HAWKEYES BLAST PURDUE HOPES

President Roosevelt Reaffirms Stand on World Gold Control Policy

Tells Georgians Recognition of Soviet Russia Was Aimed Primarily to Further Peace

Assails Critics of His Money Experiment as 'Tories'

SAVANNAH, Ga., Nov. 18 (AP)—President Roosevelt was cheered today by the Georgia bicentennial crowd as he told the nation that the newly made American-Russian understanding was aimed primarily for peace in the war threatened world.

In his first public discussion of the recognition of the Soviet government, Mr. Roosevelt said:

Impelling Motive
"I believe sincerely that the most impelling motive that has lain behind the conversations which were successfully concluded yesterday between Russia and the United States was the desire for peace and for strengthening of the peaceful purpose of the civilized world."

"Tories"
"It has been remarked of late by certain Tories," said the president in reference to his monetary policy, "that those who are today in charge of the government are guilty of great experimentation."

Brief Visit
Mr. Roosevelt stopped here for a brief visit on his way to Warm Springs and immediately after his address under a sunny sky he departed on his special train with his mother, Mrs. James Roosevelt, Sr., for the cross-state journey to that place. In his public stand for the new monetary policy, the president added:

"While we are celebrating the planting of the colony of Georgia, we remember that if the early settlers had been content to remain on the coast, there would have been no Georgia today."

Doubting Thomases
"In all those years of the pioneer, there were the doubting Thomases, there was the persistent opposition of those who feared change, of those who played the part of the mule who had to be goaded to get him out of the stable."

Drop Claims Against Donald Stoner Estate
Four damage cases filed in district court against R. M. Klenk, administrator of the estate of Donald Stoner of North Liberty, have been dismissed by District Judge James P. Gaffney after they were settled outside of court. Dutcher, Walker and Ries represented the plaintiffs.

The actions and damages asked were: Allan J. Stanley, $10,208; Ruth M. Stanley, $4,073; Helen Langworthy, $3,624.50, and A. S. Gillette, $1,542.

Another case against the estate filed by Josephine Gillette, asking $10,222 damages, was dismissed recently during its jury trial. All actions were dismissed at the plaintiff's cost.

The damage actions resulted from an auto collision early this year near Western on highway No. 161 between a car driven by Eugene Bahn of the university speech department, and one driven by Donald Stoner, who was killed in the accident.

Highlights Of F. D. R.'s Address Yesterday

SAVANNAH, Ga., Nov. 18 (AP)—Highlights in President Roosevelt's address here today:

"Incoming for a two weeks' visit among you, my neighbors, I shall have opportunity to improve myself by reading of the makers of our history with thought before me that although problems and terms change, the principles and objectives of American self-government remain the same."

"With our sense of proportion we understand and accept the fact that in the short space of one year we cannot cure the chronic illness that beset us for a dozen years, nor restore the social and economic order with equal and simultaneous success in every part of the nation and in every walk of life."

"It is the pioneering spirit and understanding perspective of the people of the United States which already is making itself felt among other nations of the world."

"In all those years of the pioneer, there were the doubting Thomases, there was the persistent opposition of those who feared change, of those who played the part of the mule who had to be goaded to get him out of the stable."

"The saving grace of America lies in the fact that the overwhelming majority of Americans are possessed with two great qualities—a sense of humor and a sense of proportion. With the one they smile at those who would divide up all the money in the nation on a per capita basis every Saturday night."

"Three quarters of a year have passed since I left Georgia. During that time the lives of the people of this commonwealth, like the lives of the inhabitants of the other states, have undergone a great change."

"I am happy in the thought that it has been a chance for the better than I come back to see smiles replacing gloom, to see faith restored to its rightful place."

"I believe sincerely that the most impelling motive behind the conversations concluded yesterday between Russia and the United States was the desire of both countries for peace and for the strengthening of the peaceful purpose of the civilized world."

"It will interest you to know that in the year 1809, the president of the United States, Thomas Jefferson, wrong; Russia and the United States being in character and practice essentially pacific have a common interest in the rights of peaceable nations gives us a common cause in their maintenance."

Bender Asks Show Goes to Put Bikes in City Hall Yard

Police Chief Bender requests that boys and girls who ride their bicycles to the matinee hereafter leave them in the yard in front of the city hall while in the theater.

Chief Bender points out that the bicycles on the sidewalks are a hindrance to pedestrians. Bikes would be more secure from theft if left in the yard at the city hall, he said.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 18 (AP)—The searchlight of senate investigators will be turned on the financial operations of the Huey P. Long political organization next week through testimony of New Orleans bank officials.

All Japan Prays Emperor's Child Will Be Boy, to Carry on Dynasty

TOKYO, Nov. 18 (AP)—Ninety million loyal Japanese prayed today that the child to be born soon to the emperor and empress of Nippon will be a boy, an heir to carry on the "dynasty for ages eternal."

Physicians in the imperial household announced that the child may be born late in December. It will be the fifth of their majesties' but the others are girls, three of whom are living.

There is great activity in the household and in much of the kingdom. Governors of seven prefectures were ordered to send one young woman "of the best physical condition and unimpeachable moral character" as candidates for the position of wet nurse to the infant.

Only two, however, of the seven will be chosen, and their honor will be great.

Preparations for the expected arrival have taken precedence over everything else in the imperial palace.

Even if the baby is a girl there will be nation-wide rejoicing for the safety of the Empress Nagako and the child, but the celebrations will not be so extensive as if it is a prince to be welcomed.

Most of the Japanese, orthodox believers in the divinity of the imperial line, believe the baby will be immortal if it is a man child, but nevertheless every possible precaution is being taken to safeguard the 30 year old mother.

Tax, Liquor Bills to Meet Senate Tests

DES MOINES, Nov. 18 (AP)—With few definite indications as to the outcome, the first bills of the emergency program for which the general assembly was called into special session probably will encounter a major test next week.

Two banking bills of the state administration's program are at the top of the senate calendar, one of them carrying the approval of the Democratic-controlled house.

First Forecast
Action of the senate will give a first forecast as to what may be expected when other of the administration bills come up in the upper branch, where political control is uncertain, and also show the strength of administration forces.

The administration proposals, as set forth by Governor Clyde L. Hering in his message to the assembly were for "emergency" legislation such as tax revision, liquor control, poor relief and farm mortgage aid.

Governor's Influence
Although no confirmation was needed, the governor's influence on the house with its preponderant number of members of his party, was demonstrated Saturday when an administration recommendation to recommit the child labor amendment resolution to committee was adopted promptly.

In the senate with its membership of 26 Republicans and 24 Democrats the question of political control still is open, however. Despite the apparent Republican strength the Democrats won the opening test of party lines in the first week of the special session.

Study Shows Woodworking Development
Growth and significance of the industry is discussed in a study, "The economic development of the woodworking industry in Iowa," released yesterday by the university publications department.

Illustrated with graphs, charts, maps, and tables, the survey traces the industry's development through its four stages of evolution, the "cabin, cottage, shop, and factory" periods.

A chronological table of the rise of woodworking from 1833 to 1932 is also included by Floyd B. Harworth, compiler of the book which is one of a series of Iowa studies in business released through the bureau of business research of the college of commerce.

Soviet Trade Condition to Be Taken Up

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18 (AP)—Recognition of Soviet Russia an accomplished fact, state department officials and Maxim Litvinoff, Soviet foreign minister, today leisurely approached new conversations on Russo-American affairs in which trade relations will have an important place.

Gives Luncheon
Litvinoff gave a luncheon for state department officials who took part in the conferences that led to the restoration of diplomatic relations between the two countries.

Among the guests was William C. Bullitt, ambassador designate to Moscow, who is expected to lead future discussions with Litvinoff. Bullitt said no further discussions were scheduled until Monday although there might be meetings over the week end.

Bullitt Approved
During the day the state department was informed by Litvinoff that the Soviet government welcomed the appointment of Bullitt, an expert on Russian affairs and advocate of Russian recognition for many years. In view of Bullitt's past attitude, it had been almost certain that Moscow would have no objections to his becoming the first American ambassador to the Soviet union.

Received Training as Journalist in Chicago

Ralph D. Blumenfeld, for nearly 30 years editor of the London Daily Express, will deliver the third university lecture of the year Friday at 8 p.m. in natural science auditorium.

This will be Mr. Blumenfeld's first appearance on the University of Iowa campus. His lecture here is part of a tour of the United States which the veteran editor is now making.

