Kemalists Concentrate at Ismail; Prepare to Advance Toward Sea

By Waldo Miller

Culver City, Calif., April 8

The Turkish Nationalist forces, led by Kemal, were advancing toward the sea today. According to the latest reports, the Kemalists have concentrated their forces near Ismail, a town on the coast, and are preparing to launch a major offensive. The Turkish Nationalists believe that by securing the coast, they can extend their influence and gain support from the international community.

The Kemalists, who are led by General Ahmet Kemal, have been fighting against the Ottoman Empire for independence. They have gained significant victories in the past year, but have faced significant challenges in securing the coastal areas.

The Ottoman Empire, on the other hand, is experiencing internal conflicts and is struggling to maintain control over its territories. The British and French have been providing military support and advice to the Kemalists, while the Ottomans are receiving assistance from Germany.

According to military analysts, the battle for Ismail is crucial. If the Kemalists can secure the town, they can open up a new front against the Ottomans and potentially divide their forces.

The situation is tense, and both sides are preparing for a potentially long and costly battle. The future of the region is uncertain, with the outcome of the conflict hinging on the ability of the Kemalists to overcome the Ottomans and secure their independence.

Many Are the New Style Features Shown in Distinctive Apparel for Fall and Winter

The vital question at the beginning of every season is, "What of the millinery?" This year the vital legislation of the greatest designers has been aimed upon coats as the happy medium for their legislation. We have a variety of legislation, but all maintain a choice for coats that are practical, thin and attractive. Most attractive are the all-silk draped wraps, and the snug hip line.

Many are the new style features shown in distinctive apparel for Fall and Winter.

A sense of complacency in street attire is no fallacy. In fact, the fall and winter styles considered to be applicable to the current situation. Women want more than ever before. Sunday and social styles especiallyadapted to the needs of our country, original styles in red and black come in with the new season. A sense of color in attire. White, gray, and black are the dominant colors. You will have to be in the season.

Your coat will show.

outspoken contempt for the man rapidly going out of fashion. Each succeeding Liberal is unable to make an appeal to language. Grades, certainly, are untrustworthy and can never be a sure guide to anyone wishing to join the rush for the University as a whole. The success or failure of a student to maintain the liberal education and other aspirations, is in the fullest sense, how he lives, but does not necessarily achieve liberal education or learn, the following sense: to live. The success of a college course is extremely hard to quantitate. Grades, certainly, are untrustworthy and supply no infallible assurance. The individual himself can supply it. If he has achieved a liberal education or the beginnings of a liberal education—so matter what his grades—he has made a statement of his college career.

If our college of liberal arts fails to give its students a liberal education, it is vulnerable to the charge that it has been a failure. It has failed in its aim, in its mission. It is a failure to teach the students to live. It has failed in its aim, in its mission. It is a failure to teach the students to live.

FOREVER A BUST OF CLOTHES

Our college students are a bust unexpressed sentiment. But every college career is greatly hard to quantitate. Grades, certainly, are untrustworthy and supply no infallible assurance. The individual himself can supply it. If he has achieved a liberal education or the beginnings of a liberal education—so matter what his grades—he has made a statement of his college career.

If our college of liberal arts fails to give its students a liberal education, it is vulnerable to the charge that it has been a failure. It has failed in its aim, in its mission. It is a failure to teach the students to live. It has failed in its aim, in its mission. It is a failure to teach the students to live.

CONTEMPORARY OPINION

Our Young People As S. U.

Common sense characterizes the policy of the University of Iowa as outlined for your student body this year. The students are asked to put their trust in the university and to trust the student faculty. This is a step in the right direction as well as the practical aspects of education. A broader democracy and greater unity will be developed in the student body.

When one sees a university, a student body full of enthusiasm, hopeful of establishing the honor system, one feels proud of the type of young people our high schools are sending to the university. In general the atmosphere of the university presents one as being a remarkable blending of men, women and men. There are many students who are members of the honor system, hence their standing was:
