Fraternities, Sororities, Unorganized Groups Improve Grade Average

Phi Delta Phi, Phi Ep, Alpha Chi Go to Top

All-University Grade Average Set at 2.275

(Grade List on Page 5)
The depression has put a keener edge on that thirst for knowledge, if University of Iowa grade averages are an index. Grade averages, released yesterday by the office of Prof. Benzo Jones, assistant dean of men, show an increase in fraternities and sororities, as well as unorganized groups, for 1932-33 over 1931-32.

Fraternities improve .042
Fraternities raised their average grade .042 of a point over the previous year. The grade average was 2.245 for 1932-33, as compared with 2.203 for the year before. This figure includes both social and professional groups.

Highest on the fraternity list is Phi Delta Phi, professional law, with a record of 2.794. This figure represents a slight decrease, however, from the fraternity's grade of the previous year, 2.810.

Phi Epsilon Pi
Leading the list of social fraternities with a grade average of 2.389, Phi Epsilon Pi showed a substantial increase over its previous year's average of 2.209.

Pressing closely for second and third place honors on the social fraternity list are...

Jenkins, One of Convicts, Shot in Fight

NASHVILLE, Ind., Sept. 30 (AP)—Joseph Jenkins, one of the convicts who escaped from Indiana state prison last Tuesday, was shot to death in a gun battle at Benslow, near here, tonight.

Herbert McDonald, a storekeeper, was shot in the arm by the man before William Allport and Benjamin Kantow, residents of the town, fired their shotguns into his body.

The man, tall, dark complexioned and having curly hair, died at route to Nashville.

Judges, Terms Are Assigned

Judicial orders designating the terms and assignments of judges in the eighth judicial district, which includes Johnson and Iowa counties, were filed Friday in district court by District Judges James P. Gaffney, William A. Gaffney, and Harold D. Evans, Iowa City.

During the next two years Johnson county court terms will begin the first Monday in February and May and the third Monday in September and November. Iowa county court will commence the last Monday of January, second Monday of April and September and the third Monday of November.

Judge Gaffney will preside over the Johnson county district court for the February and September terms and over the Iowa county court during the April and November terms. Judge Evans will preside in Johnson county during the May and November terms and in Iowa county throughout the January and September terms.

Sioux Citizen Held After Confessing Ogden Bank Holdup

SIOUX CITY, Sept. 30 (AP)—Chief of Detectives Thomas Green tonight announced the arrest of Thomas Riner, 24, of Sioux City, and said Riner had confessed the holdup of the First National bank of Ogden, Ia., early today.

Green also announced that Riner had confessed the kidnapping of Mrs. Midge Wies of Sergeant Bluff yesterday.

The Liquor Puzzle-Saloons in Disfavor With Most States

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Where may liquor be sold if prohibition is repealed? Answers to this question are contained in the following article, third of a daily series of four.)

NEW YORK (AP)—Will the saloon return if prohibition is repealed?

States with control laws that would become operative in the event of repeal seem determined that it shall not. Instead of the saloon some of them would permit grocery or drug stores, restaurants and hotels to sell liquor.

In the case of stores, liquor could be sold only for consumption off the premises; in the case of restaurants and hotels, only with meals or in a hotel guest's room.

California Bars Saloon
California has two sets of laws, one operative now for beer and one to become operative for hard liquor in the event of repeal.

Under the Hornblower act wines and beers could be served with meals in a public eating place. Liquor in original packages could be sold in retail stores, but not consumed on the premises. No saloons may be maintained.

An equalization board would administer the act, issue licenses ranging from $1 a year for medical alcohol to $100 a year for "off sale" licenses covering liquor other than beer or wine and wholesale and import licenses.

Sale of liquor to anyone under 21 years of age is prohibited. The beer law now effective grants (Turn to Page 2)

Balloonists Set Record

Three Reach Height of 11.8 Miles Above Earth's Surface

MOSCOW, Sept. 30 (AP)—Three men in an aluminum ball hooked to a balloon, ascended 11.8 miles today, the greatest height ever reached by man, and enjoyed themselves so much that when they landed the first thing they said was they would do it again as soon as they could.

"None of us seems to be any worse for the experience, and we could go up again tomorrow," said Ernest Birnbaum, the leader of the expedition into the stratosphere.

He was accompanied on the record-breaking flight by two other air service veterans, Georgi Prokofiev and Konstantin Gudenoff.

Their balloon, the "Stratosat," landed near Kolomna, 71 miles from Moscow, after they had been aloft 8 hours, 19 minutes.

There are 65,000 persons in Kolomna and almost every one of them took part in the welcome to the aeronauts, who started immediately for Moscow, where a welcome of even greater proportions awaited them.

Iowa City Speaks for Peace

If there is to be any disarmament, the peoples of the world, including the citizens of Iowa City and every other community, must make it known that they want peace badly enough to demand it.

Conference after conference has failed. They have failed because the men and women most directly concerned with the question of war and peace have not made themselves heard. The world disarmament conference, which reconvenes Oct. 16, will fail as miserably as the rest if the world's crying need for peace is not made articulate.

The world has not rid itself of war. If war is to be averted, the conference at Geneva must not be allowed to fail. The only thing that can save it from failure is a concerted demand for action from thinking people the world over.

The machinery to provide such an expression of world sentiment is organized. Thousands of mass meetings are being planned in cities and towns throughout the United States and in other countries. Petitions from these gatherings and from individuals will be sent to a giant mass meeting which will be held in Geneva the evening before the conference convenes. From that meeting the petitions will be taken, in turn, to the conference itself.

Every citizen with a sense of civic responsibility should do his utmost to see that pressure is brought to bear to make this conference—which may be the last chance for peace—a success.

In order that every reader of THE DAILY IOWAN will have an opportunity to do this very thing, the following form is printed for your convenience. Fill it out and mail it to the office of THE DAILY IOWAN, 126-130 Iowa avenue. The number of individuals responding will be eabled to the mass meeting at Geneva and the complete list of names will be sent to the disarmament conference. Names should be in this office before the end of the week.

R.F.C. to Aid NRA Shops by Big Loan Plan

Millions to Be Loaned Businesses Lacking Working Capital

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30 (AP)—Millions of dollars in loans were promised today by the Reconstruction corporation to enable business establishments handicapped by inadequate working capital to live up to the NRA requirements.

This was announced by the corporation as informed circles looked for other important developments within the next few days in the administrator's effort to release into the credit stream the $2,000,000,000 held up in closed banks.

Henry Bruere
Meanwhile, President Roosevelt summoned a veteran of the banking field—Henry Bruere, president of the Bowers Savings bank of New York—to undertake the task of coordinating the work of the several federal agencies involved in the credit expansion program.

The R.F.C. planned to make its loans through banks and ordinarily to run for six months or less. It said, however, that construction loans would be permitted for three years.

Short-Time Money
Short-time money will be made available to the banks of three per cent interest and they can charge five per cent. Long term funds will be provided at four per cent and the banks can loan them at not more than six per cent.

The short term funds must be used for:
Purchase of materials for manufacture.

Actual cost of labor in manufacture and processing of materials.

To aid merchants and others affected by the national recovery administration.

Kidnapers Sentenced

13 Defendants in Two Famous Cases Are Convicted

(By The Associated Press)
Swiftly, with severity, the law smashed out at the kidnap racket Saturday. Thirteen defendants in two famous cases were convicted.

For the abduction of August Luer, Alton, Ill., banker, a jury in Edwardsville, Ill., convicted five men and a woman and assessed punishments of from five years to life imprisonment.

In Oklahoma City, seven persons—one the notorious Harvey Bailey, another a woman—were found guilty of kidnapping for $200,000 ransom Charles Urschel, oil operator.

But even as this crushing blow was dealt to those who jeopardize life for ransom, former Governor Philip LaFollette of Wisconsin disclosed that an attempt was made by two unidentified men to kidnap him or his harm.

Officers Seize Liquor in Raid on Apartment

In a raid made yesterday afternoon by Deputy Sheriff Preston Koser, Police Captain Joe Dolezal, and Police Chief W. H. Bender, 22 half pint bottles and two one gallon cans of alleged alcohol were seized in an apartment at 19 1/2 E. Burlington street. The apartment is occupied by Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Fredrickson, but the liquor was found in a trunk belonging to Frank Kopach, a roomer.

Joint information for maintenance of a liquor nuisance was filed against all three at a hearing before Justice of the Peace, B. F. Carter, yesterday at 5 p.m. Separate information will probably be filed against Kopach since this is his third offense.

A preliminary hearing was set for Oct. 3 at 2 p.m. in Justice Carter's office. Mr. and Mrs. Fredrickson's appearance bonds were set at $500 and Kopach's at $1,000.

We're Off!

"Iowa 7; Northwestern 0."

