Rathke Denounces Students Who Sign Pledge Not To Take Part in Future Wars

Legion Commander Talks at Armistice Day Service Here

The college student who pledges himself not to participate in any war was denounced as a "mighty poor descendant of the men who made America," by William C. Rathke, commander of the Iowa department of the American Legion, in an Armistice day address here yesterday.

Commander Rathke spoke on the east steps of Old Capitol to a crowd of 75 persons, six drum corps, the Pershing Rifles, and the university band in a ceremony following a parade from the American Legion building.

"We of the American Legion are sincerely for peace," the commander declared; "We have written it large in the preamble to our constitution right from the beginning 'to promote peace and good will on earth.' However, we do not subscribe to the theory of 'peace at any price.'"

"We have been informed," he said, "that at some of our educational institutions and in some of our churches, boys and girls of today are being asked to sign a pledge never to take part in any war."

"The boy who signs and keeps such a pledge will become the kind of a man," he asserted, "who would not even defend his own home in case of attack."

"We have paid too great a price for our rights and for our country to raise a race of men who cannot maintain them," he said.

In closing, the speaker made a special plea for the adoption of the universal draft plan which, he declared, "would unite the nation of men and women into a vast army of preservation."

President Eugene A. Gilmore spoke briefly after the ceremony, signed with a prayer by Chaplain Frank J. Meek of the Iowa City part of the Legion. The massed drum and bugle corps played "Semper Paratus."

From 10:59 to 11 a.m., the audience paused in tribute to the dead while the Pershing Rifles fired a salute and taps were sounded by three Legion buglers.

Two Annual Sessions Close

400 Delegates Take Part in Professional, Dad's Day Activities

Approximately 400 physicians and dentists closed the two-day sessions of the twenty-third annual clinic of the college of medicine and the twenty-sixth annual meeting of the Dental Alumni association of the University of Iowa here yesterday.

The meetings were held in conjunction with the Dad's day program, American Legion day, and the Iowa-Purdue football game. Members of both associations attended the game yesterday afternoon.

Dr. Clendenen Address

Following a dinner at Iowa Union Friday night, Dr. Logan Clendenen of Kansas City, Mo., spoke on "Medical Subjects in Classical Art" to close the first day's program for the physicians. Dr. Clendenen declared that the "development of medicine through the ages has been reflected in art and literature," and especially pointed out that two characteristics of classical art—realism and a deep spiritual belief—are closely related to medicine.

Game, Annual Banquet Entertain Iowa Dads

He Will Lead Them Into a Senatorial Huddle, No Doubt

BATON ROUGE, La., Nov. 10 (AP)—Abe Mickal, Louisiana State university football star, was "State Senator" Mickal tonight, "eligible" by Senator Huey P. Long's decree to sit in the Louisiana legislature special session Long is convening to pass "debt postponement" and other "poor man" legislation.

Mickal, who sat recovering from an injury on the sidelines today while Louisiana State was defeating George Washington university 6 to 0 in the nation's capitol, was proclaimed "state senator from East Baton Rouge parish" by an assembly of fellow students that the "Kingfish" declared was a "citizens' mass meeting."

Long said Mickal would sit as a senator when the legislature meets—probably Monday night—that he would receive the customary $10 per diem, and that his name would be placed on the senate electric voting board.

Remmers To Lecture Here

Purdue Educator To Discuss Teaching Field On Graduate Series

Prof. H. H. Remmers of Purdue university will present a graduate college lecture in the senate chamber of Old Capitol tomorrow at 4 p.m. He will discuss "Emotionalized Attitudes, Outcomes, and Measurement in Education." This lecture will be open to the public.

Prominent in the field of educational psychology, Professor Remmers, who received three degrees from the University of Iowa, has done considerable research dealing with the human factors involved in the study of college personnel. He received his B.A. degree in 1921, M.A. degree in 1922, and doctor's degree in 1929.

According to Prof. Frederic Knight of the college of education, the Indiana educator is "nationally known for his work in guiding students at Purdue university who don't quite understand the university rhythm." He has written a workbook on elementary psychology and several studies in higher education.

Professor Remmers is a member of the American Psychological association, and Sigma Xi, honorary scientific fraternity.

CHRISTOPHER MORLEY
—Will Speak Here

speaker's works are: "Parnassus on Wheels," "The Haunted Bookshop," "Tales From a Rolltop Desk," "Where the Blue Begins," "Inward Ho!" "Off the Deep End," "John Mistletoe," "Translations from the Chinese," "Swiss Family Manhattan," "Human Beings," and "Internal Revenue."

Mr. Morley makes frequent contributions to the Saturday Review, and conducts a weekly column, "The Bowling Green."

Tickets for the entire Times club series are still available at the school of journalism office, and both season memberships and single admission tickets will be on sale at the door tomorrow evening.

Judge Miles Newby Named Dads Association President

Speakers Address 400 Parents, Students In Iowa Union Lounge

Judge Miles W. Newby of Onawa was elected president of the Iowa Dads association for the coming year at a banquet in Iowa Union last night. J. C. Pryor of Burlington was elected vice-president and R. A. Emmons of Clinton was named secretary.

The elections were unanimous, nominations having been made by a nominating committee consisting of Col. Morton Mumma, Prof. A. C. Trowbridge, and Judge Homer A. Fuller of Mt. Airy.

400 Present
About 400 Iowa students and parents were present at the dinner, the closing event of yesterday's Dad's day program, in the main lounge of the Union.

Speaking for the university, President Eugene A. Gilmore declared that Dad's day is more significant to the university than other gatherings of the alumni.

