Giants Clinch World Series Title With Second Overtime Win Over Nats

Ott Collects Disputed Hit to Win Game

Homer Gives New York
4-3 Triumph in
Tenth

CLARK GRIFFITH STADIUM, WASHINGTON, Oct. 7 (AP)—The New York Giants, "miracle men" of the 1933 baseball season, raced off the enemy's battle ground today with the championship of the world as they out-fought and out-hit the Washington Senators in the second successive extra-inning thriller of the series.

The mighty bat of "Little Mel" Ott, the Louisiana larruper, who struck the first big blow for the Giants just four days ago, produced the decisive punch with a home run into the bleacher pavilion in left center in a rousing tenth inning finish.

This big blow broke up a relief pitcher's duel between Adolfo Luque and Jack Russell, gave the Giants their fourth triumph by the score of 4 to 3 and the series by a four to one margin, but it was not posted on the scoreboard until an umpire's decision was reversed and another outraged protest registered, first by the Giants and then by the crackless Washington players.

Umpire Charles Pfirman, a National leaguer, at first ruled Ott's hit a two-bagger under ground rules, as Fred Schulte, Senator centerfielder, dove amongst spectators for the ball, barely got his glove hand on it and then catapulted head-first over the low board fence into the bleachers.

In the spectacular debate that immediately broke out, the Giants led the first protest while Ott remained unwillingly around second base. Pfirman then reversed his decision, ruling the hit a home run after consulting his two American league associates on the field.

All four finally agreed that it was a legitimate homer, on the basis of the standing rule that a ball coming off a player's body or glove into the open stands is good for the circuit. It would have been a double under ground regulations only if it had gone into the bleachers on the bounce but the ball was sailing over Schulte's head as the outfielder stabbed for it.

This provoked another outburst by the Senators, reminiscent of their row with Umpire Moran at first base yesterday, when Heinie Manush was ejected from the game, but they were once more on the losing end of the argument as they saw their last, lingering hopes flying away.

Saturday Class Students Enroll

Registration Expected to Equal or Exceed That of Last Year

Registration of Saturday class students, who began their work on the campus yesterday, will equal or exceed the total registration of last year, according to figures given by Charles H. Maruth, assistant registrar, yesterday.

About 250 students yesterday applied for registration materials, and more are expected to do so by mail during the period between now and the next class day.

More than 30 faculty members in 15 departments began instruction of the part time students, who will meet here at regular classes on approximately every third Saturday during the next six months. Special home study work is done by the students during the intervals between class meetings. Regular credit is given in all courses.

Thirty-six classes in the following departments are offered this year: economics, education, English, graphic and plastic arts, history, home economics, journalism, music, physical education for women, political science, psychology, religion, sociology, speech, and child welfare.

WEATHER

IOWA: Partly cloudy in east, fair in west, not quite so cool in extreme west portion Sunday; Monday fair with rising temperature.

Theft of Stolen Car Denied by Convict

Found Friday in Medford, Okla., in possession of the Ford car stolen from the Burkett-Updegraff Motor company, Glenn Wooderson denied theft, claiming that he got it on a trade. He is a paroled convict from Leavenworth, according to word received here by Sheriff Don McComas. Wooderson will probably not be returned by Johnson county officials to answer charges.

Mabie Lists Cast of New S. U. I. Play

17 to Have Parts in First Production
at University

A cast of 17 was named yesterday by Prof. E. C. Mabie, director of University theater, to appear in the theater's first production of the year, "Both Your Houses," Pulitzer prize winning play by Maxwell Anderson.

The play will be presented in natural science auditorium Nov. 8 and 9 in evening performances, and a Saturday matinee Nov. 11. Though originally scheduled for October production, the dates were changed, and the theater will not present an October play in the community series.

Mabie Directs
University theater's production of "Both Your Houses" will be directed by Professor Mabie. Settings will be by Arnold Gillette of the theater staff.

The cast named by Professor Mabie to play in "Both Your Houses" is as follows:

Lorraine Gibson of Waterloo as Marjorie Gray, Maxine Moore of Newton as "Bus" Nilsson, Richard Anderson of Des Moines as Eddie Wister, Elwood Ramay as Solomon Fitzmaurice, Wilbur Wallace as Mark, Grant Fairbanks as Simeon Gray.

Russell Lemble
Russell Lemble of Sioux City as Levering, Rex Roberts of Bonaparte as Merton, Archibald McLeod as Dell, Sydney Spayde as Sneden, Pearl Travis as Miss McMurty, Marcus Bach as Wingblatt, John Harrison of Oakland as Trumper.

Lee Savage as Peebles, Winston Frost as Farnum, William Ellsworth of Omaha as Alan McClean, and K. Irving Johnson as Ebner.

Political Intrigue
"Both Your Houses" is a play of political intrigue, following the pattern of the movie version of "Washington Merry-Go-Round," which was also written by Anderson.

Herring Visits Son; Attends Game Here

Gov. Clyde L. Herring, who is as enthusiastic about the Iowa football team as any student, was among the fans who watched Iowa trounce Bradley yesterday. He was honored with a military escort of advanced R.O.T.C. cadets.

While here he visited his son, Clyde, Jr., at the Phi Delta Theta fraternity. Governor Herring saw the Hawkeyes defeat Northwestern last week at Chicago where he attended the American Legion national convention.

Red Cross to Begin Drive Tomorrow

Every Section of City, University to Be Canvassed

Driving for funds to continue relief work, the American Red Cross Roll Call campaign will start in Iowa City tomorrow morning and will continue through the week. Every section of the city and every department in the university will be covered during this intensive drive for Red Cross membership.

Headquarters will be opened south of Strub's department store on S. Clinton street during the campaign. Red Cross flags will be flown and banners will be posted throughout the city.

"This is a worthy cause and needs the support of every person able to join," says D. C. Nolan, general chairman of the Roll Call in Johnson county.

Records made available to Chairman Nolan show that the Red Cross Roll Call in Iowa City last year. Besides 77 major disasters, which cost the Red Cross $1,625,000, it distributed 10,500,000 barrels of flour and 104,000,000 garments for the relief of the unemployed.

In the local chapter alone more than 2,000 persons benefited last year by the distribution of three carloads of flour, 13,750 yards of cloth and hundreds of new garments.

Out of every membership fee and donation paid into the Red Cross, said Mr. Nolan, only 50 cents of the amount goes into the national headquarters. The rest of the money is used in Johnson county for relief work.

Iowa Facing Crisis in Relief Problem, Herring Declares

Governor Tells Editors of Projects to Come
Up at Legislature

By TOM YOSELOFF
(Campus Editor, The Daily Iowan)

The state of Iowa is facing a serious crisis in the relief problem, Gov. Clyde Herring told weekly newspaper editors and staff members in the final session of their ninth annual conference in the senate chamber of Old Capitol yesterday.

Outlining plans for the special session of the general assembly, to be called Nov. 6, the governor said that some legislation would be needed on the problem of caring for Iowa's thousands of unemployed.

At Limit of Resources
Nearly half the counties of Iowa are at the limit of their resources, with 32 counties having borrowed up to the peak permitted by law, and 12 more nearly up to the limit of bonded indebtedness allowed.

The state now has about $500,000, and the federal government will grant Iowa an additional half million, bringing the total available to about an even million dollars, the governor said. In August there were nearly 37,000 families, or 155,000 persons on unemployment relief rolls in the state.

"At this rate we will be out of funds by the beginning of December," Governor Herring pointed out. "At a conservative estimate we will need $2,000,000 more to take care of the indigent and unemployed."

Outlines Measures
With this setting in view, the legislature will meet early in November. The governor outlined the subjects to be put before the assembly. Foremost on the list will be tax revision, based on the report of Brookings institute experts who have been studying Iowa's government for the last six months.

Some plan of liquor control must also be worked out by the special session, and the third problem to come before the legislators will be that of unemployment relief.

Discussing the methods used by other states in meeting this problem, Governor Herring pointed out that 13 states have passed a general sales tax, six have additional personal income taxes, one state depends on corporation tax, and 21 have a barrel tax on beer.

The Brookings institute report the governor termed "a group of facts" on which to base a tax revision program and other changes in the Iowa government. The program is intended as a project to be developed through several years, he said.

The state government has been "cutting the cloth to fit the income" at Des Moines, the governor said, pointing out that taxation revenue this year would be only $75,000,000, as compared with $110,000,000 in 1930, a reduction of nearly one-third.

The number of persons on the state payroll in Des Moines has been reduced from 1,020 to 892, Governor Herring said, and further cuts may be made.

Aid for Jobless
Several projects have already been provided to aid the unemployed through the winter. Among these are road building, public works projects, and reforestation camps, which will take care of about 5,000 Iowans.

"More relief will be needed, and I'm telling you how it stands because it is the duty of newspapers to draft a plan, to advise, and to acquaint the people with the true situation," he said. "I'm counting on cooperation from all of you. There will be no politics in this—Republicans get hungry as well as Democrats."