Iowa had to come back, and Iowa came back yesterday, with a team full of youth and the sort of spirit that does great things, with a coach whom everyone knew would come through.

Everything was different yesterday than it has been for a long while. Not since Iowa won from Minnesota with a score of nine to seven back in 1929 has there been such a feeling of optimism and good cheer among football fans.

Nor have there been so many football fans. There is going to be a New Deal for Iowa football. It began yesterday afternoon at Soldier field. This team of sophomores let it be known that Iowa has the sort of grit and punch that is hard to stop and as far as they are concerned the New Deal is here to stay.

From now on it depends on the rest of us. The team will arrive at the Rock Island station at 8:20 this morning. Let's be there!

Iowa Citizens Run Wild as Hawks Win

Not since the memorable day the wires carried the story of Iowa's 6 to 0 victory over Yale in 1923, has a football score created such a furor in Iowa City as did the flash yesterday which said: "Iowa beats Northwestern, 7 to 0."

Hardly had the announcers yelled the hoarse news from loudspeakers scattered through the city when plans were under way to gather a huge crowd on the station platform to meet the victorious players when they arrive at 8:20 this morning.

Plans Bubble, Then Die
Plans for bonfires, for parades, for parties, for a school holiday on Monday, and a hundred other forms of celebration bubbled and died.

Chief of Police W. H. Bender sympathetically promised that he would be lenient to celebrants last night, "Just so they don't tear up the town."

About 30 hilarious fans broke into song at Racine's No. 3, and streaked down Clinton street in a shirt-tail parade.

S.U.I. Officials

No less enthusiastic were officials of the university. President Walter A. Jessup was in Chicago, but Dean George P. Kay of the college of liberal arts expressed himself as "delighted" with the result.

"I think the boys did remarkably well," he said. "I was pleasantly surprised. Knowing that Northwestern defeated Iowa 44 to 6 last year, we had scarcely expected them to win. It was a great game!"

Homecoming
Business and university men immediately began laying plans for a rousing Homecoming, practically assured by yesterday's victory.

Apparently the only place in Iowa City where the news of Iowa's touchdown was not received with wild applause was in the English theater, where the crowd politely held its tongue. One fan was overcome and burst out in loud applause, but he was quickly shushed.

After midnight, all efforts of the celebrants were centered on plans for meeting the team this morning.

New Hunting Rules

DES MOINES, (AP)—Announcement was made today of an agreement between the fish and game commissions of Iowa and Nebraska under which hunters having resident licenses may hunt or shoot migratory water fowl along the Missouri river provided they do not land on the shore opposite their own.

Joe Laws Circles End in Final Period to Give Hawks First Conference Victory Since '29

Outplay Northwestern Throughout Game to Win 7 to 0; Crayne Outstanding in First Conference Contest

By CHARLES GRAHAM (Assistant Sports Editor)

SOLDIER FIELD, Chicago, Sept. 30—Rocking Northwestern's highly touted Wildcats back on their heels from the minute the game opened, only once allowing them to catch their breath, the University of Iowa's hard fighting Hawkeyes served notice of a dangerous power as they turned in one of the most stunning upsets in years, beating the Purple 7 to 0.

When Joe Laws twisted and churned his way for 32 yards behind beautiful interference for a touchdown, he engineered the first Iowa conference victory since the Hawks beat Minnesota in 1929.

Crushes Every Threat
The Solem-coached machine marched in step onto Soldier field and crushed every offensive threat of the potentially great Wildcats, split wide their defense and behind the thundering drives of Dick Crayne, drove to victory in the final quarter after threatening repeatedly throughout.

Hailed as the successor to the great Gordon Locke, Iowa's immortal line smashing all-America fullback of 1922, Crayne fully lived up to his expectations as he ran the ends, smashed the line and headed the interference in Iowa's first triumph over Northwestern since 1923.

Guarded Closely
Although watched and guarded throughout the encounter, the big sophomore fullback continually broke away for gains that enabled him to outgain the entire Northwestern team. Of Iowa's 242 yards from scrimmage Crayne accounted for 129, while the Purple clad backs were amassing but 96.

After leading every offensive drive the winners launched during the game, Crayne, with the watchful eyes of the entire N. U. eleven following his movements, lead the Hawkeye line in a devastating wall of interference for Laws' touchdown dash. His biggest gain came when he reeled off 63 yards over right tackle only to be brought down by the desperate tackle of Roy Auguston, Wildcat quarter, on the Purple eight yard line. Repeatedly he pierced the right side of the line for steady gains.

Seel, Radloff
Great as was the Fairfield sophomore's Big Ten debut, no credit can be taken from husky Bill Seel and Fred Radloff, the two men personally responsible for the huge, yawning holes Crayne threaded so consistently. These two men seldom failed to lead the way in the Iowa offensive thrusts and did excellent work on defense.

Long a weak point in Iowa attacks, a rugged line today showed the waiting football world that the reports of its power were more than rumors. Only twice did Northwestern gain a foothold in Iowa territory and both times the Iowa forward wall rose up and stopped them. Praise for individuals is not enough, for every man worked his heart out to start Iowa's 1933 drive off in the right direction.

From the moment big Jim Dee drove into the Wildcat backfield in the opening minutes of the game to throw Ollie Olson for a 3 yard loss till Bernie Buechel slammed Jackie Sullivan to the earth to end the game, the Iowa front line defense outcharged, outfought and outplayed the veteran Wildcats forwards.

In Enemy Backfield
All too often for Purple comfort the Iowa linemen insisted on playing in the enemy backfield. So great was their power today that on Northwestern's greatest offensive thrust, drive which reached Iowa's 18 yard line, Zud Schammel halted it by intercepting a pass from Olson before it had reached the line of scrimmage.

After losing several chances in touchdowns because of fumbles penalties, the Iowa team settled down in the fourth period and collected touchdowns in short order.

Interference
After Crayne brought the ball to N.U.'s 32 yard line on a series of line smashes, Laws followed perfect interference around right end, a trip which ended when he planted the ball in Northwestern's end zone. Russ Fisher placekicked for the extra point.

So rampant was the victory-hungry Hawkeye that four times in mauling 8 minutes it threw score, once actually crossed line only to have a later Crayne to Laws ruled.

NEWS OF CAMPUS AND CITY SOCIETY

Tea Planned
by University
Club Tuesday75 Attend at Opening
Meeting Last Night

With all of the zest and enthusiasm befitting such an occasion, more than 75 women attended the opening dinner and business meeting of University club last night. Twenty-three new members were welcomed into the organization at the event, which took place in the group's redecorated club room at Iowa Union.

Places were arranged for 51 at the dinner which immediately preceded the business session. Guests were seated at small tables adorned with multi-colored bouquets of asters.

Highlights
The reduction of annual dues, the appointment of Mrs. J. Hubert Scott as chairman of bridge activities for the year, and an announcement by Mrs. Carl E. Seashore, group chairman for October, of this month's social event, were highlights of the business meeting.

With Nov. 1 set as the date for the opening lessons, bridge instruction will be given to beginners under the direction of Mrs. Scott. An open bridge party, to which members will be privileged to bring their friends, has been planned for Oct. 13.

Presiding
Presiding for the first time as the club's officers for this year were Mrs. E. B. Kurtz, chairman; Margaret Cooper, secretary; and Mrs. J. E. Switzer, treasurer.

As variation after the business meeting a stunt program was presented by Mrs. R. B. Wylie, Catherine Mullin, Prof. Elizabeth Halsey, and Mrs. Charles Richter.

Ping Pong
Games of ping pong were played by members at the club's recently purchased ping pong table, and plans are being formulated for the arrangement of a series of ping pong tournaments.

In charge of last night's party were Mrs. W. L. Bywater and Mrs. Paul C. Packer.

The ball that will start the October activities of the University club rolling is in the form of an annual reception and tea given for all women who are eligible for membership in the organization.

At Iowa Union
The affair will be held Tuesday from 5 to 6 p.m. in the clubrooms at the Iowa Union. Graduate students and wives of faculty members are especially invited to attend this first meeting of the month.

Mrs. Walter A. Jessup, and the retiring and incoming officers of the club will be the hostesses. Composing the committee in charge are: Mrs. Carl E. Seashore, Mrs. A. C. Trowbridge, Mrs. R. H. Fitzgerald, Mrs. Everett D. Plass, Helene Blattner, and Kate Wickham.

Exhibit
An exhibit of handwoven articles, a demonstration of weaving on a hand loom, and a demonstration of spinning, all by Mrs. Frank L. Mott, will be the highlights of the meeting. Augmenting Mrs. Mott's exhibit will be a display from the home economics department, of articles handwoven in all parts of the world; an exhibit of Czechoslovakian handwoven articles belonging to Prof. Lulu Smith of the home economics department, and a collection of Scandinavian handwork which Mrs. Seashore brought from that country last fall.