"It is the duty of the university to play 'dad' to the girls and boys who come here," he said. "That is the ideal of education."

The university, he told the group, is the result of the efforts of Iowa pioneers and parents—it arose from the "soil of Iowa."

J. C. Pryor of Burlington, speaking for the Iowa dads, urged the students to bring "enthusiasm" to their life's work. He advised them to choose a vocation in which they are interested and to maintain high principles in their work.

Ruth Aurner, A4 of Iowa City, spoke for the Iowa women, and Fred Morain, L1 of Jefferson, spoke for the Iowa sons, welcoming the parents. J. A. True, president of the Dads association, presided.

Yesterday's Dad's day program was the quietest Iowa City has seen in many years. Visiting parents attended the American Legion's Armistice day program in the morning, saw the high school cross country run, and attended the Iowa-Purdue game in the afternoon.

Orderly Occasion
The 20,000 spectators who saw Iowa go down to defeat at the hands of the Boilermakers yesterday was one of the most orderly seen in the Iowa stadium on such an occasion.

The warning against drinking by Sheriff Don McComas and university authorities was evidently effective, for the 250 deputies found it necessary to remove only one drunk.

The few Iowa fans who remained in the city last night to attend last minute parties or visit friends showed little enthusiasm, and there was none of the wild spirit which has characterized such celebrations in the past.

Iowa City churches are planning special Armistice day and Dad's day services today, and all visitors have been invited to attend. It is expected many parents will remain in the city to attend these services.

Moline Corps Wins Trophy

Tri-Cities Receive Three Places In Competition Here

The Moline American Legion drum and bugle corps won first place and the silver trophy presented by the athletic department of the university in competition with four other corps at the stadium before the football game yesterday.

The trophy was presented to Drum Major L. E. Anderson between halves of the game by Prof. C. M. Updegraff, chairman of the athletic board.

Sun sparkled from gold plated "dough boy" helmets as the winning corps marched down the field. The drum major wore a black coat, red breeches, and black boots and the 24 men in the corps wore red coats, black breeches, and boots.

The Davenport corps was awarded second place, Rock Island third place and Independence fourth place. Muscatine and Grinnell were represented but withdrew from the competition in the morning.

Beside the drum and bugle corps nearly 1,000 legionnaires were here yesterday for a combined celebration of Dad's day, American Legion day, and Armistice day.

Moeur Calls Out Arizona National Guard

Troop Movements Top Boulder Dam Inter-State Struggle

PHOENIX, Ariz., Nov. 10 (AP)—Martial law was invoked today by Governor B. B. Moeur in an apparent attempt to stop the federal government and the metropolitan water district of California from building a diversion dam across the Colorado river.

Twenty machine gunners and 40 infantrymen were ordered out to augment a militia squad already on the scene. The troops were instructed to "repel the threatened invasion of the sovereignty and territory of the state of Arizona."

To Fight U.S.?
A declaration that Arizona's governor might find himself in the position of using national guard troops to "fight" the United States government was made by one California water district official who declined to allow the use of his name.

An intimation that the matter was beyond the pale of Arizona's authority was dropped in Washington by Secretary of the Interior Harold Ickes, whose department has supervision of the big construction project.

Explains Stand
Governor Moeur immediately telegraphed President Roosevelt outlining the action taken and explaining his reasons. Adjutant General Oscar Temple of the national guard said it was the first time in Arizona history that martial law had been declared.

Moeur's sudden move was another ramification of the long struggle between Arizona and the six other states involved in the Colorado river compact for the building of Boulder dam and the distribution of river water, much of it to the thickly populated metropolitan area of southern California.

'Joyous Season' Cast Listed

Second Community Production Features 'High Character Play'

The cast of "The Joyous Season" by Philip Barry, to be presented by University theater Dec. 12 and 13, with a matinee performance Dec. 15, was announced yesterday by the office of Prof. Edward C. Mabie, head of the speech and dramatic art department.

The play, which was produced in New York last season, is the second one in the community series. It has been described as being one of Mr. Barry's "happiest excursions into the realm of high character comedy."

The Plot
"The author has brought together the members of an altogether human Boston family, most of whom have lost touch with those fundamentals of character which we used to consider the basis of American society and life. They are enabled to solve some of their problems through the common sense and winning ways of one of their number, a youthful Mother Superior."

The cast is as follows: Karl Klein, A2 of La Crosse, Wis., as John Farley; Max Rees, A3 of Marshalltown, as Martin Farley; John Haefner, A4 of Muscatine, as Ross Farley; John Bornholdt, C3 of Davenport, as Hugh Farley; Olivette Holmes, A3 of Red Oak, as Christina Farley.

Catherine Nacke
Catherine Nacke, A3 of Marshalltown, as Teresa Farley Battle; Margaret Smith, A4 of Council Bluffs, as Monica Farley; Ellen Galey, G of Ashland, Ore., as Edith Choate Farley; John Hughes, A4 of Ottumwa, as Francis Battle; Eloise McGhee, A3 of Iowa City, as Sr. Aloysius and Theresa Lamb, A2 of Kewanee, Ill., as Nora.

By JACK GURWELL
(Daily Iowan Sports Editor)
Three brilliant thrusts through the air manufactured a trio of touchdowns, but Purdue snared a pair to Iowa's one and the Boilermakers riveted a stubbornly battled 13 to 6 victory bolt to their claim to a Big Ten championship yesterday afternoon in Iowa stadium before a Dad's day and American Legion day crowd of approximately 20,000 spectators.

