POSTPONE FALL PROCESS TO LAST OF WEEK

Annual Affair Will be Most Impressive of Year's Ceremonies

By Irma C. Reihman

The second annual University Procession of the University of Iowa for the establishment of the new college of law in the new building at the University will be held on Monday morning, September 26.

The procession will be in accordance with the traditions and by-laws of the university. It will be composed of the students, faculty, and alumni of the university, including the members of the college of law, who will be present at the dedication ceremonies.

The procession will start at the south entrance of the new building at 10:00 a.m., and will proceed north on the north side of the university, then east on the east side of the university, and finally south on the south side of the university, returning to the south entrance of the new building.

The procession will be accompanied by the University Band, composed of the university orchestra and the university glee club. The band will play traditional university songs and other appropriate music.

The procession will conclude with the dedication ceremony of the new college of law, which will be held in the new building at 11:00 a.m.

BARRY ARRIVES; WILL SUCCEED COACH ASHMORE

Resigns Directorship at Knox to Coach Baseball and Basketball at Iowa

J. M. Berry, Iowa’s basketball coach and baseball coach, arrived in Iowa City last night. Berry, whose reputation through, while unknown, was never officially unsanctioned, has been in control of athletics for the past four years been coaching in Knox college, at Davenport. This past season, Berry, following the Winter basketball season, has accepted the coaching of the University basketball team, and this spring will also coach the University baseball team.

For several years Knox basketball teams have jumped to Madison and played the University basketball teams with the Central teams. These games have been held in Madison, and have been most successful.

It is not known how much money the Knox school will make from his basketball coaching. The Knox school will make money from his coaching.

Afterwards, he attended the University of Wisconsin, where he was a student in the Law School. He has just been asked to coach the basketball team later this season.

Berry had just been made director of athletics, but when he resigned to accept the position he left behind some contacts that the new director will have to take care of the coaching department.

“BARRY AND THE FOOTBALL TEAM”

In a few years Berry has hardly made a ripple in the natural coaching business, except when, in the fall of 1913, he played the last game of the season. For several years Knox basketball team has been known as “The Barry basketball team.”

Berry was never a football coach, but he has been a very fine basketball coach. During his time with the Central teams, he had a reputation for being a hard worker.

Berry was not only a fine basketball coach, but he was also a very good baseball coach. He has never been a football coach, but he has been a very fine basketball coach.

“THE UNIVERSITY’S FAVORITE PLAYER”

The University of Wisconsin has just been made director of athletics, and his new position will be to coach the basketball team. He has just been asked to coach the basketball team.

His time will be given to aiding the basketball team. His intimation, however, that the basketball team would be given to aid the basketball team, was not accepted.

Mrs. Adelaido Burge, dean of women, wakes the girls on the campus who are missing in private homes to refer to the fact that it is necessary to carry on their education in the best manner possible. The difficulties presented by the war and the lack of facilities have made it necessary for the girls to room in private homes to reduce expenses and to avoid the overcrowding of dormitories.

The women's association has been working on this problem for some time. The plan is to offer an incentive to those who will take in the girls by providing them with a small stipend and by helping them in any way possible. The girls have been promised that they will receive a better understanding of their responsibilities by living in private homes.

In conclusion, the women's association urges all women to consider the problem of the war and to do their best to help those in need. By taking part in this plan, we can do our share in supporting the war effort.

Be on your toes when the whistle blows. A

Let the football candidate start by working away till his muscles ache from bucking the line. Let the aspirant for manager put in careful study of the team's needs, always ready to help—arranging a trip or carrying a pail of water.

Let the publications man be alert for news and guessing in the details of editorial work. Whatever activity you come out for, crowd a lot of energy into those early Fall days.

And if a good start helps win campus honors, it helps win class room honors, too. The sure way to be up in your work is to sit down now for regularity of activities, up-to-date note-books and particular attention to the early chapters of texts-books, thus getting a grip on the basics.

This is the long run, and—suitably—it is easiest in the long run. That's why college is made easier by the things a bigger income can buy.

Anxiety Now Over; Sororities Announce Pledges

The campus has no more anxiety now that the formal pledged session which started September 18 has ended. The pledges took place at the various chapter houses the afternoon of the 18th and the evening of the 19th.

What the Pledge Test Looks Like

Many girls arrived excitedly waiting for their disciplinary test but they didn’t want to worry over and over again what they had said. They would have to perform the pledge test in one sitting. The girls explained that they had to make sure they knew exactly what they were pledging to and that they would be able to recite the pledge accurately.

New Jersey Primary Brings Progressivism Forward as Issue

(Navy daily)

Newark, N.J., Sept. 25: The primary discussion in New Jersey Tuesday brings forward against the issue of progressivism. Senator Frelinghuysen, who is a candidate to succeed himself in a regular old guard republicanism, is a "progressive" with radical views and has had progressive aspirations.

The contest is in many ways similar to those in eastern states including New York and North Dakota, in which progressive candidates have been victorious. Progressives at the root of the campaign is crusading against the idea of business as usual, but Senator Frelinghuysen is opposing.

Among the issues are his claim that the party and its political and administrative machinery is not thoroughly democratic. He denounces the advocacy of direct taxation and the nationalization of the public utilities.

George L. Record, who is opposing Frelinghuysen in the Democratic primary, is against direct taxation and nationalization of the public utilities, and is in favor of the direct primaries and a well financed political party.

Record advocates government ownership of the public utilities and he is also in favor of a sliding scale that automatically takes care of the issue of wealth. He was actively associated in the Democratic campaign in New Jersey.

The significance of the word "wealthy" is something not to be overlooked. He was actively associated in the Democratic campaign in New Jersey.

The third candidate is W. E. Edwards, the democratic candidate for the New York Senate.