THE PUZZLE
Liquor

local option in tax matters. Beer may be sold to anyone over 19 years of age. Other laws cover intoxication and sale of poison liquor and make mandatory instruction in schools on the effects of alcohol.

Connecticut Has Commission
Connecticut's control law was drawn primarily to meet the needs occasioned by the legalization of beer and wine, but it also set up machinery to regulate manufacture, transportation and sale of hard liquor.

A commission of three, formed by executive appointment, issues beer permits and passes on eligibility of applicants. All revenue goes into the state treasury and is redistributed to political subdivisions of the state.

Towns have the right of local option on the question of sale, but the state regulates all other matters. Arizona enacted control statutes anticipating the possibility of repeal. They specify liquor might be sold by groceries when not for consumption on the premises, to hotel guests in rooms and by restaurants with meals.

Arizona Defines "Meals"
In connection with beer, "meals" have been interpreted to mean pretzels or anything else edible placed within reach of the drinker regardless of whether eaten or paid for.

Under an act passed by the Delaware legislature, if national prohibition is repealed the manufacture, transportation and sale of liquor will be controlled, absolutely, by the one-man Delaware Liquor Control commission. Gov. C. Douglass Buck appointed Commissioner Pierre S. duPont, who at present exercises beer control.

The control commission law is mandatory for the entire state. It bars saloons, prohibits sale between midnight and 9 a.m. and on Sundays and holidays. Sales for consumption.

tion off the premises are restricted to original containers.

Sales in Drug Stores
In the event of national repeal, Indiana would be governed by a law passed in this year's general assembly. It would permit sale of spirituous liquors on prescription only and would make drug stores the only retailers.

In Nevada the state itself would have no control over liquor sales in the event of repeal, but control would be vested in county liquor boards and municipal governments.

Rhode Island has an alcoholic beverages commission which controls beer sales now and would control hard liquor in event of repeal. It provides for sale in original containers and in hotels and restaurants with meals, but not in saloons.

Members of the chorus of the Iowa City Woman's club, and those interested in joining the chorus, will meet tomorrow at 2 p.m.

Mrs. Alexander Ellett, the director, will be hostess to the gathering at her home, 1514 Muscatine avenue. Details of the year's program will be discussed and planned at the meeting.

Holt Author of Book on Surveying

"The surveyor and his land equipment" is the title of an article by Prof. A. H. Holt of the college of engineering in the September issue of the Proceedings of the American Society of Civil Engineers.

Professor Holt mentions in his article several instances of bound, one trespass, in one of which the owner of a six-inch strip of land upon which a prominent New York building overlapped was paid $50,000 for the property in question. The necessity for accurate land investigation and surveying is stressed throughout.

New Radios at Jackson Shop

New model Majestic radios are being displayed by the Jackson Electric company, 108 S. Dubuque street, according to Floyd Jackson. Many new developments in radio engineering, including the new Majestic duo-valve self shielded tube, tone control, and automatic volume control, are incorporated in the new models. They receive both short and long wave programs.

Church School Opens Oct. 9

Nine Churches Plan Four Courses in Religion

The parent-teacher school of Christian education sponsored by nine Iowa City churches will open Monday evening, Oct. 9, and will continue for 10 Monday evenings concluding Dec. 11.

This will be the third year of the school under the auspices of the Iowa City council of religious education, which is affiliated with the international council of religious education. The Baptist, Christian, Congregational, Episcopal, English Lutheran, Methodist, Nazarene, Presbyterian and Unitarian churches unite in sponsoring this school.

Aim

Its aim, according to the school, is to aid teachers and officers of church schools and to give parents, for the sake of their children, a sane and intelligent religious outlook. "Public school teachers are scientifically prepared for their task but our church school teachers have not had this advantage. Parents have studied thoroughly their professions and businesses, but have had very limited help to religious training for the home." It is claimed that this school offers the opportunity to fill these needs by study under the leadership of experts.

Four Courses

Four courses will be offered this year. Course number one, which will meet from 7 to 9 p.m., is on "The Life of Christ," under the leadership of the Rev. W. P. Lemmon. The aim of this course is to lead to an understanding and appreciation of the life, the personality, and the teachings of Jesus as revealed by the New Testament record, in order better to understand the place and significance of His life for present day religious education.

"The teaching work of the church" is course number two. This is under the direction of the Rev. W. S. Dyingner and will meet from 7 to 9 p.m. This course, designed especially for officers and teachers of church schools, will be related to specific problems that arise in this service and will attempt to define the function of Christian education and review the actual educational work of the church in the light of these aims.

"Parents and Children" course number three, meeting from 7 to 9 p.m. under the leadership of Mrs. May Pardee Youtz, is the first of a three-year course for parents. These courses are planned, the school says, with the idea of stressing religious values in family life. The second year of this course is "Mental health and the family," and the third year is "Marriage and the family."

Course number four is "The message and program of the Christian religion" to be led by Prof. M. Wilard Lampe from 7 to 9 p.m. Its aim is to lead to an understanding and appreciation of the message and program of the Christian religion and to a desire to have a vital share in making the program effective in bringing about a Christian world.

Liberal Arts Building
The school uses those who are planning to attend to keep open the dates upon which their classes will meet. Beginning with the first Monday, Oct. 9, classes will be held promptly at 7 p.m. in room 207, liberal arts building.

The following officers are in charge of the school: Dean of the school, the Rev. L. A. Owen, pastor of the Congregational church; registrar, Howard V. Meredith, 122 McLean street; publicity committee: Prof. Floyd A. Nagler, Mrs. A. C. Ohi, A. Left, Julia M. Barber, and the Rev. W. S. Dyingner. Curriculum committee is composed of Mrs. Mildred I. Morgan, the Rev. W. S. Dyingner, and Mrs. May P. Youtz; the finance committee of Mrs. W. M. Rohrbacher, Mrs. Minerva Knight, and Ira H. Pierce, and on

Play by Play

How Hawkeyes Downed Northwestern 7 to 0.

Play by play description of the game:

First period—Capt. Moore won the toss and chose to defend the south goal with the wind at his back. Hawkeye kicked off for Northwestern. Laws receiving on the 12 yard line and running it back to Iowa's 40 yard line. Crayne smashed through right tackle for 2 yards. On a second smash, Crayne got through for five yards. Laws plunged through center and missed first down by inches. Iowa played it safe and Crayne punted to Sullivan, who was run out of bounds on Northwestern's 23 yard line.

Olson ploughed through center for 3 yards. Schammel making the tackle. Six Iowa tacklers smothered Sullivan for no gain on a smash at right tackle. Olson punted to Laws who was knocked out of bounds on Iowa's 33 yard line. On a wide end sweep, Fisher picked up 3 yards. Laws plunged through center for 3 yards. Olson stopping him. On a triple pass behind the line, Fisher fumbled but recovered for an 8 yard loss. Crayne then punted to Auguston who fumbled the ball as it went out of bounds on the 16 yard line. Sullivan tried to get around his right end but was smothered by Schammel for a 3 yard loss. Northwestern took time out.

Northwestern evidently was talking over the Iowa line which was outchaining and outplaying the Wildcats on the somewhat soggy field. Olson punted high and the ball was allowed to roll dead on Northwestern's 33 yard line. Fisher failed to gain around his left end. The Wildcats broke through the line and Dee lost a yard. Hoover threw a long pass to Crayne but it was incomplete. Crayne punted over the goal line and Northwestern took the ball on its own 20 yard line.

Crayne Breaks Through

Olson on a twister was thrown for no gain by Moore. Olson punted, the ball rolling dead on Northwestern's 49 yard line. Crayne dove through center for four yards. On a twister Crayne broke through center and ran to Northwestern's 33 yard line, where Cruice, the only man between him and the goal caught him by one foot. Laws cracked center for no gain. Koepeck replaced Jens at right end for Northwestern. Crayne cracked center for 4 yards. Crayne, on an off tackle smash, dove through for a first down on Northwestern's 22 yard line. Laws dove over center to the 20 yard line for 2 yards. Crayne fumbled as he dove over center and the ball popped out of his hands, rolling to Northwestern's 15 yard line where Cruice recovered for the Wildcats.

Northwestern took time out. On a fake punt, Olson broke around his left end for a first down on Northwestern's 26 yard line. Hoover stopped Sullivan for no gain at center. Kostbade replaced Koepeck at right right end for Northwestern. Iowa called time out. Olson caught Iowa asleep with a low punt, the ball rolling out of bounds on Iowa's 26 yard line. Crayne hit his right tackle for 3 yards. Crayne's quick kick was blocked but he recovered on his own 11 yard line. Crayne then punted to Sullivan who caught the ball in midfield and ran the ball back to Iowa's 32 yard line. He was brought down by Seel.