Those who braved the raw, chilly wind that swept the field saw a bitterly fighting Hawkeye aggregation, predominantly sophomores, match apparently unstopable touchdown drives with desperate goal line stands. Although Purdue scored their third conference win, it took some tall passing and line belaboring efforts on the part of the visitors before they overcame an Iowa touchdown lead.

Against the embattled Hawks the Boilermakers stormed the field for an astonishing total of 26 first downs to four for Iowa; raged through the line to pile up 469 yards from scrimmage to 84 garnered by Iowa; but the Hawks stemmed the Boilermaker tide twice within the 10 yard line and once within the 15 yard line before making the initial touchdown of the game in the second quarter. Iowa lost, but it can't be said that the Hawkeyes were split open for a touchdown dash across the goal line. It took a pair of passes to turn the trick.

Dick Crayne's performance was of All-American calibre, but the big surprise was pulled by practically unheralded newcomers who have heretofore been hiding their talents behind sheeplike on the bench. Frank Jakoubek took a pass and scored 69 yards to place Iowa in scoring position; Floyd McDowell proved a bulwark at guard and big Jim Kelley at tackle; Johnny Hild turned in a brilliant defensive game at halfback; and the unsung because unknown guard No. 72, Don Nelson, was an immovable bulk rooted to the spot.

Iowa's touchdown came with startling suddenness and was authored from the 20 yard line, where the play was started after Purvis had kicked over the goal line. On the first play Crayne faded back and hurled a low pass 15 yards and straight into the waiting arms of Frank Jakoubek, who sprinted for the Purdue goal, hotly followed by Purvis and two other Boilermakers. Walker succeeded in standing off the two, but Purvis nailed the flying Jakoubek on his own 14 yard line.

On the next play Crayne grabbed hold of Fisher's pants and swept around left end behind perfect interference to score standing up. Fisher, still feeling the effects of the knee injury suffered at Nebraska, failed to kick the extra point and Iowa lead, 6 to 0.

At this totally unexpected turn of events the Boilermakers became demons who, led by Fullback Drake and Purvis, paraded the ball from their own 20 yard line to the Iowa 10 yard stripe by spectacular land jaunts before being halted momentarily by another sprightly bit of Hawkeye line stubbornness, and a five yard penalty after Purvis had hurled an 18 yard pass to Haas to place the ball in this scoring position. The penalty was for too much time out, and was followed by an incomplete pass to Haas behind the Iowa goal line. Then, with seconds to play in the second quarter, Purvis sailed a perfect pass into the arms of Frank Loeb, and who was in the clear behind the Hawkeye goal line. Toriello came in for try for point after

NEW PROCESS LAUNDRY

Maintains Large Modern Up-to-Date Plant.

When you send your weekly laundry bundle to the New Process and ask for the student special bundle service, you are not only getting your laundry work done for a very reasonable price, but you are also getting a very fine job.

The New Process maintains a large modern, up-to-date plant at 313-315 S. Dubuque street for the accommodation of its many customers. A great amount of care is taken in the sorting, washing, finishing and final sorting of your laundry bundles.

Everything in the plant is strictly modern and whenever something new in the laundry equipment field comes into the open market, you can be sure that this laundry is right there ready to get it for the betterment of the service to local people.

All present machinery is strictly modern. Modern materials are used throughout. Every service offered is right up-to-the minute.

Convenience is a big thing in laundry service today. We've had a lot of nice comments on our special student service, for example. We darn all sox free, mend all tears in clothing, and all missing buttons are replaced without charge.

Sometimes some occasion arises where you need something in a hurry. When you are faced with such an emergency, you can always call this laundry at 4177 and be sure of getting service in as short a time as is physically possible.

And, so, whenever you are thinking about laundry service, you can be assured that here's one laundry that is always ready to give you the very best all the time.

BOB AND HENRY

Phillips "66" Products Will Help Starting in Cold Weather

It's no secret why your automobile will start better during cold weather when the gasoline tank is filled with Phillips "66."

According to "Bob" Leinbaugh and Henry Herring, proprietors of the Bob and Henry service station at the corner of Gilbert and Burlington streets, the Phillips company pioneered in the creation of controlled volatility in gasoline. The fuel is carefully prepared for different climates, so that it acts the same in winter or summer.

Poor starting in cold weather not only is a strain on the battery, but it uses up a great amount of gasoline. "Bob" and Henry point out. In the long run, they say, it is less expensive to use Phillips "66" products—both oil and gasoline.

Both men have had years of experience with all types of automobile fuels, but believe that the "66" products are superior to all others. When they entered business in Iowa City last year, they made an extensive study of the various gasolines, but their original belief was unchanged.

For the same reason—because they wanted to handle only superior goods—they selected Lee tires, a nationally known brand noted for high quality.

The station, isolated for a short time by the repaving project on Burlington street, is now "open" again to traffic from the north.

Twenty-four hour service, greasing, and tire repair facilities are maintained at the station.

Another Scheme For Recovery

THE NEW plan for bringing about swift recovery through government subsidy to industry, as reported in yesterday morning's DAILY IOWAN by the Associated Press, is a scheme with which many interested observers have played with varying degrees of seriousness.

Briefly, it calls for a government guarantee of any losses entailed by industry through immediate increase in production. In return for this guarantee, the government would insist that industry absorb the greater portion of the unemployed.

The idea is, of course, that the resulting increase in purchasing power by the inclusion of the unemployed in the ranks of paid labor would provide the necessary consumer demand for increased production.

It is recognized that losses would be inevitable, at least until demand caught up with production, and that the government would be called upon to make good on much of its guarantee. But proponents of the plan call attention to the billions already being spent in doles and work relief to the unemployed and suggest that it might be better to spend the money to guarantee them jobs at productive labor.