Born in America
Though born an American and trained in the traditions of American journalism, Mr. Blumenfeld adopted England as his home, and he has been a figure in European political and social affairs since the turn of the century.

Born in 1864, he received his first journalistic training from his father, a well known newspaper editor. Before he was 20 years old he obtained his first position as a reporter on the Chicago Herald.

The next year he served as music and drama editor.

Sent to England
In 1887 he was sent by the United Press to cover England's Queen

Victoria Golden jubilee celebration. He returned to the United States and edited the New York Evening Telegram, then he went back to London and served as correspondent for the New York Herald until 1892.

The following year he became superintendent of the London Daily Express.

32 Counties Exceed Limit

Indebtedness Prevents Issuance of Bonds for Poor Relief

DES MOINES, Nov. 18 (AP)—Thirty-two Iowa counties have indebtedness equaling or exceeding constitutional debt limitations and consequently are barred from issuing bonds for poor relief or other purposes, records compiled for Iowa relief administrators showed today.

In addition to these counties, it was found, there are 10 more which have bonded indebtedness within 90 to 99 per cent of the constitutional limitation.

Records in the offices of the state board of assessment and review placed the total bonded debt of Iowa's 99 counties at $117,516,590. One county, Humboldt, was shown to have no bonds outstanding.

The 22 counties which were shown to have equalled or exceeded the constitutional limit were: Allamakee, Appanoose, Audubon, Cass, Clarke, Clayton, Crawford, Dallas, Davis, Decatur, Delaware, Emmet, Fayette, Franklin, Fremont, Grundy.

Guthrie, Hamilton, Madison, Mahaska, Marion, Mills, Monroe, Montgomery, Pottawattamie, Tama, Union, Van Buren, Wayne, Winnebago and Winneshiek.

Astonish Crowd
In the two opening periods Iowa, with Dick Crayne and Laws doing most of the ball carrying, astonished the crowd of 16,000 by outgunning the vaunted Boilermakers offense.

The Hawkeye defense had trouble with Purdue's great ball toters, Duane Purvis, Fred Hecker, Jim Carter and Paul Pardonner, but arose when danger threatened to break down scoring drives.

Iowa advanced to the nine yard line in the second period before a fumble, one of several by both teams, ruined what appeared to be a scoring opportunity.

The first Iowa touchdown came with dazzling suddenness. Starting on their own 33 yard line, the Hawkeyes, with Crayne literally dragging Purdue tacklers with him time after time, advanced the ball to the Purdue 27 yard mark. Laws took the ball and started wide around Purdue's left end. He was hemmed in and cut back through tackle.

Blockers Ready
As he passed the line of scrimmage, he found three Iowa blockers ahead of him. He cut toward the sidelines, and sidestepped the Purdue safety man to negotiate the last two steps over the coveted last yard line. Fisher accomplished his part of the Hawkeye drama a moment later.

A quick kick by Crayne set the stage for the second touchdown. His boot traveled to the Boilermaker 15 where Page downed it. After losing two yards, Purvis kicked to Laws who hugged the ball to his chest on his own 45 mark. He raced up the west sideline until a mass of interference collected in front of him. Then he swung to the right and raced over the line, leaving 55 yards of territory behind him. Again Russ Fisher connected.

Passing Spruce

By WILLIAM WEEKES
(Associated Press Sports Writer)
ROSS-ADE Stadium, Lafayette, Ind., Nov. 18 (AP)—Iowa's Hawkeyes arose to heroic heights today to crush mighty Purdue, 14 to 6, and lay in wreckage the Boilermakers' chances for the 1933 Western conference gridiron championship.

As the teams left the field at the half, deadlocked in a scoreless tie, the loud speaker blared the news that Michigan and Minnesota had fought to a tie at Ann Arbor. A victory for the favored Boilermakers would give them the lead in the title race, and a mighty cheer went up from the crowd.

Hawks Come Back
But the Hawkeyes, who had thoroughly outplayed the Boilermakers in the first two periods, came back twice as tough and about midway of the third session, scored the first touchdown. Another came in the fourth, while Purdue, battling in frantic desperation, was able to score only through an unusual break in the fourth quarter.

To Joe Laws, 175-pound quarterback from Colfax, Ia., went the glory of scoring both Hawkeye touchdowns, both on long, sparkling runs. But, without the crashing interference, generated when the scoring opportunities arose, he could have done little. Just to make certain, Russ Fisher booted two perfect placekicks over the bars for the extra points.

Astonish Crowd
In the two opening periods Iowa, with Dick Crayne and Laws doing most of the ball carrying, astonished the crowd of 16,000 by outgunning the vaunted Boilermakers offense.

The Hawkeye defense had trouble with Purdue's great ball toters, Duane Purvis, Fred Hecker, Jim Carter and Paul Pardonner, but arose when danger threatened to break down scoring drives.

Iowa advanced to the nine yard line in the second period before a fumble, one of several by both teams, ruined what appeared to be a scoring opportunity.

The first Iowa touchdown came with dazzling suddenness. Starting on their own 33 yard line, the Hawkeyes, with Crayne literally dragging Purdue tacklers with him time after time, advanced the ball to the Purdue 27 yard mark. Laws took the ball and started wide around Purdue's left end. He was hemmed in and cut back through tackle.

Blockers Ready
As he passed the line of scrimmage, he found three Iowa blockers ahead of him. He cut toward the sidelines, and sidestepped the Purdue safety man to negotiate the last two steps over the coveted last yard line. Fisher accomplished his part of the Hawkeye drama a moment later.

A quick kick by Crayne set the stage for the second touchdown. His boot traveled to the Boilermaker 15 where Page downed it. After losing two yards, Purvis kicked to Laws who hugged the ball to his chest on his own 45 mark. He raced up the west sideline until a mass of interference collected in front of him. Then he swung to the right and raced over the line, leaving 55 yards of territory behind him. Again Russ Fisher connected.

Passing Spruce
Purdue, dazed for a moment at the totally unexpected turn of events, came back with a wild spruce of passes. A fumble by Basker stopped the first Purdue drive and it was not until the final period, during the first few minutes, that its break came. Crayne, attempting a quick kick on his 27 yard line, just managed to get his foot on the ball before Fritz Febel rushed in, snatched the leather, and raced for the touchdown. With Pardonner, their sensational kicker out of the game, Purvis attempted to placekick the point for the Boilermakers. His effort was low, and the first touchdown would have been enough for the upset triumph.

The Hawkeye line took quite a beating from the Purdue offense in midfield, but was more than equal to the occasion when a scoring threat developed. The Hawkeyes were brilliantly alert against forward passes, batting down no less than ten of Purdue's 12 heaves. They did little passing themselves, relying more on the drives of Crayne through the line and Laws over and around the ends.

Sterling Defense
Purdue had scoring opportunities in the first two periods, but could not hold up as the goal line grew nearer. In the first period the Boilermakers went to the Iowa nine yard line, only to lose the ball when a pass went over the goal line, and in the second, a raid as far as the Iowa 19, folded up when the Iowa defense again was wide awake against passes.

Iowa played the game with only two substitutions, both of them in the backfield. The Hawkeye line stayed right in there all afternoon and outgained the Purdue forwards most of the way. Joe Richards replaced Crayne near the end of the first half, and George Teyro twice sat in while Laws rested.

The victory was Iowa's third of the Big Ten season. The Hawkeyes upset Northwestern and Wisconsin besides Purdue. The Hawkeyes lost to Michigan and Minnesota.

Speaker Urges Centralization for Rural School Education

Costliness of Iowa's School System Lies in Small Local Unit Divisions, Says Professor Peterson

Present day cuts in public school expenditures and their effects were emphasized by Prof. E. T. Peterson of the college of education in his address to members of the Iowa City branch of the American Association of University Women in Iowa Union yesterday. Fifty-five were present at the luncheon of which Mrs. H. H. Anderson was chairman.

Professor Peterson, whose specialty is education finance, pointed out that the peak of the expenditures occurred in 1923 and 1924 and that reductions have been in progress since then. There has been a gradual scaling down which makes the present demand for further cuts in school expense dangerous, since more reduction would result in real impairment of the schools' work.

Against Wage Reduction
It is time to divert attention from further reduction in salaries and materials to other costly ills of the school system, Professor Peterson believes. "The costliness of Iowa's school system is in the small local unit divisions which are expensive to administer and operate," he said. Iowa has 4,379 separate independent school districts. "This decentralization," commented the professor, "is a carry-over from the pioneer days when two-mile districts were sensible because that was as far as children could walk through mud and wilderness. However, small school units with a ratio of ten pupils to a teacher are now unnecessary and are expensive to maintain."