Addresses Given to Newspapermen

Addresses to newspapermen given at a session in the river room of Iowa Union yesterday morning were devoted to explaining methods of building business. G. W. Beveridge of the Summer Gazette told of a children's parade which he promoted this summer and the interest shown in it.

The work of editing an anniversary edition was explained by Roy G. Miller of the Riverside Leader. Mr. Miller said that financially the edition was not a great success but that it didn't "put us in the red," either.

In his talk on "Changes in the Algona Upper Des Moines," R. B. Waller of that paper stated that even the name of the paper had been changed. A great many changes have been made in the paper, according to Mr. Waller, and they have all helped to make the paper a success.

A short round table discussion, led by Grant Caswell, managing director of the Iowa Press association, followed the addresses.

Germans Plan to Allow Death for Incurables

BERLIN, Oct. 7 (AP)—The ministry of justice, in a detailed memorandum explaining the Nazi aims concerning the German penal code, today announced its intention to authorize physicians to end the tortures of incurable patients, upon request, in the interests of true humanity.

The memorandum, still lacking the force of law, proposed that "it shall be made possible for physicians to end the tortures of incurable patients, upon request, in the interests of true humanity."

Problems Raised
This proposed legal recognition of euthanasia, or the method of providing a painless and peaceful death, raised a number of fundamental problems of a religious, scientific and legal nature.

The Catholic newspaper Germania observed: "The Catholic faith binds the conscience of its followers not to accept this method of shortening the sufferings of incurables who are tormented by pain."

Lutheran Views
In Lutheran circles, too, life is considered something which God alone can take.

A large section of the German people, it was expected in some interested circles, might ignore the provisions for euthanasia.

In medical circles the question was raised as to just when a man is incurable and when his life should be ended.

According to the ministry's present plans incurability would be determined not only by the attending physician but also by two official doctors who would carefully trace the history of the case and personally examine the patient.

No Wanton Destroying
In insisting that euthanasia shall be permissible only if the accredited attending physician is backed up by two experts who so advise, the ministry believes a guarantee is given that no life wantonly will be destroyed which is still valuable to the state.

On the other hand, the ministry is of the opinion that the motives for the ending of suffering prematurely is solely humanitarian.

The legal question of who may request the application of euthanasia has not been definitely solved. The ministry merely has proposed that either the patient himself shall "expressly and earnestly" ask it, or "in case the patient no longer is able to express his desire, his nearer relatives, acting from motives which do not contravene morals, so request."

Host to Philosophy Club
Dean and Mrs. C. E. Seashore will be hosts at the first meeting of the Philosophy club Tuesday at 8 p.m. at their home, 815 N. Linn street.

Senator Bennett Favors Further Tax Reductions

Tells Local Taxpayers of Plans Made for
Extra Session

By DICK FAGAN
(City Editor, The Daily Iowan)

No defense was made of the Beatty-Bennett tax slashing law by State Senator Oliver P. Bennett yesterday in a talk before the Johnson County Taxpayers league, because "it needs no defense," he said.

"Only Apology"
"The only thing I have to apologize for is that it does not go far enough. I still think that the figures called for originally would not have been enough to give the relief we must have," he contended. "The 20 per cent reduction called for by the law, should, in my opinion, have been at least 40 per cent, and we must go ahead and labor until the taxes on real estate in this state, and especially on the homes and farms, are not more than 50 per cent of what they were in 1931."

Further Slashing
Senator Bennett said that he would introduce further tax slashing measures at the special session. He declined to reveal the exact nature of the bills but said they would be along the same general lines of the Beatty-Bennett law. He also expressed himself against limiting the special session to any definite kind of tax revision legislation. Saying that he was in sympathy with some parts in the Brookings institute report on tax revision, he declined to mention any

Crayne Returns Kick-Off 85 Yards Through Entire Bradley Team for Score

Iowa Opens Home Season With Easy 38 to 0
Victory Over Indians; Hold Losers
Without a Single First Down

By CHARLES GRAHAM
(Assistant Sports Editor)

Fresh from an upset victory over the Northwestern Wildcats last week, Coach Ossie Solem's Iowa Hawkeyes opened the home schedule here yesterday, with a wallowing victory over non-conference competition from Bradley Tech, 38 to 0.

It was Iowa's game in every sense of the word. Only once during the entire game were the Peorians within the Hawkeye 40 yard line, that early in the first quarter after a recovered fumble. A hard smashing backfield tore through wide caverns opened by a perfectly functioning line; a watchful eleven completely spliced the highly touted aerial game of the Technicians; and a sterling defense charged into every play, holding for no gain and not once allowing a first down to be chalked up by Bradley.

Amish Urges Reduction of Fire Hazards

Makes Local Appeal to Observe Week of Fire Prevention

Fire Chief Herman J. Amish urges the cooperation of all residents in observance of Fire Prevention week which begins tomorrow. Chief Amish says this should be a week of cleaning up and repairing. Trash and rubbish should be cleaned up, faulty wiring and old dry roofs repaired, and all other possible fire hazards eliminated.

"The entire premises ought to be included in this cleaning, from the attic to the basement and the yard," he said.

"Thorough Cleaning"
"Now is the time to give property a thorough cleaning before permanent furnace fires are started. Inspection of chimneys and furnaces many reveal defects which could easily cause a serious fire.

"A spark cannot do nearly as much damage when it lights on a clean surface as when it falls in a pile of dry musty rubbish. Having basements and attics free from trash, clean, and painted will greatly reduce the possibility of a fire originating there."

"Roof Fires"
"Roof fires result from old shingles, and every property owner should work to make his roof as nearly fire proof as possible.

"Outside the house, all dry grass, brush, rubbish, and paper should be disposed of in some way. This not only removes fire hazards, but improves the outward appearance of the property," he said.

Mayor Harry D. Breene's proclamation on fire prevention week is as follows:
It is highly essential that every

Everett Dean Martin Will Open S.U.I. Lecture Series

Director of People's Institute Talks
Tomorrow

Everett Dean Martin, director of the People's Institute at Cooper Union, New York city, will deliver the first address in this year's university lecture series tomorrow at 8 p.m., in natural science auditorium.

Though his subject has not yet been announced, Mr. Martin will speak on some timely social problem. Tuesday at 4:10 p.m., he will lead a round table discussion in the senate chamber of Old Capitol.

Adult Education
Mr. Martin has been associated for nearly two decades with the largest experiment in adult education, carried on at Cooper Union through the medium of free public discussion on modern economic, social, and educational problems.

For more than 10 years he has been director of the People's Institute. Starting his career in the ministry, Mr. Martin served in the pulpits of several churches, among them the Unitarian church of Des Moines, where he was pastor from 1910 to 1914.

Lecturer

He was a lecturer in social psychology at the New School for Social Research in New York, and held a similar position at Brookwood Workers college.

In addition to his lectures, Martin's ideas have found expression in several books, among them: "The Behavior of Crowds," "The Mystery of Religion," "Psychology and Its Uses," "The Meaning of a Liberal Education," and "Liberty," which was a Book of the Month club selection.

havior of Crowds," "The Mystery of Religion," "Psychology and Its Uses," "The Meaning of a Liberal Education," and "Liberty," which was a Book of the Month club selection.

Second Time
Tomorrow's address will mark the second time Mr. Martin has spoken in the university lecture series. Three years ago he addressed a summer session audience on the subject "What is an educated man?"

Mr. Martin is expected to arrive here this afternoon, according to Prof. Benj. F. Shambaugh, chairman of the League of Women Voters, who will cable the results of the canvass to a giant mass meeting to be held in Geneva the evening of Oct. 15 and

Diercks Will Teach at Ohio

Prof. Louis H. Diercks, head of the voice department and director of the university chorus and symphonic chorus, has accepted an offer to become professor of vocal music at Ohio State university, it was made known yesterday. He will leave the University of Iowa to assume his new duties as soon as arrangements have been completed for his successor here.

Professor Diercks came to the university in the autumn of 1931 to complete work on his master's degree. During the year 1931-32 he held the position of lecturer in music. He received his M.A. here in August, 1932.

Last year Professor Diercks was appointed associate in music and acting head of the voice department. His appointment as assistant professor of music has recently been confirmed.

Professor Diercks came to the University from Nebraska State Teachers college, Kearney, Neb., where he had been head of the voice department. He received his B.A. at Bradley Tech, Peoria, Ill., and his B. Mus. at the McPhail School of Music, Minneapolis, Minn.

234 Answer Call by Mailing
Petitions for World Peace

In answer to an editorial entitled "Iowa City Speaks for Peace" which appeared on the front page of The Daily Iowan last Sunday, 234 persons had mailed in petitions last night demanding results from the World Disarmament conference which reconvenes in Geneva, Switzerland, Oct. 16.

The Daily Iowan's poll was carried on concurrently with thousands of meetings and other campaigns which had been organized throughout the world as a means of obtaining an expression of sentiment on disarmament from the peoples of all nations.

The resulting list, which will be published in The Daily Iowan in full Tuesday morning, represents townspeople, and members of the university faculty and students. It also includes one resident of Waterloo and one of Shenandoah.

will send the list of names to Geneva by mail.