Hoffman Injured

Hoffman was injured on the play and Iowa took time out. Foster replaced Hoffman for Iowa. Hoffman was helped off the field and it appeared his left leg was injured. Cruice was stopped for no gain at left tackle. Olson passed to Man-the administration committee are Mrs. C. J. Lapp, Mrs. Mildred I. Morgan, the Rev. C. C. Garrigues, Karl Jetter, and the Rev. Glenn McMichael.

BOOK REVIEWS

Edited by John Pryor

Floyd Dell Tells Story of Climb to Literary Fame

Homecoming, by Floyd Dell; Farrar and Rinehart, New York; $3.

With the conceit of a genius, with his characteristic tenderness, with a memory that is colorful but discreet, this author has not only told his own story. He has written an intimate study of some of America's greatest pre-war radicals, has told of life in Davenport when he and Susan Glasspell were reporters there, has described Greenwich village life before the playboy era, and has done it well.

The literary minded reader, even if he cares little about the life of Mr. Dell, will probably be delighted with familiar references to many celebrated authors. Dell knew many of the now famous when they were but back writers, and his Boswellian tales of their failures, successes, madneses and achievements should be delicious to the literary historian and a solace to the aspiring author.

Davenport Life

To Iowans, the book has special interest in its description of Davenport as it was many years ago—Davenport, where Dell worked in a candy factory, joined the Socialist local, was fired from the "Times" and was hired by the "Democrat," and lived with George Cook on a truck farm. That it did not treat that young Dell with greater respect, Davenport will probably regret. But his favorable memories should endear him forever to proud residents of that city.

Of less interest is the poetry, "written at the age of 16," which fills perhaps too many pages of the chapters on his youth. The poetry is rather good, and Mr. Dell has reason to be proud, but—well, many young men write nice verses.

Mr. Dell states, in his preface, that his purpose in writing an autobiography is to show his development, particularly his mental growth, from a confused existence as a child to a rich manhood. Yet he does not do exactly as he claims.

Appealing Story

His book is, indeed, made coherent by the appealing story of his life, sometimes tragic and often amusing, but it is made exciting by the places he lived and the people he met and the things they said and did.

Whether he has accomplished his purpose or not, Mr. Dell has certainly told a worth while story, with his usual high standard of literary style.

Abbott, Whetstone Fined $300 Each

Ward L. Abbott and A. L. Whetstone, who were charged with illegal possession of intoxicating liquor after raids Monday night, were fined $300 each and costs and sentenced to three months in jail yesterday morning in district court.

They both had entered pleas of guilty to information filed by County Attorney F. B. Olsen. Sentence was suspended upon payment of costs amounting to $341 each.

Turrell to Speak at Botany Club Meeting

At an initial meeting of the season, to be held tomorrow at 4:10 p.m., members of the Botany club will hear F. M. Turrell speak on "Measurement of the leaf surface." Mr. Turrell, who is a research assistant in the botany department, will deliver his address in room 408 in pharmacy-botany building.

He, who juggled the ball and Fisher recovered for Iowa on the 30 yard line, Crayne broke through left tackle, running to Northwestern's 43 yard line as the period ended.

Crayne's run was a brilliant effort aided by splendid interference as he came close to getting away.

Second period: On the first play, Crayne broke through right tackle for nine yards. Laws cracked center for first down, but Iowa was

A Great Educator Passes On

WITH THE death last Monday of Prof. Henry Suzzallo, president of the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching, the American scene lost one of its greatest figures in the fight for educational freedom.

Rising from the ranks of comparative poverty, Suzzallo was one of the army of young men who work their way through college. Following his graduation from the California State Normal school, he continued his education, by dint of his own effort, and was graduated from Leland Stanford university in 1899.

He studied later at Columbia university, where he was granted a masters degree. Later many universities, in the United States and abroad, conferred upon him honorary degrees.

Perhaps it was because his own education had cost him many years of hard work, that he came to value freedom in education above everything, even his livelihood. To him education had a definite goal, which he expressed thus:

"The fundamental functions of the state educational system are to educate the people to greater and greater competency in performing, first, the general social obligations of citizenship or membership in American civilization required of all men and women; and, second, the particular or specialized services to society allotted to different occupational groups, membership in any one of which is a matter of individual choice and fitness."

When, in 1915, as a young man still under 40, he became president of the University of Washington, his educational beliefs were put to the supreme test.

During his 11 years at the head of the western institution, it saw a growth from a school of 2,000 students to one of 7,000. Many new departments and services were inaugurated under his direction.

The last two years saw a battle, one that will forever hold an important place in American education, between Suzzallo and Gov. Roland H. Hartley of Washington. When Suzzallo refused to yield, he was deposed by the regents of the university.

Public opinion throughout the state was aroused to such an extent that many persons demanded the reinstatement of Professor Suzzallo, and the recall of the governor. This was never done, however.

To the very end this zealous educator carried on his work. When his last illness overtook him, he was on his way to Canada, where he had hoped to aid in reorganizing the University of Manitoba, in his capacity as president of the Carnegie Foundation.

The University of Iowa campus knew this great figure in American education. He was a warm friend of many Iowa educators, among them President Walter A. Jessup and Dean Paul C. Packer.

In 1926, when the struggle between Professor Suzzallo's beliefs in education, and the governor was at its height, the famous educator came to the Iowa campus to deliver an address at the June Commencement.

His passing elicited a few paragraphs of comment from the press. A few newspapers recalled his fight for education freedom. But those who feel as he did, that the school must be unhampered to achieve its goal, realize that a great man has gone.

Fashions And Economics

IT IS EASY for Paris or New York designers to change feminine dress fashions. A few pencil marks on the drawing of a new model, a few snips of the scissors on the latest "creation," a statement to the fashion editor of some magazine—and women everywhere will follow orders.

These constant alterations, dictated at the beginning of every season by fashion leaders, provide women with conversation and men with something on which to pin feeble jokes. Seldom are style changes regarded in the light of economic meaning.

Perhaps some people have never realized that the slightest "fad" in dress may bring tremendous changes in the lives of thousands. Every person connected with the manufacture or sale of feminine garments sits at the edge of a volcanic crater, figuratively speaking, which may erupt at the whim of some Parisian authority. Even the purchaser, buying new and discarding almost new dresses to "keep up with the Mrs. Jones," causes a tremendous economic waste which certainly has some effect on almost every line of business.

The seller is faced with the constant threat of changing fashions. If the change comes before the old stock is sold, he may lose money heavily.

But, most of all, it is the producers who are most affected by feminine desires. Because some designer said it was the correct thing, thousands of men slaughtered countless herons for their plumes. Hundreds of ships were and still are engaged in the seal fur trade, to please women who want fashionable coats. Industries have failed and others have prospered because of minor style variations.

The latest example of the effect of new fashions may be found in France, where the skilled artisans who once made world famous laces have been thrown out of work in great numbers. The lace fashion has been dying since the World war, and, in spite of French efforts, the ancient art, handed down through many generations, is rapidly passing beyond hope of revival.

This devastating effect of style fluctuations is the reason, one supposes, why many observers welcomed the innovation of trousers on the comely form of Marlene Dietrich. But the attempt failed, and now women's fashions are at it again.

Courageous Ganders

(From the San Francisco Examiner)

The Associated Press rushes from Ontario province the solemn statement of a farmer that the other day, when a wolf attacked a flock of sheep, the senior ram of the establishment butted the wolf and the latter died of a fractured skull and a broken neck. This little story pleases all of us who like to think of males as noble protectors of the females and the youngsters.

John E. Pickett, farm editor of San Francisco, authorizes another legend which flatters the male. It seems that sometimes farmers have difficulty in distinguishing partly grown geese from ganders. But the solution is simple.

The farmer shuts all the fowl in an enclosure. Then he turns in a dog. Some of the fowl raise their necks and retreat. Others lower their necks and hold their ground, hissing at the dog. Gentlemen will be pleased to know that it is the ganders who face the dog.

The notion that women like only those men who emulate the courage of the ram and the gander is, however, mistaken. We all know of instances where a girl much prefers a timid fellow who would knock her down and get out of the way of a burglar to some hero who would rout an army of bandits singlehanded. And perhaps the girl is right—heroes are often tiresome rascals.

GOOD MORNING

The relative importance of class room and extra-curricular work in the educational process of the college student is a popular subject for smoking room argument.

Most liberal minded persons are generally agreed today, however, that, granting the fundamental necessity for stereotyped training by schedule the incidental advantages afforded by the university environment constitute the most important part of college training.

Social activities fall in this category, together with work in student organizations and the individual student's daily association with many fresh and youthful minds. Fully as important as these, if not more so, are the students' contacts with thinking and cultured men both on the faculty and in the business and professional world.

The University of Iowa offers to the student almost unlimited opportunities for improvement of his own mind and character through this type of association. For the most part, the degree to which the individual student recognizes these opportunities and takes advantage of them depends upon himself.