Every period of depression throws a heavier burden on the school by bringing more pupils to it, Professor Peterson believes, and it is not possible to carry an increased burden with steadily decreasing incomes.

Substitutions Expensive
"For every subject cut out of the curriculum something must be put in its place, and the substitutions are often as expensive as the original instruction," stated Professor Peterson.

Children to Present Varied Program at St. Pat's Auditorium

Vocal and instrumental solos, a reading, folk dance, and play constitute the program to be presented at St. Patrick's school auditorium to night at 8 o'clock.

Adelaide Walsh and William Holland, both accompanied by Mrs. William Condon, will sing vocal solos, and Lee Savage will give a reading.

from HOUSE to HOUSE

Social activities in Iowa City yesterday afternoon were restricted to areas in which the play-by-play description of the Iowa-Purdue game could be heard, and it is estimated by football fans that if all the cheering in the many scattered groups about town was combined, it would more than equal the noise raised by actual attendants at Iowa's last Big Ten game this season at Lafayette, Ind.

Homecoming activities at Grinnell college drew former students and friends of the school to Grinnell for the week end, and parties here on the campus did their share in making Iowa City an attractive place for week end visitors from all over the state.

Bands Announce Pep Fest as They Play for Parties

In case you haven't heard of it before, there is to be a great big pep meeting this morning to greet the team. Last night telephones advertised it; signs decreed it; and even campus bands paused in their rhythm to insure that all their patrons would be there.

At the Beta house, Dusty Keaton's boys played the new Iowa victory song along with the announcement of the pep fest, and Walt Long's band did likewise at the Sig Alpha shindig. Homer Lucke brought the news to all dancers at the Campus Hop. All these bands have a personal interest in the pep fest as they are booked by Fred Radloff who played a sterling game at tackle for the Hawkeyes yesterday.

By PHYLIS ROGERS
First and second 1933 midwest hockey teams were announced last night as the climax of the midwest tournament played here this week end.

The teams, picked from players of the six clubs that competed, were announced by Margaret Meyer of Madison, Wis., chairman of the selection committee, at the business meeting, which followed the banquet given on the sunporch of Iowa Union for players, officials, and members of the hockey association. Other members of the selection committee are: Evelyn Bielefeld of Iowa; and Iris Boulton of North Shore, Chicago.

Madison vs. North Shore

Madison defeated North Shore first team in the best game of the tournament yesterday afternoon by a 1-0 score. The teams were evenly matched and played a fast clear game that remained scoreless until the last few minutes of play when Rice, Madison center forward, managed a scoop past the goalie. Stick work of the game was outstanding, giving the goalies on both teams hard shots to which they responded admirably.

Madison Team

West Suburban team of Chicago met defeat 6-0 yesterday morning playing a miscellaneous team, "Etcetera," in the first game of the day. DeVeas made four of the six goals and Philpott and Rogers each made one.

Chicago Team

Iowa City Wins

Iowa City Hockey club reversed its losses of the day before and won the second game of the day by defeating St. Louis by a 3-1 score. Iowa forwards cooperated many triangular passes backed by commendable stick work of the defense. T. Kenefick made two of the goals with hard drives from the edge of the shooting circle. Shirley scored the third goal by a scoop.

St. Louis

St. Louis played a much better and comparatively faster game than on the previous day with Madison. Prendergast made the single score for the team.

Bahn to Open Series Today

To Read Allen Novel, "Anthony Adverse," in Lounge

Because the title role in Hervey Allen's best-selling novel, "Anthony Adverse," is an "ordinary, human, understandable person" and because the other characters "represent every type of human nature," Eugene Bahn of the speech and dramatic arts department has chosen this book to open a series of Sunday afternoon readings under the auspices of the speech department.

Mr. Bahn will present his reading in the main lounge of Iowa Union at 4:30 this afternoon.

While impossible to include everything from Mr. Allen's book in a reading, it is possible to catch the essence of the author's spirit by presenting the most significant characterizations, according to Mr. Bahn.

Besides the romance, adventure, comedy, and serious situations, Mr. Bahn has tried to show the philosophy of Anthony Adverse, his failures, triumphs, and his faith in life.

The plan for presenting Sunday afternoon readings was inaugurated last year. This year, students, faculty members of the speech department, and several prominent readers from other universities will appear on the series.

Mr. Bahn has received invitations to repeat his reading of "Anthony Adverse" before clubs in many Iowa cities. In the next few weeks he expects to read "Sorrow and Son," "Anthony Adverse," a group of Shakespearean plays, and possibly one new play before clubs at Burlington, Des Moines, and Clinton.

Prizes Offered for Engineers' Term Papers

Three prizes will be awarded to students preparing the best term papers during the current school year, on the subject "Heat Treatment of Steel," it was announced yesterday by Dean C. C. Williams of the college of engineering.

First place winner will receive a junior membership in the American Society for Heat Treatment of Steel and a copy of the National Metals handbook. Second and third prizes will be copies of the handbook.

The awards are offered by the Tri-City chapter of the A.S.H.T.S. and were offered annually to engineering students of the university until last year, when the practice was discontinued because funds of the society were tied up in closed Tri-City banks.

John Fielding, a member of the college of engineering faculty and of the executive committee of the society, suggested that the offers be renewed this year "in order to stimulate investigative interest in this field." Mr. Fielding will judge the papers, which must be submitted by the end of the year.

New Exhibits of Photography

The second portion of a photographic exhibit by members of the Chicago Camera club, consisting of 21 prints, was set up at Iowa Union yesterday by Benjamin W. Robinson, manager of student employment service. This will remain on display until Dec. 4, when it will be replaced by an exhibit of the American Annual of Photography.

The present prints were made by Alfons Webber, fellow of the Royal Photographic society, Bernard B. Conheim, and Oscar W. Olsen, all of Chicago.

Among the photographs is one of the lobby of the old Tremont hotel in Chicago, taken by Mr. Olsen shortly before it was torn down. It pictures a broad marble staircase curving gracefully upward.

Mr. Olsen is fond of making photographs of water lilies, as is shown by the two prints of this kind in the new display, in addition to the one in the old display.

BOOK REVIEWS

Edited by John Pryor

The Historic Trail of the American Indians, by Thomas P. Christensen; Laurance Press, Cedar Rapids.

This little book is the only one of its kind in existence, according to the author. In no other publication, he says, may be found the complete story of all branches of Indians in North and South America, from their origins to their present situations.

Doubtless it is a valuable contribution to historical research. Christensen, an Iowa citizen, does not mourn over the fate of our red-skinned brothers, as do many writers on the subject, and he tries not to let the "White Man's Burden" theory influence his opinions.

So clearly are the histories of Indian races presented that any person may easily grasp the relationships of tribes. The history is concise, but enough interesting details are included to give each Indian group a definite character and to make the story interesting.

Christensen carefully brings out something about almost every phase of Indian life in his discussion of each group.

To all those interested in Indian history or to those who desire a handy reference book on the subject, "The Historic Trail of the American Indians" is recommended.

The Shape of Things to Come, by H. G. Wells; Macmillan, New York, $2.50.

About 1 p.m. on Friday, Jan. 4, 1940, a Polish commercial traveller of Jewish origin, sitting in a train at the Danzig station, will have trouble with his false teeth.

In his efforts to adjust them, he will make some odd faces and gestures at a Nazi soldier standing on the platform outside. The Nazi will interpret these actions as insults to Germany, and, calling his comrades, will board the train to punish the Pole. Several Poles in the car, however, will throw the Nazis from the train, whereupon one of the latter will draw a pistol and will fire through the window, killing the commercial traveller.

Thus, says Wells, will the next and the last war start. This prolific writer of fantasy takes 431 pages to give his ideas of world history, past and probable, from sometime before the last war to 2106.

And of all his imaginative writings this book is the most interesting and is the most likely to come true.

With a little more effort, the author could have made "The Shape of Things to Come" a clever satire on our past actions and on present world politics. It would have been very easy for him to bring out a moral and to make suggestions for our future conduct. But he is content to write a "history."

His view of the near future is pessimistic. In America, Roosevelt came too late "to stop the rot." In Europe, hatred will grow. Japan will almost exterminate her army in an attempt to conquer the whole of China. And then, in 1940, most of Europe will join in the last great war.