Score in Seven Plays
Starting an offensive drive with the first quarter not five minutes old, the Hawks drove down the field and marked up the first of six touchdowns in exactly seven plays from scrimmage. Iowa backs hit harder than Iowa backs have been known to hit for years. But it was the beautiful way in which the Hawk forward wall was moving down the waiting defense, that showed fans critics were right when they dubbed the 1933 Hawkeyes the most improved eleven in the Big Ten conference.

A young meteor named Dick Crayne who, throughout the first and early part of the second quarter was the sparkplug of the Iowa backfield, supplied the crowd with football's greatest thrill—the return of a kickoff for a touchdown. Taking the kick-off from his own 15 yard line, the sophomore fullback raced straight down the middle of the field to the 50 yard stripe, veered to his left and shot over the remaining half of the field to a score without once being seriously challenged by an opponent. His beautiful run was a goodbye bow as he left the game at the completion of the play. Great as his run was, it was overshadowed by the perfect interference that made it possible. Only one Bradley Tech man was left on his feet and he was in no position to make the tackle.

Gets First One
Iowa's first touchdown was also scored by Crayne, who took the ball over from the five yard line, after he, Fisher, and Laws had advanced it from deep in Iowa territory. Russ Fisher added the extra point, one of two scored during the game.

The Hawkeye team was not a group of individuals but a single unit. Though the names of Crayne, Laws and Fisher stood out, their great play was the result of teamwork. Coach Solem substituted freely and his reserves, while lacking the finished quality of the regulars, played stubbornly and well. Joe Richards, replacement for Crayne, dazzled the Indians with his bursts of speed and deceptive running. George Toyro, who took over the generalship of the team when Laws vacated, accounted for two of Iowa's scores and played brilliant ball. Kuhn thundered into the line for consistent gains. Bob Rook, Des Moines sophomore, accounted for the other play after touchdown and played a bang up defensive game.

Reserves Ragged
In the forward wall the reserves showed more their lack of experience, though Leytze, who has been on the injured squad previous to yesterday's game, turned in good work, as did Hawkins, guard, and Swaney, regular end and tackle of last year.

Joe Laws, voted Iowa's most valuable player on a mediocre team of last year, demonstrated his ability in every department. The southpaw field general called his plays wisely and accounted for 87 yards from scrimmage.

Russ Fisher, first string halfback along with Dwight Hoover, introduced himself to home fans in great style. His running was responsible for the second Iowa touchdown, and his educated toe looks good to fans who have seen few points made by the Hawks via the kicking route in the last few years.

Good Blocker
Dwight Hoover, blocking half for Iowa, reminded Hawk followers of Mike Farroh. Viciously opening up holes for his teammates, blocking out opposing rushers, and starting defensively, he was instrumental in the great showing made by Iowa's ball carrying backs.

Picking out individual stars in the Iowa line is a job for a seer. Every

30 Members, Guests Present at Child Study Club Meeting

Mrs. Harold H. Anderson Addresses Group on Conference in Iowa City Last June; Mrs.
Kosek Conducts Meeting as President

Thirty members and guests of the Child Study club were present yesterday at the first meeting of the year held on the sun porch of Iowa Union at noon. Mrs. Harold H. Anderson addressed the group on the three day state parent-teacher conference held in Iowa City last June, and business of the club was transacted. Mrs. George Kosek conducted her first meeting as president of the organization.

In her talk, Mrs. Anderson stated that the material presented at this year's conference on the school child was old, yet it constantly becomes new as it fits relationships to one's own problems, and is translated into local problems.

Gives Resumes
In resumes of the various speeches given at the conference, Mrs. Anderson hit the high spots in the talks as she saw them.

Carleton Washburne, superintendent of public schools in Winnetka, Ill., she remembered as stating that the idea of the misfit child is a ridiculous one, that all children belong somewhere and have definite contributions to make. Summer instruction for teachers, and the requirement of an M.A. or B.A. degree for all teachers was the theme of a talk by Prof. Ernest Horn of the college of education. Harry J. Baker, director of the psychological clinic in Detroit, Mich., made a plea for more effort to understand the child.

Form Habit Patterns
The education which calls itself pedagogy has about reached its peak of inflation, and the education of the future will consist of the forming of good habit patterns. This was the thought brought out by Prof. Esther Loring Richards of Johns Hopkins university in Baltimore, Md.

Prof. Hedley S. Dimock of George Williams college in Chicago, Ill., asked parents to remember that their offspring were not completely their children, but had their own thoughts, ideas and souls.

Business Meeting
During the business meeting preceding the talk, Mrs. Claude J. Lapp told members of the church school which will be conducted this winter in connection with the Parent-Teacher groups in the cities and the churches of the city. Members of the club, Mrs. Lapp stated, would find ideas of interest to them in the school, meetings of which will be held on Monday evenings. Teaching will deal with the religious aspect of child study.

Mrs. Kosek urged members to be prepared to present names of prospective members at the next meeting of the club to be held Nov. 4, at which time new members will be decided.

Red smac in large green bowls on either end of each of the three long tables decorated the room.

James Chamberlain Re-Elected Head of Veterans' Sons

James Chamberlain was re-elected commander, to lead the Sons of Union Veterans, and Claude Stanfield and Joseph Holubar were re-elected junior and senior vice commanders, respectively, at the regular election of officers held Friday evening in the G.A.R. room at the court house.

Other officers, all of whom except the guide had held the same office previously, are as follows: George Trundy, chaplain; Bruce Fackler, guide; and Ben Switzer, color-bearer.

The council is composed of Mr. Stanfield, Mr. Switzer, and Mr. Fackler. Oct. 20 is the date set for the next meeting.

Phi Kappa Sigma
Phi Kappa Sigma fraternity honored its pledges at a tea dance yesterday from 4:30 to 9 p.m. Music for the party, which was given at the chapter house, was furnished by the radio. Refreshments of sandwiches and tea were served. Chaplains were: Mrs. O. G. Osgood, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Metzger, and Prof. and Mrs. Harry Wade.

Five Win Prizes at Bridge Party Given by University Club

Bridge was played at six tables at the party given last night by members of University club in their club rooms at Iowa Union. Prize winners were: Mrs. Homer Johnson, Mrs. L. R. Benson, Mr. Charles Kennett, Mrs. E. P. Schone, and Mrs. R. B. Wylie.

The committee in charge of arrangements was Kate Wickham and Mrs. J. E. Eldridge.

Reservations for this evening's dinner are to be made at the Iowa Union desk.

Girl Scout Troop Has Overnight Hike to Gilchrist Cottage

Girl Scout troop 7, led by Isabelle Smith, went on an overnight hike last night to Gilchrist's cottage, located at Black Springs.

The troop hike was planned by Phyllis Gilchrist as part of the requirements needed to pass her first class test.

Theta Xi announces the pledging of Waldo Brooks of Dubuque.

FASHION GOES TO THEIR HEADS

The shallow crown and stitched brim are features of milady's new Autumn millinery, and the models above, worn by three of Hollywood's brightest stars, are classic examples. At left, Mary Carlisle wears a black satin creation, ornamented by two groups of white flowers on the band; right, Una Merkel displays a hat with satin crown and straw, stitched brim, while in center Mae Clarke models a tweedy creation with a bow of the same material. Note how all three are worn tilted over the eye.

from HOUSE to HOUSE

Still more guests visit sorority and fraternity houses; parents, brothers, sisters, alumni, and friends come to Iowa City this week because of the double attraction of the Iowa-Bradley football game and Greek letter parties. Although the houses are filled with guests, preparations still continue for the open house and chapter house parties.

Alpha Chi Omega
Week end guests at the Alpha Chi Omega sorority house are: Dorothy Byers of Omaha, Dorothy Osborn of Des Moines, and Myrtle Button of Waterloo. A birthday party was given Friday night for Lois Short and Gladys Strayer. Beulah Buchtel of Corydon was a dinner guest Friday. Gladys Strayer has gone home to Cresco for the week end.

Alpha Xi Delta
Vera Beryl Trader of Dubuque has as her guests this week and her family. Jeannette Fowler of Jefferson is a guest at the Alpha Xi Delta sorority house.

Alpha Tau Omega
Harry Breeding of the Drake chapter of Alpha Tau Omega fraternity visited Walt Long Friday.

Sororities' Open Houses Begin Today

Delta Gammas, Kappas, Pi Beta Phi's Have Affairs Planned

Breaking Sunday afternoon's "do-nothingness," three sororities will give open houses this afternoon to introduce their pledges to fraternity men. Both fraternity members and pledges will have the chance to meet all the pledges of these sororities, and, conversely, the sorority pledges may meet all the fraternity men. Orchestra music, pledges dressed in semi-formals, dancing, decorations following certain color schemes, and refreshments lend the "partied" atmosphere which characterizes sorority open houses.

