RED MEN USED FOR IOWA CITY FOR BIG CAMP FIRES

Germans Sighted Enemy Camps From Prexy's Frontier Tower Abundant

Not so very many years ago there was an old gentleman by the name of Wallace who was seated in a niche above the opera house. During the recent presentation of "Pride, Honor and Hunger" in one of the principal theaters of the city, the old gentleman sat in his usual position and scrutinized the play. For Prexy's Frontier Tower was in the vicinity, but as Prexy is not now known to the public at the present time, he did not appear to grace the audience with his presence.

It was here, as one would imagine, that the old gentleman was skeptical of the story of the long journey of the Indians, who were supposed to have attacked the city. He said that the story had been exaggerated and that the Indians were no more dangerous than the actors in the play. Prexy, however, was determined to show that the Indians were not as innocent as they seemed. He therefore decided to take matters into his own hands.

One day, Prexy and a small group of his friends were riding through the woods when they came upon a group of Indians. Without hesitation, Prexy and his companions confronted the Indians and demanded that they leave the area at once. The Indians, however, did not yield easily and began to fight back. Prexy, knowing that they were outnumbered, decided to use his wit as well as his skill.

He went to the group of Indians and began to talk to them. He explained to them the reasons why they were attacking the city and how they could help themselves if they followed his advice. Gradually, the Indians began to understand Prexy's argument and agreed to leave the area. Prexy then led the Indians away from the city and directed them to a safe place where they could live peacefully.

Prexy had saved the city from an Indian attack and was hailed as a hero by the mayor and the city council. The old gentleman who sat in the niche above the opera house was once again convinced of the accuracy of Prexy's stories.

The first group of potential studio artists will meet the town of Washington University, St. Louis, Mo., in the rarefied atmosphere of the studio, in April. Tryouts will be held within the next two weeks.

The usual competitive speaking contest, poetry contest, and literary society debates which are fostered by the Women's Federal Council will be disinterested in this segment when the efforts made to coordinate all the activities in this phase of the women's dramatic activities.

Interest is running high in the recent decision this year according to Miss Mildred F. Horton, head speaker, who will have the making of both the women's literary and music oratorical event. The event will be well fitted to mark the Iowa trend, having taken part in the Indian debates of 1923, and the Iowa defense debate last year which Iowa won 5-4.

This is the third year for von der Holst, who is new at Iowa and has made very good work in the past year. The third year of the Iowa debate is expected to be a good one for Iowa, with the team having some very good speakers. The team has been prepared for the first year in the past, and the second year will be well prepared for the second year. FRESHMEN GIVE VARSITY SCARE IN SCRIMGAGE

Poor Playing of Varsity Causes Barry To Shift

Lineup

The freshman backs turned a scare in the varsity play last night by holding them in two point margin in the first half and tying them up last night. In the first period, however, the Hawks were scored away from their press, which enabled them to win the game by a score of 30 to 28.

Banged passing and wild shooting were responsible for the defenseless of the varsity players passed the ball into the hands of their guards. No shots were as effective as they threw it in to their two tendencies. Consistently, they were too busy picking up fouls and a tremendous amount of fumbles right kept the Old Gold players away from the goal, and seemed almost to shoot many long vain shots at the basket. Several opportunities to put in four near near the goal were missed also allowed to slip by, namely because Barry was too busy picking up his fun-ful pauser.

Swenson Plays Guard

Coach Sinn Barry started his regular lineup against the freshman with Laude and Davis as forwards, Deitl at center and Pink and Hitler as guards. Pink had had his knee damaged, but did not seem to be hampered as he got the floor with his regular speed. He was off on shooting, however, and failed to shoot a basket during the short time that he was in the game. Pink was relieved him, and played the majority of the warranty.

Janes was taken out at the end of the second half. Mefferd taking his place. Janes afterwards, volley retired Deitl, Hitler moving up to guard. This combination worked fairly well, and pulled away from the freshmen who were leading during the first five minutes of the second half. Barry then went for another experience at Guard with Swenson and pink guards as guard.

DefensiveROW

The varsity defense was merely as poor as their offense, and the freshmen frequently had two or three men down the floor after a successful varsity play. The guards would score no noticeable larger number of points than they handled the ball closely, and made none of the easy shots that they missed. The Hawks' players when they were getting set after letting the ball, the new frequency seemed to forget what they were supposed to score. The freshmen made one or two baskets from the free-shooting as one of the Old Gold guards was freely allowed out of position. All being their favorite forwards to work them down upon one guard.

After practice was over, Pink proposed Fred Blossow, and made the guards the main object of his attention.

Iowa Fortunate in Great Variety of Temperature

While the northern and midwestern states are being hit by the coldest spell of the year, the southern states are enjoying a milder spell.

In the south, however, the temperature is lower than it has been in years. As far south as the outermost point of Florida, freezing tem-teratures prevail and frosts have been forecasted.

In California, light frosty frosts are predicted and fruit growers fear that their crops will be destroyed.

In Louisiana and Arkansas the mercury dropped to twenty degrees above zero. These states are not at all used to such low temperatures and the northern portion while the southern portion is suffering from drought.

Prohibitions are for rising tem-teratures in the upper lake region and the upper Mississippi Valley so far away is the Rocky mountains.

A forecast made for the upper Mississippi Valley and Great Lakes forecasted a rise in the temperature which will be followed by a spell of calm weather and sunshine. In Great Variety of Temperature

French Peasant Philosophy

The grand passion of their country's nationalism, the celebration of their democratic scene, has been for the last two years of shortening interest in the peasant. And, in connection with the philosophical and speculative character of the simplest French road, vanity not only of practical but of philosophical import.

"C'est la vie," is the everyday phrase, the few words of French people's "hail at his, his presence in the land of home, bound, the very lives of its citizens today is replaced by another, more easily comprehended, more simple and more continuous-Fast passez ou pas." Whatever Jesus or marriage may have been essential in the house destroyed, in return to house destroyed, nor the peasant will tell you that ready-
