6:30—Address: Administrative problems of county workers, Mr. McMillan.

A permanent federal organization to administer relief to destitute and unemployed throughout the country was foreseen yesterday by A. W. McMillan of the University of Chicago, in an address before a session of a social welfare conference which began here yesterday.

Nearly 200 welfare workers from all parts of Iowa and from other states gathered here for the two day meeting, which will conclude its sessions with an all day program today.

The federal organization, Mr. McMillan believes, would not administer aid directly, but would work through local trained welfare workers. The central set-up will include many more field workers than under the present federal arrangement.

Tracing the development of federal aid in relief work, Mr. McMillan declared that the present plan of federal administration is defective, though it marks an improvement over the first emergency relief act, passed in 1932.

The 1932 act provided for an appropriation of $300,000,000, to be given out to the states as loans, either to the counties directly, or to be applied on federal highway grants made to the states later.

This act was defective, Mr. McMillan asserted, in that it failed to provide a separate administrative unit, leaving the administration of the fund to the R.F.C., which had little interest in relief work. It provided for only five field workers to cover 48 states. Its greatest defect, the speaker said, was that it assumed it was dealing with solvent states, and treated the funds as loans.

The act passed this year provided (Turn to page 3)

24 Missing in Lake Storms

(By The Associated Press)
Twenty-four persons were missing last night on Lake Winnipeg in Canada as storms churned up the waters.

Meanwhile, overcast weather continued in most sections in the United States with lower temperatures forecast.

The missing persons were members of the crews and passengers on tow lake boats, now five days overdue. The owners still expressed hopes that the two craft may have been able to have anchored in some sheltered regions of the lake.

A low of eight above was reported in Minnesota and 10 above in North Dakota and each reported snow flurries. Chicago's thermometers headed down below freezing and Indiana had a temperature in the 40's with freezing or below forecast. Des Moines had a brief flurry of snow. Cleveland saw the thermometer slide downward from 40 and had a forecast of snow.

The east, struck by snow storms in the mountain regions earlier in the week, saw a return to normal weather but forecasters said a cold wave with possible snow was on the way.

Farm Pickets Prefer Beer and Cheese to Milk Picketing

WISCONSIN RAPIDS, Wis., Oct. 27 (AP)—Farm strike pickets stopped a truck load of milk as it approached the Wisconsin Valley creamery here today.

Paul Pratt, creamery manager, mounted a loading platform and invited the strikers into a tavern on the corner. Beer and cheese sandwiches were free and the milk truck moved on to the creamery.

S.U.I.-Bates Debate Goes on Air Today

Iowa to Uphold Bank Deposit Guarantee by U. S.

The University of Iowa will go on the air today at 5 o'clock in a nationally-broadcast championship debate against Bates college of Lewiston, Me. Iowa debaters will speak from the Chicago studios of the National Broadcasting company and Bates from Boston.

Vergil Tacy, Ll of Council Bluffs, and John Harrison, A4 of Oakland, will uphold the affirmative side of the proposition, "Resolved, that the American people should endorse federal guarantee of bank deposits as embodied in the national banking act of 1933."

Bates Speakers
Speakers from Bates will be Theodore I. Seamon, '34 of Lewiston, and Frank S. Murray, '34 also of Lewiston. This contest, the first meeting of the two schools, is one of the newer developments in the field of intercollegiate debating. Radio debates broadcast on a nationwide scale, with the teams separated from each other by as much as a thousand miles, have been attempted only in the last two years.

Dwight W. Morrow, Jr., Amherst college, Amherst, Mass., president of the Eastern Intercollegiate Debate league, will be the presiding officer. He will open the debate, speaking from Boston, with a couple of minutes of introductory material. Tacy will open the debate proper with a nine minute speech. Seamon and Harrison will each be given 10 minutes, Murray 11, and Tacy will close the debate with three minutes rebuttal.

Eastern Winners
Bates, although a small school with an enrollment of about 500 students, is this year, for the third time in the last four years, champion of the Eastern Intercollegiate Debating league. This New England college was the first American school to engage in the international debates which have become so popular. For six years, 1917 to 1923, Bates was undefeated and has compiled an all-time record of winning 85 per cent of all its debate contests.

Iowa has been selected to meet the eastern title-holder for the national championship by virtue of its triumphs in the Big Ten and mid-west tournaments last year.

The debate is to be broadcast over the WJZ network of the National Broadcasting company. This chain includes KWCR at Cedar Rapids, KSO at Des Moines, and a number of Chicago stations available to local listeners.

Sheriff's Wife Finds New Way of Halting Missouri Jail Break

BLOOMFIELD, Mo., Oct. 27 (AP)—It was "fight or try" and 16 prisoners in the Stoddard county jail saw their attempt at escape go for naught.

While Sheriff Barham and his deputy were away, the prisoners stacked mattresses in a pile and set them on fire.

Mrs. Barham, alone in the living quarters of the jail, instead of releasing the prisoners as they expected, told them they could either put out the fire or roast. They extinguished the flames.

Crash Victim

FRANK L. SMITH—Dies in Accident

Killed Enroute to Iowa Game; 3 Others Injured; Long in Serious Condition

Accident Occurs Near Zumbrota, Minn.; Clarence Beck Receives Fracture and Minor Lacerations

Former Police Chief Frank L. Smith, about 70, was killed, and three others were injured in an auto crash near Zumbrota, Minn., at about 8 o'clock last night, according to an Associated Press dispatch at 1 o'clock this morning.

The injured are: Attorney Herbert J. Long, who suffered broken bones, was reported to be in a serious condition. County Clerk Walter J. Barrow, fractured jaw. Clarence E. Beck of the Iowa City Hudson-Essex company, fractured shoulder and ankle.

The four men left Iowa City yesterday afternoon to attend the Iowa-Minnesota football game this afternoon at Minneapolis. Details of the accident could not be learned, although it was reported the car, which belongs to and was driven by Mr. Beck, skidded off the road.

Smith, who was Johnson county sheriff for four years and Iowa City chief of police for two, suffered a fractured skull and lived for several hours before he died, never regaining consciousness.

The four were taken to the St. John's Memorial hospital at Red Wing, Minn. Mr. Smith's sister, Mollie, left for Red Wing last night from Cedar Rapids on the special train. Mrs. Long, who was in Cedar Rapids at the time of the accident, also left for Red Wing last night.

He is survived by two sisters, Mollie, who lived with him at his home, 221 S. Linn street, and Mrs. O. C. Boyd, 711 E. Burlington street; and two brothers, Charles, mayor of Hills, and Harry of Texas.

Mr. Smith was born near Hills and lived all his life in Johnson county. Before he was elected sheriff of Johnson county he was engaged in cattle buying throughout the middlewest.

Reputed Nazi Agent Sought by Government

Spanknoebel Gained Entrance to U. S. Falsely

NEW YORK, Oct. 27 (AP)—Heinz Spanknoebel, reputed to be a Nazi agent in the United States was charged today with falsely representing himself to be a German diplomatic agent in a warrant issued by U. S. Commissioner O'Neill, O'Neill.

Federal agents began a search for Spanknoebel, who disappeared Wednesday a few hours before Mayor O'Brien banned a meeting scheduled for next Sunday in commemoration of the first German immigration to America 250 years ago.

Swears Out Warrant
U. S. Attorney Medalle swore to the complaint, which asserted that Spanknoebel purported to act as a diplomat agent of the German government in the United States without having diplomatic or consular status and that he had failed to notify the state department of his alleged relationship.

The warrant was applied for after Medalle received word from the state department that the German embassy had said Spanknoebel was not registered as a diplomatic agent.

Published
"This case came to my attention," said Medalle, "from the publication of the facts by Victor F. Ridder and Bernard H. Ridder, publishers of the Staats Zeitung and the New York Herald, to the effect that on or about July 6 Spanknoebel called at this office and displayed to them documents purporting to show that he represented the press abethel (press division) of the German government."

"He said, so the Ridders stated, that he was authorized by the German government to act as leader of the Germans in this country, to take charge of his government's affairs in this country and that the Ridders must submit to his censorship."

26 Fishermen Still Missing

SELKIRK, Man., Oct. 27 (AP)—Squally, snow flecked water of Lake Winnipeg held fast the fate of 26 persons tonight. They were aboard two lake boats that have been missing for five days.

Airplanes were pressed into service in a search for the Lubers, with a crew of six and 15 fishermen aboard, and the Question Mark, with a crew of three and two passengers. Less than 48 hours after the Lubers left for winter fishing stations on Eagle Island, 250 miles north-west of here, snow laden winds tied up navigation at this point.

Inshore craft were converted into miniature icebergs. Officials of the Lake Manitoba Fishing company said the Lubers would pass through the center of the storm.

The Question Mark, a 500 foot boat, is owned by the Selkirk Navigation company. It is not known what supplies she carried. The Lubers carried a plentiful amount of provisions.

The New Dollar: U. S. Hitches Wagon to Star of Golden Hue

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The place of gold in President Roosevelt's recently announced monetary program is explained in this article, second of a daily series of four.)
NEW YORK (AP)—President Roosevelt has hitched his program for raising commodity prices to a star of gold.

Underlying his move to establish a controlled domestic gold market is the theory that gold is mankind's most cherished possession and that its value in terms of dollars inevitably will control the dollar price of other commodities.

The economists who hold this theory defend it on the ground that for century after century gold has been sought and prized by the peoples of the world.

They point to the fact that throughout history men have suffered fearful hardships and even battled in order to obtain it.

Early Used As Money
Some historians trace the use of gold as money to 800 B.C. First it was used as actual coinage, then also as a standard for valuing currency, redeemable in gold.

Its use in monetary systems resulted not only from its intrinsic value but also from the fact that it is relatively scarce, compact, easy to store, its purity and weight easily determined, its sources of supply well known and fairly constant.

For currency, we in the United States use paper dollars, which in their actual physical properties are almost worthless, and token money of various metals, which, intrinsically, are worth only a part of their face value.

"The Most Desirable"
Other countries use pounds, francs, marks, lire—but whatever the name of the currency it is merely a measure, its value lying in the fact that it can be exchanged for commodities.

Gold is the most desirable of all commodities, these economists hold, and therefore is the standard on which prices for other commodities will be determined.

When the price of gold rises, they declare, the buyer of wheat, for example, will be willing to pay a correspondingly higher price while the seller of the wheat will hold his commodity until the buyer offers what corresponds to the higher gold equivalent in dollars.

In this fashion, the theory runs, commodity prices follow gold prices upward.

President Roosevelt proposes to alter that gold value from time to time by having the Reconstruction Finance corporation, with his approval and that of the secretary of the treasury, change the dollar price of gold.

The theory is that the price of wheat, cotton, lumber, meat and all other commodities will change at the same time.

Governor Herring Accepts Invitation to Attend Dad's Day

Clyde Herring, Jr., AI of Des Moines, will be host to his dad, the governor of Iowa, at the University of Iowa's annual Dad's day dinner at Iowa Union next Saturday night.

Gov. Clyde L. Herring accepted the invitation of the university and of his son yesterday to deliver the principal address at the dinner. Dads and mothers of university students from all over the middle west are expected to attend, following the first Ames-Iowa football contest since 1920 which will climax the day's events in the afternoon.

Judge Homer Fuller of Mt. Airy, president of the Iowa Dads association, will serve as toastmaster at the dinner.