In spite of the fact that this is a state university, with a large and motley student body, associations between faculty members and students are unusually intimate and personal. Yet it is true that the great majority of students fail either to recognize the extreme value of such associations or fail to take advantage of the opportunity.

Supplementing this sort of informal contact, the University offers to the alert student exceptional opportunities in the form of special lectures, vespers services, and other feature programs.

Of these perhaps the most important to the student body as a whole are the university lectures, which open for the 1933-34 series one week from tomorrow with an address by Everett Dean Martin, director of the People's Institute of Cooper Union, New York.

The fame of Mr. Martin as a minister, an author, a teacher, and a lecturer is known wherever men think seriously of the problems of society. Beginning as a Unitarian minister in Des Moines, he established for himself a nation-wide reputation as a speaker of exceptional ability.

Always vitally interested in the development of education, especially among the adult population, he served for a time as teacher in the New School for Social Research and later held a similar position at the Brookwood Workers college, before being appointed to his present position as head of what has been called "the intellectual aristocracy of New York."

Other lectures of equal interest are being planned for the rest of the season by the Senate committee on University lectures, headed by Prof. Benj. F. Shambaugh.

Prof. C. E. Seashore, dean of the graduate college, has characterized the lectures presented during the summer session as a liberal education in themselves. The same is true of the series of university lectures during the winter.

BEHIND THE SCENES

- IN HOLLYWOOD -

STUDIO GOSSIP

SCREEN COMMENT

By HARRISON CARROLL

HOLLYWOOD—Another good Samaritan is nursing a black eye and Richard Cromwell is feeling very penitent as a result of a wild fist fight which took place before Clara Bow and several hundred extras on the "Hoopla" set at Fox Hills studio.

The affair started as a rib, young Cromwell framed it with Gordon Craveth, a professional fighter employed in the picture, to furnish a little excitement by staging a mock battle between scenes.

But they didn't count on Joe St. George, another worker in the film and a former 118-pound amateur champion of Southern California. Seeing that the smaller Cromwell was up against more than his match, St. George leaped to the rescue. Before anybody could explain, he jerked Craveth off the young actor and began showering the boxer with fists.

The end came quickly. Forced to shower back, Craveth landed a blow that sent the rescuer to the studio emergency hospital for treatment. And what a shiner he got!

An apologetic Cromwell has now sworn off gags.

Credit Mae West with another swell comeback. An interviewer recently asked her: "Miss West, why do women with pasts interest men?" And Mae came back: "Because men always hope that history will repeat itself."

The most harassed woman in Hollywood, by the way, is that other Mae West, who sells corsets for a living and whose name is listed in the Los Angeles phone directory. Letters, telegrams, and telephone calls besiege her. She is the particular target of stews who are always calling up in the middle of the night. One inebricated gent long-distanced all the way from Tulsa, Okla., to know if he could come up some time.

You can look to see Franchot Tone grab a train for New York as soon as he finishes the Connie Bennett picture and the remaining scenes he has to do with Joan Crawford. He'll visit his mother and hopes to bring her back out with him. And don't let anyone tell you that the friendship between Joan and Franchot has cooled off. He calls on the set several times a day.

Hollywood's most ardent communicator, however, is Fifi Dorsay.

She writes 23-page letters to her fiancé in Chicago. The ring has not arrived yet, but it's coming in, of all things, a beer mug inscribed: "Maurice and Fifi." The French-Canadian star is much perturbed over the idea of going to live in China. "I don't know whether to stay here with my work or to become the belle of Shanghai!" she exclaims.

QUICK GLIMPSES

For reasons unannounced, Sally Rand has been withdrawn from the cast of Paramount's "Search for Beauty." . . . Una Merkel is blue. Her engineer-husband may have to go to South America to design an important plant. . . . More rumors yesterday when Sally Eilers began to move her things out of her dressing room at the Fox studio. Explanation is that the studio has decided it needs this dressing room for an office. . . . Another hot report had it that Spencer Tracy had been held up by a gunman who leaped on the runningboard of Spence's car and said: "So, you're the tough guy of the movies, are you?" Actually, it was a pan-handler and he talked so fast that Spence gave him $10.

Losers Knot Score Late in Encounter

Pug Lund Scores All Gopher Touchdowns Personally

MINNEAPOLIS, Sept. 30 (AP)—A promising Minnesota football team tried the lid off the 1933 season today with a 19 to 6 triumph over South Dakota State.

Some 20,000 fans saw Coach Bernie Bierman experiment with his varsity, reserves and second stringers in the non-conference tussle with the Jack Rabbits who threw a scare into the Gophers in the last period by knotting the score at six all.

Big Rally
Minnesota, however, suddenly found itself in the waning minutes of the game and put together two more touchdowns after making its first counter in the third period following a poorly played first half.

Francis "Pug" Lund, sterling Gopher half, was the spark plug of Minnesota's play, scoring all of his team's touchdowns.

Look Bad
The Gophers of the first half were far from the Big Ten team Bierman hopes to throw into the Western conference title fight. Four times they missed opportunities because they lacked a scoring punch.

From the start of the third period, Minnesota looked like a different team. Aided by Lund's sparkling runs of 23 and 26 yards, the Gophers marched from their 18 yard line to South Dakota's two yard stripe from where Lund scored. The goal was missed.

Jack Rabbits Score
As the fourth period opened, Balfany's 18 yard dash from his own 47 yard line, coupled with a 24 yard pass, Balfany to Kramer, gave the invaders their only score. The kick was missed.

The score only lent fury to the Gopher attack, however, and midway in the period Lund passed to Tennesse 21 yards. On the next play Lund plunged four yards for a touchdown. Champlin, midback, squirmed his way nine yards to the one yard line a moment later and Lund again went over for a score. Champlin dropped the extra point.

Major Leagues

By The Associated Press
A pair of rookies treated a crowd of 300 fans to some high grade pitching today as the Detroit Tigers staged an eight inning rally to defeat the Cleveland Indians, 3 to 0. Eldon Auker, who came up to Detroit recently from Beaumont, Tex., made his fourth start for the Tigerz and pitched four hit ball to register his second victory of the season and his first shutout.

Gordon Lee held the Tigers hitless for seven innings, and then was found for four singles in a row. Monte Weaver blanked the Yankees with three hits in the first six innings today and Washington piled up enough runs to win the series final 7 to 2. Babe Ruth walked his 33rd homer for the Yanks. Washington made six double plays.

Three White Sox hurling veterans, tuning themselves up for the coming city series with the Cubs, pitched three inning apiece against the St. Louis Browns today and did such an excellent job of it that they walked away with a 4-hit 4 to 1 victory.

Sad Sam Jones was touched for two hits in the first three rounds and "Bull" Durham and Ted Lyons allowed one each in the last six. The one off Lyons was a homer by Sam West to open the ninth inning and saved the Browns from a shutout.

The Athletics closed the home season today by losing a doubleheader to the Boston Red Sox by the scores of 2 to 1 and 12 to 1. The double triumph gave the Sox the season's series with the Mackmen, 14 games to 8.

Dizzy Dean got knocked out of the box today as the Chicago Cubs defeated the St. Louis Cardinals, 12 to 2, to clinch third place in the National league race but he fanned five to run his strike-out total for the season to 202.

The New York Giants took advantage of Van Lingle Mungo's wildness today to score in the early innings and defeat the Dodgers 4 to 2. Fred Fitzsimmons went the route for the Giants, giving nine hits.

Wins Opener
ANNAPOLIS, Sept. 30 (AP)—Navy successfully launched its football season today by defeating William and Mary, 12 to 0, in a hard-fought battle.

Army Takes 19 to 6 Victory After Hard Battle With Mercer

MICHIE STADIUM, West Point, N. Y., Sept. 30 (AP)—Jack Buckler, a skinny legged but elusive halfback from Waco, Tex., led the Army eleven to a hard earned 19 to 6 victory over a fighting team from Mercer university in the Cadets opening game of the 1933 season here today. Buckler scored one of the winners' touchdowns on a 37 yard run in the opening period and set a second one up for Stancoek with a series of brilliant runs.

Stanford Beats U.C.L.A., 3 to 0

Bill Corbus' Placekick Wins Game

PALO ALTO, Cal. Sept. 30 (AP)—Stanford's rejuvenated Indians opened their Pacific Coast conference campaign today with a 3-0 victory over the University of California at Los Angeles Bruins, gaining by the margin of one field goal.

For the balance of a bitterly fought contest the oval sea-sawed up and down the field, almost entirely in Bruin territory.

Three times the Home Guards reached to within a few scant yards of scoring but only to lose the ball. In these marches the 1933 Stanford gridiron machine demonstrated its worth to some 25,000 fans and its new coach, "Tiny" Thornhill.