Delta Gamma
Rust and gold chrysanthemums will carry out the color scheme of the Delta Gamma open house this afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock. Pledges will receive guests in the house parlors, while the activities will serve refreshments in the dining room downstairs. Frances Datesman heads the committee which takes charge of the arrangements for open house.

Kappas
Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority will introduce its pledges at open house this afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock. Iowa Cavaliers will play popular music throughout the afternoon. Yellow and brown is the color scheme which will be carried out. Lorraine Gibson and Harriet Page are in charge of the party.

The committee planning refreshments includes: Marcia Lisle, Betty Wurster, Lucille Sve, and Jane Thode.

Pi Beta Phi
Dancing will furnish entertainment at the open house given by Pi Beta Phi sorority from 3 to 5 o'clock this afternoon. A three-piece orchestra composed of members of the Iowa Blues will play. Refreshments will be served buffet style from a table whose centerpiece is a mixed bouquet of fall flowers. Chaperoning the party are: Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Swenson, Mrs. Griffin, and Mrs. J. J. Large. Marjorie Danforth is in charge of arrangements for Pi Beta Phi's open house.

Union Party Will Climax Homecoming

G r e e k s, Classmates, Alumni to Meet at Dance

Homecoming, with its football game, its class reunions, and its fraternity and sorority parties is indeed a gala event. It is the one time of the year when everyone can find his own particular niche. Innumerable receptions and informal social events are planned for guests by hospitably-minded Iowa Citizens, in addition to the festivities at which guests are entertained in Greek letter land.

Adding zest to the social activities planned for Homecoming week end is the Homecoming party, to be given Oct. 20 in the main lounge of Iowa Union. Acquaintances will be made and renewed as Greeks, alums, and classmates are drawn together in a common bond of fun and good fellowship.

Committees for the affair are: orchestra, Ray Nelson; Art Jacobsen, and Robert Cook; publicity, Evelyn Benda, Roswell Johnson, and Sherman Duer; decorations, Alice Walker, Paul Greene, Donald Tope, and Catherine Shaw; program, Elmer Norgaard, and Anton Braxmeier; chaperons, Ruth Patherston; and tickets, William Jones.

Cherrington to Give Talk

Will Address League of Women Voters at Noon Luncheon

Professor Homer V. Cherrington, associate professor of the college of commerce, will speak to the local League of Women Voters at a luncheon at noon tomorrow at Youde's inn on "Interpretations of the NRA."

As it will be guest day, each member is asked to bring a visitor. The women of industry committee has charge of the luncheon. Professor Cherrington will be introduced by Mrs. Jessie B. Gordon, chairman of the committee.

The city league board met at the home of Mrs. Minerva Knight, president of the Iowa City league, Friday evening to make plans for additional meetings throughout the month. It was decided that in addition to the regular luncheon held the second Monday of each month, there would be a meeting in the afternoon of every fourth Monday in the board room of the public library.

This meeting each month will serve as a supplement to the luncheon earlier in the month and will be in charge of the same committee. There will be no luncheon in connection with these supplementary meetings.

Back in the 70's at Penn college, the permission of the president as well as the approval of the Dean of Women was necessary to secure a date with a co-ed.

A PROCLAMATION

TO THE PEOPLE OF IOWA CITY:

For many years past it has been the practice to set aside a week during the autumn months to be known as Fire Prevention Week. The principal object of this week is to direct attention to the unnecessary civic loss caused by fire and to inspire public activity against such losses which annually destroy the people's resources. Iowa's 1932 fire loss was $6,626,965.00.

Believing that Fire Prevention is the patriotic as well as the economic duty of every citizen of Iowa City, I hereby proclaim October 8 to 14 as Fire Prevention Week, and I urge every citizen to make a special effort to reduce fire hazards as all fire losses are paid by society in general and the average individual bears his share of the burden.

The pulpit, press, and radio in the past have rendered valuable service, and are once again relied upon to call the people's attention to the necessity of each doing his part. It is only through concerted action that the lives and properties of all may be secure.

The Thinkers' Thinker

"I never dreamed of any place in America where there is such an intellectual clarification of ideas as obtainable at the People's institute"—from a letter written by a New Yorker who attends discussions at Cooper Union.

THIS AFTERNOON Iowa City will see the arrival of one of the men who made America think. Tomorrow night this man, Everett Dean Martin, director of the People's institute of Cooper Union, New York city, will attempt to stimulate a university audience to think.

For Everett Dean Martin has devoted his life to making thinking persons think. As a preacher in the pulpit, as a teacher of social problems in colleges, and now as director of the greatest institution devoted to making persons think, in America.

The Cooper Union forums are just that. Their purpose is to tackle the problem of adult education by means of free open discussion on all the problems which worry a sick world—social, economic, political, scientific, educational.

Nothing is too sacred, no one is too low or too high to be heard there. To thousands of New Yorkers it is the chief means of maintaining a contact with ideas of thinking men and women throughout the world.

Martin's experience with these thousands of persons from all walks of life is perhaps the very thing which has made him pin great faith on freedom of thought as a factor in the make-up of the educated man.

In his last visit here, he told a university audience that the great problem of present day education is to get people to think freely—that common ability to read, a product of popular education, was being used to read tabloids, instead of for a fuller, richer life. It is this problem that Cooper Union is tackling, in a great movement which Everett Dean Martin is leading.

Here's the Proof

YESTERDAY afternoon the world series, baseball's big time show, ended, and with that ending came once again an answer to a charge which has been so often heard.

The assertion has been made, time after time, that the world series is a "frame-up," that managers of the big show arrange for a full "season" of seven games, in order to garner the largest possible amount from the cash customers.

In this year's series an admirable opportunity was presented for those in charge to work this graft if they had been so inclined. Sports observers generally admitted that the teams were pretty well balanced, and managers agreed that the series would probably run to seven games because the teams were so well matched.

Add to this a week without rain, and except for two cold days, a week of good baseball weather. Add again an average of 30,000 persons who were willing to pay their good money every day the series ran, and there are the ingredients for a seven-game series.

Yet, in spite of this, the series ended with five games played. Overtime games, running to 10 or 11 innings attested to the fact that the national pastime is "on the square."

There may have been a time when charges of graft might have had some basis, so far as the "big top" of baseball is concerned. But hard fought five-game series are the antidote for that.

Frisol Frolics

HAVING ITS ups and downs along with victims of depression, office holders, endurance flyers, and elevator boys has been Frisol, University of Iowa college comic.

Maybe it's too early in the season to predict how much of an upping of Frisol stock is in store under the direction of Editor Robert Morse. It isn't too early, however, to say of the first 1933-34 issue, which now is on its way to becoming history, that it indicates Frisol to be headed up.

The upness isn't in size, for the first issue was relatively slim. It isn't in new art ideas, since those were limited. It is in the one thing which ought to count most.

Frisol for October, 1933, could not have been edited on the Rock Island arsenal island or on Tahiti, and it was not intended for circulation equally among the igloos of Greenland (Vilhjalmur Stefansson says there aren't any, but that's the size Frisol circulationists claim, hoping for growth) and among the grass skirted south seas islands.

Frisol is of, by, and for the University of Iowa campus. Its copy emphasis is local, a trend deserving the support of more "by" and "for" possibilities. Any other tendency would mean that you might as well buy something published in New York or San Francisco to line that shelf in the clothes closet.

Subsidy for Brains

WILLIAM J. BOGAN'S emphatic appeal Friday night in behalf of public education can be endorsed with a fervent amen.

At a time when government is subsidizing farmers to plow under or not to plant every third row, it might seem logical to give some attention to the sorry plight of many educational institutions. Actually, there may have developed in lush times an overproduction of courses, but that is not the thing of first importance.

The government is subsidizing brawn in its unemployment relief program, actually involving expenditures greater than ever in spite of economies elsewhere. The government is subsidizing food's producers. Since the very core of the government itself appears to be the famed "brain trust," perhaps it is in order to subsidize just a wee bit the places from which those trusted brains hatch. No vast new expenditure of new funds is needed; just a continuation of the old and a gradual return to normal as other things head back to normal.

By all means, investigate to determine what is a sound investment in education and what possibly can be eliminated, but don't skimp on brains. The emergence of this country to better times is not alone a question of brawn and its reward.

GOOD MORNING

Since the inflationary wave reached its height a month or so ago, the temper of national opinion appears to have changed so that only a prophet of exceptional ability could tell today what America's monetary policy will be tomorrow.

Instead of an almost concerted demand for inflation, even more determined pressure is being brought to bear upon the president for a decision, one way or the other, before winter comes.

Both inflationists and anti-inflationists want a definite announcement; and those who are not so particular as to whether inflation comes or not, demand some decision to remove the present uncertainty.

Mr. Roosevelt's policy, as expressed from time to time in public utterances, has little to do with inflation or non-inflation, except a these might possibly prove useful in carrying out his larger purpose.

It must not be forgotten that Mr. Roosevelt has definitely committed himself on one central policy. In his message to the world economic conference in London in July he said: "Let me be frank in saying that the United States of America seeks the kind of dollar which for a generation hence will have the same purchasing and debt-paying power as the dollar value we hope to attain in the near future."