The scheme apparently is faced with only one serious obstacle—the extreme complexity of its administration. Otherwise it sounds as reasonable as many another, and more reasonable than some.

Apple Annie And Ivy Lee

IT WAS a strangely fitting coincidence that the death of Ivy Lee, dean and most notorious member of the tribe of press agents, and of Apple Annie, who came to be known to all the world through the scheming of a fellow publicity maker, became known on the same day.

Apple Annie, who sold apples to the fashionable of Broadway from her little green cart beside the hotel Astor, was introduced to the world a year ago when a press agent used her in a stunt to publicize May Robson's picture, "Lady for a Day."

She was picked up one night in a limousine and whisked away to a suite in the Waldorf-Astoria, dressed in finery, and taken to a luncheon at Sherry's where she was the honor guest of a host of notables. And she showed that she really could be a lady, if only for a day.

Friday police announced that two bodies found in a dingy New York flat a week ago were those of Apple Annie and her husband, who had died accidentally of asphyxiation.

Florida Comes Through Again

FLORIDA justice went through its usual farcical motions Friday when the Jackson county grand jury wiped its hands of the case of Claude Neal, Negro, with the terse report that he was lynched "by persons unknown to us." The report meant that members of the jury concurred in the opinion of other "best citizens" of Florida that justice is only for "white folks" and that they do not intend to extend it to "niggers."

Any newspaper reporter in the vicinity of Marianna, Florida, could have named the ringleaders of the bloodthirsty mob which took Neal from the jail at Brewton, Fla., and killed him with knives. If the grand jury wanted to know, it could easily find those responsible.

The nation shuddered last year when the late dolph Governor Rolph of California commended the mob which stormed the jail at San Jose and lynched two kidnapers. But Governor Rolph was at least honest; Governor Dave Sholtz of Florida ordered the farce investigation in Marianna with the declaration that "we do not condone lynching in Florida." But he knew the lynching was going to take place before it happened and refused to do anything about it. And he knew also that the investigation would amount to nothing.

"The country needs a live and virile republican party," said former President Hoover last week. Anyone having clue as to possible whereabouts of same please communicate with Lost and Found Dept. Reward—The Cedar Rapids Gazette.

FILLERS

GOOD MORNING

Sixteen years ago today millions of men laid down their arms in the mud of France and silently vowed that never again would they take arms to fight the battles of politicians or profiteers.

It was not very old then, but that day is one of the most vivid in my memory. Strong emotions like pain and suffering and great joy make indelible impressions upon young minds, and that day was tense with all of these.

It was in Stockton, California. The great Holt tractor plant was there, and armies of men had worked day and night for endless weeks turning out hundreds upon hundreds of these lumbering big machines.

It was all rather vague. It was thrilling sometimes to watch the trains go by almost bursting with soldiers in khaki. They were all smiling and excited, and I was excited too.

But it was not clear just what it was all about. I remember lying awake a long while one night, pondering the meaning of "the big drive." Everybody had been talking about it and, whatever it was, it was to start the very next day. It had something to do with the war and the "Huns," but a drive meant a drive-way to me and it was all rather muddled.

One night my mother, in a playful mood, sang "The Watch on the Rhine." I remember it because my father hushed her very quickly and said, "Do you want all the neighbors to start calling us traitors?" Everybody laughed, a little, and I laughed a little too. It was a pretty song, I thought, and I liked to hear my mother sing. But somehow, even this had something to do with the Germans, and they were murderers and not human beings at all.

And I remember, too, the constant necessity to "Hooverize." Hooverize meant that you were not to use any more sugar than you had to and that you were to eat oleomargarine instead of butter.

I sometimes envied the soldiers who went by so happily in the trains; it would have been so glorious to deserve all the good things they were getting—the sugar and butter and white bread, and the knitted sweaters.

And that is one reason I could never understand why my mother dreaded the thought that my father might be drafted, or why she was so elated when the armistice was signed and it was certain that he would not go to war.

But the elation was so general, so spontaneous, so overwhelming that it was impossible to resist. It was as though the floodgate on a huge reservoir of suffering had burst open and released a deluge in which one could not distinguish the tears of crying and laughing.

Engines stood still on the railroad tracks and whistled like mad and the whole city became in a minute a bedlam of noise. Men and women and children joined in the most joyful demonstration built on sorrow this country has ever seen.

Each year since that day the American people have celebrated the signing of the armistice in a different way. As one looks back, year by year, the swift change becomes startling and one is struck with the feeling that those terrible years which left indelible marks of suffering on so many faces have lost their meaning.

Of course one could not expect these celebrations to retain their spontaneity; that was for one day alone and will never be regained. But it seems to me they have lost their meaning and their purpose as well.

Men and women wept tears of all-consuming joy sixteen years ago because the peace for which they had hoped and prayed had come. Their loathing for war and all its trappings had been branded into their souls with the brands of sorrow and ever more futile suffering. And when blessed peace at last became an actuality their relief and happiness were boundless.

But peace today is not the cause, and it does not seem to be the motive, of the armistice day services in which patriots in nearly every American city parade and bugle their way through the streets. And certainly it is a different spirit which prompts some orators today to exhort America to prepare for another war, which they call "inevitable."

The bald fact seems to be that Armistice day services have become little more than convenient demonstrations for the militarists and for those who wear most of their patriotism on their sleeves.

