think of spring-- for spring around the corner.

This store is dressed up for the new season. Every day sees new models first harbingers of spring. The racks fairly teem with good clothes, and every garment in distinct, emphatic tones spells spring.

As usual we maintain our high standard of quality, but prices have changed decidedly lower than last fall.