There is nothing vague or indefinite about that. The only sort of dollar which can possibly fulfill such requirements is one based upon commodity prices and strictly regulated.

It would be possible, of course, to establish such a dollar now, at current prices, yet this would be unfair at the start to the millions of debtors who must pay in boom dollars.

The president's course appears clear, allowing, of course, for unpredictable political factors which might at any time upset the program. By abandoning the gold standard and allowing the dollar to fall, while at the same time pushing the program for industrial recovery, he is attempting to raise the price level by methods that are sane and steady, back to that of 1926. It is possible that this first objective will require some measure of inflation, but the president apparently is not yet certain.

When this has been accomplished, the next move would be the inauguration of the commodity dollar, maintaining it by continuous manipulation at a constant level with prices. This is the "dollar which we hope to attain in the near future." This is the dollar which would have "the same purchasing and debt-paying power" a generation hence and at all times.

President Roosevelt already has committed himself to such a dollar in unequivocal terms. When it will be adopted, and whether it will be adopted, depends largely upon the temper of the congress.

Strenuous pressure will be brought to bear at the next session both for and against inflation. The president's role will be one of waiting, watching, and striking at the most opportune moment.

Perhaps he will be forced to offer a plan for the commodity dollar somewhat prematurely to stave off what is certain to be a determined drive for mandatory inflation. It was with such tactics that he defeated the same move during the last session, when he supported the Thomas amendment as a stop-gap to an inflation stampede.

A month ago it appeared certain that inflation was on the schedule for the immediate future. Now the cards have been shuffled again, and the only thing certain is the president's determination to give the United States an honest dollar for the future.

BEHIND THE SCENES - IN HOLLYWOOD -

STUDIO GOSSIP

SCREEN COMMENT

By HARRISON CARROLL

HOLLYWOOD—Dame Rumor appears to have erred again in reporting discord between Jeanette MacDonald and Ramon Novarro over the filming of "The Cat and the Fiddle." The two are singing in such close harmony that they plan a joint European concert tour with Jeanette's fiancé, Bob Ritchie, handling the business end for both.

September has been set as the tentative starting date of the tour which will include visits to Paris, Switzerland, Germany, Austria, Italy, Spain and England. As a climax, the two stars plan to give programs in several of the large American cities.

Before then, probably right after the finishes "Laughing Boy," Ramon plans to troubadour through his native Mexico, which he has not visited for a number of years.

Incidentally, the star's reported romance with Myrna Loy seems to be quite cold.

For humorous descriptions, I like Ed Wynn's: "The man was so fat you couldn't tell whether they were his own legs or whether he was breaking them in for a duck."

When Paramount chose Charlotte Henry to play "Alice in Wonderland," hundreds of girls sighed and resolutely tried to forget.

Not so with Sue Kellogg. This young English actress, who was one of the first 12 tested for the role, came to Paramount and made the unusual request to be allowed to stand in for her successful rival.

She got the job and now, dressed in Alice costumes, she steps up and lets the crew tell the lights on her. When the camera is ready to grind, she steps down again and Charlotte Henry takes her place.

Here's a tip. Don't ever send your film favorites edible gifts, because not one in a hundred touches any food they receive in the mails. Ninety-nine per cent of it might be all right, but one per cent might be from some crank.

Dorothy Reid and Gordon Westcott aren't talking much but they had a starting experience the other night when they were returning from a late bridge party and almost ran over a man lying in the road. Fearing a hold-up, they drove by, but turned around and came back.

The prostate one turned out to have had a drop too much and imagine their surprise when they recognized him as an actor of their acquaintance.

QUICK GLIMPSES

Edward G. Robinson wears a silver and turquoise ring with swastikas on either side of the stone. But he was wearing it long before Hitler adopted the swastika as the Nazi emblem. . . . Rather a coincidence that Mary Pickford's eastern literary agent is Dave Hampton, whose uncle originally sold Mary and Doug the United Artists studio. . . . Henry Garat returned to Fox early in January, so that settles that rumor. . . . Had you heard that Gene Raymond is a composer? He wrote the words and music for "Brief Moment," which will be introduced at the opening of the Embassy Club on Wednesday night. . . . Clark Gable tells me he'll give Mrs. Gable a trip back east, for being so patient with him during his recent illness. Meanwhile, he has bought her a swank new sedan. Clark himself drives around in a little roadster of popular make.

Good, Bad, and Indifferent—50 Plays Were Prof. Sowers' Diet

A diet of assorted plays—50 of them—made up the bill of fare for a nine weeks stay in London last summer for Prof. W. Leigh Sowers of the English department.

A few were good, many were indifferent, and many were frankly bad, but he enjoyed them all, even the bad ones, Professor Sowers said, in reviewing the plays at the first meeting of the drama department of Iowa City Women's club.

Attended Festival
During one week he attended the annual Malvern festival, where a play is given each night representing a different century in English drama. Attending the festival were such notables of British literature as George Bernard Shaw, Hugh Walpole, and John Drinkwater.

"My favorite seat in the theater is in the first row of the balcony, and in this case I occupied a seat in that row. I got one of the great thrills of the trip, when I found, sitting just two seats away, the great G. B. Shaw." Professor Sowers confided.

"The Real Shaw"
"This was not the Shaw which he has built up for the newspapers—a cynical old vegetarian. This was rather a charming, thoughtful Shaw, leading the applause, going to a little hotel in Malvern, because he had gone to that hotel many years ago, when he first came there."

Among the revues and musicals were "Give Me a Ring," "After Dark," with a skit mimicking the Bronte plays, "He Wanted Adventure," "Mother of Pearl," "The Jolly Roger," "Belle of New York," and the American hit of last season, "Music in the Air."

In Professor Sowers' opinion, present day British revues lack the high standard which they reached under Noel Coward.

Before the series is concluded, child psychology, the psychology of music and special talents, and mental psychology will be discussed by members of the staff of general, child, and abnormal psychology. The special course, which was initiated last year, is for the purpose of introducing to the general public the things a typical psychology department aims to discover. It conveys semi-technical material in an explanatory manner, so that the average listener can understand what is being discussed.

EXPLANATION OF YES-TERDAY'S CARTOON
An imperial rascal: Commodus, who was Emperor of Rome and aspired to be likened to Hercules, fought as a gladiator in the arena 1,031 times and received the equivalent of $180,000 for each appearance. The emperor is described as "a detested beast and glutton wallowing in filth." He was victorious in all his gladiatorial encounters, but his opponents never had a chance. Commodus fought affixed in impenetrable armor, while his antagonists were always unarmed and defenseless. He finally found an avenger in the athlete Narcissus, who strangled the emperor on Dec. 31, 192.

German gift: The word "gift" in German has three different meanings, depending upon the gender. The masculine "der gift" means "anger," the feminine "die gift" means "present," the neuter "das gift" means "poison."

Braun Reveals Year's Plan for University's Y.M.C.A.

Lecture Series Will Open Wednesday Evening

Plans for this year's work of the University of Iowa Y.M.C.A. were announced yesterday by Kenneth L. Braun of Davenport, president.

Included in the projects planned is a series of lectures by university staff members, to add freshmen in orienting themselves in regard to vocations. Deans of the various professional colleges will speak on their particular fields, relating vocations with each other and telling of professional ethics in each vocation.

The first address in this series will be given Wednesday from 8 to 9 p.m., in the river room of Iowa Union, with Prof. Christian A. Ruckmick of the psychology department speaking on pre-requisites, or background, for vocational study.

The following week, Oct. 18, Dean Eugene A. Gilmore of the college of law will speak on that profession; Oct. 25 Dr. Milford Barnes of the college of medicine will tell of that field; Dean Wilber Teeters of the college of pharmacy will tell of pharmaceutical work Nov. 1; Dean Alvin W. Bryan of the college of dentistry will describe work in his field Nov. 15; engineering will be explained Nov. 22, when Dean C. C. Williams addresses the group; Dec. 6 Prof. Benj. F. Shambaugh, head of the political science department, will speak on a liberal and cultural education.

Following the conclusion of this group, a banquet will be held for freshmen Dec. 13, and Dean George F. Kay of the college of liberal arts will speak, summing up the entire series.

The Y.M.C.A. here is organized with the purpose of creating a feeling of fellowship between students and faculty, "to develop a more wholesome personality and character." All students are eligible, regardless of race or religious creed.

Under the president are organized seven student cabinets, with chairmen. Each of these cabinets is charged with the duty of looking after particular phases of Y.M.C.A. work. Cabinet chairmen for this year and their duties are as follows:

Ralph Wareham of Peterson, freshman cabinet—in charge of the Y.M.C.A. freshman vocational forum lecture series.

Norman Siefkin of Rolfe, administration cabinet—in charge of finance drive and university cap and gown service.

John Heide, campus cabinet—in charge of faculty-student home visits (in cooperation with Y.W.C.A.) dancing class (in cooperation with W.A.A.), Y.M.C.A. mixers, social events, campus hops.