Ford Breaks "Silent War" on NRA Code

Statement of Company Scores Unfair Methods

DETROIT, Oct. 27 (AP)—Henry Ford's long standing "silent controversy" with the NRA was at an abrupt end tonight with the Ford company's statement—the first since the motor magnate failed to sign the auto code—that Recovery Administrator Hugh S. Johnson is "assuming the airs of a dictator" and "attempting a grave injustice upon a law abiding American industry."

"Not Law"
"Johnson's daily expression of opinion is not law," said a statement from the company offices today. "Signing a code is not in the law; flying the blue eagle is not in the law. The Ford Motor Co. observes the law and exceeds it in all its real recovery features."

The statement made the charge that favoritism in the awarding of governmental bids is "possible under the NRA."

The sudden breaking of silence by the Ford Motor Co., which since the outset of the national recovery act had remained uncommunicative as to its policy, followed Johnson's declaration in Washington today that he would "turn the case over to the attorney general" if he found concrete evidence of direct violation of the code by the Ford company.

Ford officials indicated that they believed Johnson had singled them out unnecessarily in his statement, which concerned wages, hour and schedules of employment to be furnished to the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce required by the NRA code.

Not a Member
Ford is not a member of the N.A.-C.C., but he has consistently maintained that working conditions in the giant Ford plants are better than those demanded by the code. The company indicated that the figures would be furnished if they were requested.

"It is an act of injustice for Mr. Johnson to intimate that any refusal has been made of any proper demand on the Ford Motor Co.," the statement said, "especially since Mr. Johnson knows that even his original signers have not had time to file their reports which he charges this company with refusing."

Insult Hearing Put Off Until Tuesday; Decision Expected

ATHENS, Oct. 27 (AP)—Samuel Insull, after another trying session of the hearing in which the American government seeks his extradition in connection with the collapse of his utilities enterprises, heard his case adjourned today until Tuesday, instead of Saturday when a decision had been expected.

The prosecutor, in summing up his plea, said Insull should be returned to Chicago, not to satisfy America, but to satisfy justice, and denied that the former Chicagoan is wanted in the United States for political reasons.

While listening to this defense speeches in a language he could not understand, Insull frequently questioned a lawyer as to what was said.

By HARRY BURRELL (Sports Editor)

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 27—Triumphant in its first two Western conference games, a great Hawkeye eleven moved onto Memorial field this afternoon for a final workout before engaging the Minnesota Gopher tomorrow, in the most crucial game of the Big Ten's week end series—a game that will decide whether the Hawkeyes, long holders of the conference cellar position, can continue their sensational parade towards Big Ten honors.

The Gophers, tied in each of their two conference starts—both times by teams reputedly of less caliber—are now rated as one of the strongest teams in the loop, having located a scoring punch, and will be playing before a Homecoming crowd estimated to be 45,000 strong.

Tomorrow's game, the twenty-seventh in Hawkeye-Gopher play, will be a battle not only between teams, but between coaches. Ossie Solem of Iowa and Bernie Bierman of Minnesota both gained their football knowledge under Doc Williams, then mentor at the Gopher institution where Solem and Bierman were team mates. It is the first time that teams coached by the two ex-Gophers have met in competition.

It will be a desperate battle at any cost. The Hawkeyes, unknown at the start of the season, are now the center of mid-west gridiron attraction. Growing stronger with every win, the Hawks are definitely considered a title threat, and, should they get by tomorrow's test, can be counted on to give the Michigan Wolverines their greatest worry of the season. Minnesota, pre-seasonally doped as a big, fast team, has piled up yardage on its opponents, but up until last week was unable to put over the score that meant a win. Gopher followers, however, assert that the victory over the Pitt team last week, was the needed spark to touch off the Minnesota offense and from now on it will be too bad for opponents of the Gopher school.

For the first time in years, Minnesota will not rely upon power plays to make their yardage. Bierman has developed a fast, shifty, deceptive offense that has worried opponents all season. It is led by the veteran Pug Lund, and two sophomore backs, Beise and Alphonse. Beise is a line plunger who reminds the home fans of the Joesting-Nagurski days, while Alphonse and Lund are threats in every department of the game. It was Lund who led the Gophers in their overwhelming defeat of Iowa last year.

Captain Oen, center, is rated as the second best pivot man in the conference, bowing only to the great Everhardus of Michigan. He will be supported by veterans in every line position but the tackles. Both tackles are sophomores, who have already proven their worth.

Iowa, however, should have the edge over the Minnesota forwards, in both weight and power. Experts have named the Hawkeye forward wall as one of the strongest in the conference. Averaging close to the 200 pound mark, the Iowa line has been almost impregnable in games thus far. Led by the veterans Schammel and Moore, and the smallest end in the conference, Bernie Page, the Hawk forwards have been a bulwark on defense and ripped open wide holes for ball carriers on the offense.

Bernie Page, a converted fullback, is the smallest regular on the Iowa squad and has had to spot close to 40 pounds of weight to every man he has faced this year. In spite of this, he was the outstanding defensive star of the Wisconsin game.

All other line positions will be (Turn to page 7)

Hawkeye Fans Follow Team to Minneapolis

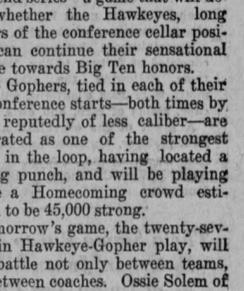

It takes a winning team to draw crowds, but when they are winning the fans will travel miles to see them do it.

A very noisy witness to this is Iowa City's interurban depot, which during the day, has seen a major portion of 2,500 loyal Hawk fans board the electric cars to follow the team to Minneapolis.

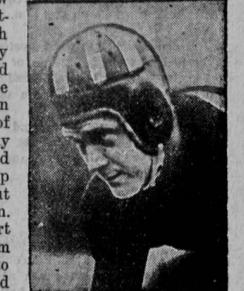

Reports of cold weather and snow in the northern climes, brought out an array of winter clothing that made a very colorful picture. Sheepskins, coonskins, (1929 models) and every other form of animal skin covered with warmth giving material was greatly in vogue.

Iowa may have lost a few football games in the last four years but if they have, it is forgotten now. Not a dissenting voice was heard to the chant on the depot platform, "Just another step on the Big Ten road."

The biggest crew to make the trip by train, boarded the car with the team at 7:50 in the morning. All cars meeting the special trains in Cedar Rapids, however, came in for their share of rooting custom.

28 City High Normal Training Club Alums Meet for Celebration

Twenty-eight alumni of the Normal Training club of the Iowa City high school met for a Homecoming celebration at a dinner held in the Pine room of Reich's cafe last night. Included in the guest list were two charter members of the club.

Entertainment between courses consisted of fortune telling. Decorations, following the Halloween motif, were Jack o'lanterns, witches' caps, stalks of corn, and owls.

A guest of the organization was Etta Metzger, organizer and faculty adviser. In charge of arrangements were DeVoe Chesmore and Ethel Huffman.

Theta Sigma Phi to Entertain Journalists at Union Tea Party

Women journalism students and journalism faculty members will be guests of the Theta Sigma Phi, honorary professional journalism sorority for women, at a tea on the sun porch of Iowa Union at 4 p.m. Tuesday.

Helen Reich, assistant hostess at Iowa Union, is in charge of plans for the tea and Virginia Tesdell, 74 of Des Moines, has charge of the invitations.

Mrs. Graham Dean and Mrs. Harry Bunker will pour at tables decorated with fall flowers and Halloween colors.

I. O. O. F. to Give Dance

Dancing will be the entertainment of the evening at a Halloween masquerade party to be given at 8:30 p.m. Monday at I.O.O.F. hall under the auspices of the local I.O.O.F.

St. Louis Man to Speak at Annual Mission Service

Annual mission Sunday will be observed tomorrow at St. Paul's Lutheran chapel. Edward Julius Friedrich of Concordia Theological Seminary, St. Louis, Mo., will speak at the two services of the day. Mr. Friedrich will speak at 10:30 a.m. on "Workers together with God in the fulfillment of His supreme purpose," and at 2:30 p.m. on "The secret of Luther's power."

There will be no meeting of the Sunday school.

At 7:30 p.m. the Rev. Theodore Melholm of Washington, Ia., will conduct the regular Lutheran service at the church hall in Coralville.

Today Deadline for Pictures of Dolphin Queen Contestants

Today has been set as the deadline for the submission of pictures of contestants for the title of Dolphin queen.

All sororities and dormitories may enter pictures of as many contestants as they wish, and the queen and several attendants will be selected to rule over the show which will take place next Thursday, Friday and Saturday as a part of the Dad's day festivities. "Redskin Revue" is the title of the pageant for this year.

Pictures of candidates are to be sent to Bill Busby at the field house immediately. Ben Bernie, orchestra leader, will make the final selection.

Local Auxiliary Aids Knoxville Group at Party for Veterans

Birthday celebrations for 60 inmates of the government hospital at Knoxville were held recently by various units of the American Legion Auxiliary.

Ten members of the local unit attended the celebration and took with them six cakes and favors for all the men whose birthdays occurred sometime during the last month. Members of other units in the vicinity furnished a program for the men.

Two S. U. I. Alums Wed

Marriage Takes Place at Bride's Home in Cedar Rapids

Marriage of two alumni of the University of Iowa, Mary Ann Hruska of Cedar Rapids, and Oscar A. Drews of Iowa City, took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Hruska, parents of the bride in Cedar Rapids, Thursday afternoon.

Autumn leaves and bronze chrysanthemums banked the fireplace in front of which the marriage ceremony was performed by the Rev. A. C. Prephel of Iowa City. Only the immediate families of the bride and bridegroom were present.

Preceding and during the ceremony, Marianne Dvorak of Cedar Rapids, played. The couple was attended by Marie Drews of Iowa City, and Shirley Webster of Winterset. Following the wedding, a dinner was given at the Hruska home.

Mrs. Drews received her B.S. degree in home economics at the University of Iowa in 1932. While in school she affiliated with Sigma Kappa sorority, the home economics club and Athena club. Mr. Drews, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Drews, 617 E. Brown street, graduated from the college of pharmacy of the University of Iowa in 1931. He is a member of Phi Delta Chi pharmaceutical fraternity.

After Nov. 1, Mr. and Mrs. Drews will be at home at 112 S. Dubuque street. Mr. Drews is employed by the Whetstone Drug company.

Eastern Star Elects Mrs. Retta Swindal

Mrs. Retta L. Swindal, worthy matron of the local Jessamine chapter of Eastern Star, was appointed grand marshal of the Iowa Order of Eastern Star Thursday at the fifty-sixth annual session of the grand chapter in Des Moines.

Stocks Rise After Wheat Takes Jump

Prominent Issues in Recovery Act Over Thursday

NEW YORK, Oct. 27 (AP)—A rally in wheat, backed by reports that the government relief agency had again gone to market, put stocks back on the upward track today after early detours into irregularity.

Most of the more prominent issues about recovered wheat which had lost Thursday. Farm implements, alcohol and chemicals were particularly responsive.

Opposite Direction Foreign exchanges worked in the opposite direction of dollar depreciation, notwithstanding the RFC's increase in its gold price, which today was $31.76, a jump of 56 cents from the London quotation and of 22 cents above yesterday's Washington level.