That is not fair, of course, to a great many men and women who see in these demonstrations a sincere re-dedication of the American people to the principles of peace for which they suffered so bitterly. With these I can only disagree, and say that I cannot see it that way.

When the armistice was signed the American people were "sick unto death" of the trumpey and hypocrisy of war. They had seen its touted glories transformed into sordid misery and its honor revealed as lies and deceit. They hated it and all its uniforms and banners and deceitful martial music. They hated its speeches and its hideous dishonesty. They wanted no more of it.

Why give them more? Why parade the implements of war in a demonstration for peace, unless to arouse once more the false emotions which deceived us so thoroughly before? Most Americans who remember those bitter days—even we who remember them only vaguely as through a kaleidoscope—would prefer just a day of peace. And one feels certain that those who died disillusioned in the mud and filth of European fields would rather we remembered them that way. They knew too well the other meaning of bright uniforms and stirring military music.

THE OLD HOME TOWN By STANLEY

SEEN from OLD CAPITOL by TOM YOSELOFF

Attention, Mr. Schmidt: Here's the explanation to the mystery that's had you guessing.

The thing started when "Dutch" Schmidt invited a young lady to Iowa City for a roaring week end. She was to arrive on the 4:05 train from the east. A couple of Mr. Schmidt's fraternity brothers wired the young woman and told her to leave the train at West Liberty, signing the telegram with Schmidt's name. When she got off at West Liberty, the two picked her up, explained the joke to her, and brought her to Iowa City.

Meanwhile the forlorn Mr. Schmidt met the train at Iowa City, and found it minus his love. So he betook himself to a cafe on the outskirts of the city, where he moaned and moaned about the faithless one. The faithless one had arrived at the cafe before him and was at the moment "ducking" down in one of the booths. When he found her, some excuse was patched up and Mr. Schmidt is none the wiser—until now.

The Quadrangle bulletin board is a place of heterogeneous information. For example, one placard declares: "Wanted: Bank Credit by Chester Phillips, and some wise cracker asks "Can the dean furnish satisfactory security?"

Another application gives notice that its owner wants "a ride to Williamsburg, Xmas," and it is signed "Santa Claus." But the one that gets the award for collegiate accuracy is the placard posted by a man who asks if any one has for sale a "Homer's 'Odyssey,' translation by Palmer or that other guy."

President Eugene A. Gilmore took both the doctors and the lawyers for short "rides" Friday evening in his address at the physicians' banquet in the Tri-angle ballroom of Iowa Union. He prefaced his speech with this: "I have great respect for doctors, because I don't know a thing about medicine." He pointed out that doctors and lawyers live because laymen know nothing of the two subjects.

"There is only one profession more clothed in mystery than law or medicine," he suggested, "and that is public accountancy. You call in a public accountant to audit your books, and when he's finished, you don't know a thing about it."

He complimented the doctors on the fact that they come back every year to learn the latest trends in medicine.

"We couldn't do that in the field of law," he asserted, "you can't teach a lawyer anything after he is graduated."

The Goblins, formerly dedicated entirely to the pursuit of the arts, have now entered the field of politics. They have come forward with a complete slate of candidates for offices in the Associated Students of Journalism. This department, though it usually keeps out of politics, can not refrain from pointing out the high quality of the Goblin candidates. William Merritt, who has been put into the race for the presidency, merits the office. (A pun). William Bartley would make a fine vice-president—there aren't many duties. And Mary Jo Kessel, who answers interesting telephone calls in this office, is fitted for secretary-treasurer.

Over at Westlaw, the nurses have organized a Writers club, and this column has the distinction of publishing their first work, a poem by Mary O'Hara, entitled "Vain Love":

"Oh she fondled and caressed him, And she said 'I love you, dear,' And the lights were softly shining, But he didn't seem to hear, Then the lamplight flickered lower

Junior French Club
The Junior French club will meet Wednesday, Nov. 14, at 7:15 p.m. in the north conference room of Iowa Union. Prof. Stephen H. Bush will speak.

Professors To Aid in Plans For Program

Prof. Franklin H. Potter and Prof. Dorrance S. White, both of the classical languages department, have recently received appointments as state chairmen of committees for the Horace bimillennium celebration, of which Prof. Roy C. Flickinger, head of the classical languages department, is general chairman.

Professor White is the delegate in charge of the activities of non-classical organizations in Iowa pertaining to the celebration for the Latin poet, Horace, during 1935. Prof. G. M. Whitcher of Amherst is the national chairman in this field. They will cooperate with professional and literary organizations in planning for local celebrations.

Professor Potter is in charge of Iowa of the college division of the contest for the translation of Horace. National chairman in this division is Prof. Mark Hutchinson of Cornell. There is also a high school contest under the national chairmanship of Prof. Jessie D. Newby of Central State Teachers' college, Edmond, Okla. Ten states are now enrolled in the high school contest.

Professor Flickinger also announced yesterday the appointment of two new national chairmen: Prof. W. R. Bryan of Columbia university, chairman of the committee in charge of cooperation with university correspondence schools and Orma Butler of the University of Michigan, in charge of the Horace exhibition in museums.

Water Limited
CRESTON (AP)—The city council yesterday set the water consumption for Creston homes at five gallons per day per person in its efforts to conserve the city's dwindling water supply in two lakes.

University Players Will Give Sidney Howard Production, 'Yellow Jack,' This Week

Sidney Howard is rapidly becoming a tradition at the University of Iowa. For the third time in as many years this "journalist, critic, playwright, army officer, and novelist" will be introduced to Iowa City theatergoers through his play "Yellow Jack," which will be presented by University theater Wednesday and Thursday evenings and Saturday afternoon.