Cornell Stands Off I.S.T. to Take Victory

MT. VERNON, Sept. 30 (AP)—The Cornell college football team battled with its back to the wall in the closing minutes of the Iowa State Teachers football game, here today, but came through to win by a 12 to 7 score.

Leading by a 12 to 0 score early in the fourth quarter the Cornellians allowed a series of penalties to start them backing up and almost cost them the game.

A blocked punt, in the second quarter, by Charles Berve, Cornell tackle, placed the ball on the Teachers' 27 yard line and led to Cornell's first touchdown. On the fifth play of the fourth period, Shade dropped back and passed to Coffman, sophomore end, for 27 yards and the second count.

Penalties which placed the Teachers on the Cornell one yard line were largely responsible for their lone marker a few minutes later, and except for a fighting Cornell line, which threw the visitors back to the 25 yard stripe from the 36 yard marker in four downs, the Purple victory would have been reversed.

Michigan State Scores Early to Beat Grinnell, 14-0

EAST LANSING, Mich., Sept. 30 (AP)—Pushing over two touchdowns in the second period, Michigan State college, in its first appearance under its new coach, Charles E. Bachman, downed Grinnell college of Iowa 14 to 0 today in the opening football game of the season.

McCreary and Jones, State backs, each scored and Jones kicked the extra points as the State team overcame a stubborn Grinnell defense.

Drake Teams Defeated Twice by Zuppke's Illini

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Sept. 30 (AP)—Coach Bob Zuppke's 21st Illinois football team was unimpressive in its opening game today as the Illini beat Drake by a 13-6 score.

Les Lindbergh, sophomore halfback who regained eligibility only yesterday, scored both of Illinois' touchdowns on runs of 82 and 20 yards, the first after he intercepted a lateral pass and the second after receiving a 20 yard pass from Jack Beynon. Lindbergh's kicking, with that of Beynon, was another feature of the game.

Jones, Drake center, put his team ahead in second period, when he caught a pass blocked as it left the hand of Gano, Illini sub quarterback, and dashed 40 yards unmolested to the initial score of the game.

Lindbergh's first touchdown, in the third quarter, tied the count and Illinois took the lead when Bart Cummings, tackle, place kicked the point.

Welland, Drake halfback, featured the visitors offensive while Capt. Brecher and Anderson, linemen, were strong defensively. For Illinois, Lindbergh, Cook and Beynon did well in the back field and Cummings and Frink starred in the line.

Drake nipped several Illini scoring threats by intercepting eight passes. Fumbles were costly to both teams. A blocked kick, which gave Drake the ball only 16 yards from touchdown, threw a scare into Illini fans but Lindbergh made his first touchdown on the next play to reverse the situation and pave way to the Illini victory.

Both coaches made many substitutions. A preliminary game between reserve squads was won by Illinois, 19-0.

The game drew 15,000 with 3,000 Boy Scouts and many school children guests of the university.

Odds Shorten on Senators as Opening Game of Series Draws Nearer; Hubbell Set

By ALAN GOULD

Associated Press Sports Editor
NEW YORK, Sept. 30 (AP)—The odds began to shorten today on the Washington Senators, world series favorites. With the start of baseball's biggest show less than three days off public support was rallying for the Giants along Broadway and the barriers being let down to give old John J. Fan a better "break" at the box offices.

Joe Cronin's definite statement today that his pitching for the opening game has now narrowed down to three possibilities, Wally Stewart, Al Crowder and Earl Whitehill, failed to strike any further feats into the camp of the New Yorkers, who have watched all three belted somewhat briskly at the Yankee stadium within the past two days. The suspicion that the Washington hurling staff is either tired or for other reasons not exactly "on edge" has further strengthened the prospects for a hard-fought series. This development, plus the extraordinary faith placed in the ability of Carl Hubbell to southpaw the Senators into subjection in the opening game or at any other other time he pitches, has boosted the home team's spirits.

The Senators, 5 to 5 choice for the past week, probably will be no better than 6 to 5 when the series starts. Hubbell is a 5 to 4 favorite to pitch the Giants to victory in the opener at the Polo Grounds, Tuesday, regardless of Washington's first pitching selection.

Georgia Tech Beats Clemson in Opener Major Leagues

ATLANTA, Sept. 30 (AP)—Georgia Tech's Golden Tornado, giving at least partial fulfillment to pre-season forecasts of greater power than it has shown in recent years, blew Clemson down 38 to 2 this afternoon in weather better suited to baseball than to football.

Aurora Wins Title
WESTBURY, N. Y. (AP)—Aurora, with Elmer Boeseke, Jr., riding wild, today won the United States open polo championship, defeating John Hay Whitney's Greentree four, 14-11, in a spectacularly contested final to the 1933 tournament.

NEW YORK (AP)—Fordham opened its 1933 football season, its first under the tutelage of "Sleepy" Jim Crowley of Notre Dame, with a 52-0 victory today over Albright college of Reading, Pa.

Air Attack Brings Last Minute Tally

Sophomore Back Puts Ball Over in Final Minute

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Sept. 30 (AP)—Indiana university seized an aerial opportunity in the final minute of play today to defeat Miami, Buckeye conference champions, 7 to 0 in the first game of the season.

Two bullet passes, the second a "sleeper" to Wendell Walker, turned the trick. The big sophomore fullback seized the ball and ran 30 yards to a touchdown virtually unmolested. Ray Dauer, half back, placed-kicked the added point.

During most of the first half, a sturdy Miami line turned back the Hoosier attack, and the visitors piled up a big advantage in first downs.

The Indiana offense came to life in the last half and late in the final quarter Don Veller, halfback, teamed with Walker in battering the Miami line for five successive first downs. After Veller raced to the two yard line, however, the Ohioans stiffened to turn back Walker in three tries.

A long punt sent the Hoosiers back to midfield, from where they scored in two plays. Veller tossed a pass to Brunj Vercuski, end, for 20 yards and then Walker, who had sneaked to the other side of the field, pulled in another of Veller's heaves and raced to the goal.

Kansas Defeats Creighton, 14 to 0

OMAHA, Sept. 30 (AP)—Kansas university, scoring a touchdown on a sustained march in the third period and another in the fourth quarter as the direct result of two flashing runs by Ed Hall, speedy halfback, defeated Creighton university 14 to 0 in the opening game of the football season here tonight.

South Dakota Wins Easy 19-0 Victory Over York College

VERMILION, S. D., Sept. 30 (AP)—Exhibiting a powerful defense, the University of South Dakota football team held York, Neb., college to five first downs here today and won, 19 to 0.

The Panthers threatened in the fourth period when Norwood, quarterback, passed to Moline, halfback, and the latter followed immediately with a dash to the Coyotes' seven yard line. But there the South Dakotans stiffened, took the ball and marched back for another touchdown.

Equipoise Winner
HAYRE DE GRACE, Md. (AP)—Equipoise wound up his racing career here today by finishing second to Osculator in the renewal of the $10,000 Havre de Grace handicap. Mate was third.

Late Rally to Take Game Field Goal, Touchdown With 2 Minutes to Play

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 30 (AP)—A band of courageous footballers from the Ivy hung halls of old Washington and Jefferson stormed the battlements of the Pitt stadium today and outplayed a more highly regarded Pitt eleven for three quarters, only to go down to defeat, 9-0, before a final desperate, powerhouse attack by the aroused Panthers.

The game stand of the Red and Black kept the crowd of 10,000 fans in a bedlam of excitement. With less than two and one half minutes left to play, Izzy Weinstock, Panther fullback, coolly booted the pigskin between the uprights for a 3 points goal. O'Dell skirted end a moment later to end the scoring.

PLAY-BY-PLAY

Account of Iowa's Win Over Northwestern Game Statistics

penalized for offside shoving the ball to Northwestern's 39 yard line. On the next play, Crayne fumbled and Northwestern recovered on their 39 yard line. Schammel tackled Auguston after a gain of one yard. On a quick kick, Olson punted 70 yards over the goal line. The Hawkeyes put the ball in play on their own 20 yard line.

On that same off tackle play, Crayne picked up 5 yards. Laws lost four yards when he was smeared by Manks. On a long sweep around left end, Fisher picked up 7 yards. It was fourth down with 2 yards to go. Iowa took time out. Goldstein went in at right guard for Northwestern. Crayne punted to Sullivan who returned to Iowa's 48 yard line, a return of 8 yards. Olson smashed through center for 3 yards. A pass, Olson to Jens was good for 5 yards. Olson crowded through center but missed first yard by a foot. On fourth down, Olson again carried the ball, but failed by a whisker to make the down and Iowa took the ball on their 38 yard line. Crayne broke through right tackle for first down on his own 48 yard line.