Some observers point out that uncertainties surrounded France's ability to maintain a gold standard have not yet been dissolved. Today the franc weakened and other currencies dipped with it, giving the dollar a rally, so that deflation of the latter experienced some unexpected difficulties.

Two Point Rise Allied Chemical, American Smelting and Case gained more than two points. National Distillers drew enough support to put it four points higher, while Montgomery Ward, Du Pont, Sears Roebuck, Union Pacific, Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, American Telephone, American Can and Bethlehem Steel were up a point or more.

The Pennsylvania state highway patrol recently confiscated 25 cars owned by students of Sehigh university and classified them as "vehicles unfit to operate on the streets."

WELFARE GROUP Holds 2 Day Conference

Yesterday's session opened with another address by Mr. McMillan, in which he described the development of relief work in the last few years. The morning meetings also included two round table discussions on case investigation, led by Margaret Rich of the Family Welfare association of New York city, and Allan W. Houghton, Polk county relief director.

At a luncheon yesterday, Robert E. Neff, administrator of University hospital, explained the new quota system for handling indigent patients. Round tables, similar to those of the morning session, concluded the afternoon meetings.

Miss Rich, speaking before an institute dinner, last night, declared that much of the social agency set-up is organized according to whims of the organizers, rather than the need of the population. The value of publicity to the social worker was stressed in an address by T. J. Edmonds, executive secretary of the Iowa Tuberculosis Association. In this address, broadcast over station WSUI, Mr. Edmonds urged a varied publicity program as a means of establishing food will between social workers and community.

Deceitful Mouse Oct. 1, 1842—A mouse ranging about a brewery, happening to fall into one of the vats of beer, was in eminent danger of drowning and appealed to a cat to help him out. The cat replied, "It is a foolish request, for as soon as I get you I shall eat you." The mouse piteously replied that that fate would be better than to be drowned in beer.

Reinstatement of some large speculative lines of wheat that were abandoned of late accompanied the sudden upshoot of prices. This came chiefly in the final hour of trading and after the fact became apparent that numerous car-lots of wheat were being bought here and elsewhere for interests which often represent the federal government.

Now Git A man drove up at a terrific pace to the railroad station at Farwell, and inquired for his wife. She had eloped with a neighbor, and was about to take a train for the east. "Thank goodness," the husband cried, "I'm in time." The bystanders anticipated a tragedy, and the wife covered in her seat. "Here's your child," he continued, producing a little girl. "Reckon you forgot her in your hurry. Now you can get off as fast as you like."—Iowa City Weekly Republican.

Lawyer Habits May, 1869—A story is told of a western lawyer who lately attended a religious meeting, where he was called to offer a prayer. U. S. Buying Gives Wheat Price Boost

CHICAGO, Oct. 27 (AP)—Grains bounded upward late today and wheat scored a maximum jump of 4 3/8 cents from an earlier low level.

Evidence that United States government-sponsored purchases of wheat had been resumed was the main stimulating factor. An advance of the Washington gold price to 40 cents above Wednesday's figures fell flat as a market influence.

Wheat closed strong at almost the day's top, 3 3/8, 3 5/8 above yesterday's finish, corn 5-8, 1 1/2 up, oats 1 1/4, 1 1/2 advanced, and provisions at 2 cents to 12 cents decline.

Friends of higher prices for wheat made capital too, of trade reports estimating the 1933 Canadian wheat crop at only 222,000,000 bushels, compared with recent unofficial estimates of 247,000,000. On the other hand, the fact was emphasized in various quarters that for the first time Russian wheat exports were approaching 2,000,000 bushels a week.

Corn and oats were sluggish all most the entire day, but turned upward in sympathy with wheat in the late dealings.

17 Freshmen, Sophs Elected to Gavel Club

Seventeen persons were elected to membership in the Gavel club, freshman and sophomore forensic organization, at a meeting held yesterday afternoon.

The newly-elected members are: Phil Allen, A1 of Onawa, Zedford Burriss, A1 of Des Moines; Edward Miller, A1 of Sioux City; Robert Blakey, A1 of Onawa; Staten Browning, A1 of Iowa City; Eldon Hawthorn, A1 of Council Bluffs; Eleanor Keen, A1 of Algonia; Robert King, A1 of Sioux City; Walter MacGregor, A1 of Des Moines; Donald Reese, A1 of Turin; Robert Roose, A1 of Iowa City; Wayne Hill, A1 of Vinton; Joseph Silver, A1 of Des Moines; Janet Larabee, A2 of Clermont; Mary Parden, A2 of Iowa City; Mary Hanneman, A2 of Ft. Madison; and Earla Blaine, A2 of Hampton.

President Roswell Johnson, A3 of Ottumwa, has announced that there will be a meeting of the Gavel club Tuesday at 7:15 p.m. in Iowa Union for the purpose of initiating the new members.

The purpose of the Gavel club is to provide a means of contact for freshmen and sophomores who are interested in forensics. Meetings are held every other Tuesday evening and discussions, formal and informal, take place on timely topics of general interest.

Kentucky Candidate Threatened by Four Men and Kidnaped

PIKEVILLE, Ky., Oct. 27 (AP)—Willis Stanton, candidate for circuit judge, was threatened with death and whisked away by four masked men today, his nephew reported, because he refused to sign a mysterious paper.

"Sign that or die," Joe Stanton told officers the men demanded, and the former judge replied, "I'll die." "He was kidnaped by political enemies," Mrs. Stanton declared tonight. She said her husband had received two letters in the last few days telling him he must not stay in the race, but that he had refused to quit. Mrs. Stanton said her husband had support of the coal miners.

Bond Market Interest Lags

Prices Fail to Show Definite Trend of Flow

NEW YORK, Oct. 27 (AP)—Except for a few foreign issues, interest in the bond market was at a low ebb today and prices generally drifted without displaying any definite trend. Sales totaled $10,946,000 par value, and the average for 60 domestic corporate loans was unchanged at 74.8. Italian 7s jumped 3 1/2 points on a relatively heavy turnover following reports that the government would emulate Sweden and announce a refunding offer for some $87,000,000 of the issue which is outstanding. Dominican Republic 5 1/2s up 5 5/8 points, may have responded to refunding hopes. Gains of around a point or more were also shown by bonds of Brisbane, Australian Commonwealth, Denmark, Italian Public Utilities, Rome City and Norway. French government 7s and 7 1/2s were off 1 1/2 and 2 1/2 points respectively, probably due to selling on reports of recent heavy gold withdrawal from the republic.

Wisconsin Man in Serious Condition Due to Beating by Pickets

MARSHFIELD, Wis., Oct. 27 (AP)—Beaten by farm strike pickets who assaulted him with clubs, Ted Weber of Marshfield is in serious condition in St. Joseph's hospital here. Warrants naming two men and designating three others as "John Doe" have been issued. Weber was driving toward Marshfield from Tripoli with a truck load of fence posts when pickets stopped him. In intervals of consciousness he told of being clubbed and ordered to turn back. He drove to a farm house and collapsed. At the hospital he named two of his assailants.

Liquor Tax and Increased Revenues

THE FIRST OFFICIAL blow to prospects of a large governmental revenue from the sale of legalized liquor was struck Thursday when Governor Clyde Herring's liquor control conference decided to submit to the federal government a request that liquor taxes be kept as low as possible.

The conference, composed of delegates from Iowa, Illinois, Wisconsin, Indiana, and Nebraska, held that a large tax on the sale of liquor would mean the growth of bootlegging to avoid payment of the tax.

The question is interesting because it brings back memories of last year's arguments in favor of repeal. Repeal of the eighteenth amendment, the nation was assured, would mean revenues which would reach fantastic proportions.

There were, of course, other arguments in favor of repeal, and many of them had the force of logic and reasoning behind them. But the promise of added revenue was made the crowning glory of the fight to take the eighteenth amendment out of the constitution.

Those who cried out the loudest that prohibition was denying the federal government funds which it might well be receiving from the sale of legalized liquor failed to consider to what a large tax on this particular commodity may lead.

The governor's conference has put the question squarely before the federal government. Will the hope of large revenue cause Washington officials to open the way for crime on a nationwide scale?

This problem can be evaded a few more weeks, perhaps a few more months. But soon the nation must face it squarely. Will the federal government close the door on bootlegging, and thus prove wrong the men who predicted great revenues, or will it choose the dangerous, if more profitable, way?

College Education—In and Out of Classrooms

A GLANCE through the papers some morning presents a great deal of evidence that education at the University of Iowa is by no means confined to classroom lectures.

This refers, of course, to meetings and lectures, which offer a liberal education in themselves. In yesterday morning's DAILY IOWAN there were no less than a dozen such lectures and meetings scheduled on the campus.

Heading the list was a conference of social welfare workers. The inside pages tell of a club for radio amateurs, a lecture on air transportation development, a zoology seminar, a club for camera enthusiasts, and a coming university lecture by an outstanding British writer.

These are only a few of similar events scheduled every day, under the auspices of various departments, school, and colleges. Each meeting or lecture fills a definite need for students in a particular field, but it offers opportunities to other students which should not be overlooked.

It is something of a relief to get away from the "note-taking" atmosphere of the classroom, and to just sit and sop up information at an informal lecture or meeting.

The best known of the lecture series in the university are the university series, graduate college series, and the Baconian lectures. The attempt is made to present men in various fields, to give a broad view of things. Less important lectures and meetings are also of value, however.

The meetings and lectures are for the most part open to the public, and the wise student makes use of them. A word to the wise—

True to Form

(From The New York Times)

Kansas does business as a state under the inspiring motto, in Latin, "Through Rough Sledging to the stars." While the misguided farmers of some other states are going on strike, bucolic Kansas has the stars spread at her feet. Imperturbable, the state board of agriculture pursues its wonted way, amassing and emitting helpful information, reaching its glad and gladdening hand into every farmhouse. It has just published a book of three hundred pages on "The Wild Flowers of Kansas." There must be a tumultuous demand for such a work among the sons and daughters of the soil whose imperative seeds the board so happily supplies.

Irrespective of the treasures of indispenable knowledge it contains, the very look of it is a glimpse into Paradise without the snake. Read this all too brief review in The Jewell Republican:

Sunflowers on front cover and goldenrod on the back and description of every Kansas wild flower in between, many of them illustrated, with valuable glossary.

Unworthy of the strenuous legend of his Commonwealth, this Jeweller speaks in the voice of the sluggard:

A wild-flower garden would be interesting and you wouldn't have to sit up nights with it to coax it to grow.

The Wellington News plays the cynic and snaps at the helping bureaucratic hand:

What could be more heartening in a time of hunger and hardship than the wide distribution of a book on the wild flowers of Kansas? Unless it would be a book on the "Wild Spenders of Kansas" or one entitled "A Bond Salesman Loose in the State House."

In spite of these marble-hearted fiends, the gracious relief given by the Board of Agriculture will be appreciated by all who value

The Wild Flower wreath of feeling,
The Sunflower of the heart.