After this war, diseases will wipe out half of mankind, governments will die through lack of interest, cities will become autonomous, decay, material and spiritual, will set in.

World Government

Then, after many years of stagnation, scientists, technicians, and educators will join forces with owners of airplanes and ships to form a world Transport Union. This union will gain control of the food supply, eventually, and will establish a world government, socialistic, and quite utopian.

Wells does not believe that we can escape such a future. Mankind will never move out of the present muddle until it is jolted by terrific calamity. "When the existing governments and ruling theories of life, the decaying religious and the decaying political forms of today, have sufficiently lost prestige through failure and catastrophe, then and then only will world-wide construction be possible. And it must needs be the work, first of all, of an aggressive order of religiously devoted men and women who will try out and establish and impose a new pattern of living upon our race."—J. P.

Proctors Aid Achievement

The correlation between student ability and student achievement has risen from .50 to .72 since the system of scholarship proctors has been in effect, according to Lonzo Jones, assistant dean of men.

Scholarship proctors, trained as advisers, are placed in each of the social fraternities and in each of the men's dormitories. The delinquency reports of the dean's office are in the hands of these men.

There is a cause for students failing, according to Dean Jones. If the cause is found, a cure may be applied.

A fine spirit of cooperation has been shown between the organized groups and the administration in promoting student welfare, he said.

Liquor Stores to Solve a Problem

ABOUT TWO-THIRDS of the states are faced now with the trying problem of liquor traffic within a month, and they find themselves in the sad predicament of having no means of control.

Their problem is a difficult one. On one side stands the possibility of great revenues from liquor tax, and many persons are urging a tax "to the limit" to ease the burden on land owners. On the other hand, however, state legislators are faced with the great danger, acknowledged through experience, of opening a flow of bootleg liquor by making taxes so high that illegal traffic will be profitable.

A sound solution to what threatens to be a vital issue is the one being considered in several states, and proposed to the legislature of Pennsylvania by Governor Pinchot several days ago. This is a plan involving state-controlled liquor stores as the sole source of retail liquor sales.

The benefits of such a system are manifold and obvious. In the first place, it would eliminate to a large extent the danger of a returning "corner" saloon, with its intemperate excesses. Governor Pinchot's plan anticipates a licensing system such as is now in use in Canada, and would prohibit the sale of liquor in restaurants and hotels.

The state store plan would offer an effective, easily controlled means of distribution. No means of liquor traffic could be so well checked as could a state distribution plan.

It would be a sound means of applying taxation to liquor traffic. Instead of applying a tax which the consumer must pay in addition to private profit, state distribution would allow the state to collect a tax as its profit, so to speak, on the sale. Governor Pinchot estimates that in his state such a nominal tax as $1 per gallon will yield $25,000,000 annually, or roughly about one-quarter the total of Iowa's state tax bill.

By thus making the tax light, through state store operation, not only could the state obtain a maximum revenue, but the plan would minimize the danger of the rise of bootleggers.

The state-controlled store plan is one which every state may profitably consider.

Killing the Devil

(From The New York Times)

Two hundred and twenty-five years ago Dr. William King in his "Art of Cookery" wrote these affecting lines:

Cornwell squab-pie, and Devon white-pot brings;

And Leicester beans and bacon, food of kings.

White-pot is just an ordinary baked bread pudding; but Cornwell squab-pie ought to be something particularly worth eating, for Cornwell was long as famous for its pies as for its pilschards. There was an old saying that the devil never went to Cornwall for fear he would be made into a pie.

The London Times prints all too short a summary of a lecture by Mr. Hamilton Jenkin, vice president of the Federation of Old Cornwall Societies, before the London Cornish Society. There isn't a word about squab-pie. On the other hand, we are told that a small cottage in the parish of St. Merryn was said to have been held for many years by one family in return for the sole quit-rent of a pie composed of limpets, figs and various sweet herbs.

As a gentleman, the Prince of Darkness might well shudder at the thought of being inserted into a mess like that. Robert Stephen Hawker, the late eccentric vicar of Morwenstow and author of the stirring Cornish ballad whose refrain is "And Shall Trelawny Die?" describes a meal of seal and potatoes. As Nebuchadnezzar says in the Oxford prize poem of his diet, "It may be wholesome but it is not good." The Cornish home brew may be thought to redeem the quit-rent pie:

"Mahogany" or "black-strap," composed of two parts of gin and one of treacle, was tried by Boswell at a dinner party given by Sir Joshua Reynolds. It was highly esteemed by fishermen for its warming properties.

Bozzy's only complaint must have been of too much treacle. Our American black-strap, much valued by our esteemed ancestors for its warming and other properties, was sterner stuff: "generally rum or whisky with molasses and vinegar." This pleasing drink was served in mugs. Rum used to be called "Kill Devil." In view of the precautions taken against him in New England, it is hard to understand why that region was so especially troubled by diabolic visitations. Yet the explanation seems simple. The devil was only a shoehorn for black-strap.

GOOD MORNING

"With every regard to the gravity of the situation and all respect for the great office of the Presidency, we feel it our duty to say that the forced retirement of Mr. Dean Acheson from the Treasury and the appointment of Mr. Henry Morgenthau, Jr., to succeed him form a shocking and dismaying episode.

"In sensational fashion President Roosevelt has given notice to the country that the inflationists are in the saddle and that no dissenter will be permitted to remain in his official family. Mr. Acheson may have had no financial training that especially fitted him for a treasury post. But he had soundness and courage. It is apparently for the crime of expressing disagreement to the President personally that he is thus summarily retired. Certainly no one could have been a more loyal or honorable aid throughout a difficult period.

"As for Mr. Morgenthau, he has the equipment for sound public service in matters concerning which he is an expert. But he has no training that qualifies him to fill the great office of Secretary of the Treasury, unquestionably the most important post in the Cabinet in the present critical days. The conclusion seems inevitable that he is not intended to fill that post. He is obviously placed there because he has neither the experience nor the stature to oppose or criticize the President's extraordinary financial policies.

"Thus in an hour of grave national decisions the country is suddenly confronted by an Administration in which, in effect, the President is his own Secretary of State—Mr. Hull being on his way to Montevideo—and his own Secretary of the Treasury. It is our conviction that the American Republic was not designed thus to function and that the American people, if they had the opportunity, would solemnly protest such a concentration of power in their president."—From an editorial in the New York Herald-Tribune of November 16.

The views expressed in this editorial seem to be rather widely held by advocates of so-called "sound money" both in this country and abroad. The news of Secretary Woodin's leave of absence, the resignation of Mr. Acheson, and the appointment of Mr. Morgenthau as virtual head of the treasury had its reverberations in the stock exchanges all over the world. French fears of American inflation—fears that had been set at rest since the London economic conference—came to life again and conservative newspapers in this country began a dismal wailing as though all hope of sanity were lost.

The controversy involves two separate issues: 1) the nature and the wisdom of President Roosevelt's monetary policy, and 2) the function of the presidential cabinet.

It is not for an amateur to pass judgment on the soundness of the government's monetary policy; indeed, considering the dilemma of economists on the subject, little could be gained by arguing further about it.

It is enough to say that the extent of most current criticism of that policy is a categorical and foundationless assumption that the president is wrong. Nowhere in the columns of editorial denunciation have I been able to find a sincere and objective attempt to analyze the president's program. Nowhere have I been able to find a logical reason why the president is wrong, beyond the contention that America's currency has been "tied to the vagaries of inept advisers." Which means nothing.

The president's final objective—a managed currency whose purchasing power will not change from year to year in respect to the general level of commodity prices—has twice been stated in unmistakable terms by the president himself. So also has he made it clear that his immediate objective—toward which all the forces of the government are being directed—is a return to the price level of 1926.

These two objectives constitute the president's monetary policy. The means by which he proposes to reach them—including the present gold-buying program—are merely incidental and experimental, and I am convinced that if they should prove inadequate the president will be the first to admit their failure and to change his course. And, for the sake of clarity, it might be well to point out that the NRA, the AAA, and other units in the recovery machinery constitute together the means by which Mr. Roosevelt plans to reach these two objectives. Consequently, when one feels inclined to criticize he should make clear just what he is criticizing. This is something most critics fail to do.

The second issue involves the function of the cabinet in American government and the propriety of President Roosevelt's recent manipulations.

The American constitution makes no provision for a presidential cabinet at all, but leaves matters of administration in the hands of the president, where they rightfully belong. The cabinet is merely an administrative convenience by which the president can carry out his duties effectively through subordinates appointed by him—with the advice and consent of the senate—and responsible to him.