Frederick Schwartz of Boone, assisted by J. E. Perpinan of Villard, Samar, Philippine islands, education cabinet—in charge of International Relations club, Young Citizens' forum, and a club soon to be organized, the "New Deal" club for students interested in discussing present policies and trends in social and economic problems.

Charles Slavin of Moravia, extension cabinet—in charge of a weekly radio broadcast over station WSUI, Thursdays from 9 to 9:30 p.m., and publicity, and information and reception committees.

Reinhold Strohmaier of Keokuk, religion cabinet—in charge of relation with inter-church council, commission on religious activities, and Iowa City churches.

Willard Thomas of Sterling, Ill., social service cabinet—in charge of hospital programs (in cooperation with Y.W.C.A. and various church groups), relation with Iowa City social service and Parent-Teachers association.

Thoughts on the conferences going on hither and yon about the campus: 500 persons listening to William J. Hogan in the education conference—an unusually large audience. . . . But Mr. Hogan had unusual things to say—about Chicago's school system, and what's wrong with it. . . . Newspaper men can always be picked out of a crowd—they wear that sort of disillusioned look. . . . Which school administrators will soon have also, if present depressed conditions continue much longer. . . . Prof. John K. Norton struck an important factor in education when he said that education has in the past depended too much on tradition, and not enough on present needs. . . . Educators of the future can take their cue from present conditions. . . . Trying to get the highlights of two conferences at once is quite a job—there is much to be heard. . . .

The University of Iowa has been cast in a new role—that of training ground for Chinese government officials. Leonard Shih-lien Hsu, who was granted M.A. and Ph.D. degrees at this institution, is now a Chinese government official.

It seems that Mr. Hsu gained wide recognition as head of the sociology and social work department of Yenching university, in Peking. Such wide recognition, in fact, that the government has "borrowed" him for a semester to serve as adviser to the ministry of industrial problems on work connected with rural reconstruction in China.

He will also serve as technical member of the treaty commission of the ministry of foreign affairs, which will take up the development of rural reconstruction projects undertaken by the government with the League of Nations commission in China.

Temple university, Philadelphia, sets the unique record of having eight sets of twins among the student body—all but one having chosen the same department.

BOOK REVIEWS

Edited by John Pryor

In recent years, with thousands of fresh publications being lined up on book store shelves every month, the American public, too busy to investigate each book, has turned to others for advice.

Books clubs, in which reputable critics select and deliver their choices to subscribers, are growing increasingly popular. Scores of review columns have appeared in newspapers and magazines, trying to give the reader some hint of the truth behind publisher's blurbs.

Since it has become the custom among these reviewers and book clubs to list, at the end of a season or a year, the best books which have appeared during that period, The Daily Iowan falls into line and publishes the following list of recommended books. The reader, if he chooses, may use this rating as a shopping guide. Or he may violently disagree and consider this list as a warning of what not to buy. Be that as it may, these books, in the opinion of reviewers of this department, are superior to any others reviewed in this column since June 1 of this year.

There are no books in this group which deal with criticism or explanation of government, morals, or economics. There are no plays, no textbooks. The list is mixed, containing one book on religion and one autobiography. But all of them may be compared on the basis of readability, style, intellectual value, wit, and beauty.

The list, with the books in order of rating, follows.

Twenty Years A-Growing, by Maurice O'Sullivan, the Viking Press; the "Tom Sawyer" of Ireland, one of the finest stories of recent years, far out-ranking any other publication of the season.

Anthony Adverse, by Hervey Allen, Farrar and Rinehart; an enormous novel full of swashbuckling episodes, a great deal of entertainment dealt out in lavish style.

The Adventures of the Black Girl in Her Search for God, by Bernard Shaw, Dodd, Mead; despite its head-on title, a most witty and stimulating criticism of religion.

Union Square, by Albert Halper, Literary Guild; one of the best on New York Bohemianism for those who like their novels grimy.

Little Man, What Now?, by Hans Fallada, Simon and Schuster; a simple, touching story of the depression in Germany which has not been surpassed in this country.

Other Fires, by Maxim Gorki, Appleton; probably the last novel of this great writer who tells so well of pre-revolution Russia.

The Martyr, by Liam O'Flaherty, Macmillan; a spotty book but it has a terrible and impressive ending.

The Golden Ripple, by Alec Waugh, Farrar and Rinehart; probably the best American treatment of the depression, and from an entirely different angle than Little Man, What Now?

Dark Hazard, by W. R. Burnett; Harpers, New York.

When a born gambler loves both a woman and a dog, and is forced to choose between them, which one will he take? That is the question, fantastic as it may sound, which Burnett asks and answers in this book.

It is the old triangle plot, but the author has found a new angle to go with the two customary ones. Jim, a habitual race track dopest who will risk his next meal on a throw of the dice, is at the top of the literary figure. Opposing each other, to complete the triangle, are Marg, who was the respectable daughter of a more respectable mid-west family before she married Jim, and Dark Hazard, the sleek, almost human racing dog.

Jim and Marg manage quite nicely, with Marg doing most of the managing, until Jim is sent to California to see that a race track is being run "on the level." There he sees Dark Hazard, who sends him on a gambling frenzy. The husband and wife are separated.

When Jim joins his wife in her home town years later, she gives up her companionship with another man to make her husband happy. They are settled in a dull sort of smugness when the dog, old and crippled, appears at a nearby race track. Jim buys Dark Hazard for twenty-five dollars and the rest of the plot may be left unspooled for those who care to read this book.

Burnett tells his yarn in a breezy, invigorating style, as swift and as smooth as his subject, Dark Hazard. The author is not concerned with the ethical principle or eternal meaning of racing, nor is there any profound moral to the story. He just presents a lot of entertainment in what may be called a ripping good yarn.

It would be a worthy addition to anybody's collection of pleasant novels or of interesting Americana.

MEMORIAL STADIUM, Minneapolis, Oct. 7 (AP)—An alert Indiana football team outplayed in every department for virtually the entire game, converted a costly Gopher fumble today into a touchdown to tie the Minnesota 6 to 6, in the Big Ten opener for both teams.

Indiana made two first downs to 15 for Minnesota and gained 87 yards from scrimmage compared with 34 for the Gophers.

Minnesota, led by its two-headed star, Francis "Pug" Lund, scored a first quarter touchdown and then made a desperate effort to pull the game out of the fire in the last two minutes of the contest, but an off-side penalty cost the winning touchdown after Beise knifed through for 10 yards to go over the goal line.

Lyons, Indiana end, had scored in the third period to tie the score. Tenger, Gopher fullback, fumbled and Lyons was on the ball like a hawk.

He streaked 60 yards and gave the Hoosiers their only score. Dauer, who had a chance to win the game for Indiana by kicking goal, missed.

Bears Bow to Illinois

Zupke Team Wears Downs Foe for 21 to 6 Win

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 7 (AP)—The Washington university Bears bowed to the University of Illinois eleven, 6 to 21, before 11,000 fans today.

Two of the three Illinois touchdowns came in the final quarter after Washington had almost exhausted its reserve strength.

The Bears had the advantage in the scoreless first quarter but Platt and Gragg, Illinois linemen, blocked a kick by Jobs in the second and Platt pounced on the ball in the end zone for a touchdown.

The Bears scored in the third, when a Washington pass bounced off the hands of Lindberg, Illinois back, into the arms of Jobs, Washington end, who covered the remaining 25 yards for a touchdown.

Illinois put over two touchdowns in the fourth in rapid succession. After the ball had been worked to Washington's three yard line, Forshauer crashed over. A pass, Beynon to Lindberg, gave the Big Ten team its final score.

Yale Beats Maine After Hard Battle

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 7 (AP)—Yale smashed out a 14 to 7 victory over Maine today after being held scoreless for two periods by a scrappy band of invaders who came to the howl to open the Eli's season before a crowd of 17,000.

Coach Reg Root replaced his entire Yale backfield in the third period and Tom Curtin, wearing the same 48 sported by Albie Booth, furnished the power in a 37-yard march that ended with Towle going over from the two-yard line for the first score. A 25-yard drive after Roscoe's 27-yard run back of the Maine punt brought the second Eli touchdown early in the fourth period.

BERKELEY, Cal., Oct. 7 (AP)—With a last minute finish that sent 60,000 fans into a frenzy, California's rejuvenated Bears came from behind to upset St. Mary's, 14-13, today.

On the short end of the count until the final three minutes of play, the Blue and Gold warriors fought their way to victory behind the smashing play of a sub halfback, Floyd Blower.

Wisgerhof Second
Wisgerhof, sophomore runner, made his first appearance in competition today and was the second Iowa man to cross the finish line, placing third.

The Iowa men who placed in the meet were: Flage, first; Wisgerhof, second; Capt. McElroy, fourth; Henderson, sixth, and Schlaser, ninth. Winning Cornell men were: Price with second; Hesser, fifth; Johnson, seventh; Maine, eighth, and Baker, tenth.

The meet was run over two mile course on Finkbine field. Flage's time for the first mile was 5:20.