GOOD MORNING

"The turn of events in Washington makes transparently clear the pressure being exerted upon President Roosevelt by a very vocal and extremely aggressive radical group. The cry of this element is ever for HASTE. Policies which it has taken generations to build, methods which have been ripened by experience, and even institutions that are guaranteed by the constitution are to be ruthlessly scrapped in the name of EMERGENCY. We believe, in spite of the large amount of noise made by the radicals, that the great inarticulate mass of Americans have sufficient faith in the president's integrity of purpose and his loyalty to American institutions to be PATIENT as he seeks to remedy the harsh conditions produced by the worldwide depression. This great voiceless mass of citizens have not lost faith in the institutions of government created by the CONSTITUTION and handed down to us intact by succeeding generations of Americans. They are willing that emergency measures be applied in an effort to relieve suffering and restore confidence, but they do not believe it is necessary to SCUTTLE the constitution to achieve safety.

"It is of critical importance that this inarticulate body of public sentiment be made vocal. Constantly dinning in our ears are the cries of the radicals and the doctrinaires for remedies which either are untried or have failed wherever they have been put to the test. Rarely does any one raise the voice of prudence, for fear of being decried as an obstructionist to the program of recovery. At a time, however, when it is proposed upon radical and doctrinaire advice to change the ENTIRE CHARACTER of our national system and to substitute a quasi-dictatorship in finance, industry and agriculture, with all the perils inherent in so radical a change, it is high time for the thoughtful element to speak.

"A platform which would unite such a group in vigorous opposition to some of the fallacious doctrines now being pressed upon the administration must needs be simple and general in character. We believe that millions of Americans would align themselves under a banner which blazoned a return to CONSTITUTIONALISM and sound economic principles."—Front page editorial in The Chicago Daily News.

No one will deny that all this sounds very convincing and impressive, but I would defy anyone to explain what it means. To what "radical and doctrinaire advice" does it refer? If The Daily News has "sufficient faith in the president's integrity of purpose and his loyalty to American institutions to be PATIENT as he seeks to remedy the harsh conditions produced by the worldwide depression," then specifically at what is their broadside directed?

This editorial appeared on the day the RFC entered the market and bought its first gold under the president's newly inaugurated currency program. Was it directed at Prof. G. F. Warren of Cornell, who has been credited with the scheme? If that is the case, then it was directed just as definitely at the president, for this certainly is the president's program.

But perhaps it had nothing to do with President Roosevelt's determination to establish the dollar on a commodity basis. In that case, does it apply to the whole recovery program, which many reactionaries have termed anti-constitutional?

Any attempt to understand such a vigorous, yet such an ambiguous, outburst must take into account the policy of the Daily News since its acquisition by Colonel Knox.

The Daily News was, and is, a Republican paper. During the presidential campaign of 1932 it supported Mr. Hoover with all the vigor at its command, but when the victory went to Roosevelt it did what appeared a very noble thing. It announced almost immediately that it would give its unlimited support to the new president in his effort to bring the nation out of chaos, and it has kept that promise.

But the fact remains that The Chicago Daily News is an essentially conservative paper, and Republican. The tide of public opinion during the last few months has become not quite as unanimously optimistic toward the New Deal as it once appeared to be. Recovery has not come like a rabbit out of a magician's hat, as many expected it to do.

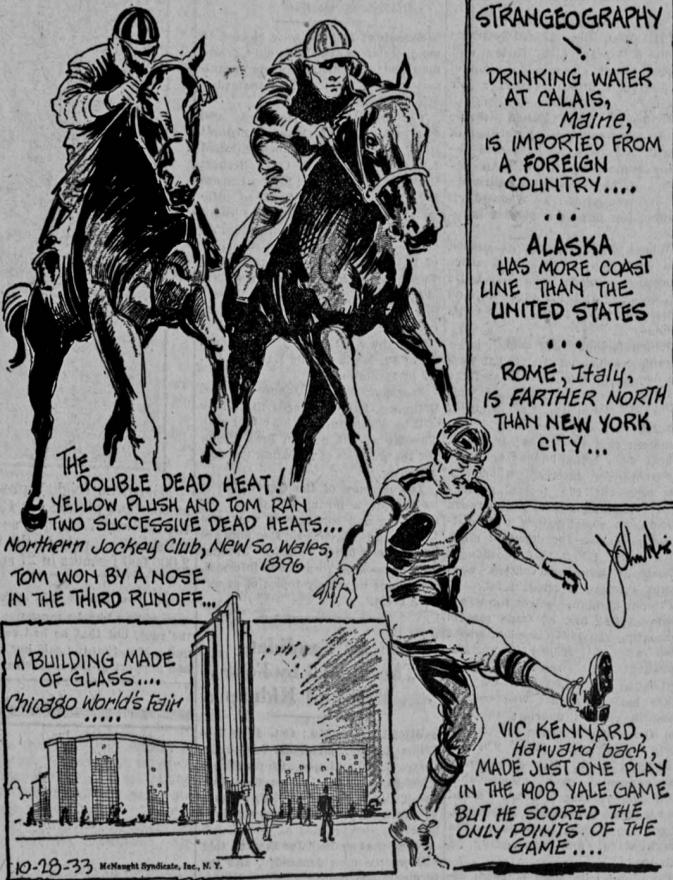

Is the Daily News' editorial the first blast in a drive for a Republican comeback? If so, it was admirably calculated. It catches at the one thing upon which the "inarticulate mass" is not yet certain—the constitutionality of the New Deal and its relation to the "principles of our fathers."

Is this the intention, to begin a slogan movement "back to the constitution?" One wonders whether The Daily News has not overestimated the reverence of the great "voiceless" multitude for "CONSTITUTIONALISM and sound economic principles," especially when these are presented as The Daily News presented them, merely as catch-words and slogans. One suspects that the American public will demand critics to offer something more stable than that.

BEHIND THE SCENES - IN HOLLYWOOD -

STUDIO GOSSIP

SCREEN COMMENT

HOLLYWOOD—Eight year old Marla, daughter of Marlene Dietrich, and Hollywood's most closely guarded child, will step momentarily from the shadow of her bodyguards to portray her own mother as a girl in "Scarlet Pagemaster."

This unusual experiment became assured yesterday when secret tests turned out satisfactory and when Miss Dietrich's consent finally had been obtained. The German star, at first, refused to let her little girl go before the camera. She yielded to Director Josef von Sternberg only when a search had failed to discover any young performer resembling the actress.

Maria's debut, naturally, will be a modest one. She appears briefly at the beginning of the film as the child, Catherine the Great. If the cutter's shears are kind to her, she will have a few spoken lines in the picture.

Full of the football fever and of opposing sympathies, Director Bill Howard and cameraman Hal Rosson were arguing bitterly over a bet on the clash between the University of Southern California and California at Berkeley. Rosson wanted U.S.C. and 14 points. Howard gave a derisive snort: "I know what you'll die of," he squeaked, "an enlarged heart."

Barring unforeseen developments, Adrienne Ames will get her divorce next Saturday. Just as I told you, Bruce Cabot will fly to Nevada for her and the two will stage an airplane elopement to the town of Carlsbad, N. M. The ceremony—they want the union to be as solemn as possible—will be performed in the little church where Bruce went as a boy and from where his father recently was buried.

QUICK GLIMPSES
The departure of Cary Grant on a two weeks' vacation starts hot rumors that he and Virginia Cherrill will be married before he returns to the studio. Cary smilingly denies them, as usual. Says he's going to put on a pair of old pants and make a motor trip. . . . George Raft's mother (few knew it but she's been out here four months) sailed for New York. . . . George bought her a fine new car and put it aboard the vessel. . . . One of the big film moguls registered a squawk about these kidnap insurance letters sent to the stars, so the district attorney's office turned on the heat. Sender is scheduled to appear before the grand jury. . . . Bets are even that Dorothy Dunbar will become reconciled to Max Baer and accompany him to San Francisco.

Local showmen are stirred by Tampico benefit performance which sold out and turned away 2,000 requests for tickets. Ramon Novarro, Dolores Del Rio and various other Latin stars appeared. Funny thing, Novarro offered Mexican numbers and the audience, many from that country, kept calling for "The Pagan Love Song." The star was called back for eight encores. . . . Bobbe Arnst's latest is Monroe Owsley. They were dancing to Gus Arnheim's swell music Sunday night at the Beverly Wilshire. . . . Dorothy Dunbar and Max Baer, Jeanne Howard and Charles Feldman, Patsy Parker and Bert Wheeler also in the crowd.

Mail Loot Recovered; Touhy Gang Involved
SALT LAKE CITY, Oct. 27 (AP)—Federal and police officials said today they have recovered the loot of a mail robbery here last April and have connected it with the Touhy gang, charged with mail robberies in Minneapolis and Sacramento, Cal.

The $12,000 in securities taken in the robbery of two clerks in a mail car at the Union Pacific station here was found in three holes along in the southwest section of this city. The officers said stolen mail pouches and a sawed off shotgun also were found and only $1,200 in money, which was part of the loot, was missing.

SEEN from Old Capitol

By TOM YOSELOFF

The conference of social welfare workers, which began here yesterday, holds a unique position. In these last few years, there have been conferences and conferences, and the usual situation is that the powers that be always expect and prepare for more persons than attend. Not so with the welfare workers. Emil Sunley and Bruce Mahan expected about 75 welfare administrators—and more than twice that many attended. The conference was voted a huge success!

Seen and heard at the conference dinner last night: The "massed throng" singing "We're From Low-ay, Low-ay," under the direction of an enthusiastic state singer... who made them sing it three times... "Oh, are we going to have chicken?"... "No, I used to work in Cleveland!"... "Why are conference dinners always 20 minutes late?"... And at that, it was a good thing that dinner was 20 minutes late, or a certain woman would have been unable to use her knives, forks, and spoons to diagram something she was telling a man who sat beside her...

The welfare workers evidently haven't lost their sense of humor, if one may judge by the many "after-dinner" jokes heard last night—and they were really funny. As a matter of fact, the prize for after-dinner joking, in my opinion, goes to Margaret Rich. Her opening joke was funny enough to repeat:

It seems that a certain Roman emperor, known as Nero, was given to amusing himself by watching lions devour Christians. Ordering the circus (stadium) to you to be prepared, he went out to watch the fun. A little, covering Christian was brought into the arena, and a huge ferocious lion was sent in. Nero leaned back in his seat in complete happiness. When the lion approached the man, however, the man whispered something in his ear, and the lion hung his head and beat a retreat. A more ferocious one was dragged in, and the performance was repeated. After the third trial, Nero ceased to be amused. He ordered the man to be brought to him, and offered him his freedom if he would explain what he had told the lion to make him retreat.

"Oh," says the Christian-with-the-new-lease-on-life, "I just said, 'after the repast, you'll be asked to say a few words' and the lion left." I suppose the Christian went free!

Former University Medical Student Dies

Dr. Charles Otis Yenerich, Rockford, graduate of the University of Iowa, died at the Mercy hospital, Mason City, after an illness of several years, it was learned here yesterday.
Dr. Yenerich was graduated from the college of medicine in 1910, and served his internship here. He located in Rockford the same year and had practiced there until his death.
Dr. Yenerich was active in many organizations, having been a commander of the American Legion Ivan C. Walker post.

Prof. Ruckmick to Speak on Religion

Prof. Christian A. Ruckmick of the psychology department will be a guest speaker at the Presbyterian church at 9:45 a.m. tomorrow.
Professor Ruckmick has chosen for his subject "A psychologist's viewpoint of religion." The Rev. W. P. Lemon is pastor of the church.