If these duties are to be properly discharged it is imperative that cabinet heads be in agreement with the president on matters of policy or, if not in agreement, willing to subject their personal convictions to those of their superior.

It is irrelevant whether or not Mr. Morgenthau has sufficient training in finance to direct the treasury department. That is a matter of opinion. But, in the final analysis, the president must, as far as responsibility is concerned, be his own secretary, not only of the treasury, but of every other department. This is elemental and it is difficult to understand what the Herald-Tribune means when they say "It is our conviction that the American Republic was not designed thus to function."

J. M. Dorsey, Iowa Alumni, Will Lecture

Michigan Doctor to Give Talk Here Tomorrow

For the first time this year, a graduate of Iowa, Dr. John M. Dorsey, now assistant director of the state psychopathic hospital at the University of Michigan, will appear on a series of lectures under the auspices of the graduate college. Dr. Dorsey, who will speak on "A multi-dimensional description of personality" in the senate chamber of Old Capitol at 4 p.m. tomorrow is the third speaker to appear on this series.

The last six summers Dr. Dorsey has returned to the campus to collaborate with Prof. Lee E. Travis of the speech department in carrying on research projects concerning the physiology of the brain.

Published Studies
In their study, Dr. Dorsey and Professor Travis are considering the action currents of the brain and peripheral nerves and muscles in relation to mental conditions. They have also studied the effects of drugs, lesions, and various kinds of stimulation. As co-authors, they have published 10 or 12 studies.

Dr. Dorsey is also the author of a book, "The story of the person," which will be published in the near future. Prof. F. B. Knight of the college of education is editor of the series which includes this study.

Born in Clinton in 1900, Dr. Dorsey received all his higher education at the university. In 1925 he was granted his M.D. degree and the next year received an A.B. degree. After receiving his M.S. degree in 1928 he served as interne in psychopathic hospital.

Tennis Captain
While this is Dr. Dorsey's first appearance at Iowa as a lecturer, his classmates remember him as captain of the varsity tennis team in 1925. When he was a student here, he was affiliated with Sigma Chi, social fraternity, and Nu Sigma Nu, medical fraternity.

Before going to Michigan, Dr. Dorsey was acting assistant director of the psychopathic hospital here. Besides his work at Ann Arbor, where he is a lecturer in sociology and professor of psychiatry in the medical school, Dr. Dorsey is consulting psychiatrist to the Wayne county clinic and the juvenile court in Detroit, Mich.

Mrs. Louise Swafford traveled from Tula, Honduras, to attend the 1933 Homecoming celebration at the University of Missouri.

More than 200 stones taken from the birthplaces or homes of some of the most celebrated men and women in history now constitute the unique collection which is known as the memorial path of fame at Rollins college, Winter Park, Fla.

There are many interesting things about Ralph D. Blumenfeld, and one of the most interesting is the story of his first trip to England, the trip which led an American to become a Britisher. It was on the occasion of Queen Victoria's Golden jubilee celebration, which will remain forever as one of England's greatest fetes. So auspicious was the occasion, in fact, that an American press service considered it necessary to have a reporter on the spot, and the one selected was young Blumenfeld. His first impression of England was one of many "drunks." But he evidently was impressed even more deeply by other things, for he returned to make his home there.

When Blumenfeld decided on the American trip, his manager, W. Colston Leigh, offered the University of Iowa a choice of several dates. The matter hung fire for a while, then one day last month Professor Shambaugh, chairman of the lecture board, made a number of hurried calls, went through hurried consultations, sent some hurried wires, and finally arranged for a lecture here Nov. 17.

The scene shifts to New York. A dozen ship news reporters awaited the arrival of Mr. Blumenfeld. But no sooner had he docked than a message came to him telling of his daughter's death in London. The veteran editor immediately cancelled all his American lecture dates, turned around, and took the first boat back to England.

But the many Americans anxious to see and hear the "Dean of Fleet street" were not to be put off so easily. After a great deal of urging, Mr. Blumenfeld decided to return to America, and make a tour much shorter than the one he had originally planned. The result is that his stay on the Iowa campus must be of only a few hours duration. He will arrive here Friday morning, and leave Friday evening following his lecture. He will be unable to make the usual round table address for this reason.

Booklet Lists 364 Species of Birds in Iowa

The names of 364 species of birds found in Iowa, together with a hypothetical list of 18 others not included in the body because of insufficient evidence, are listed in "A revised list of the birds of Iowa," a catalogue released yesterday by the publications department of the university.

The data contained in the publication was compiled by Philip A. Du Mont, an assistant professor in the university last year under Prof. Homer R. Dill, director of the university museum.

In the catalogue each bird is described completely, with information concerning its classification as a seasonal migrant or a permanent resident, measurements of the individual specimens, and historical data stating when each specimen was taken.

In addition to the list of Iowa birds, the catalogue contains a historical sketch of the records of bird life in Iowa from the journals of Marquette and Joliet to the present time, physical features of the state of Iowa, faunal areas, changes in the variety of the breeding birds in the state during the last 25 years, and a list of private collections that were of assistance to the author in compiling his work.

Too Many Special Tax Districts Says Professor Porter

Release of city and county officials from the maze of special taxation districts will aid efficiency of local government, is the opinion of Prof. Kirk H. Porter of the political science department.

Writing in the "National Municipal Review," Professor Porter points to the great number of special districts, school, park, drainage, forestation, road, and sanitation. Each has its own set of officials and its own tax rate.

It all results in "an astounding complex of overlapping jurisdiction," he says, giving the officers no chance to assume real power and responsibility.

Alumni of Former Dental Schools May Get S.U.I. Diploma

They may never have set foot on the University of Iowa campus, yet some of the state's dentists may obtain an official diploma certifying them as graduates of the institution.

How this is accomplished has been explained by Dean Alvin W. Bryan of the college of dentistry for the benefit of Iowans who are entitled to a university diploma.

Twenty-five years ago, the Keokuk dental college merged with the Drake university unit, and, in turn, the college at Drake was absorbed by the state university in 1913. Now, the only necessary action, in order to obtain the diploma, is for an alumnus of the extinct colleges to arrange details with W. H. Bates, secretary of the university.

Prospective Medical Students Will Take Aptitude Test Soon

All doubt about fitness for a medical career will probably be removed from the minds of prospective University of Iowa medical students after they undergo the annual aptitude test here Dec. 6.

This required test, announced Friday by H. C. Dorcas, registrar, must be passed by each student before he is permitted to enter a medical college in the fall of 1934.

Success in the test will not only qualify Iowa students to enter the university's college of medicine, but also any approved medical school in the United States. The examination is prescribed by the American Association of Medical Colleges and last year was taken by 9,131 students of 546 institutions.

New Student Club to Hold First Meeting

The first meeting of the Students forum, newly organized discussion group, will be held Thursday at 8 p.m. in the cafeteria of Iowa Union. It was announced yesterday by Thomas Farrell, Jr., A2 of Iowa City, who is in charge of the group.

The topic for discussion is "The economies of the NRA." Speakers who will discuss various phases of this question are Prof. George D. Haskell and Paul R. Olson of the college of commerce. Following their addresses, a round table forum will be held.

The purpose of the club is to offer a means of student discussion of contemporary problems, Farrell said. Meetings will be held every two weeks, and faculty members will lead the discussion. There will be no formal organization, and students will be given full opportunity to engage in the discussion. It will be a group consideration, rather than formal "speeches."

At a second meeting the constitutionality of the NRA will be considered. A committee in charge of arrangements consists of Jay McNamara, A1 of Iowa City, chairman; Harold Wingert, A1 of Tipton; Robert M. Kelly, A1 of West Burlington.

Wolverines, Gophers Play to Scoreless Tie; Buckeyes Triumph

Invaders Lose Scoring Chance in Last Period

Minnesota Outplays Rival in Hard Battle

By ALAN GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor)
ANN ARBOR, Mich., Nov. 18 (AP)—Michigan's dream of a football empire for 1933 was jolted today as the Wolverines were held to a scoreless tie by Minnesota in a desperately fought football duel, waged on a slippery gridiron before 65,000 roaring spectators.

Unbeaten since 1931 in 16 previous games, Michigan was outplayed by the rampaging Gophers and lucky to escape defeat in one of the biggest upsets of the college season.

