ERRITSRABLE

After considerable laciness and filling, spring is at last here, and all real and imaginary flowers have burst into life. The snowdrops have bloomed and been joined by the primroses and by primroses of many strains and colors. The crocus and the hyacinth have pushed their heads into the atmosphere and the bluebells from the forests have thrust their buds into the fields.

Visiting journalists will be interested in the following items:

1. Robert Horler, the editor of beautiful poems, is working on a new novel that will be published next spring.
2. Paul B. Johnson, the author of beautiful essays, is working on a new collection of short stories.
3. William O. Moore, the editor of the University Daily, is working on a new collection of poems.
4. Edmund Pendleton, the editor of the University Daily, is working on a new collection of essays.
5. Joseph B. Johnson, the editor of the University Daily, is working on a new collection of poems.
6. George F. Hopkins, the editor of the University Daily, is working on a new collection of essays.

You can expect to see these new works in the next few years. Please look for them in the bookstores.

You will find the greatest variety of appetizing foods and drinks for your picnic, together with prompt service.

Our picnic lunch service of last season was most pleasing as is evidenced by the "yes" we are having now.

And no wonder! We have the best facilities for preparing just what you want when you want it, at reasonable prices.

We have it, can get it, or it can't be had.

A few suggestions for a picnic lunch.

- Vegetables
- Salads
- Sandwiches
- Drinks

We furnish napkins, table cloth and cups, spoons, knives and forks

In fact we furnish everything -- but the girl.

COMPETE TODAY

High School Extemporaneous
And Debating Contests
Start at Three

The interdisciplinary public speaking contest which includes a high school extemporaneous speaking contest and a debating contest will be held this afternoon at 3 o’clock in the liberal arts auditorium. The extemporaneous speaking contest is the fourth formal contest and is held under the auspices of the extemporaneous speaking league and the literary magazine. The debating contest follows the extemporaneous contest and will begin at 4:45. The contest today will be the sixteenth annual contest to be held by the high school debating league.

Draw Lots to Speak

The contests in the extemporaneous contest are the winners of four district contests. They will select their subjects by lots at 3 o’clock and will be allowed to speak eight minutes.

The questions which will be drawn from at 2 o’clock will be as follows:

- "Limitation of Armament."
- "What does the Government Owe to the World War Veterans?"
- "Distributing Our Immigrants."
- "Demobilization."
- "The Value of Farm Organizations."
- "Good Roads."
- "Fire Prevention."

Give Scholarships to Winners:

The University will give four scholarships to the winners of first and second places; and the school winning first place will receive a silver plaque.

The judges of this contest will be Prof. Samuel R. Shaw, Mr. Henry H. Harman, assistant secretary of the T. M. C. A. at Des Moines and Mr. Ralph Rissmuller of the department of public speaking at Cornell College, Mount Vernon.

Ottumwa vs. Orange City

The contests entered in the championship debate are the winners of a series of contests in their respective districts, Ottumwa in the east and Orange City in the west. The question as stated for debate is "Resolved: That the Philippine Islands should be granted their independence within five years."

The affirmative side will be represented by Richard Perdue, Henry Buswell and Green Neunheiser. Orange City will take the negative and their debaters will be Henry Le Pard, Mac Haverstock and Miss Iris Gray.

The judges will be Frank Randall of the low college, John E. McConaughy, instructor in the college of commerce and Prof. John E. Briggs of the department of political science.

Each of the six debaters will receive four-year scholarships as prizes and a silver plaque will be given to the winning school. These prizes to be awarded as prizes are now on display in Whittenberg’s window.

Guests of Councils:

Max Leverington Al of Waterloo who won the freshmen oratorical contest this year won the state extemporaneous speaking contest in 1920 and Harry Ringleman Al of Iowa City won the contest in 1921. The Forensic council will give a luncheon at the Jefferson this noon for the visiting speakers and their coaches and they have been given tickets to luncheon.

WOMEN JOURNALISTS FORM SOCIETY TO ENCOURAGE WRITING

Theta Sigma Phi, professional journalistic sorority, was founded at the University of Washington, Seattle, April 8, 1909, for the purpose of aiding college and professional women journalists, to promote individual achievement and to encourage young women to use this positive ability in writing the history of their profession.

Membership in the fraternity is restricted to women of journalism who are chosen on the merit of their work in journalism.

The fraternity has grown to the extent that in the last thirteen years it has included twenty-two chapters of more than 500 members which are located in eleven states, Canada, Mexico, Europe and the Philippines.

The fraternity's purpose is to encourage women who are engaged in journalistic work.

Mrs. Kelly Is Illini Guest

New York Newspaper Woman Has Honor Seat at Matris Table

Florence Ethel Kelly of the staff of The New York Times, "the dean of newspaper women" as she was introduced by Terra Furrell &c, master of ceremonies, was the honor guest at the second annual Theta Sigma Phi Matris Table banquet which nearly a hundred prominent town, faculty and campus women last night in Wesley foundation.

The tables were arranged in the basemen hall and the place shape of a huge barrel, accordant curve and progress were in true form. Strings of bows carried out the shade schemes of lavender and purple.

Matris Table Explained

Miss Furrell explained the raison d'etre of the Matris Table banquet which was organized last year when Sigma Ladies, editor of "Main Street," was the guest of honor. Dorothy Hill '09 read an original poem, "A Dreamer of Dreams," in tribute to the Matris Table and the menswear tops and women who are in the group each year.

"The Matris, the official magazine of the fraternity, will be published in monthly installments at the University of Wisconsin.

The Toast of the evening was made by Dorothy Hill '09, who now is attending Columbia University.

DEAN GOODRICH RESIGNS HERE

Acting Dean of Law College

Will Teach at Michigan Next Year

Prof. Herbert P. Goodrich, acting dean of the college of law, has resigned his present position and has accepted a professorship of law at the college of law of the University of Michigan. His resignation is to take effect at the end of the present semester. Professor Goodrich is now at the University of Western Reserve, where he is completing the work of his doctoral degree.

Professor Goodrich announced the acceptance of the position of dean of the college of law as acting dean on December 30, 1930. He was born Stanley M. McFadzean resigned from his executive work in order to devote all his time to teaching and study. He has been a member of the faculty of the college of law since 1914 and has been acting dean of the college for the past three months. During his eight years with the college, he has taught the position of professor and has been acting dean of the college of law for the past three months.

During Professor Goodrich's connection with the University of Iowa, he has been a member of the faculty and has been associated with both the department and the faculty of the students. He has been a dean, a divisional dean, a graduate dean, and a president of the college of law. He has been an editor of the Iowa Law Review, the New York Law Review, and the Journal of the American Bar Association.

Next semester, Professor Goodrich will teach the college of law at the University of Western Reserve, where he also taught during the summers of 1917 and 1919. When he goes to Ann Arbor next fall it will be for the first time since he taught in the Michigan college of law last summer.

During Professor Goodrich's connection with the University of Iowa, he has been a member of the faculty and has been associated with both the department and the faculty of the students. He has been a dean, a divisional dean, a graduate dean, and a president of the college of law. He has been an editor of the Iowa Law Review, the New York Law Review, and the Journal of the American Bar Association.

Professor Goodrich said that he has not resigned from his present work in the University because he has ceased to love the law. "The University of Iowa is splendid, and I really hate to leave. My eight years connection with the college of law has been a happy one. Of course I want to go to Michigan, but the college of law is not there is better than the one here. The law college there is superior in size and is different, that is all." Professor Goodrich goes to Ann Arbor this week in order to know more definitely the work he is going to do in the college of law.