Funke to Talk on Germanics at Convention

Prof. Erich Funke, acting head of the German department, and secretary of the Germanic section of the Modern Language association, will give two talks at a meeting of the association Dec. 28-30 in St. Louis, Mo.
Professor Funke will read a paper in the modern German literature section on "Structural type of Dehmel's lyrical poetry."

In the section of practical phonetics he will show X-ray movies of speech organs, lungs, larynx, and mouth, which he secured in Germany recently. He will also speak in this section on the subject, "Practical phonetics in language teaching in Germany," and will give a report on the phonetical work in the university here.
Professor Funke has just finished the preparation of plans for the Germanic section of the association.

U. High Crushes Mt. Vernon; St. Pat's Win Over Kalona

Blue Snaps Into Action to Win, 28-0 Running, Passing Game Easily Downs Loop Rivals

By JACK GURWELL MT. VERNON, Oct. 27—University high hurdled another barrier in its march toward Eastern Iowa Eight title honors here this afternoon when the big Blue machine, functioning in spectacular style, completely put to route Mt. Vernon, 28 to 0.

This victory, coming in so convincing style after the lethargic game of last week when the river school boys were held to a scoreless tie game on Iowa field by Monticello, placed the conference title within reaching distance of Coach Joy Kistler's boys, reaching distance that is barred by the crack West Branch eleven, however, as the West Branch outfit dominated Monticello yesterday by a 7 to 0 score.

No Trouble at All Showing a complete reversal in form from the Monticello game last week, the big Blue team had little trouble pounding the Mt. Vernon line for gain after gain. Once again it was the powerful Lorenzo Fuhrmeister and the speed merchant, Bob Schnoebelen, that lead the attack. The two alone piled up a total of 275 of the 399 yards gained by rushing the Mt. Vernon outfit.

University high took the offensive immediately after the opening kickoff and with a whirlwind drive carried the ball 80 yards to the Mt. Vernon one yard line in 11 plays only to have the ball slip from Fuhrmeister's hands as he tried the line for the score. This slip nullified the remarkable line thrusts of Meyers, Schnoebelen, and Fuhrmeister.

Only a Seasoner But that drive was only a seasoner, left to simmer a while until along about the middle of the second quarter. Then University high got busy and within five minutes pushed over two touchdowns to lead 14 to 0 at the half.

With his back to his own goal line, Currant, Mt. Vernon quarterback, kicked to Meyers on the Mt. Vernon 35 yard line. Came Bob Schnoebelen through the Mt. Vernon left tackle for 21 yards. Fuhrmeister and Meyers chipped in a few more yards to the 2 yard line, and Schnoebelen again hit through the line for the first score. Only a few minutes later another poor kick by Currant, aided by a 15 yard penalty inflicted on Mt. Vernon for tackling Meyers after he had signaled for a fair catch, put the ball again in scoring territory. Schnoebelen picked up 2 yards and in 3 short thrusts, Fuhrmeister plunged across as the half ended.

Passed for Another With the line opening big holes, the river school boys started in again immediately after the half. Fuhrmeister, Meyers, and Schnoebelen pounded the ball the length of the field to the 11 yard line. Moved back by a penalty, Meyers rifled two passes to Schnoebelen, the second good for 12 yards and another touchdown.

Iowa City High Homecoming Spoiled by Dubuque, 20 to 7 Grinnell Falls to Bluejays by 6 to 0 Score

Victors Threaten Three Other Times But Are Penalized GRINNELL, Oct. 27 (AP)—Using tricky double reverse plays, the Creighton university football team scored the only touchdown of the game in the second quarter tonight to beat Grinnell 6 to 0, and put itself in second position in the Missouri Valley race.

On three occasions the Bluejays reached the scoring zone, only to be set back by long penalties. The touchdown came after a long pass from Gordon to Schmidt, placing the ball on the 15 yard line. Schmidt took the ball on a reverse and carried it over.

Topped by Gordon and Schmidt, the Bluejay ball carriers outgained the Pioneers 286 yards to 120. Both teams completed four passes, Creighton making 60 yards through the air and Grinnell 33. The Bluejays made nine first downs and Grinnell four.

Bradley and Bauer did the ball totting for the Pioneers, with the latter reeling off a number of gains of more than 10 yards. McKee, Pioneer end, was the outstanding lineman.

Iowa Defends Climb Today 5,000 Iowa Rooters to Cheer Efforts of Hawkeyes MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 26 (AP)—Those inspired Hawkeyes, who are up from the depths now and appear to enjoy higher Big Ten altitude, will try to maintain their soaring flight over the conference front at Memorial stadium Saturday.

Hopes of Iowa's young gallants, who have wrinkled the brows of experts and opposition coaches alike of late, aim to spoil an enthusiastic Minnesota homecoming party which has "shock Iowa" as a slogan.

Twice tied in the Big Ten and eager to set up a triumph, Minnesota seeks the favor of a crowd of 40,000 or more celebrants by upholding its pre-game distinction and taking down the Hawkeyes, who are on the wing with two circuit victories.

Largely on the basis of last week's triumph of Pittsburgh, the Gophers are coming back to conference competition as title contenders with Pug Lund and Julius Alfonso, hard hitting halfbacks, responsible for much of this reasoning.

Like Old Times to Solem When Iowa Meets Iowa State It will seem like old times to Coach Ossie Solem next Saturday when he sends another football team against an eleven from Iowa State college.

For, before he came to the University of Iowa last year, he coached for 11 seasons at Drake and each season had a game with Iowa State.

Solem-coached teams have a lead, 6 to 5, on elevens from Ames, but his last two games, in 1930 and 1931, were won by hair-graying scores of 20 to 19, and 7 to 6.

Games Today Will Answer Big Question Western Conference Race Tightens Today CHICAGO, Oct. 27 (AP)—The big, unsolved question of the Western conference championship football race will be answered at Minneapolis tomorrow when Minnesota will attempt to upset the fast stepping Hawkeyes of Iowa in the outstanding game of the day's schedule.

Heads Loop Frays While the Gophers and Hawks are tangling in their important conflict, Michigan, seeking to retain its Big Ten championship, will battle Chicago at Stagg field, Purdue's Boilermakers meet Wisconsin at Madison and figure to throw another boulder in the path of the Badgers.

Northwestern and Ohio State will fight it out at Columbus, Indiana and Illinois will take a deep breathing spell with an off day, with the Illini resting up to battle Michigan a week hence.

Minnesota, having demonstrated its power by bowling over the Pittsburgh Panthers a week ago, figures to have an edge on the Hawkeyes in the all-around excellence of Pug Lund, a triple threat star, and his supporting cast, a fleet backfield and a stout line plus slightly better reserves.

Must Prove Edge The edge is merely theoretical, however, because of the doubt concerning the real strength of the startling Hawkeyes. The Iowans may have the best team in the Big Ten, but they will have to prove it. The Hawkeyes have two slashing stars in the veteran back, Joe Laws, and a newcomer, Dick Crayne, playing his first year on the team.

Both Minnesota and Iowa have a powerful line with big, fast backs who can run or block. Both teams use similar styles of offense and defense because the rival coaches, Ossie Solem of Iowa and Bernie Bierman of Minnesota, were formerly Minnesota stars under Dr. Harry L. Williams.

Gibbs Leads Mates With Touchdowns Little Hawks Drive 75 Yards for Their Only Marker

By KERMIT BUNTROCK Dubuque led with a black "ace" last night and spoiled Iowa City high's Homecoming, 20 to 7. Theatrice Gibbs, Dubuque's Negro "midnight express" raced over the goal line for his team's first two touchdowns and was a big factor in scoring the third.

Gibbs Opens Up The Blue and White tide, with a long list of victories behind them, lost no time in starting their offensive last night. Gibbs returned Norgaard's opening kick to his own 30 yard line, from where the river school marched 70 yards for a score in 12 plays, with Gibbs driving over from the five yard line. The Dubuque drive was aided by a 25 yard pass from Barron to Schauer.

The visitors' second score came after a break had given them the ball on the Iowa City 12 yard line when a Dubuque punt hit on end and ran into Mutchler, who was playing safety, before he could jump aside. Dubuque recovered the ball.

Barron advanced two yards, Bock made four more and then on the opening play of the second quarter Gibbs dashed wide around his own left end for a touchdown without being touched. Bock failed to make the extra point on a line plunge.

It was here that Dubuque second team went in and set the stage for the lone Iowa City score. Taking the ball on their own 25 yard line on downs, the Little Hawks drove down the field 75 yards without losing possession of the oval.

Little Hawks Score Marshall swung around his own right end for 15 yards to start the march. It was Marshall again for five yards and then Jamison romped through the line for 10 more, advancing the ball to the Dubuque 45 yard line. After Marshall had lost a yard and failed to connect on a pass, Mutchler dropped back and rifled a pass to Marshall for another first down on the 35 yard line. A ruled interference on another pass sent the Little Hawks to the 15 yard line. Marshall made four yards, then six and on the next play passed wide to Ballard over the goal for a touchdown. Marshall plunged for the extra point.

Revived by its score, Iowa City started a drive early in the second half, but this went awry when Mutchler's pass was intercepted on the Dubuque 35 yard line. A third drive was stopped midway in the final quarter by a fumble after the Red and White had flashed a versatile attack to advance the ball into Dubuque territory.

Spark Plug Gibbs The flashy Gibbs furnished the vital spark in the Dubuque backfield but his work was closely paralleled by that of Barron and another speed merchant halfback and by that of a hard charging line that opened wide holes for the yardage jaunts of the backs.

Record Crowd of 2,500 Iowa Fans Will Attend Game A record crowd of more than 2,500 University of Iowa football fans left for Minneapolis yesterday afternoon and last night to witness the Hawkeye-Minnesota game this afternoon.

The crowd, the largest in recent years to accompany a Hawkeye team to foreign soil, turned to ears, for the most part, for locomotion to Minneapolis. Only a few of the fans accompanied the team on its special train which left yesterday morning from Cedar Rapids.

The Iowa squad of 33 players entrained at 8 o'clock yesterday morning and was scheduled to arrive in Minneapolis in time for a final workout in the Minnesota Memorial stadium.

Iowa Hill and Dalers Down Carls, 24-33 Dave Flage Nosed Out of Win by Moreau, Carl Ace (Special to The Daily Iowan) NORTHFIELD, Minn., Oct. 27—Displaying unexpected team strength, the University of Iowa's cross country team handed the Carleton hill and dalers a 24 to 33 defeat here today.

Dave Flage, leading Hawkeye runner, was nosed out for first place honors by Moreau, Carleton ace, when the Carleton runner turned in a dazzling sprint in the last 200 yards to close in a 20 yard lead and win by two yards. His time was exceptionally fast, winning in 15:20.7.

Two Iowa runners, McElroy and Wisgerhof, finished second and third, followed by Schacht and Larson of Carleton, Schlaser and Campisi of Iowa finished sixth and seventh.

An illustrated lecture on national and Olympic champions was given by the Iowa coach, George T. Bresnahan, president of the N.C.A.A., here tonight.

Injury Ridden Iowa Staters Play Missouri AMES, Oct. 27 (AP)—Severely hampered by injuries but hopeful of entering the Big Six scoring column for the first time this year, Iowa State's football squad took a brief limbering up drill today in preparation for the homecoming game with Missouri tomorrow.