Howard's play, "The Late Christopher Bean," an adaptation of the French play, "Prenex Garde a la Peinture," was produced by the University Players last season.

Two years ago the author made a flying visit to the campus at the time of the annual play production contest. He was in Iowa on "business," at the time, working on a new play dealing with farm life in Iowa and the Dakotas.

"Yellow Jack" with its numerous episodes, introduces a technique quite foreign to the conventional division by acts. Stephen Vincent Benet has enthusiastically proclaimed that "Yellow Jack" is thrilling and exciting, the finest thing ever done in the theater by an American. It makes me proud of the human race.

Profuse endorsements from the pens of America's dramatists and critics include those of Richard Lockridge, dramatic editor of The New York Sun, and Bernard Sobel of the New York Mirror. Lockridge says of the production, "A play of burning excitement; a story of magnificent courage and devotion, and of ruthless daring."

"A tremendous achievement," Sobel has written. "The theater has invested itself with new glory. This surely is the Pulitzer prize play."

The peripatetic Sidney Howard has become a linguist enough to translate and adapt eight plays from French, German, Spanish, and Hungarian authors, though perhaps his greatest fame has come through his own works. "Allen Corn," a vehicle for Katherine Cornell, had successful runs last year.

Howard, born 43 years ago in Oakland, Cal., took undergraduate work at the University of California before entering Harvard university, where he did special work under Prof. George Pierce Baker in the "47 workshop."

Since then he has served as literary editor of Life, feature writer on Hearst's International magazine, and has seen service in the World War as a captain in the American air service. His first book, "The Labor Spy," and his first play, "Swords," both appeared in 1921.

"They Knew What They Wanted," however, brought the playwright his first widespread recognition upon its appearance in 1925, and won for him the Pulitzer prize for drama.

Charles D. Hurrey Will Talk At Armistice Day Celebration

Foreign Students, Faculty Will Hear Lecture at Union

Charles D. Hurrey, student worker, will speak at 3:15 this afternoon at an Armistice day celebration for foreign students and members of the faculty and student body in the University club's rooms at Iowa Union. He will lecture on "Student Action Around the World." Mrs. Carl E. Seashore will preside at the meeting.

Mr. Hurrey is general secretary of the committee on friendly relations among foreign students, and traveling secretary of the World Student Christian federation. In this capacity he has taken part in various conferences such as the Pan-American congress on Christian work in Panama, and has been a frequent visitor in Latin America as well as student centers in Asia, Australia, New Zealand and the Philippines.

Following the celebration President and Mrs. Eugene A. Gilmore will be at home to foreign students, faculty members, and a few representative American students at a tea from 4:30 to 5 o'clock.

Student Health Department Cases Climb to New High

The student health department, during its fourth year of operation under its present set up, ending June 30, 1934, rendered services in 31,447 cases, according to the annual report issued yesterday by Dr. Milford E. Barnes, director.

This figure showed an increase of 5,227 services over the last year. The service total is exclusive of the cases handled in the University high school and elementary schools.

The student health department operates under three divisions: inspection, communicable disease, and student health and out-patient.

The inspection division is responsible for sanitary inspection of the water and milk supply, buildings, food handling, and the investigation of complaints and nuisances.

Included in the functions of the communicable disease division, which operates in close harmony with local and state officials, is the investigation of cases of communicable diseases and the enforcement of precautionary measures.

Extensive work is carried on by the student health and out-patient department. The bulk of work of the student health department is concentrated in this division, which handled 20,731 cases during the last year, an increase of 20 per cent over the previous year.

Grinnell Beats Teachers 19-12

First Win in 17 Games Cheers Fighting Band Of Pioneer Stalwarts

CEDAR FALLS, Nov. 10, (AP)—A fighting band of pioneers from Grinnell college won their first game in 17 starts here today when they trounced the Iowa State Teachers college Panthers 19 to 12. Three thousand frozen homecomers watched the fray in which all of the scoring was done in the first half.

The Panthers drew first blood, scoring before the game was five minutes old. A 12 yard pass, Champlin to McCabe who ran 20 yards with the ball, climaxed a 73 yard drive to the Grinnell goal.

Grinnell Strikes Back

Five plays later Grinnell came back and counted its first touchdown. Jim Bradley, Indiana full-back, snared a pass from Clark and scored. The ball was placed in scoring territory by a 42 yard return of the kickoff to the Tutors' 25 yard line.

Grinnell scored a second touchdown near the end of the period. The visitors got possession of the ball on the Panthers' 27 yard line on a fumble.

Nichols Scores

Clark and Bradley alternated in the drive, Bradley finally going over from the six inch stripe. Nichols scored the second Tutor touchdown after an 80 yard march down the field. He drove over center from the one yard line to count.

The final touchdown of the game came in the second quarter after Anderson, Grinnell left end, had blocked Champlin's punt and snatched it out of the air and raced 25 yards to score.

touchdown but failed and the score was tied at 6-all as the half ended.

Another touchdown drive opened with the third quarter, when Purvis took Crayne's kickoff back 23 yards to the 27 yard stripe. On a spinner Purvis ripped through the line for nine yards; rake spun for 14 more yards to the Iowa 48; Drake came around Iowa's left end and was chased out of bounds on the Iowa 31; Drake went through Iowa's right guard for six yards on the next play. A brilliant cut back found Carter planting the ball on the Hawkeye 14 yard stripe. Three yards by Drake and an offside penalty of five yards netted eight more yards.

