BANKS WANT ACTION IMMEDIATELY

Claim Foreign Grain is Tying Up Local Shipyards Out of Country

Chicago, Nov. 5.—The American farm bureau federation, representing more than 1,300,000 farmers in the United States, demands an immediate embargo on Canadian wheat to avert the acute situation which is prevailing in the farming world.

Mr. Stephen L. Day, the federation’s chairman, said that the United States was ‘in danger of being tied up with its hands and feet’ on a large scale by the importation of foreign wheat if no action is taken. He claimed that foreign wheat brought in by the Canadian government was in competition with American wheat and he believed that the government would take steps to prevent the importation of foreign wheat.

Mr. Day said that the American farmer could not ‘mean to be dictated to by foreign nations’ and he demanded that the government should act immediately to prevent the importation of foreign wheat.

The federation has been working for a long time to get an embargo on Canadian wheat and it has now succeeded in getting the government to act immediately.

The American farmer is the backbone of the nation and the only way to save him is to prevent the importation of foreign wheat.

OLD WILL COMES BACK

Evidently Yale has not enough of Iowa, for here is Old Eli on his feet ready to fight again. And the Hayleaks and all the Hayleaks breed are just as eager to battle as ever in this time instead of a thing or so, they feel confident that a little more of the own green pixels will double it.

There is only one question to be asked. Why can't the Yale in our own back yard next year? Iowa City went to New Haven, now let New Haven come to Iowa City. We wish Yale to play them, and we had to go to Yale to do it. Now Yale is asking to play Iowa and it is proper that they should come here. Our boys will hold for water where they have been crowded, yet it will hold enough so that a greatly small team should remain on the right hand side of the ledger.

Iowa ought not to rest on her laurels if she wishes to keep her good reputation in athletic circles of the country. Jane Willard tried that a few years ago. A champion is thus bound to defend his title any time and any place that his opponent challenges him. So whether we have all of our star men or only half of them this year, Iowa ought to keep the winning blood to go after Eli.

The advantages of an international game cannot be overrated. Thousands of people whose attention had never been attracted toward Iowa City set up and took notes when the Hayleaks tousled Yale. The news bureau of the University must render over a thousand newspaper editorials on this one game. Iowa almost all over the country will wire with notes and the accomplishment of their alma mater and it must be remembered that the almost whole of any such big factor, besides the place a University shall occupy.

The Western conference rule is one that to international games does in a measure prohibit games with the Big Three or with other eastern schools. The rule is in said, was devised in order to prohibit games such as Ohio State university understands when the Hayleaks played California at the Tournament of Roses, two years ago. The purpose of the rule was to stop the practice of scheduling of games which would keep members of the good big Western from their homes for a long time. When Iowa played Yale the squad left Iowa City Wednesday afternoon and returned Monday. This is really one big factor that will force Iowa to take the game to Iowa City.

DOOMING THE ISSUE

The intercollegiate council last week and twice this year and at both meetings nothing of consequence has been discussed.

There can be little doubt to see familiar with the fraternity situation that raising is the issue of the day. The all towering university reputa-

Domestic the game system now in vogue must either be changed or entirely abandoned. In the days, weeks, months, and years, rules were laid down, either by the administration of the university or by the fraternities themselves. In other cases it may be said that they have been functioning with the result that the game is now in danger of being lost.

It might also be worthy of the deep consideration which the intercollegiate council should give in order to relieve the accession of perplexing the coming semesters until the sound system is made. This may be impossible under circumstances peculiar to the University of Iowa, yet a serious discussion of the matter certainly would mean more to fraternity on the campus than a discussion of the high price of party programs.

CONTemporary opinion

(New York Herald)

LLOYD GEORGE AND HIS FIGHT

Booklet given American approach and interest for knowing what the public wants and where to have. Mr. Lloyd George has the Roosevelt way of speaking to the public in language understandable. He is making a legislative campaign. His work, which the adversary recently moved of organizing a strong political machine in a lunatic hand, is taken now right and left.

The ousted Premier believes with Fouché that the last meeting of the assembly will do. In his opinions he is driving his arguments against the folly of throwing out a new ministry to order and installing one which represents nothing but a party. He is urging that after the decisions are settled by the voters of Great Britain and demanding the return of some popular politics to the centre of the British.

Mr. Lloyd George has a great advantage over his opponents in that so many in favor of unemployment and tried state socialism went out of office with him. His friends have filled their places with men who, whatever their loyalty, their ideals or their rank, do not yet move up to the mark that the men of the Lloyd George Cabinet tools. The Conservatives united a historic group, having only Leave Green.

Another advantage enjoyed by the Wilmot is that the Conservative party has tended to split the Conservative spirit. Siding with Lloyd George he found and distinguished Conservatives in Balcarres, Angus, Chandler and Berkshire. These men, who worked in a Cudleston Cabinet with a Liberal Premier, are remembered for the excellent accomplishment. Will the Conservative before a policy which discredits Conservatism of such great cause?

THE SOUNDING BOARD

A friend asks us what we mean when we refer to "a sense of humor." We wish we had asked something new; a sense of humor is one of those things "too easily received than described." In any event, a person who sees the amusing side of predicate actions into which life is thrown has what we shall call a genuine sense of humor.

Good news has just come to hand. A friend writes us that Helix is to play in Davenport sometime this winter.

We saw a bird the other day with tiny alums so long and bright that we thought at first he was a detective in disguise. We learned later that he was a Fincherman.