Theophilus was pronounced definitely out with a bad ankle, and Lichter, center, may not be able to play the full game. Williams and Winter, backs, will not be in the best of shape because of leg injuries.

Ohio State Senior Classmen Protest Game Broadcaster Express Confidence in Sam Willaman and His Staff COLUMBUS, Ohio, Oct. 27 (AP)—On the eve of their homecoming game with Northwestern, 20 senior classmen on the Ohio State university football team today issued a statement attacking a state representative and former Ohio assistant coach and demanding he be barred from broadcasting the game over the school's station.

At the same time, the 20 players expressed confidence in Head Coach Sam Willaman and his staff. Yesterday Athletic Director L. W. St. John also expressed confidence in Willaman's ability.

In a brief statement, the players asserted they did not believe in "fitting and proper" that State Representative Grant Ward, a local sports writer, "be allowed to broadcast the homecoming game as the unofficial voice of the university."

Ward, who has broadcast home games for the last three years on the university's own radio station, could not be reached for comment. Ward was line coach at Ohio State under Dr. John Wilce and in 1925, when the latter resigned, was not rehired.

For the last two years, Ward has been conducting a campaign to oust Willaman as director of football by attacking his policies and coaching ability. The campaign reached its peak this week when, writing in the Ohio State Journal, he criticized the coaching staff for the team's failure to defeat Michigan. In one article he said, "Willaman is just another football coach . . . and for more reasons than one the writer is of the opinion that he has out-lived his usefulness as coach at Ohio State university."

In the same article Ward hinted that he would institute a legislative investigation into the activity of the athletic department unless Willaman was replaced.

The action by the Ohio State squad, taken at a secret meeting, was the first of its kind in the history of the school. Director St. John explained the athletic department had no authority over the radio station and referred them to President Rightmire, who withheld comment temporarily.

Eastern Array of Games Add to Spicy Dish Alabama at Fordham, Army at Yale, to Top Program NEW YORK, Oct. 27 (AP)—Eastern spices add the high touch of flavor to the nation's football dish tomorrow as the West, the Midwest and the south gorge for the day on the solid, substantial standbys of midseason.

Bama Rolls While the undefeated Crimson tide of Alabama rolls into the Polo grounds for intersectional battle with Fordham's unconquered Rams, the Army marches on Yale, Dartmouth's ever dangerous Indians tackle Harvard and New York university moves against unbeaten Georgia at Athens.

Two of the east's mightiest move into the Midwest to add intersectional color to a day devoted otherwise in the plains country to mop-up over loose ends in the Big Ten struggle and further clearing of the way toward the Big Six championship.

Notre Dame at Pitt Pittsburgh's Panthers, unexpectedly whipped last week by Minnesota, return for revenge against the sorriest Notre Dame eleven South Bend has seen since the death of Knute Rockne. Syracuse, so far undefeated, was against Michigan State, one of the two Midwest elevens to whip the upstate New Yorkers last fall. Vengeance already has been visited upon Ohio Wesleyan by Syracuse.

With Ohio State, considered the greatest obstacle to Michigan's path to a second straight conference title, wiped out of contention last Saturday, the Wolverines concentrate on Chicago, less robust opponent. Purdue is paired with Wisconsin and Minnesota with Iowa in two hard matches.

Trojans Threatened Now that Oregon State has shown that Howard Jones' Southern California Trojans can be held even, California's Golden Bears are hopeful of victory for the first time since 1929 in the leading engagement on the Pacific coast. Stanford is slightly favored to beat Washington while U.C.L.A. and Oregon look in an even duel in two other far western headlines.

Nebraska, moving steadily along toward another Big Six title, encounters Oklahoma while Kansas and Kansas State, advancing from the opposite side, fight each other to preserve their title chances. Missouri and Iowa State, both beaten, complete the Big Six fixture in a consolation tussle.

Dear Old Altus Bolstered by 7 Sets of Brothers ALTUS, Okla. (AP)—Altus should have a great fraternal spirit on its high school football team. There are seven sets of brothers on the squad. They are Wayne and J. G. Garrison, Earl and James Pitt, Luther and Lester Strickland, Charles and Howard Kimble, Raymond and J. D. Pendergrass, James and Jack Baicum, and Bailey and Joe Lynn Ford.

Toomey Intercepts Pass to Race 25 Yards for Score Exhibiting an astounding reversal of form, a crafty, alert St. Pat's football team which fought tooth and nail for every advantage and followed the ball with hawk-like tenacity, turned viciously on a stunned Kalona eleven at Iowa field yesterday to register its first win of the year by a 6 to 0 score.

To those who had followed the fortunes of the Irish during the current season, the showing of the Green was startling, and pleasantly so, for the team played with a zest and drive that was entirely missing in previous encounters. Confident and aggressive, the St. Pat's took the offensive at the start of the second quarter, punched across a touchdown, and sent the Kalona eleven reeling on the defense for the remainder of the game.

Brilliant Backfield It remained for Toomey, a full-back whose work had been below par all season, to shake the Shamrocks out of their lethargy with a magnificent 25 yard runback of an intercepted Kalona pass in the second quarter for the only score of the contest. The Irish fullback was brilliant yesterday, carrying the brunt of the attack, and crashing the line with drive and power that no one realized he possessed.

After a slow first quarter marked by the repeated exchange of punts, Hogan returned Grady's boot to its Kalona 32 yard line, midway in the second period. The St. Pat's fullback picked up a yard at center, but Healy's pass was grounded and another try at the line failed. Expecting a punt on the fourth down the Kalona secondary relaxed its vigilance, and taking advantage of this formation, the Irish unfolded a brilliant lateral pass play, Hogan to Toomey, who twisted his way to the 14 yard line, where Kalona braced and took the ball on downs on its own 17 yard stripe.

Toomey Scores Grady, standing in punt formation, attempted to catch the Irish napping on the next play, and rifled a pass intended for Benell, Kalona end, but Toomey swept up from the rear, leaped into the air, gathered the pigskin in his arms on the 5 yard line, and headed for the Kalona goal, his powerful legs seeing away at the necessary yardage. Three times, he was hit by Grant and Black tacklebacks, but he shook them off much in the manner of a charging bull and crossed the goal line standing up. It was the first St. Pat touchdown of the season. An attempted line buck for the extra point failed.

Not satisfied in the least by the initial fruits of their offensive play, the Ryan-coached gridlers struck out again for the Kalona goal, pounding their way to the 2 yard line when the termination of the half halted further play.

Brady Battled Effectively The Kalona team, on the other hand, seldom penetrated Irish territory, but uncovered a genius triple-threat back in Grady, whose punting, plunging and passing were faultless. However, the failure of the visitors to shake their star loose, reduced the effectiveness of their attack to a minimum.

The game, as a whole, was bitterly fought, McNamara, Irish halfback, being ejected during a fight in the third quarter. The Kalona team in general was weak in handling the ball, a practice it could ill afford, with the Irish following the pigskin in sensational fashion to recover no less than four fumbles in as many chances, and taking possession of the ball for the major part of the game.

Alabama and Georgia Bring Southern Flavor to Gotham

N. Y. U., Fordham to Meet Southerners in Conflicts

ATLANTA (AP)—The two most successful southern football teams in intercollegiate games — Georgia and Alabama—take on a pair of Manhattan's best—New York university and Fordham—in outstanding conflicts today.

An easy mark a year ago, Georgia has developed into a strong squad and is one of the two unbeaten and undefeated teams in the Southeastern conference.

In the last four years Georgia has won two games from New York university and lost two. This season's annual combat will be waged at Athens, Ga., and southern fans are offering their cash on Georgia.

This confidence is born of a hard-charging line and a fast set of backs with lots of fine material to back up the front line. Those Georgia fans who study figures take encouragement from the fact that Violets lost their first game and had a hard time defeating Lafayette.

The Alabama-Fordham engagement in New York will bring together eleven coached by two students of the late Knute Rockne, "Sleepy Jim" Crowley, the new mentor at Fordham, was one of the "Four Horsemen" at Notre Dame in 1924. Frank Thomas, the Alabama coach, was a Notre Dame quarterback a few years earlier. Recent years have seen Alabama win five and tie one intercollegiate game. Last year the Crimson Tide defeated St. Mary's 6 to 0 in the only game scheduled outside the Southeastern conference.

But this season has found the team apparently lacking in its old-time might. Mississippi, far from the higher brackets in the conference, tied Alabama in an early season game, much to the surprise of everybody who follows football. More recently Mississippi State, another of the weaker conference members, held the Crimson Tide to a score no better than 18 to 0.

Haskell Coach Used Original Method of Stimulating Guard

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP)—How he cured a lazy but able guard on an early-day Carlisle Indian football squad is among the prize stories recounted by Gus Welch, new head coach at Haskell Institute.

"Just as soon as we scored that guard would quit," Welch said, "until the other team scored on us. So I took to kicking him in the pants during each game, and he thought the other team was responsible and played like a whirlwind. "In the final game, though, when he had to have every man at his best, he refused to respond to the shoe.

Connie Mack Denies Sale of Star Men

Critics Believe Connie Partial to Various Player Deals

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 27 (AP)—Old man rumor is again selling the star performers of the Philadelphia Athletics but Connie Mack says the buyers and traders have not taken him in on the deals.

The latest reports have it that the A's are selling Robert Moses Grove, left handed pitching ace, for $200,000, Second Baseman Max Bishop and possibly another pitcher.

All during the last playing season Connie Mack denied reports of the impending sale of this or that player. They included such stars as Catcher Mickey Cochrane and Jimmy Foxx, major home run king and American league batting champion.

"There's nothing to the report about Grove," said Mack. "Tomorrow it will be somebody else. We'll have our whole club sold before the season starts. I hope they get plenty of money for us in these trades. We need it."

During the season Jimmy Foxx was reported to be on his way down the river for a huge sum, but the Maryland farmer kept right on batting out home runs for the A's.

Recently Mickey Cochrane appeared in Detroit and reports floated into Mack's office in Shibe park tower that the catcher was about to be made manager of the Tigers.

"I won't be put on the spot," said Mack today commenting on all the reports. "I will not say I will or will not do this or that in the future for I do not know what the future holds for us. But right now there has been no sale, deal or trade for any member of my team."

In baseball circles it was believed that Mack is willing to make some changes before next season. This was based on a remark by him today that "of course, I would not pass up an advantageous deal if one came along."

Sooners Meet Fast Huskers

Game Heads Big Six Bill; Missouri at Ames

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 27 (AP)—Oklahoma's Sooners, preponderantly sophomores, go up against the experienced Nebraska Cornhuskers at Lincoln tomorrow in the main go of the Big Six football program.

Nebraska, with victories over Iowa State and Kansas State, shares the conference percentage leadership with Oklahoma, which defeated Iowa State last Saturday in its first time out this season in conference play.

Kansas State and Kansas, both defeated last week end, the latter by Tulsa university, tangle at Lawrence in the Jayhawkers conference debut.

The Jayhawkers, powerful on defense, stake their hopes on the possibility that the latent power that lurks in their backfield will be converted into touchdowns.

Missouri and Iowa State, lodged in last place with one defeat apiece, collide at Ames for a renewal of rivalry that began with an Iowa State victory in 1895. Missouri has won 12 times since then to the Cyclones 11.

