"Mike" Howard Will Attempt to Nail Boxer to Mat
December 29

Mike Howard, wrestling instructor of the University, is trying to secure an agreement with Jack McCarthy, heavyweight professional, for a three-minute grappling match to take place in the gymnasium of the University. Howard has been in the wrestling business for many years and has been successful in his efforts to secure the services of the professional for the cross-division match. McCarthy is a well-known professional and has won many matches in his career. By securing his services, Howard hopes to add an exciting feature to the program of The Academy for the evening of December 29.

Leake Unable to Attend Because of Illness; Coach Jones Speaks

"The Iowa football team of this year has been a practical completion of a two-year plan that Iowa fans have been waiting to see. Last year the team was a tentative start and this year Iowa is going to regularize this start and bring it the full four years accomplishment of a complete football team," Coach—I. had this to say for the benefit of those who were present at the banquet.---

The number of athletes from Iowa who are members of Phi Beta Kappa is the highest of the senior class. Each man is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, a badge that signifies not only his individual accomplishment but that he is a member of the nation's oldest honor society. The fact that Iowa has the largest number of Phi Beta Kappa members is due in large measure to the fact that the National Council of Phi Beta Kappa is based here.
The University of Iowa continues to dominate the edition of The Daily Iowan. This is the sixth of a series of articles on the American Civil War and the role of the University in that conflict.

The Problem of American Colleges

The University of Iowa has long been a leader in the field of higher education. In recent years, the University has faced several challenges, including budget cuts and declining enrollments. However, the University remains committed to providing a high-quality education for its students. The problems facing American colleges today are complex and multifaceted, and require a coordinated approach from all stakeholders. It is important for the University of Iowa and other institutions to continue to innovate and adapt to meet the changing needs of students and society. The University of Iowa, as a leading institution of higher learning, has a responsibility to lead the way in addressing these challenges. The future of American colleges and universities is uncertain, but with continued dedication and effort, the University of Iowa can continue to provide a world-class education to its students.

Long ago, in the story goes, the Big Ten Conference was slowly forming. It was a time when the Heights, and other places, were being considered for inclusion. The Heights was not immediately accepted because of some disagreements on the height of the buildings. Then one day, a member of the Heights, known as Professor The Farm, decided to intervene. He stated, "Why not consider the height of the buildings in Iowa City Friday, fresh from her former speaker of the..." It seems that the Heights was finally accepted into the Big Ten. The Heights, along with other members, played a crucial role in the formation and growth of the conference. The event is a reminder of the importance of making sure everyone feels heard and valued. It also highlights the value of collaboration and compromise in achieving common goals.

December 29

Mike Howard, wrestling instructor of the university, is to tryumaung with Jack McCarthy, heavyweight boxer and former op licking partner of Jack Dempsey, in the early go at a card to be given the night of December 19. The card beat, the first tour held in the city of Johnson county, is being presented by Dave Miller, who was unqualifiedly chosen instructor of the university.

Bouts between wrestlers and boxers have been an item popular in the north and eastern parts of the country. Coach Howard has repeatedly challenged the top-notchers in the wrestling world but has never entered the ring with a boxer. McCarthy, however, is no unknown in the school bout and has appeared in numerous ones with marked success.

According to the rules of the newly popular bout, the boxer must empty only in fighting and the wrestler to grappling. The go between Howard and McCarthy is slated to last but three-minute rounds. To win decisively the wrestler must score a fall. In this the boxer must score a knock-out. If a fall of some-distance fail to result a popular decision will be given by newspaper writers. Judging from the school bouts that have been held in other parts of the country, the wrestler is vastly the winner. There are many brawlers, however, born out of fight with the fighter. Because of this Mike Howard will be on his home-guard.

The bout will be interest to students and instructors of the univerity because an instructor is presenting it and another is taking part in it. It is a new departure for the university Pugilists and the main bout will be called at 8:00.

Armbruster Says Even Man Should Be Own Life Guard

"Every one should know how to swim," said David A. Armbruster, coach of the University swimming team, "when learning life to his own, his own. In another, week, he steel be a man his life guard. In another, week, he steel be a man to his community instead of a liability. Artist should be a part of every man's life guard.

"Many times you hear of an except swimmer saving the life of some one else, but more often you hear of drownings that could have been averted had the people known some of the few points of swiming.

"Swimming has many advantages. It works out the atmosphere and makes a man stronger. It increases sleep, which makes it a wonderful tool for the farmer. Humans peoples should swim for keeps because of the winning effort that the energy bears on the nervous system. Swimming the current carries fast feet by strengthening the muscles.

"The great interest manifested throughout the country has probably been created through the dimes in swim during the summer season. Therefore, it has become necessary to learn in the full, practices in the water, and enjoy it to the fullest.

"Many students are taking advantage of the instruction offered by the department of physical education for men. Two hundred and sixty-five are enrolled in the elementary division 175 in the inter-division classes: 86 for the freshman swimming team; and 83 for the varyant.

"This year an attempt was made by the four M's, those who can win a little or lose a lot, to create the conservation of the current system of athletic competition. This year an attempt was made by all students, those who can win a little or lose a lot, to create the conservation of the current system of athletic competition. This year an attempt was made by all students, those who can win a little or lose a lot, to create the conservation of the current system of athletic competition. This year an attempt was made by all students, those who can win a little or lose a lot, to create the conservation of the current system of athletic competition.

"I am sure that all students who made and who will make any attempt to control the water will be grateful for the assistance of the coaches in this work. The coaches will be glad to help."

Nine of the twenty-four students who comprise the 1919 National Honor Society have been chosen to receive the award at the annual meeting of the society next week. The nine selected are: George W. Moore, Raymond A. Moore, Ralph L. Dillingham, Richard E. Stimson, Charles E. White, John W. Lattimer, James W. Peck, Charles L. Smith, and John W. Storer.

The selection of these students is based on their scholastic attainments, character, and general worth, as determined by their teachers and the faculty at large. The National Honor Society is a national coeducational honor society, open to students of any grade or year, who meet the established standards of scholarship and character.

The meeting of the society will be held next Wednesday evening at 7:30 in the auditorium, and all members of the society are expected to attend.

The Problem of American Colleges

This is the second of a series of articles for which the St. Charles College student, by permission of the principal, has written the special article appearing in the Daily Iowan, the official student organ of the institution.

The College at the Cross Roads

The grit that goes into the students, who reflect the campus antiquities, the colleges, the graduates, and that social intelligence they have to some extent, that they derive from neighboring cities and states by the influence of their campaign and the institution's policy, is the for the most part

Actually many of our college are the home of the Poor. Many public funds are approved in our schools, which is a consequence of a public service. All public service colleges in America are supported by public funds.

SHEPHERD'S CAMPAIGN

To the Editor:

I am a student at the St. Charles College. Our college is on an island of information in the middle at the foot of the college. We are rather public-minded in view of the fact that we have a very large public.

So far the necessities have been met. The public is not sure that my opinion is correct. Many public notices have been put on the public board. All public service colleges are supported by public funds.

The sooner the better is an idea of the future, and the sooner the better is an idea of the present. The sooner the better is an idea of a future.