Wildcats Threaten

Laws picked up a yard on a smash at right tackle. Crayne picked up another at center. Kopecky broke through and smeared Laws for 7 yards. Crayne then punted to Sullivan who received on the 22 yard line and dodged back to Northwestern's 39. Auguston passed to Manks for first down on the 50 yard line. Iowa called for time out. Richards went in for Fisher in the Iowa backfield. Iowa was penalized 5 yards for excessive time out. Auguston threw a long pass to Crayne which fell incomplete just out of his reach. Sullivan was stopped for no gain at center. Auguston threw a pass to Manks who tossed laterally to Crayne for first down on Iowa's 23 yard line.

Leeper leaped into the line for 2 yards. On a double pass behind the line, Crayne got loose around his left end for a first down on Iowa's 28 yard line. Olson fought his way through center for six yards. Leeper tried to get around his right end but was chased clear across the field for a loss of 4 yards. Olson's pass to Jens was knocked down. Iowa was offside, however, and was penalized 5 yards. Crayne picked up a bare yard on a left end sweep. Olson tried for a field goal from the 30 yard line but his drop kick was low. Iowa took the ball on its 20 yard line and punted back.

Cruice picked up three yards on a smash at left tackle. He picked up two more at center, the tackle being made by Seel. Olson's pass to Auguston was intercepted by Schammel on Iowa's 22 yard line. Schammel was dropped in his tracks as he caught the ball. Northwestern took time out. The balmy summer weather was hard on the players. Leeper and Lind went in to Northwestern's backfield for Sullivan and Auguston.

A lateral pass, Crayne to Laws, was good for 3 yards. Crayne picked up 2 more on a smash at center, Manks and Hakej stopping him. Crayne picked up a yard at center. It was fourth down with four yards to go. R. Fisher replaced Doe at right end for Iowa. Crayne punted to Lind who received on his 41 yard line and returned 20 yards to Iowa's 40 yard line.

Teyro went in for Laws in the Iowa backfield. Sutton replaced Olson for Northwestern. Crayne broke through center for 3 yards just as the period ended.

The start of the second half was delayed because of American Legion ceremonies. After the drum and bugle corps marched off the field, the football gladiators rushed out to take up the battle.

Third: Iowa started the same lineup that finished the second period. Northwestern had its first team intact again. Crayne kicked off to Sullivan who received on his 4 yard line and returned to the Wildcat 27 yard line. Olson punted on the first play, the ball squirreling off the side of his shoe and going out of bounds on Iowa's 48 yard line. Crayne hit right tackle and picked up a yard. Fisher failed to gain on a spinner. Crayne punted to Sullivan who was upset by Page on Northwestern's 21 yard line. Richards and Schammel stopped Olson after a gain of 3 yards. Olson punted to Laws who slipped and was down on the Iowa 27 yard line. Richards tried to get around his left end but was upset after a gain of two yards.

Crayne Loose for 63 Yards

Crayne broke through right tackle and got away for a sensational run being halted on Northwestern's 9 yard line. Auguston had to catch him from behind. Crayne's long run was a net gain of 63 yards. Northwestern took time out and made several replacements in the line. Riley and Kopecky went in the line for Northwestern. Crayne took the ball and smashed over right guard for 2 yards. Richards drove over center for one yard. It was fourth down and 4 yards to go for the goal. Laws try for a place kick from the 12 yard line was blocked and the ball bounded to Northwestern's 2 yard line where a bunch of Wildcats fell on it. Olson, punting from behind his goal, got away a while of a kick. Laws taking the ball and being downed on Iowa's 48 yard line.

Laws lost 3 yards when he slipped in a drive at right tackle. Crayne however, found a hole in the center of the line and dashed through for seven yards. Crayne passed to Page for a first down on Northwestern's 32 yard line. Laws picked up a yard at center. On a tricky triple pass, the Hawkeyes failed to gain. Crayne carrying the ball, Crayne punted to Sullivan who was upset on the Northwestern 10 yard line after a return of 7 yards. Olson returned the punt and Laws returned the kick 25 yards to Northwestern's 41 yard line. Iowa took time out. Crayne was withdrawn from the Iowa lineup and the crowd gave him an ovation. Teyro replaced Crayne. Richards lost 5 yards when the Wildcat line broke through. Teyro's pass was incomplete.

Auguston Fumbles

Iowa took time out. Fisher replaced Laws. Teyro's pass was knocked down by Anderson and Iowa was penalized five yards for the second incomplete pass. Teyro punted to Auguston who fumbled and Iowa recovered on Northwestern's 13 yard line. Teyro cracked through center for two yards. Teyro fumbled a pass from center but recovered to lose a yard. Tangora went in for Whalen in Northwestern line. Northwestern was penalized five yards for too much time out. Teyro gained two yards at center. Teyro's pass to Page was incomplete and Northwestern took the ball on their own 14 yard line.

On the first play Olson punted to Teyro who returned 18 yards to Northwestern's 40 yard line. Manks was hurt on the play, Northwestern taking time out. Thoma replaced Manks. Teyro smashed center for 2 yards as the period ended.

Crayne returned to the Iowa backfield and Laws also went back in.

Crayne was upset by Hakej for no gain. Olson intercepted Hoover's pass on the Northwestern 33 yard line. Olson tore through center for 4 yards. Schammel and Moore stopping him. Auguston's pass was intercepted by Laws, on Northwestern's 46 yard line and returned to Northwestern's 30 yard line but Iowa was penalized 15 yards for clipping on the play, and Iowa took the ball on Northwestern's 43 yard line. Crayne drove through right tackle for nine yards and Northwestern was also penalized 15 yards for piling up. This gave Iowa a first down on the Northwestern 18 yard line. Two smashes at the line lost 3 yards and when Iowa fumbled, Northwestern recovered on their 20 yard line.

After one smash at the line had failed, Olson punted to Iowa's 45 yard line where the ball was downed. Fisher replaced Richards for Iowa. Fisher smashed over left tackle for a first down on Northwestern's 40 yard line. Crayne then took it and dashed nine yards straight through the line. Murnighan replaced Auguston who was hurt on the play.

Laws Scores

On the next play, Laws broke through his left tackle behind beautiful interference and ran for a touchdown. Score Iowa 7; Northwestern 0. Crayne kicked off to Leeper, who made a nice return to Northwestern's 38 yard line where he was upset by Hoover.

On an attempted forward pass, Dee broke through and spilled the passer and Sullivan grounded the pass behind the line of scrimmage. Northwestern was penalized 15 yards for this play. Olson then attempted a fake punt and Page broke through and spilled him for 10 yards loss. Olson, standing on his goal line punted to Laws who took the ball in midfield and made a sensational return to Northwestern's 19 yard line. Northwestern was penalized 5 yards for offside, making the first down on Northwestern's 14 yard line. Crayne smashed through center for four yards. Crayne added two more in the same spot.

Iowa was given first down on Northwestern's 8 yard line. Crayne tried a spinner play but was smothered for a loss of 3 yards. Crayne dashed through his right tackle and passed the ball forward to Laws who ran over the goal line but the play was not allowed, the officials ruling Crayne's pass to Laws was forward and not lateral. Fisher then dropped back for a place kick from the 25 yard line but the try was wide. Northwestern took the ball on the 20 yard line.

Wildcats Desperate

Leeper smashed through the line for 3 yards. About five minutes left to play. Iowa was offside on the last play and was penalized 5 yards. Olson passed to Thoma for a first down on their 35 yard line. Olson gained 3 yards at center. Olson's pass was intercepted by Hoover, and he was downed on Northwestern's 40 yard line. The ball was called back however, and the Hawkeyes penalized 5 yards for offside. Cruce a southpaw, tried a forward pass but it missed by a mile. Northwestern was penalized 5 yards for this failure. Olson's pass was batted down by Hoover.

Olson's pass was intercepted by Captain Moore and he was tackled on Northwestern's 24 yard line. Manks broke through and threw Crayne for an 8 yard loss. There was one minute left to play. Fisher, on a smash at his left tackle, picked up 3 yards. Gallagher went in for Seel for Iowa. Crayne was held for no gain and Iowa was penalized 5 yards for offside. Raymond Fisher rushed a flock of substitutes into the game. It was third down and 23 yards to go for Iowa. Laws smashed the line for four yards and then Crayne punted over the goal line. Northwestern took the ball on their own 20 yard line. Lind's pass missed fire. Another pass by Lind was completed to Beuchler for a gain of 2 yards.

Just before the game ended, Lind completed a pass to Manks, who passed laterally to Maroney, who was downed on Northwestern's 40 yard line. Before the teams could line up for another play, the final gun was fired, with the Hawkeyes triumphant by a score of 7 to 0.

THAT'S MY BOY!

by FRANCIS WALLACE
AUTHOR OF "HUDDLE"

CHAPTER ONE

Tommy Randolph had always been different.

But his mother always thought he was grand.

Even from the very first he had been different. Uncle Louie had come to see him right after he was born and had nodded his head and said: "That kid has got a future; we've got to give him a good name."