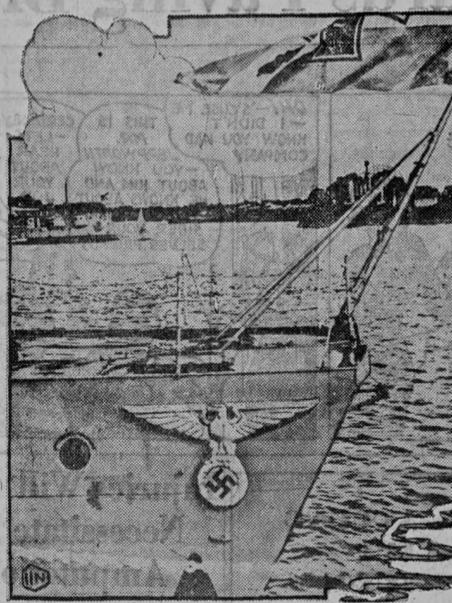

Frank Carideo's Missourians have the Cyclones shaded on paper, because they appear on the upgrade due to a good stand against St. Louis university last Saturday.

held down by veterans with the exception of one guard post, that of Bill Secl's. Secl is one of four sophomore regulars on the Hawk team. Radloff and Foster, both big men, will take care of the tackle positions, while Jim Dee, veteran tackle of two years ago, will be at his customary end position.

Solem will counteract the Gopher ball carrying threats with two top aces of his own, Joe Laws and Dick Crayne. Laws, quarterback, is the shiftest runner on the Iowa team, besides being an accurate passer and excellent field general. Crayne ripped the Northwestern line to shreds and his long punts kept the Wisconsin team constantly on the defensive.

An aerial attack, long a deficiency with Iowa teams, was uncovered last week in the Badger game with the combination of Hoover to Fisher being responsible for one touchdown and a great aid in a second. Hoover and Fisher are both sophomores, and fine defensive players. Hoover never carries the ball, confining his activities to passing and blocking. He is the best blocker seen in an Iowa uniform since the days of Mike Farrah. If the thrusts and end runs of Laws and Crayne fail, Coach Solem has another great ball carrier in Fisher, who piled up plenty of yardage at Northwestern.

For the first time in many years, Iowa has a crop of reserves that can be depended upon to fill regulars' vacancies with little or no loss of power. Hawkins, Gallagher, Liggett, Kouba, and Hass are all capable guards, while the mammoth Hoffman can fill in at either tackle position.

Two veteran ends of last year are included in the reserves, Swaney and Ray Fisher. Both are excellent defensive men.

George Teyro, regular quarterback of last year, stands ready to fill in the shoes of Laws should necessity demand, while Ash is a good fullback replacement. Schneidman and Richards have both had experience this year at the half-back posts, while Rook or Kuhn can fill in either at half or full.

Not all of the 45,000 fans at tomorrow's game will be rooting for the Gophers to "shock Iowa" for some 2,500 Iowans have traversed the distance in the hopes of seeing the Hawkeys register their third straight conference win and thus continue their title trail.

Should the field be muddy the long punts of Crayne give Iowa a big advantage over the Gophers. The Fairfield sophomore just came in on his own last week on his punting and is expected to keep his fine form in tomorrow's contest.

THAT'S MY BOY!

SYNOPSIS

"Big Jeff" Randolph, now in his second year on the Thorndyke varsity and one of the nation's greatest football stars, has had a brilliant grid career ever since his high school days in little Athens, a mid-west factory town, where Mom and Pop and the rest of the family are now listening over the radio to the game between their boy's great eastern university and Indiana State. "Big Jeff" is just Tommy back home which he visits on vacations and starts with his social-sartorial splendor. He's gone somewhat high-hat with the seal of Thorndyke upon him and has drifted away from Dorothy Whitney, daughter of the richest man in Athens—the owner of the glass-works in which his Pop labors. "Big Jeff" stars in the victory over Indiana State, 7-0, which game was witnessed by the Whitneys and heard via radio by Mom, Pop, Uncle Louie and the neighbors. . . . At the Stadium, "Jeff" introduces Miss Whitney, his high school sweetheart, to Elaine Winthrop, his college crush. The erstwhile little Tommy affecting a broad English accent. . . . Back home Uncle Louie banked his hopes for the postmaster on Al Smith, but you know what happened in '28. . . . Mom, and even Pop, felt sorry. . . . Athens plans to banquet its great grid hero during Christmas vacation and Pop is invited to make a speech on that occasion. . . .

CHAPTER TWENTY-FOUR

Then Mom told him he'd better be careful because it wasn't supposed to be that kind of a speech but just to talk about Tommy; but Pop got up and began to walk around and think of other things he would tell them because one of the things wrong with this country was that people were afraid to speak up to the monied people and that this time they were going to hear plenty from a man who wasn't afraid to tell them. He'd tell them about the eight-hour day and about the bullsheevicks that were ruining the country and how they should all be sent back to the old country.

"No," said Mom, almost crying, "you'll disgrace us all and Tommy, too, and everybody will get mad." Then Pop began to get mad at Mom and said she was like all the rest, afraid of the reform people; and he'd tell the Booster Club too, what he thought of them and that what the town needed was some men with good business heads; and he'd tell the Chamber of Commerce about spying on a man and how much money he owed and all that. Pop had wanted to tell them all that he thought for a long time and this was his chance and nobody was going to stop him.

and Pop said Uncle Louie had been going to sue somebody all his life but had never sued anybody yet because he was afraid to set his foot in a court room for fear he'd never get out.

Mom got them quieted down and finally Pop said he hadn't really meant that Uncle Louie was a crook because if he was he'd have something to fall back on instead of wasting his life waiting for the Democrats to get in; and Uncle Louie said Pop wasn't so smart himself or he'd have his own home and Pop said there was a good reason for that; and Uncle Louie said if he wasn't welcome around there he wouldn't stay and Pop said he could suit himself.

Then they both got quiet and Mom brought in some coffee and cake and they all had some.

"Anyhow," Pop started again, "how could you make a speech when you've never even been invited?"

"I was invited to banquets in this town before you knew what a banquet was," Uncle Louie said.

Then they got started again and Mom couldn't stop them but, as luck happened, Pete came in then. "Pipe down," he said, "before the fire department comes up and turns the hose on both of you!"

Then they did quiet down and went to bed.

"Were the neighbors listening?" Mom asked Pete.

"Who cares?" Pete said. "We're paying the rent."

But the next day, at Butcher Brown's, Mom knew they had been listening; for no sooner had she come in than Mrs. Johnson asked: "Was somebody sick at your house last night, Miss Randolph? I thought I heard a noise."

"Oh," Mom said, "that was Jim practicin' his speech, I guess. I told him maybe he was talking too loud because the neighbors around are easily disturbed." How did she like that?

"My," said Mrs. Johnson, "sounds like a big affair. What're you going to wear?"

"I don't know," Mom said, "I hadn't given it a thought. . . . A bunch of soup greens, too, Butcher."

The door slammed. Mrs. Farrell was going home.

Mom smiled to herself. Mrs. Johnson wrinkled up the end of her nose and nodded. "Some people," she said, "is jealous whenever anybody else gets anything. I was never that way."

"Me neither," said Mrs. Flannigan, "it'd be just the same with me if it was my Buddy come home from the Navy and they was to give him a big banquet."

"Tommy's all right," Mrs. Johnson said, "and I never believed any of the things they said about him."

Mom said quickly: "What do you mean? What could they say about my Jeff?"

"Oh, about him bein' high-hat and too good for anybody else around and all that."

"Huh!" Mom said, a little fiercely, "some people are just mad because everybody don't lay down in the gutter with them." And she hoped Mrs. Johnson knew who she meant—nobody else but her Florrie, coming in at all hours of the night with different fellows and their autos making a racket and waking up people who had to work for a living.

"Well," said Mrs. Johnson, "I guess I'll be going."

Mom watched her go straight over to Mrs. Farrell's house. Mrs. Flannigan watched her, too. Then Mrs. Flannigan said: "You told her just right—I wonder who the new one is with that fancy car?"

"You mean the yellow car with red trimmings?" Mom said.

Mrs. Flannigan gasped. "My lands—that must be another new one; when did you see that one?"

"Only last night," Mom said. "Louie was having a spell with his stomach and I was up getting him some hot water and I heard them drive up."

"What did they do?"

"I don't know, I wasn't watching—it'd keep a person busy if you tried to keep track of that one; and it's no business of mine anyhow; but the car stood there a long time because Louie was worse than usual and I wasn't asleep yet when I heard it roar and go away."

"I must have been sleeping sound," said Mrs. Flannigan.

"You must have," Mom agreed, and she meant it because there were few things that Mrs. Flannigan missed around that neighborhood, night or day, to say nothing of that sharp-nosed daughter of hers, Myrtle, who had never yet got over it because Mom dealt with Julius.

"It was all I could do," Mom went on, "to keep Jim from yelling out the window at them—and you know the way Jim sleeps."

Mrs. Flannigan smiled sympathetically. "Do I?" she said, "fire one night I thought it was the fire whistle and here it was only your mister snoring—of course he works hard. Well, I'll have to go get my beans on or Pa'll be home before dinner's ready and say I've been out gossipin' again."

"Yes," Mom answered, "I hear him sometimes—not that I'm listenin', Mis' Flannigan; but he does have a fine loud voice."

"Yes," Mrs. Flannigan said, "well, I've got to get my beans on—and them potatoes the Butcher is sellin' now are like bricks to cook."

Mom stood at the window and watched her go down the street toward her own house and then cut straight across to Mrs. Farrell's.

City Council Awards Paving Bid to Horrabin Contracting Firm

Councilmen Accept Lone Bid Submitted

Purchase New Truck for Engineering Department

The contract for paving a block on Harrison street at a cost of $3,120.61 was awarded to the William Horrabin Contracting company last night by the city council. A new truck for the engineering department was purchased from the Nall Chevrolet company and a resolution of necessity to construct sidewalks on four streets was approved.

Lone Bidder
The Horrabin company submitted the only bid for the paving of Harrison street between Linn and Gilbert streets. Work on the project will begin next week if the weather is favorable.

Bids on the truck were submitted by three companies: Gartner Motor company, Dodge truck, $515; Burkett-Updegraff Motor company, Ford truck, $448; and Nall Chevrolet company, Chevrolet truck, $415. The old Dodge truck of the city is to be traded in on the new car with all of the bids being the price required on the trade-in. The council voted five to one to accept the Nall company bid. The other bid was for the Dodge truck. Alderman S. M. Woodward was absent.

To Open Bids
Bids for sidewalks on the north side of Kirkwood court in front of lot 8, the south side of East avenue from Dearborn street east to the alley, the north side of River street from sidewalk in place to Riverside drive, and the west side of Linn street from the sidewalk in place south to sidewalk in place on the north side of Prentiss street, will be opened Nov. 10. Construction of the sidewalks is to start Nov. 15, and is to be completed by Dec. 1. An objection to the sidewalk on River street, filed by Amelia, Otto J., Ira L., and Oral C. Sorrenson, was received and placed on file.

Allow Bill
Bills allowing the law firm of Popham and Hayek $137 for fees and expenses in the Theta Xi fraternity taxation case tried before the supreme court recently and allowing City Attorney Thomas E. Martin $4.94 for expenses in the case were approved by the council.

