FROSH RUNNERS COMPETE TODAY

Wireless Meet with Wisconsin Yearlings Will Begin at 4:10 This Afternoon

For the second time this season, the University of Iowa frosh track squad will compete with the University of Wisconsin frosh track team, this afternoon.

The first event will begin at 6:00 p.m. The Iowa yearlings will be off the standard progress of events on Iowa fields, but the Wisconsin team will do likewise at Madison.

Beats All the Clocks by Radio

Immediately after the completion of each event the results will be transferred by radio so that in less than two minutes after each heat has completed the meet the results will be known.

The Iowa frosh runners use the Wisconsin fresh men early in February in an indoor meet, and despite the fact that it was the first time that many of the men had competed for the meet, they made an impres-sively good showing. Wisconsin was the next by the margin of a few points, and the Hawkeye team will do their best to even the count with the Badgers.

Rolly on Stairs

Cutler and Kramer in the clur-kx in the high jump. Rollow is in the pole vault, Henry in the horvestored events, and Jones in the broad jump in the individuals who are expected to post points for Iowa.

The Iowa frosh, however, will try to again repeat the usual high showing of the Iowa men, which was last fall to Aubrey DeBoe.

H amazon, novelist and bureau, will deliver the last University lecture reciting from Miss

Miss Helen Garland, known for her work, will be given by going to 4:10 before the last meet on Saturday.

against the University of Iowa.

The subject of his lecture last year was "his life in the peninsular Middle of the West."

Mr. Garland is held in high esteem as one of the strongest writers of the Middle West. He is fresh, original, full of faith and energy, and with a robust and somewhat aggressive Americanism. He was born at La Crescent, Wisconsin in 1849. At an early age his parents moved to Harper, Iowa, a few miles from Des Moines.

In the fall Mr. Garland went to Boston, where he took action for analysis in the schools of oratory.

He was a literary worker there in 1867. Since that time he has traveled throughout the country and written short stories, novels and poems.

Essays and Poetry

His classic "Crucible of Soul-Making," published in 1894 is a series of addresses in which content in the true is carried out to the writing of poems; he is the "Prairie Song," the merit of dotting in the Iowa and Iowa memory. He is known for his book "The Maiden's Bird," which gives vital pictures of the life of Iowa, and his book "Little Devil," published in 1897, contains a number of short stories which "Drake's College" is destinedly his local school of rustic and urban life in the Western States.

To Speak 明日

Mr. Garland will speak Friday evening at a dinner to be given by the members of the Mississippi valley historical association of the University at the Jefferson hotel.

$1500 IS WON BY EDITH BELL

Former Instructor at University is Awarded Politzer

Scholarship

Miss Edith Bell, who obtained leaves of absence from her position as instructor in the art department last year, but failed to attend the National School of Design in New York, has been awarded the Politzer traveling scholarship of $1500 for a year of study abroad. Miss Bell is the first woman to win the Poli-itzer prize in Art which is awarded generally to students of art.

For her portraits of Women Priests

This honor follows a series of successes for the minor art content-exhibits. Miss Bell has taken two of the six competitions which were held in the John Austria Chancelor prize of residence in Paris for two years with a pension of $600 a year, and is the pioneer woman to win the prize.

Six of the five prizes for nearly $1500 was awarded the National Academy of Design by her, and she has not produce the fifth. One of her recent winning paintings, a 3'3'-3'6" figure list in the location of the academic society at New York, won the artist a fellowship of $250 a month in the Foundation for the years in the art study in Gyander Bay.

Miss Bell studied art in the University of Iowa as an student, head of the art department, for some time, and in the East Coast art center.