Purvis, then Carter, picked up a yard, but on the third attempt Carter was stopped cold. Then Purvis hurled a touchdown pass over the goal line to Haas for Purdue's second touchdown. Sandefur, a guard, booted the extra point and the scoring for the game was over.

Still Raged

The battle still raged, however, as fiercely as before, and although Iowa never again seriously threatened after their sudden aerial thrust in the second quarter, the burly Crayne was a constant threat, well bolstered by Oze Simmons, George Teyro, Hild and Fisher. It seems hardly possible that the vast amount of work indulged in by the Boilermakers brought only two touchdowns, and more impossible that the two "Touchdown Twins" Purvis and Carter could be stopped cold at the very threshold of the Iowa goal line. Particularly effective in this stonewall department was big Jim Kelley and the red headed Don Nelson.

Hild, sophomore halfback who broke into the Iowa lineup at Iowa State, played one of the greatest defensive games of the season for the Hawks, and teamed with Nelson in the line in stopping the piston drives of Carter and Hecker. Simmons played practically the entire second quarter and was instrumental in stopping a threat by intercepting Carter's pass on the Iowa four yard stripe. He was injured later, however, and finally had to be supported off the field after a high-low block by two Boilermakers.

Crayne led the Iowa offense with his powerhouse ball carrying attempts, averaging five yards per try, and his kicks for mean of 45 yards held the victors at bay time and again.

Even if some of the boys were outstanding, the rest were above par, and the nine major and minor letter winners who saw their final game before a home crowd in Iowa stadium went out with flying colors. Captain Fisher headed the group that includes Jerry Foster, Fred Radloff, Marvin Kuhn, Harold Weber, George Teyro, William Ash, Bernje Page and Herman Schneidman, the latter two being on the sidelines because of injuries.

Norse Spears Pierce Fighting Hoosier Walls

Minnesota Powerhouse Roars on Title Trail As Star Backs Gallop

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 10 (AP)—Minnesota's thundering herd went on another touchdown rampage today, stampeding Indiana under a 30 to 0 football defeat before 30,000 spectators.

The Gopher's powerful line roped and hogtied the Hoosier forward wall while Glenn Seidel, Minnesota quarterback, reached into his bag of tricks to brand the invaders with the mark of the Vikings—touchdowns of victory for their sixth consecutive triumph. Unbeaten and untied, the Maroon and Gold, with this conquest are another step closer to the mythical national championship.

Hoosiers Are Stubbhorn

The vaunted power of Minnesota showed itself only sporadically as alert Indiana men followed the ball like hawks and frequently threw the offense into reverse with Beasley, Indiana end, playing a whirlwind game that set Minnesota's backs on their heels time and again.

But the Hoosiers, despite Minnesota's lack of timing and only fair blocking, were unable to cope with the brilliant running of Lund and Alfonso, the bucking of Kostka and Beise, and the Gopher passing attack. Minnesota made 14 first downs for 290 yards by rushing, against no first downs and only 37 yards for Indiana.

The game was barely a minute old when the Minnesotans struck with demoralizing effect as Indiana fumbled the opening kickoff. On the first play, Roscoe passed 32 yards to Johnson, playing end in place of the injured Butch Larson, for a touchdown. A few minutes later the Maroon and Gold was back knocking at the door. After losing 10 yards in penalties, Seidel, Gopher quarter, pulled four successive lateral passes that netted 20 yards and paved the way for Beise's one-yard smash through the line for the second touchdown.

Johnson Stars

With Johnson breaking up plays in the Indiana backfield and generally playing as well as Larson ever did, Minnesota kept the invaders in the hole throughout the second period. Just before the half ended, Keck fumbled a pass from center behind the goal line that gave Minnesota a safety and two points.

A fumble on the five-yard line cost Minnesota a touchdown in the third period, but a moment later, Levoir, subbing for Seidel, slipped through the line for 17 yards and Beise plunged two yards for a touchdown three plays later. Indiana resorted to passing in the fourth period but got nowhere.

A double-lateral, Beise to Levoir to Alfonso accounted for 14 yards and the Gophers' final score. The game ended with Minnesota driving for another on the Indiana 20.

The Trojans time after time drove goallward but each time the fighting Bears stopped them short of scoring territory. Once the boys from Troy lost the ball less than a foot from the goal line.

Southern California played its best game of the season but it was not good enough to keep the Bears from getting away to a flying start nor break through their defenses once they were out in front.

It was a great battle between two ill-fated teams. California chalked up its second Pacific coast conference victory while Southern California has yet to break into the win column of the conference.

Jordan Runs 100 Yards On Opening Kick

Field Goal in Fourth Adds Grief to Wolves; Michigan in Cellar

MICHIGAN STADIUM, Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 10 (AP)—A brilliant 100 yard run-back of the opening kick-off, coupled with a fourth period field goal, hoisted University of Wisconsin from the Big Ten football cellar today at the expense of Michigan, which took another heart-breaking defeat, 10 to 0.

Badgers Aroused

Aroused to fighting pitch by Lynn Jordan's touchdown sprint on the first play of the game, the Wolverines threatened constantly throughout the first half. No fewer than five times, scoring chances were lost when the Wolverines shifted from line plays to futile aerial attack.

The high-water mark of the Michigan attack was the Badger three yard line, which the Wolverines reached late in the first period only to lose the ball on downs.

The tables were turned in the second half and the Wolverines, who had made 11 first downs to the Badgers' one in the first two periods, found themselves outplayed in every department.

Long Jam

Taking the kick-off that started the game on the Wisconsin goal line, Jordan met a tidal wave of Wolverines at the Wisconsin 25, but shed tacklers like a duck sheds water, skirted the east sideline and sped on. The only remaining Wolverine who might have stopped him fell over an official.