The request of State Senator Paul W. Schmidt for a stop light on the Dubuque and Burlington streets intersection was received and placed on file. The council voted to give $25 to the Merchants bureau for street decorations for the fall holidays.

Grant Request
The request of the Roy L. Chopek post to change its class B club beer permit to a class B retail permit was granted. The claim of Chris Reynolds for exemption from poll tax was disallowed. Bonds for signs of the Butterfly Cafe, 1221 E. College street, the Red Ball store, Dubuque and College streets, and the Merchants bureau for street decorations were all approved.

The council voted that the financing of the community school for the unemployed be commended to the school board and service clubs. The council adjourned until Nov. 10.

Hoppe Rites to Be Held at Sharon

Funeral service for Mrs. Elizabeth Hoppe, 43, who committed suicide Thursday by taking poison, will be held at 3:30 p. m. tomorrow at the German Lutheran church at Sharon with the Rev. A. C. Proehl officiating. Burial will be in the Sharon cemetery.

Mrs. Hoppe is survived by her husband, Ferdinand, farmer living eight and a half miles west of Iowa City; an adopted son, Horace; two sisters, Mrs. Maggie Bullman of Waukon and Mrs. Ida Hedges of Iowa City; three brothers, William Amelon of Iowa City, Otto Amelon of Mankato, Minn., and Charles Amelon of Windham; and her father, Charles Amelon of Muscatine.

Dr. George Maresch, county coroner, who was called to the home, said no inquest would be held. Mrs. Hoppe left a note indicating that ill health motivated her act.

Rufus H. Fitzgerald Will Discuss Plans

Rufus H. Fitzgerald, director of the school of fine arts, will speak to members of the Chamber of Commerce at their regular meeting Monday noon. Director Fitzgerald will discuss plans for the fine arts building which will be built west of the Iowa river across from the Iowa Union late this fall.

Plans for other parts of the university building program, which include a new law dormitory and repairs on other buildings, will also be discussed.

Sigma Kappa House Changed to New Hotel

An apartment hotel for women, to be called the Town and Gown apartment hotel, will be made of the Sigma Kappa sorority house, 815 E. Burlington street, it was announced yesterday by Nell E. Harris, proprietor of the Town and Gown Tea room.

The apartment hotel, which will be opened in about a month, will accommodate 30 guests. The hotel is the first of its type in Iowa City. The house, which was built three years ago and is one of the most modern in Iowa City, is being redecorated and refurnished. The first floor, consisting of three large living rooms and a sunporch, will be used as a lounge. There is a large fireplace in one of the rooms. Newspapers and magazines will be provided for the reading room.

Dining room service will be available for those who wish to have their meals in the house and a recreation room will be equipped with ping pong and card tables. The upper two floors will be used for the private rooms of guests.

Garages and parking space for cars of the guests will be provided on the rear of the lot. Miss Harris will also continue the management of the Town and Gown Tea room.

County Taxpayers Hear State Officials

State Senator Paul W. Schmidt and State Representative LeRoy S. Mercer, both of Iowa City, will address the Johnson County Taxpayers league at 1:30 this afternoon at the court house.

Senator Schmidt will explain "Why I think the Beatty-Bennett law should be repealed," and Representative Mercer will talk on "How can we reduce taxes on real estate?" An open discussion will follow the talks.

Veterans Urged to Register at Once

Officials of the National Re-employment league have requested that all ex-service men who have not registered do so at once. The league has its headquarters on the second floor of the post office building.

Judged Insane
CEDAR RAPIDS (AP)—County Attorney G. K. Thompson dismissed a murder charge against Mrs. Bernard Hoffer, 27, and she was committed to the state mental hospital at Independence by the Linn county sanity commission. She was arrested Monday after she allegedly shot and killed her four months old son as he lay in his crib.

AROUND THE TOWN with DICK FAGAN

To Minnesota
Iowa Citizens were going north yesterday and last night to watch the flashy Hawkeyes battle with the towering bronco-crushers at the Minnesota Homecoming. "Gigosh, I hope they wallop the Swedes," was the opening wedge into any conversation in town.

Parade of Pop
Headed by the new, smartly stepping marching band Iowa City high school students paraded downtown yesterday. The parade was even longer and peppier than those staged thus far by the university students—but if Iowa wins today!

If Officer Wesley Sedivec gets an invention, which he is planning, completed the motoring world will be forever indebted to him. Someone has been taking gas out of his car at night while it was parked near his home. A gadget which will let out a noise like a wolf in agony when the tank is being drained is suggested by some members of the police force.

Taxes
State Senator Paul W. Schmidt and State Representative LeRoy Mercer will speak this afternoon at the court house on questions of tax revision.

Jessup Gives Address to Methodist Group on Relief Responsibility

Charity work formerly carried on by the church is now being done by state and local relief organizations, said President Walter A. Jessup, in an address entitled, "We are our brother's keeper," before a Methodist Brotherhood dinner last night. The ideas of the church have been adopted by society as a whole, he said.

President Jessup told of the Institute on Relief Administration session, which was held in Old Capitol yesterday afternoon, in which nearly 200 social workers discussed problems and new methods. The new codes and policies of fair dealing had their origin in the teachings of the church, said President Jessup. We are coming to realize more and more that "we are our brother's keeper."

Petition Filed in District Court for Claims in Accident

Judgment of $2,135 each is asked by William Daly against Bennet G. Rohret and Cecilia Healy in a petition filed yesterday in district court. Daly claims he suffered sprains, permanent injury to his left arm and shoulder, and the reinjury of a healed hernia, when he was struck by the Healy car Feb. 7, on Newton road at a point opposite the state Children's hospital. The petition states that at the time of the accident the Healy car was being pushed by a car driven by Rohret. Daly is represented by Byington and Rate, Rohret by William Hart, and Healy by J. M. Otto.

Location of County Corn Husking Meet Changed to Klaus'

The location of the Johnson county corn husking contest, to be held Tuesday at 10 a. m., has been changed from the Joseph B. Miller farm to the John Klaus farm. The Klaus farm is situated about seven and a half miles south of Iowa City on highway No. 1. Entrants in the contest to date are: Arthur Schuessler of Lone Tege, Omar Terhune of West Branch, John Jensen, RFD 6, Iowa City; Harry J. Jansen of Lone Tree, Edward McCullough of Lisbon, and Francis Bigley of North English. As many as 10 contestants may enter, but the contest will be held if six are present.

Injuries Will Necessitate Amputation

C. A. Paulus, Lincoln township farmer, is recovering today at Mercy hospital from injuries which will make necessary the amputation of his left arm. Mr. Paulus also suffered injuries about the head, neck, chest, and shoulders when he was drawn into the power take-off of a tractor attached to a corn husking machine on his farm Wednesday morning.

Amputation of the left arm just above the elbow is necessary because of the badly mangled condition of the hand and arm in which gangrene had set in. It is thought that the danger of pneumonia, due to exposure, is past.

The accident occurred when Mr. Paulus reached back to release a lever, his mitten or sleeve catching in the power take-off of the tractor drawing him into the machinery. He was saved from bleeding to death because his body twisted in such a way that the blood vessels were shut off. The tractor stalled when Mr. Paulus' clothing became entangled in the gears.

The accident occurred at the far end of an 80 acre field and nearly an hour elapsed before help could be summoned to take him from the machine.

Gertrude Paulus, a nurse in the City hospital at Ypsilanti, Mich., is on her way here to care for her father.

Plends Guilty DAVENPORT (AP)—Pleading guilty to a charge of murder in the second degree, Bert G. Smith of LeClaire, was sentenced to 30 years in the Ft. Madison penitentiary. He was charged with shooting his wife to death.

Local Church Will Accept Students as Affiliate Members

Because of the large number of students who have expressed a desire to become affiliate members of the Presbyterian church this Sunday at the communion service, the general assembly of the church has made arrangements to make membership possible for those who wish to identify themselves temporarily with the church but do not wish to sever relations with their home church.

Paul Laube, student representative on the session, and the Rev. W. P. Lemon have invited all who wish to join the church to attend the service tomorrow.

Prof. Christian A. Ruckmick will speak on "A psychologist's view of religion" at the meeting of the New Student class at 9:45 a. m.

Prof. W. Leigh Sowers will discuss "Recent English plays" at the Westminster Fellowship meeting at 6:30 p. m. Professor Sowers will review plays he saw recently in London.

Hold Funeral Today at North Liberty for Mrs. Bowman

Funeral service for Mrs. Elsie Emma Bowman, 37, of near North Liberty, who died Thursday night, will be held at 1:30 this afternoon at the Church of God, one mile west of North Liberty. Burial will be in the North Liberty cemetery. She is survived by her husband, Robert; a daughter, Ethel May; a son, Robert Lloyd; her father, Samuel Ranshaw of North Liberty; two sisters, Mrs. Tom B. Gordon of North Liberty, and Mrs. T. Fessler of Crane, Mo.; and a brother, Raymond Ranshaw of Iowa City.

Mott, Sanders to Give Talks at Convention

Prof. Frank L. Mott and Charles L. Sanders of the school of journalism, will be speakers at the annual meeting of the Iowa High School Press association at Drake university in Des Moines on Nov. 17 and 18.

Schools and colleges of the state having schools of journalism or journalism departments will cooperate at the morning program designed for interesting high school advisers and students in journalism.

In charge of the meeting and arranging of the program is Emory Ruby, a graduate of the University of Iowa, who is now head of the journalism department at Drake university.

Mr. Sanders' part in the program will be the conducting and judging of an ad soliciting contest in which prizes will be given to students winning first, second, and third places. Professor Mott will give a talk on, "Opinions on the state newspaper contests."

Last year the meeting was held here at the school of journalism but is being held in Des Moines this year, following the custom of the different schools taking turns as hosts to the meeting.

Girl Scouts Assist Local Red Cross

Girl Scouts of troop 7 are making children's clothing for the local Red Cross chapter as part of their community service work. The troop is also selling Christmas cards in order to pay the troop dues. Isabelle Smith is captain of the troop.

Pharmacy Students Display Drug Brand

"It's McKesson's—it's right," is the motto displayed in the window in the main hall of the pharmacy-botany building this week. All brands of McKesson's products are shown in the window, which is decorated in black and yellow.

The window was decorated this week by James Crumrine, Robert Wiley, and John Hinchcliff, freshmen in the window display class in the college of pharmacy.

Cooper Motion for New Trial Denied

The motion of Agnes M. Cooper for a new trial in the divorce action of Agnes M. Cooper vs. E. M. Cooper was denied by District Judge James P. Gaffney yesterday. Mrs. Cooper wished to contest a decrease in alimony from $70 to $50 a month, made April 5, in a ruling by Judge Gaffney.

I keep coming back to that word "balanced" on the back of the Chesterfield package

YOU often hear the word balance—something is out of balance—top heavy, not on an "even keel."

What you read, "Chesterfield Cigarettes are a balanced blend," means that the right amounts of the right kinds of tobacco are welded together; that is, home-grown tobaccos, the right kind, the right quantity—are blended and cross-blended with tobaccos from Turkey and Greece.

When these tobaccos are balanced one against the other, then you have a mild cigarette.

When they are in balance, then you have a better-tasting cigarette.

May we ask you to read again the statement on the back of the Chesterfield package? May we ask you to try Chesterfield?