Mom had thought she would like to call him Harry after her father because Pete had been named after Pop's father; but Pop and Uncle Louie didn't even look at her while they were arguing. They were both great Democrats and Uncle Louie would have been postmaster if Bryan had ever been elected; so Mom thought it was settled when Pop, who had marched in all the parades carrying colored umbrellas and who loved to sit and argue politics, pounded on the table with his fist and said:

"We'll call him William Jennings Bryan Randolph."

Mom was worried—one of those quick flashes which come over a person. It was an awful long name, although it sounded grand; but the other kids would call him Bill and boys called Bill were always bad and hard to control.

"The full name," Pop was insisting in his heavy voice. Pop had a big enough voice any time but now it was louder because he was celebrating the new arrival. Mom tried to catch Uncle Louie's eye but he was too busy thinking. Then he shook his head and said to Pop:

"No—we've got to go back further than that. Bryan ain't never been elected and I doubt if the trusts will ever let him in. We've got to go clear back to the founder of Democracy, to a president of the United States and the framer of the Constitution, Thomas Jefferson himself."

It sounded grand the way Uncle Louie said it, like he was making a speech, and Pop was satisfied to give up Bryan. Poor Bryan, Mom thought, somebody was always putting his name up and then he was never elected; and she was glad her son wasn't going to be named after anybody like that but after somebody who really amounted to something—a president of the United States. A secret pride and ambition was born within her at the thought and she always went back to that moment when Tommy did something great.

After all, Lincoln was born in a worse place and this was a free country and Mom did not think the capitalists were as bad as Pop said when he got to arguing, especially because when Pop got started he never knew where to stop and sometimes Mom thought he liked to hear the sound of his own voice. Pop, she sometimes thought, ought've been an actor instead of a glassworker; but that's the way things went. His pap was a preaser so Pop had gone to learn his trade early.

But Tommy was different.

There was the first time Mom had ever taken him out in his new buggy, all dressed up with a dress she had spent half the night on tucking and sewing insertion—a dress for Tommy, it was, because Mom never bothered much about style for herself. People all along stopped to pat him and say how bright he was for one so young and who he looked like and all that; but never once did Tommy pay any attention to any of them. It was like he knew what they were saying and took it for granted, the cute little coddler.

"He's a brave young 'un," Ole Liz cackled. "... I put a wish on him ... it's a good wish."

Then up the street had come Ole Liz, the scraggly old colored woman some people thought was a witch. Mom remembered to this day how she had trembled because the old thing scared children just to look at her and she had even given one of her own daughters consumption by putting a wish on her. Mom was all beside herself. She was afraid Tommy might go into spasms if he saw the old hag but she couldn't go on the other side of the street because they said Mrs. Davis did that once and Ole Liz put a wish on her and that was why her Benny wasn't bright. So Mom did all she could do which was to keep on going as though nothing was happening and keep on praying to God that the devil couldn't hurt her son. If this old witch did anything to her Tommy, Mom thought, she would kill her; the town would be well rid of her anyhow with all the things she did, even helping to get rid of babies; but the truth was, Mom was afraid of Ole Liz herself.

She was stopping them; her teeth, or what was left of them, were like tobacco sticks because she rubbed snuff and it was dripping down her mouth; and her face was like a dried up cat's and her eyes like something Mom couldn't think of.

She put her head down to the buggy and pointed her long claws at the baby. Mom just stood there stiff, sure that the old hardcrabble was putting the evil eye on her son.

Her blood ran cold and she waited for Tommy to start crying; when he didn't she thought, no wonder, he's too scared to cry and that starts spasms; and she brought herself to look.

Tommy was laughing!

Mom couldn't believe her eyes. Tommy was noticing the old thing.

He even liked her. Mom didn't know what to make of it except—the thought almost killed her—that the witch was putting a spell on Tommy so that he would like her instead of his own mother. Mom was just going to tell her to get away when the old woman turned and started to cackle; her face was more like a human's and her eyes didn't look like the devil's any more.

"He's a brave young'un," Ole Liz cackled and shook her head. "I put a wish on him."

"No," Mom called, terrified, "no—"

But the old woman put her hand on Mom and said: "Don't you worry, honey, it's a good wish. He's the fust white baby ever smile to Granny."

And the way she looked then, Mom could never fear her after that. If anybody had ever told Mom she could have Ole Liz touch her and live through it Mom wouldn't have believed them; but there she was, pushing Tommy down the street as though nothing had happened. Well, it was a funny world; some people did say the old thing had a good heart if you didn't cross her.

But Mom didn't say anything to anybody about the wish. Pop would be after her for it and be talking about killing the old woman but it would just be talk; and the neighbor ladies would never believe it was a good wish but would swear it was a bad wish.

It wasn't good for children people said Ole Liz had put a wish on; people would watch them all their lives and always expect something to happen to them. There was Dave Ayers, killed on the railroad, twenty-two years to the day after the old witch had put a wish on him because his mother had called her what she was.

Acacia Plea for Injunction Is Dismissed

Lester Frezek's application made last week, asking for a temporary injunction to prevent Bella Vista residents from ousting the Acacia fraternity from No. 5, Bella Vista, was dismissed yesterday morning in district court.

The dismissal was filed at the hearing on the application for the temporary injunction by Paul Custer, who represented Frezek, owner of the residence. Frank Messer acted as the representative of the petitioners, and City Attorney Thomas E. Martin represented the city council.

The hearing on an application filed by Frezek for a permanent injunction will be held later. An answer to Frezek's application was filed yesterday by seven neighbors, contending that the lease, despite the terms, was made for the use of a fraternity.

According to the answer, all acts of the defendants were made only to enforce the city zoning ordinance which prohibits fraternities on Bella Vista. Three defendants, Fred J. Seemann, Dr. R. G. Volland, and D. R. Thomas, and the city council, filed resistance to Frezek's petition, asking dismissal.

$2,800 Received for Relief Work in This County

The Johnson county emergency relief committee has received a sum of $2,800 for the month of October as the county's monthly allotment of Reconstruction Finance corporation funds, it was announced yesterday.

The entire RFC sum is used for relief work. The local unemployed are paid for working on county roads, employment gardens, and other projects directed by the local committee. Johnson county's RFC allotment was $3,300 for September.

Campus "War Shacks" Razed
AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—After 15 years, the last of about 50 temporary buildings erected during the war for classrooms and barracks have been removed from the University of Texas campus. Known to students as "shacks," they gave way to modern halls of learning.

AROUND THE TOWN with DICK FAGAN

Extra Curricular

Justice of the Peace B. F. Carter is acting as police judge during the absence of Judge Harold W. Vestmark, who is visiting the World's Fair in Chicago.

But Leave the Town

Police Chief W. H. Bender said last night that he would be a trifle more lenient than usual with those who felt like celebrating Iowa's victory over Northwestern.

Songs and Shirt Tails

About 30 hilarious merrymakers broke into song in Racine's No. 3 yesterday afternoon when the game was over, became overjoyed, and streamed down the street in a shirt-tail parade.

Reception

There was no brother to meet Orville Perkins, 13, of Unionville, Mo., when he arrived here via thumb Friday night. There was supposed to have been a brother, Orville said, but there wasn't. Police put him to bed and gave him a place to sleep.

Holiday

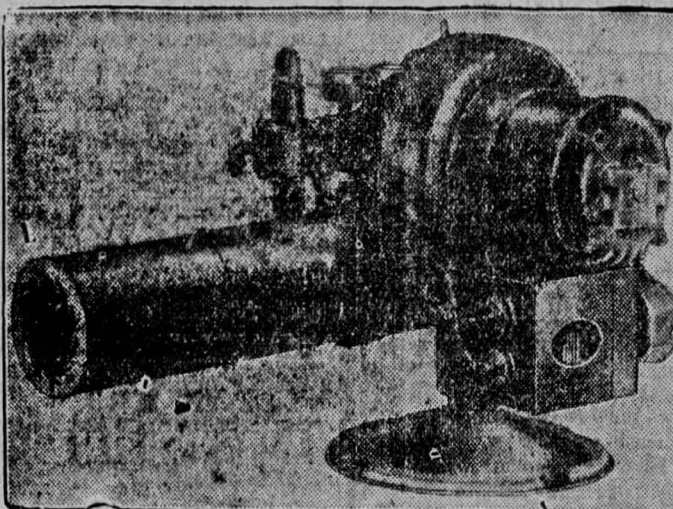

A five day rest in the county jail was awarded Arthur Thomas of Osceola by Justice of the Peace B. F. Carter, who is also acting police judge, yesterday on a charge of intoxication. He will be charged with driving a motor vehicle while intoxicated, a police said.

Out of Its Way

An automobile found abandoned by police last Monday on N. Linn street was stolen from a motor company in Cedar Rapids, police have been told.