Wind Hinderers
The runners were forced to run against a strong north wind, during the first part of the race, thus their time was slower than ordinary.

The team score was composed of the first five men, of each team, crossing the finish line. Campisi major "T" winner in cross country last year failed to place in yesterday's competition.

Warburton in Starring Role in U.S.C. Win

MEMORIAL COLISEUM, LOS ANGELES, Oct. 7 (AP)—With Irvine Warburton setting a fast pace for his fellow Trojans, the University of Southern California won its first Pacific Coast conference game of the season today at the expense of Washington State, 35 to 0.

Warburton personally gained 320 yards against the rugged Cougars, scoring three touchdowns. The little quarterback made runs of 80 and 75 yards to score and then, in contrast, counted his third with a buck of about one foot.

Bill Howard, elusive sophomore quarterback, scored the fourth touchdown on a 12 yard dash.

A few minutes later Clemens intercepted a Washington State pass and ran 38 yards for a touchdown.

Upper Iowa Defeats Buena Vista With Michalski Starring

FAYETTE, Oct. 7 (AP)—Upper Iowa out fought a heavy Buena Vista eleven today and passed and ran their way to a 20 to 0 victory.

Michalski drove over for two Peacock touchdowns in the second quarter. A safety and a 20 yard pass, Sungalla to Shaw, accounted for the other markers in the third period.

Buena Vista was unable to gain through the Peacock line and resorted to passes to threaten the Upper Iowa goal twice.

Wisconsin Takes Ninth in Row From Marquette

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 7 (AP)—Wisconsin showed potential power in its 1933 football debut here today by defeating Marquette 19 to 0.

It was the Badger's ninth victory over their chief football rival in the state in as many games played over a period of 29 years. The game drew a crowd of 25,000.

Marquette made only one serious threat, getting to the 17 yard line at the start of the game as a result of a fumble by Tom Fontaine, Badger halfback, and a Wisconsin penalty, but the chance to score faded when Halfman, Marquette fullback, dropped the ball and the Badgers recovered.

A Marquette penalty, and a pass from Fontaine to Lovshin put the ball in position for Wisconsin's first touchdown. Fontaine and Captain Smith, fullback, juggled the ball to the ten yard line and then Bobby Schiller, halfback, stiff armed two opponents on a left end sweep to score.

Marquette started a kicking game in the second period but Coach Spears inserted Harry Pike into the Badger backfield and he outplayed the Hill toppers. After an exchange of punts in the third the Badgers advanced from the Marquette 35 yard line for the second touchdown. Peterson picked up the last few yards necessary for a score.

Wisconsin made ten first downs to Marquette's one and piled up 140 yards from scrimmage to the Hill Toppers 32.

State Loses to Wolverine

Michigan Starts Fast to Triumph by 20 to 6

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Oct. 7 (AP)—A powerful Michigan eleven, featuring a strong running attack, smashed over three quick touchdowns, then weakened to allow its traditional rival, Michigan State college, to score the first touchdown against a Wolverine team in 15 years today in the season's opener before 30,000 spectators. The score was 20 to 6.

The Michigan varsity eleven started like champions, with an attack that swept the State squad off its feet in the first quarter. Playing on a soggy field, the Wolverines had two touchdowns in the first eight minutes of play. They got another before the period ended, but State's passing attack set them back during the remainder of the game.

Herman Everhardus, Michigan's left halfback, plunged across for two of the scores, while Jack Heston made good use of perfect blocking for a short dash that brought the third. Everhardus place-kicked two points after touchdown, but Ted Petoskey's try after the first touchdown was wide.

St. Ambrose Scores Twice to Beat Dubs

DUBUQUE, Oct. 7 (AP)—St. Ambrose, led by Lou Dvorsky and Rich Foley, scored two touchdowns today to win its second Iowa conference game and spoil the University of Dubuque's Homecoming, 12 to 0.

The visitors, although they outgained the Spartans by a wide margin, were unable to roll up an impressive score on the Dubuque machine.

Bob Menzemer, crack Dubuque halfback, was the big cog in Dubuque's moral victory inasmuch as his sensational punting pulled the Spartans out of several bad holes.

Pahl and Drees starred for the Saints in the line while Holtz was the other Dubuque star.

Kansas Shatters Old Notre Dame Tradition in Tie Game

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Oct. 7 (AP)—A Kansas football cyclone roared out of the western plains today to shatter and topple a prized Notre Dame griddon tradition that has stood like a Gibraltar for 32 years.

Before 20,000 astounded fans, most of whom had come out fully expecting to view a football slaughter, the fighting University of Kansas team battered down tradition with surprising ease by holding the highly vaunted Notre Dame team to a scoreless tie. It was the first time a Notre Dame team had been tied in the opening game of the season since 1901, long before the Ramblers became one of the mighty herds of college football warfare.

With a little luck, just a small break, the bustling Jayhawkers might have trotted off with a victory today. But fate seemed against them every time they blasted the Rambler defense works with a line that wouldn't be stopped and a set of backs that made spectacular dashes only to offset many of them by fumbles.

As it turned out, the Jayhawkers were possessors of probably the greatest moral victory they ever carried away from a football field.

Five times the Jayhawks shook the Ramblers back on their heels in their gallant but futile drive for the precious score.

Twice, they tried to kick their way in with a placement only to have the infuriated Rambler line crash in to block one attempt and hurry the kicker on the second so that he missed. Only twice did Notre Dame make serious threats and both of them came at the start of the game and the second half.

All the rest of the game, except for a long pass that was called good because of interference on the last play of the game, the Ramblers, advertised by many observers before today as one of the most powerful teams in a decade, were busy staying off an attack on drilling away in territory far from the Jayhawk goal.

Johnny Peterson was the star ground gainer for the Jayhawks as they shell-shocked the Ramblers with at least seven serious threats. The 190 pound Jayhawk sophomore crashed and slid through for a total of 36 yards in nine attempts before he was injured and retired from the battle. Almost single-handed, he carried the ball with his dashes to Notre Dame territory in the first period and then took a pretty pass from Ray Dunn to the Rambler 18-12 yard line.

Final Period Spurt Gives Tigers Win

SPEARFISH, S. D., Oct. 7 (AP)—Scoring all its points in the final period, Dakota Wesleyan's football team defeated the Spearfish Normal Yellow Jackets, 20 to 7, today in the annual swam war game.

Spearfish held the advantage until well into the fourth period, Calvert having scored in the opening quarter and kicked goal.

Just before the end of the game Stanley Wood broke through the line for the Tigers' first score and Phillips made another after a kick was blocked in the shadow of the Spearfish goal posts. A few moments later Wood intercepted a pass in midfield and ran to the two yard mark from where he scored on the next play.

Spearfish recovered a Wesleyan fumble on the two yard line in the second period but failed to score. A fumble on the 10 yard stripe in the third period cost the Yellow Jackets another chance.

Morningside Loses

FARGO, N. Dak. (AP)—The North Dakota Agricultural college, Bison, 1932 North Central college football champions, got away to a good start in defense of their title here tonight, by defeating Morningside of Sioux City, Ia., 7 to 0, in a hard fought battle.

Kentucky Wildcats Edge Out Triumph Over Georgia Tech

LEXINGTON, Ky., Oct. 7 (AP)—Smashing through for a touchdown and an extra point in the first period, the University of Kentucky Wildcats defeated Georgia Tech, 7 to 6 today.

Two 55 Yard Runs Win for Boilermakers

Keegan, Carter Save Day as Ohio U. Loses 13-6

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Oct. 7 (AP)—A fighting Ohio university football team gave Purdue a real opening day battle in Ross Ade stadium today before going down to defeat 13 to 6.

The Boilermakers started out impressively, scoring touchdowns in each of the first two quarters, only to bog down in the last half of the game to allow the visitors to earn most of the honors.

Long runs by Howard Keegan and Jim Carter scored Purdue's touchdowns. Playing with the second stringers started by Coach Kizer, Keegan broke through in an off tackle play late in the first quarter and rambled 55 yards for the first touchdown.

Purdue's regulars went in when the second quarter opened and gave the 10,000 spectators the impression that the game would be turned into a scoring bee. On two consecutive plays another touchdown was scored. Purvis passed to Carter for eight yards and then the latter raced through right tackle for 55 yards and a touchdown.

Huskers Win Over Texans

Sauer Stars While Nebraska Scores 25-0 Victory

LINCOLN, Oct. 7 (AP)—George Sauer, a loose footed 195-pound triple threat fullback, led a machine-like Nebraska football team to a surprising 25 to 0 victory here today in its opening game against a heavier University of Texas eleven.

Sauer lashed across for the first touchdown in the second quarter ripping off eight yards in one crashing, shifting drive off right tackle. He scored in the first five minutes of the third quarter, lunging through for the last two feet after the Cornhuskers had drilled its way unhesitatingly down the field.