Out of Race
The tie automatically knocked the Wolverines out of the race for national championship honors, as the list of unbeaten and untied teams was further curtailed, but they remained in the running for the Big Ten championship, nevertheless, with only one more game to play, against Northwestern.

Today's battle sustained the tradition of hard fought rivalry between Michigan and Minnesota. What little there was to choose in a hard charging struggle between two great lines favored the Gophers, as, with one exception, the offensive efforts of both teams were kept between the opposing 30 yard lines.

Lund Stars
In Francis (Pug) Lund, rugged halfback, Minnesota exhibited the most elusive and hard hitting ball player of the afternoon on a cold, slippery field. The Gophers also came closest to breaking the deadlock when Bill Bevan, big guard, missed an attempted field goal from Michigan's 24 yard line in the last five minutes of the game.

The failure of this placement attempt was the climax of the game's only attacking thrill and Minnesota's biggest bid for a victory over Michigan that the Gophers have now been seeking in vain for five years. It followed the interception of a Michigan pass at midfield by Roy Oen, Gopher captain, and a series of dashes by Pug Lund.

Drake Spoils Grinnell Plans With 13-0 Win

GRINNELL, Nov. 18 (AP)—Drake university spoiled Grinnell's homecoming today by scoring a 13 to 0 triumph over the luckless Pioneer gridmen who have failed to register a victory this year.

The Bulldogs defeated Grinnell by the same score in an earlier meeting this season at Des Moines.

Drake's running and passing attack proved too strong for the Pioneers, and the home team spent most of the time on the defensive trying to stop the flashy Al Wieland.

Game Ends 7 to 0 as Chicago Knocks at Illini Goal

By LATHROP MACK
(Associated Press Sports Writer)
MEMORIAL STADIUM, Champaign, Ill., Nov. 18 (AP)—Illinois needed all its traditional "fight" today to earn a 7 to 0 victory over an inspired University of Chicago team.

The Illini, heavily favored in advance, were forced to battle their hardest for the only touchdown they scored and then to stand off a last minute drive which ended only one yard from their goal.

55 Yard March
Fifty-five yards marched the Maroons with two long, unerring passes as the final seconds ticked away but they reverted to ground plays eight yards from the goal. It was then that the Illini line, a sieve during most of the afternoon, stubbornly dug in, piled up four Chicago smashes with a total gain of seven yards and allowed Halfback Lindberg to punt out safely, clinching the victory.

That magnificent goal line defense allowed the margin of victory to lie upon a brilliant pass from Quarterback Jack Beynon to little Crain Portman near the end of the second period.

Bewerger Punt
Jay Bewerger, Chicago's sterling halfback, was forced to punt from the end zone and Left End Prink of Illinois partly blocked it. The Illini took the ball on the 23 yard line. Two plays gained four yards, and Beynon, the passing sensation of the conference season, tossed a soft spot pass to Portman. The 152 pound halfback, playing in his second varsity game, took the ball five yards from the goal, brushed aside two tacklers and fell into the end zone for a touchdown.

Sahlin Races 51 Yards
In the third period Halfback Sahlin dodged and dashed 51 yards to the Illinois three yard line. Again Portman, the smallest, fastest on the field, proved himself a hero by catching the Maroon from behind at that point. A Chicago fumble spoiled the chance to score.

the offensive power and figured in the first touchdown in the initial period when he passed to Versil Deskin for a 25 yard gain to the goal. The kick for the extra point was blocked.

Play in the remainder of the first half was fairly even, with Jim Bradley, Grinnell's Indian halfback, keeping his team out of danger by his punts.

The second Drake touchdown drive came late in the third period after the ball had been driven steadily up the field, Wieland crashing over from the 2 yard line. Swan scored the extra point.

and a 7-0 victory over the Dartmouth Indians today. It was Cornell's first major triumph of the season.

So. Dak. St. Upset
SIOUX FALLS, S. D. (AP)—Driving over a touchdown in the second period, a rejuvenated University of South Dakota football team upset a lethargic South Dakota State squad, 6 to 0, here today, aided by a costly State fumble inches from the goal line in the closing minute of play.

Bears Beat Tigers
ST. LOUIS (AP)—Led by Halfbacks Brown and Droke, who scored three and two touchdowns respectively, the Washington university Bears swamped the University of Missouri Tigers 33 to 7, before a Homecoming crowd of 9,000 today. Lawhon scored Missouri's only touchdown in the second period.

Cowboys Win State
OMAHA (AP)—The Cowboys of Oklahoma A. & M. won the 1933 Missouri Valley conference football championship today by scoring an easy 33 to 13 victory over Creighton. Scoreless until the fourth quarter, Creighton opened up a savage attack against a patched lineup that netted two touchdowns. A Creighton victory would have given the title to Drake.

Indiana Bows to Xavier; Pitt Humbles Nebraska

Big Hoosiers Outplayed by Underdog 11

Sustained Drive After Kick-Off Results in Score

CINCINNATI, Nov. 18 (AP)—Considered the hopeless underdog, the football men of little Xavier university played their most brilliant game of the year today, romped rings around massive Indiana, and defeated by 6 to 0 a team figured to lick them soundly.

One-Yard Line
Xavier, driven back in the first period, smashed to the one-yard line as the half ended; hammered down to score from the kick-off in the third; cut deep into Indiana territory in the fourth, and then mugged up a desperate passing drive to clinch the victory.

Only once did Indiana really threaten. Starting on their own 47 yard line, Weller, Walker, and the two Sawicki boys hammered down the Xavier 18. Stopped there, they sent Veller back to attempt a field goal, but Xavier's line rushed the kick to failure.

Line Efficient
A lighter Xavier line consistently opened gaping holes in the Indiana defenses through which Wunderlich and Jordan raced for sizeable gains. Their efforts brought the score in the third period after a heartbreaking fumble as the whistle blew, blocked a touchdown from the one-yard line as the first half ended.

Kansas Wins 20 to 6 From Iowa State 11

LAWRENCE, Kan., Nov. 18 (AP)—The Kansas Jayhawkers, held scoreless in five successive games, resurrected an attack strong enough to defeat Iowa State, 20 to 6, before 6,000 spectators today.

Caslin, Jayhawk end, drew the honor of ending his club's long touchdown famine, scoring before the game was well under way on a 30 yard forward pass from Manning.

The invaders made it a ball game throughout the first half, however, Allender scoring in the second quarter on a 55 yard run after he had dropped back to pass and found all his receivers covered.

Again in the second half Kansas was quick to score. White, on an off-tackle play, scampering 35 yards and shaking off several tacklers on his way to the goal line, Nesmith reeled off a 40 yard run from scrimmage to score the Jayhawkers' last touchdown in the final period.

Aside from the long touchdown gallops of the Jayhawkers, the game was featured by the persistent efforts of the Cyclones to connect with their long range aerial game, some of which missed narrowly. The Iowa State tried 29 tosses, eight of which were completed. Kansas tried nine, completing the lone effort which went for a touchdown.

Tutors Down Luther Team

CEDAR FALLS, Nov. 18 (AP)—A fourth quarter push netted the Iowa State Teachers gridmen three touchdowns and their third Iowa conference victory today in a dad's day game with Luther college. The final score was 25 to 13.

The Teachers scored first in the opening period, but Luther knotted the count in the second quarter and went ahead, 13 to 6, in the third when Lybeck piked up a blocked punt on the Panther 15 yard stripe and scampered over.

A sustained drive early in the final period enabled the Purple Panthers to tie the score again, however.

Sooners Lose
MANHATTAN, Kan. (AP)—Two spectacular touchdown dashes, 49 and 38 yards long, by Halfback Doug Russell gave Kansas State college a 14-0 victory over the Oklahoma Sooners today and the runner-up honor in the Big Six title race.

Tide Rolls Over Tech
ATLANTA (AP)—Georgia Tech's attack failed twice in the shadow of the Alabama goal today and the Crimson Tide won 12 to 9 in a game featured by the play of Howell of Alabama and fruitless long drives by Tech.

Auburn Drops Georgia
COLUMBUS, Ga. (AP)—Displaying surprising power, Auburn's Plainsmen today knocked Georgia out of the national championship football picture by administering a 14 to 6 defeat to the Bulldogs.

Five carloads of chrysanthemums, containing 48,000 blossoms, were shipped from Santa Clara county, Cal., to New Orleans for a festival.