On the first play after the kickoff, he intercepted Ronald Fagan's pass in midfield and dodged his way 28 yards back to the Texas 17-yard line. The reserves went in then and on the fourth down, Jerry La Noue, sub quarterback, skidded around right end 13 yards for a touchdown in the corner of the field. The reserves added the fourth touchdown in the last quarter when Johnny Williams, halfback, raced eight yards after recovering a blocked punt.

Cincinnati Beats South Dakota, 13-0

CINCINNATI, Oct. 7 (AP)—The knife-line line plunges of Fullback Merle Williams gave the University of Cincinnati a 13 to 0 victory over the University of South Dakota tonight.

A slight break paved the way for Cincinnati's first touchdown in the first period. Red Clinker, Coyote quarterback, tried a quick kick from his 23 yard line and was rushed. The ball went high into the air and was down on South Dakota's 25 yard stripe. Four line plays and a 10 yard pass put the ball within a foot of goal. Williams plunged over right guard for the marker.

The second touchdown came in the final quarter after Schwarburg, half, went around end for 20 yards to the Dakota 19. Six more line bucks and a four-yard shovel pass placed the ball on Dakota's five-yard line. Williams bucked off right tackle for the touchdown.

Coe Easily Triumphs at Monmouth

MONMOUTH, Ill., Oct. 7 (AP)—Monmouth was no match for a big, powerful Coe college team today and the Iowans opened their Midwest conference season with a 13 to 0 victory over the Scots.

Fred Hild, elusive Coe halfback, led the succession of drives that scored two touchdowns and placed the ball on Monmouth's one-foot line as the game ended.

Rain which fell throughout the first period made the ball slippery, causing frequent fumbles. Coe booted at least three chances to score by erratic ball handling and Monmouth's lone touchdown opportunity ended with a grounded pass over the goal line.

Monmouth gave away more than 10 pounds per man in the line and almost as much in the backfield but managed to stop most straight line thrusts. Hild's smashes at the ends, however, were unusually successful.

Navy Passes Beat Mercer by 25-6 Tally

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Oct. 7 (AP)—The Navy unleashed a powerful running and passing attack today to down the Mercer Bears from Georgia, 25 to 6, one touchdown more than Army was able to make against the same team last week.

Starting in the second quarter after a fumble and some brilliant running by Robert E. Lee, Jr., had given the visitors a touchdown, Navy tied the score before the half, and then tallied twice in the third period and again in the fourth to earn a decisive victory.

Two line plays failed and Ray Fisher dropped a pass from Teyro in the clear on the five yard line, and Bradley took the ball on downs. Handley punted to Kuhn who was downed on the Indian 41-yard line. Kuhn and Teyro gained nine yards through tackle and guard. ## Army Romps Over V. M. I.

Jack Buckler Leads West Pointers in Victory

WEST POINT, N. Y., Oct. 7 (AP)—The Army cadet eleven took Virginia military institute into camp today, 32 to 0, making four touchdowns in the second and third periods.

"Too much speed" was the verdict of the visitors, who staved off half a dozen attacks in the first and final quarters. But Army receivers got loose to catch passes at crucial points and the Army backs, particularly King and Buckler, ran back Urlick's punt for many long gains.

The individual hero was Jack Buckler. In the third period he scored two touchdowns, kicked a point from placement, shot out a 50 yard quick kick from scrimmage and sent a pass to a teammate that was good for 30 yards.

Culver Stockton Beats Penn, 13-2

CANTON, Mo., Oct. 7 (AP)—Scoring first in the initial period on a blocked kick, Culver Stockton college today won from Penn college of Oskaloosa, Ia., 13 to 2.

man on the first string forward wall did his job on every play. The experience of Schammel, Radloff and Moore, gave them the edge, though the work of Page at end and Foster at the other tackle was stimulating.

Only One Pass Only once during the entire game did Iowa resort to the air for a gain. This one pass, coming late in the game, was incomplete near the goal. It was a long one from Teyro to Fisher and was almost good for another score, but Fisher could not quite hold it and it was grounded.

Only early season fumbles and penalties kept the Iowans from adding at least two more scores to their total.

Game Fighters Though definitely outclassed from start to finish, the Peorians played gamely. Handley and Usnik were the best offensive threats. N. Harms and Handley outdistanced the Iowa kickers by two yards, their punts travelling on an average of 37 yards to Iowa's 35. N. Harms, left tackle, is as tough a man to get through as any that has played in the Iowa stadium of recent years.

Coach Ossie Solem was able to get a good line on the worth of his reserves, yesterday, for he used them for the majority of the game. The Hawkeye mentor now has two weeks in which to prepare his proteges for their next conference game. Next Saturday is an open date on the Iowa schedule, but Wisconsin comes here for the Homecoming game on Oct. 21.

THAT'S MY BOY!
by FRANCIS WALLACE
AUTHOR OF "HUDDLE"

SYNOPSIS Born of humble parents, Mom and Pop, in a tiny Middle West factory town, Tommy Randolph, "always different from other children," becomes a high school football sensation both to the delight and disdain of his hard-working family. Big universities are bidding for him with the chances favoring Thorndyke, a "millionaire's college" in the East. His father, veteran glassworker and staunch Democrat, is pondering Tommy's athletic-scholastic future....

CHAPTER SEVEN

Pop made up his mind slowly about Thorndyke. He pretended to be weighing it pro and con. "I don't know whether I want you among all them capitalists' sons," Pop declared.

Tommy laughed. "Besides," Pop continued, "I ain't gonna have you mixed up with them crooks in Wall Street—the first thing you know you'll be like the rest of them, trying to get all the money in your hands."

"You said it, Pop," Tommy laughed, slapping Pop on the back. "In the meantime, Mom, how about a buck—got to take Dot to the movies tonight."

The scamp knew Mom liked him to go around with Dorothy Whitney and that he could get money from her easier that way. Sometimes she knew he wasn't going with Dorothy at all because Mom passed him in front of the poolroom with the boys. Mom didn't like the poolroom but still she guessed it wasn't really bad. Boys were full of life and they had to put their time in where there was life.

After Tommy went out Pop sat on the front steps a long time like he was studying it out. "Why don't you mention it to Charlie Whitney?" Mom asked.

Pop snorted. "I can run my own house."

Then he pretended to be thinking it out again but the first thing Mom knew his head was nodding and he was asleep. Pop was as tickled as she was but he just wouldn't show it. She knew him.

But just the same Mom was a little bit worried about it. Thorndyke was way off some place and if Tommy didn't have as good clothes as the rest and all that maybe it wouldn't be no nice.

So the next time Mom saw Charlie Whitney down street she asked him what he thought. Charlie looked at her rather oddly but he was very nice about it and asked her for an ice cream. A funny little glow went over Mom as she sat there with Charlie Whitney; he was getting heavy now and had glasses and his hair was thinning but Mom couldn't help remembering when she used to see Charlie in Davis's like this with his crowd when he was running around town before he was married.

"Elizabeth," he said, "I'm glad you asked me." Charlie's voice was smooth and low and nice to listen to. It helped make people like him and trust him because they didn't feel Charlie wanted anything they had; and of course Mom had practically been raised with him.

"You see, Elizabeth, Thorndyke is pretty far from home and Tom will meet a different sort of people."

"Don't let Tommy forget," said Mr. Whitney, the Town Tyecon, to Mom, "that this football glory will last only a few years."

were important. Of course that doesn't mean much to us back here but they think it's something big. Big-heads, Mom thought. Charlie's own mother was one; but Mom wouldn't say that for the world; she just nodded.

On her way to Sidney's, Mom stopped to look in the window of Joseph's at a suit which she thought would be real nice for Pop. It was dark blue with a little pin stripe running through and quite stylish, too; although Mom was afraid it was too stylish because Pop would object enough about buying a good suit that wasn't black and would say she was trying to make him too tony for a workman.

Next door to Joseph's was Julius's. Mom moved over to glance slyly in the window. Often she had looked in Julius's windows before but never with the daring which now possessed her. Julius was expensive and charged two prices for everything but his goods were mighty fine; there was a bolt of brown crepe de chene which she thought would make up awful nice; but there was no price on it and Mom was afraid to go in and ask because once she got in there she couldn't come out without buying something because they would think she was cheap and she couldn't have Tommy Randolph's mother called cheap—Mrs. Flannigan's daughter worked in Julius's and it would get around in no time.

With a little sigh Mom walked away from the crepe de chene and started down the street to Sidney's. She had got her brown poplin there the same time Pop had got his black suit and she guessed another brown would fit the bill because Pop always liked her in brown from the time they first knew each other because Mom's hair had been brown; she looked at it now in a window as she passed; it was duller and had begun to streak up with grey; this was no news to Mom and she believed in letting things as they were and saw no sense in middle-aged women trying to look too young.

By CHARLES A. BECKMAN

The First Brass and Iron Worker in America

Records show that a certain Joseph Jenks at Lynn was the first worker in brass and iron on the North American continent. According to tradition, the first implement actually cast was an iron quart pot, in 1642, but, actually, many common tools and household articles were also made. Our sympathetic helpfulness is born of sincerity, and the tactful manner in which we conduct our service is most reassuring to those who seek our assistance.