Huskers Stop Seven Drives on Goal Line

Pitt Rings Up Lone Marker in Final Period

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 18 (AP)—The fighting Cornhuskers from the Nebraska plains stood off a relentless attack from Pittsburgh's football powerhouse for three periods today but weakened against a fresh Panther backfield in the final quarter, yielded a single touchdown and tumbled from the narrowing list of the undefeated and untied.

Passes Successful
Seven times the thin red line, which had held at bay the best of the Big Six, stopped the Pittsburgh attack within the 20 yard line, twice on the two yard marker, but it was not equal to the task of halting an air raid and it was through that medium Pittsburgh struck for its score.

Drive Starts
George Sauer, Nebraska's big fullback, punted out to his own 45 yard line from his 12. Leon Shedslosky made five yards on two tries at the line. Weisenbaugh, one of the fastest Panther backs, then broke through the left side of his line and ran 32 yards before he was downed on Nebraska's 10-yard marker.

He and Shedslosky picked up seven yards on three plays and the latter then drifted back and tossed a 20-yard pass to little Mike Nick-sick far over in the corner and behind the goal line. Bernie Masterson, Husker quarterback, leaped high in the air in an effort to stop the ball but it floated safely down into Nick-sick's arms for a touchdown.

Trojans Blast Oregon Out of Title Running

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 18 (AP)—The football wizardry of a great little quarterback, Irvine (Cotton) Warburton, today enabled Southern California to blast the University of Oregon out of the undefeated class as the Trojans won, 26 to 0.

About 60,000 spectators saw the game.

The defeat spoiled the hopes of the Webfoots for an undefeated season, carrying with it the championship of the Pacific Coast conference and opportunity to represent the west in the annual New Year's game in the Rose Bowl.

Southern California, bounding back from a defeat by Stanford last Saturday, scored before the game was five minutes old. Warburton signalled for a fair catch on the 42 yard line and an over enthusiastic Oregonian tackled and drew a 15 yard penalty. Clark fired a pass to Warburton on the 16 yard line. Propst charged to the one yard line and on the next play slipped over for the first touchdown.

Wesleyan 11 Takes Victory

MACOMB, Ill., Nov. 18 (AP)—Scoring in the second and third periods, Iowa Wesleyan, leader of the Iowa conference, defeated the Western State Teachers 14 to 7 here today.

Huffman made the first touchdown for Wesleyan when he dashed 32 yards around end. Patterson scored the second touchdown on a long pass from Bennett.

The Teachers counted in the last 20 seconds of the game, Justus plunging over from the one-yard line.

The losers made 18 first downs to six for Wesleyan.

Vois Trounce Vandy
KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Tennessee ran rough shod over Vanderbilt here today to win 33 to 6. The Volunteers scored three of their touchdowns in the third period. One of them came when Vaughn intercepted a pass and ran 79 yards.

Notre Dame 11 Takes 1st Win in Five Starts

Pilney Scores for Irish After Blocked Punt

By CHARLES DUNKLEY
(Associated Press Sports Writer)
DYCHE STADIUM, Evanston, Ill., Nov. 18 (AP)—Andy Pilney, the sophomore from Chicago's west side, led Notre Dame out of football's wilderness today, with a 7 to 0 victory over Northwestern.

Out of a battle that raged so fiercely between the traditional rivals of the gridiron that three players were helped off the field, Pilney dashed over for the only touchdown in the second period of the game after one of the "old guards" of the Notre Dame forward wall, Ed Krause, had blocked one of Ollie Olson's punts.

Sweet Victory
It was the first victory, the first score, for the leg weary Ramblers in five games, but it was probably the sweetest of all. It was well deserved, too, as the Ramblers pushed the Wildcats all over the field and piled the impressive total of 256 yards from scrimmage by passes and a smashing attack to only 46 for the Wildcats. They made 13 first downs to only one for their opponents and the statistics didn't lie.

Twenty of the Rambler players stuffed Rabbit's feet in their mole-skins today and one of them was carried by Pilney, who until today failed to live up to his reputation for lugging the pigskin over the striped ground. Maybe it was the furry good luck token, but it worked.

Famine Ends
The long Notre Dame scoring famine ended quickly. Olson, himself helped off the field along with Al Kaval and Tony Mazzotti of Notre Dame, during the heavy shelling, had just booted a punt of 80 yards to put Notre Dame in a bad hole when the situation changed dramatically. Don Elser, another Notre Dame sophomore, punted deep to the Wildcat 13 yard line. Olson dropped back to kick, but Krause broke in and blocked it. As the ball rolled about, there was a wild scramble, but Tom Gorman, Notre Dame center, recovered on the Northwestern 13. Pilney then swept into action. On his first thrust, he made two yards. He swept toward his left wing on the next try and then reversed his run with a driving, twisting dash that didn't stop until he had crossed the Wildcat goal. Mazzotti place kicked the extra point and the damage was done.

The defeat spoiled the hopes of the Webfoots for an undefeated season, carrying with it the championship of the Pacific Coast conference and opportunity to represent the west in the annual New Year's game in the Rose Bowl.

Oregon State Whips Rams
NEW YORK, Nov. 18 (AP)—The rolling hips of Norman Franklin, and the size 12 right hoof of burly Ad Schwammel, shattered Fordham's dream of a trip to the Rose Bowl today as Oregon State slaughtered the Rams 9 to 6 in a sensational inter-sectional duel.

A crowd of 40,000, shivering in the gloom of the Polo Grounds, were as stunned as the mighty Fordham array at the suddenness, then the sustained power of Oregon State's beautifully balanced offense.

Outweighed Badgers Fall in Fast Battle

Ohio State Scores in Opening Minutes of Play

By E. L. ALMEN
(Associated Press Sports Writer)
CAMP RANDALL STADIUM, Madison, Wis., Nov. 18 (AP)—A touchdown scored on a 55 yard run by Jack Smith, Buckeye halfback, in the opening minutes of play gave Ohio State a 6 to 0 victory over a fighting Wisconsin eleven today.

Outweighed almost 20 pounds to the man, the Badgers put up a thrilling battle against their experienced opponents, outscoring the Buckeyes nine first downs to six and throwing a scare into the invaders by marching 55 yards to the 15 yard line before a bad pass from center halted the drive.

Smith Scores
Smith's long run came in the second minute of play. Stan Pincura passed laterally behind the line to Smith, who cut off left tackle and scampered down the left side line. Joe Gallus and Fred Conrad took out the Badger right end and right halfback, respectively, and Smith outspurred the rest of the Wisconsin "secondary, which was slow in going across on the play.

During the remainder of the first period the Buckeyes were confined to midfield but early in the second period the Scarlet and Gray came within two yards of a second touchdown. Kabealo punted to the Badger 20 yard line and on the second succeeding play Bobby Schiller fumbled and Gallus recovered on the nine yard line. The Badgers backed up to the two yard line but Herd stopped Heekin on fourth down.

Fail to Penetrate
After this drive the Buckeyes failed to get deep in Wisconsin territory.

During the entire first half the Badgers failed to get beyond their 36 yard line. Midway of the third period, however, the Badger offense began to click.

Led by fleetfooted Tommy Fontaine and Schiller, they smashed off tackles and through center for consistent gains. The threat was dissipated on the 22 yard line when Cramer knocked down Fontaine's pass to Danovich on the goal line.

Navy Drops Tough Game to Princeton

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 18 (AP)—For approximately 44 minutes today, a hard tackling Navy team kept Garry Le Van, so well bottled up he had difficulty getting out of his own tracks.

The Princeton sophomore turned on the heat, and before a spine-tling fourth period ended a crowd of 40,000 fans saw the 153 pound sprit rear loose on a series of spectacular dashes that set the stage for two touchdowns and gave Fritz Cislser's Tigers their seventh consecutive victory of the season, 13 to 0.

Le Van turned loose the last quarter avalanche when he caught a pass from Rulon-Miller, Princeton fullback, and raced 40 yards to the "Tars' six yard stripe before he was hauled down by Wilcox, Navy safety man.

The 1933 fall turkey crop of Teo Green county, Texas, was estimated at 35 cars, worth more than $125,000.

Kelly Leading Star of Hard Fought Battle

By KERMIT BUNTROCK

The luckless Little Hawks of Iowa City, rising to their finest grid performance of the year, dropped a tough 6 to 2 decision to Grinnell in their final battle on Shrader field yesterday.

Holding their highly touted rivals in check except for one brief period during the first half and then playing then off their feet with sweeping attacks that rammed the ball into enemy territory time and again in the second half, the Red and White heartily deserved victory.

Score in Second

The story of their surprising attack is borne out in the statistics. The Wellsmen amassed an aggregate of 10 first downs to 5 for Grinnell, but were behind on total yardage gained 117 to 140, due to the ramblings of big Maurice Kelly, scintillating Grinnell fullback.

It was just one brief lapse late in the second period that let Kelly barrel through the line and reverse his field for a 44 yard touchdown gallop that decided the battle. The play came as a surprise after the charging Red and White line had smothered the Grinnell attack on the 44 yard line and had their opponents fourth down and four to go.

Grinnell Stopped

Grinnell, led by the dynamic Kelly, had threatened once midway in the first quarter, smashing the ball to the 6 yard line, where the Little Hawks repulsed the attack.

The Iowa City attack, welling in power as the game wore on, reached its peak in a great second half offensive display. Taking the ball in midfield, the Little Hawks marched in successive first downs to the Grinnell 8 yard line where they lost the ball on a fumble.

Lost Long Run

They received a tough break in this drive, when Bill Kittredge's 40 yard run to the five yard line after catching a punt was ruled void and the ball brought back to mid-field where the officials claimed Kittredge had been momentarily stopped.

The Red and White attack was slowed up by the subsequent kick and a 15 yard penalty but they came back and drove down to the 18 yard line where they were held for downs.

Little Hawks Score

The City high score came midway in the final quarter when their third drive of the second half was stopped on the six yard line just a yard short of first down. Here Kelly elected to run instead of kick, but was driven back and tackled over the goal by Marshall and McGreevey who swarmed on him before he could get under way. This gave the Wellsmen their two points but checked their touchdown drive when Grinnell received the chance of a free kick from the 20 yard line.

This score, coming at the apex of the Red and White bid for victory was probably a saving measure for Grinnell. All afternoon, the Iowa City forwards had been threatening to block punts, and with Kelly, big visiting fullback, worn from the vicious tackling he had been receiving all afternoon a blocked punt would have been highly possible.

Marshall Outstanding

Outstanding in his team's defeat yesterday was Dale Marshall, plucky diminutive Red and White halfback, who although hampered by injuries, turned in his best performance of the season. Twenty times he slashed at the Grinnell line for a total net gain of 71 yards.

Dale Williams, also playing his last game for City high turned in the brightest defensive work of the day. Time and again he broke through to spill the hard running Kelly for large losses. James, an aggressive tackle, who reached the peak of a season's improvement was conspicuous in nearly every play. His sharp blocking was instrumental in opening the holes for Marshall's twisting runs. McGreevey, Steinmetz, and Norgaard were other linemen who turned in fine performances.

Laws Again Heads Big 10 Scoring Race

Everhardus in Second Place; Fisher Boots 5 Extra Points

Joe Laws, Iowa's candidate for all-American quarterback job, put on a great demonstration yesterday to lead his mates to a 14 to 6 win over Purdue's previously undefeated Bollermakers. His two touchdowns shot him into first place, a position he had held until last week when Herman Everhardus swept past him. Joe now has five touchdowns to give him both the lead in scoring and the lead in counting touchdowns.

His position is not as secure as his backers would prefer, however, for the Colfax junior finished his conference competition yesterday while Everhardus has one more game.

Russ Fisher, great defensive half-back from Iowa, is tied with the Michigan ace for the lead in booting over extra points, each counting five.

Everhardus, Cook of Illinois, and Chambers of Northwestern, are the conference scorers who have counted via the field goal route, each tallying once in that manner.

Besides Laws and Fisher, other scorers yesterday included Portman, Illinois, Smith, Ohio State, and Febel of Purdue for touchdowns and Cook with a placement for Illinois' extra point against Chicago.

Other Iowa scorers are Page with 12 points, Crayne with six and Rook with one.

Busy Session of Court Ends

180 Probate, 558 Civil Orders Signed By Judge Gaffney

One of the busiest court sessions in a number of years was adjourned by District Judge James P. Gaffney yesterday noon. Judge Gaffney signed 738 orders during the term, 180 of which were probate matters and 558 civil. The number does not include juvenile work.

Court was in session 49 1/2 days during the September term, during which 38 cases were reported, including the trial of five jury cases involving a total of $50,000 in personal injury claims.

The only case brought up during the term which was not disposed of was finished in a night session Friday, after which Judge Gaffney took it under advisement to give a decision in the future. The case, Shirley Caldwell against A. J. Fleckenstein et al., was tried for two days and needed a night session to complete it before the end of the term.

The November term of court will begin tomorrow with District Judge Harold D. Evans presiding. Judge Gaffney opens the new term in Iowa county at Marengo tomorrow.

53 Year Old Drug Firm to Quit Business

The Shrader drug store at College and Clinton streets, one of Iowa City's business landmarks, will discontinue business.

William E. Shrader, who died Nov. 9, started the drug store in Iowa City 53 years ago and it has not changed location since that time.

District Judge James P. Gaffney yesterday in district court authorized Dr. John C. Shrader, executor of the Shrader estate, to dispose of the property of the store and to hold a cut price sale of the retail drug stock.

In his application for the authority to sell the stock, Dr. Shrader showed that the building in which the Shrader store is situated is owned by Thomas L. Marlas and that the expiration of the lease occurs Jan. 1, 1934. The court waived appraisal of the drug stock, equipment and furnishings. Wilson, Clearman and Brant represented Dr. Shrader.

Juvenile Home Says Thanks to Iowa City for Gift of Infirmary

Appreciation of the cooperation of Iowa Citizens in the establishing of an infirmary at the juvenile home has been expressed by officials connected with the home and by the children.

The infirmary was made possible by the donation of $227 and paint and reduced costs of lumber, plumbing, lighting and equipment. Six children have already been cared for in the infirmary. When the state hospital became unavailable for use of the home, the necessity of the infirmary was emphasized and Iowa citizens promptly responded with aid to establish it.

A state inspector of the child welfare department of Iowa, who recently visited the home, complimented the management and said it was one of the outstanding juvenile homes in the state.

Mrs. Monroe was seeking the $5,000, claiming that her husband, who died from injuries received in an auto accident, had a $5,000 policy with the company on which double indemnity should be paid. Attorneys Dutcher, Walker and Ries represented the insurance company.

Irving Greer Gets $3,553 Judgment in Suit for Insurance

Judgment of $3,553.67 was given to Irving Greer against the Mechanics Insurance company of Philadelphia yesterday in a decision by District Judge James P. Gaffney. The case resulted from a fire loss by Mr. Greer on his house, 311 N. Capitol street, Dec. 18, 1932.

Greer brought suit against the Home Mutual Insurance association and the Mechanics company jointly. Judge Gaffney dismissed the petition against the Home Mutual company on the grounds that Mr. Greer had forfeited his right to claim damages because he violated the policy contract by increasing the amount of indebtedness on the insured property and took additional insurance on the property without notifying the Home Mutual company.

Dutcher, Walker and Ries represented Greer. C. C. Putnam and Max Putnam of Des Moines and E. A. Baldwin of Iowa City, were attorneys for the Home Mutual company and the Mechanics company was represented by Attorneys Dillon and Sampson of Des Moines.

Hubbard, and the Cub promises were given by members of den 3.

Economy Co. Get Preferred Claim on Bank

The $3,349.69 claim of the Economy Advertising company of Iowa City against the Iowa City Savings bank receivership was established as a preferred claim in a decision yesterday by District Judge James P. Gaffney.

Decision for or against the petition depended on one day's time. Judge Gaffney found that the trade acceptances of the company, which were sued on, were placed in a bank on Jan. 11, 1932, and were placed under an arrangement as to create a relation of principal and agent, the trade acceptance left for collection only. On Jan. 19, 1932, the bank was insolvent, the evidence revealed, closing Jan. 20. The trade acceptances had cleared through the First National bank of Chicago Jan. 19 and were credited to the local bank's account.

The court ruled that if the bank here had not been insolvent on Jan. 19, at the time the Chicago bank gave credit, the relation of principal and agent would have changed to debtor and creditor and the preference of the claim would have been denied.

Attorneys Wilson, Clearman and Brant represented the Economy Advertising company and Attorneys Messer and Nolan and Davis and Davis, the bank receivership.

John Cabot
In 1497, John Cabot, a Venetian living in England, accompanied by his son, tried to find India, sailing to the north. Starting from England, they reached our continent probably at Labrador or Newfoundland. It was on the voyages of the Cabots that England based her claim to the northern and middle section of North America.