Mario Pacetti, Badger guard, placed the extra point. Then, in the fourth period, he booted the Badger field goal from about 12 yards out after Stan Haukedahl had blocked a Michigan punt on the Wolverine seven.

Denver Drops Drake, 8 to 7

Bill Young Races 30 Yards for Touchdown That Clinched Victory

DENVER, Nov. 10, (AP)—Bill Young, Denver university halfback, looked a gift forward pass full in the lacines today, clutched it close and raced 30 yards for the touchdown which gave the Pioneers an 8 to 7 decision over the Drake Bulldogs in an inter-conference grid game here today.

This brief thrill for the Crimson and Gold adherents came in the second period, after Lorin Berry, Dr. U. fullback, blocked a Drake kick in the opening quarter and baited it back over the end zone for an automatic safety and 2 to 0 lead for the Pioneers.

Myron Uhl, Drake's towering quarterback, in the third period drove off left tackle from Denver's four yard line for a touchdown and placed kicked the goal for the seventh point.

next year. We've got freshmen coming up who are going to put some of the regulars on the bench," he opined.

At the other end of the stadium was a contrasting scene. Few words other than "Nice going, kid," were uttered. Coach Solem entered, extended a word or two to some of the men, and left to congratulate Noble Kizer. "Duane Purvis is a classy back," he said. "I've never seen a man fight for extra inches like he does. And those extra inches make first downs."

Princeton Wallops Lehigh 54-0; Awaits Yale and Dartmouth

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 10 (AP)—Princeton's brilliant football team, undefeated and untied since late in 1932, used the weak Lehigh eleven as its gridiron guinea pig today, testing its resources on the Engineers in preparing for the Yale and Dartmouth games ahead and scoring during the experiment an easy, 54 to 0 victory.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 10 (AP)—Deep down under an avalanche of Temple touchdowns and a world of Warner Wizardry they buried a football jinx today, back of the Carnegie Tech goal line.

And the funeral of the Skibos' four-year reign over Glenn (Pop) Warner's Owls was as impressive as the 34 to 6 score indicates.

By their one-sided victory, the men of Temple, led by the fullback bruiser, Dave Smulder, and speedy Horace Mowrey at halfback, continued their victorious march along the undefeated path for the season.

Mowrey was today's leading scorer with three touchdowns, but to Smulder went the offensive honors.

Drop Chicago In Dad's Day Contest, 33-0

Maroons Feel Loss Of Berwanger; Boucher Star of Afternoon

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 10 (AP)—With their fathers sitting on the side lines as guests, Ohio State's Buckeyes put on an aerial show today and smothered Chicago's Maroons, 33 to 0, in a Big Ten conference game.

Four of the five Ohio touchdowns were scored on passes, two of them going more than 40 yards, while the other was the result of a sustained power drive down the field.

Miss Berwanger
The Maroons, minus the services of their star, Jay Berwanger, were never dangerous, and could not solve the intricate passing game of the victors.

Franklin Boucher was the boy in the spotlight today.

He scored the first touchdown on the end of a forward lateral which had passed from Dye to Busick, in the first period, and came back in the next frame to snag a 40 yard pass on the goal line for another touchdown.

One Inch Plunge
Wetzel scored in the first period, also on the tail-end of a forward lateral in which Dye and Busick had figured, and also played a fine defensive and plunging game.

McAff caught a 40 yard pass from Fisch in the last period over the goal line for the final score, after Antenucci had plunged over from the one inch mark a few minutes before.

Monahan, captain of the Buckeyes, kicked three out of four goals after touchdown, making his record 18 out of 20 for the year.

Syracuse Conquers Unbeaten Team By Furious Onslaught

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Nov. 10, (AP)—Scaling the heights of attacking fury, cohesion and execution, a mighty Syracuse university eleven today cutlaced Michigan state squad, 20 to 0, in an inter-sectional battle of two unbeaten and untied teams at Archbold stadium.

A capacity crowd of 30,000 fans saw the dazzling Orange score a field goal mid-way in the second quarter, tally a touchdown in the final period, and threaten a bewildered Spartan team several times before it paraded off the field with its clean state still intact.

Led by a slippery-hipped Lou Ginter fullback playing before a home town crowd, Syracuse consistently outplayed its highly touted East Lansing adversaries in all departments, permitting the enemy to penetrate no deeper than the 25 yard line.

Ike Armstrong Calls For Magic Footgear As Utes Lose 7 to 6

SALT LAKE CITY, Nov. 10, (Special)—Coach Ike Armstrong sent a hurry up call to Ossie Solem at the University of Iowa for his "goal-kicking shoe" after the University of Colorado defeated his Utah eleven here today 7 to 6.

Several weeks ago Armstrong sent Solem a football shoe "guaranteed to kick extra points", this after the one point defeat by Nebraska, but now the shoe appears to be on the other foot. The defeat probably cost the Utes a conference title.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 10, (AP)—The old Georgia hoodoo paid its annual visit to the Yale bowl today and the crackers from Dixie downed the Elis, 14 to 7, thereby becoming the first team on record to turn the Blue back five times in a row.

Twenty-five thousand customers turned out to see the red-jerseyed visitors spot the home boys a touchdown early in the proceedings and then, led by George Chapman and Johnny Bond, two fancy backs, and well supported by a powerful, hard-charging line come back to score twice and romp home with the victory.

103 Runners Compete In Meet; Winner Gets Large Silver Trophy

By RAY COX

Muscatine high school barriers raced to the team championship in the thirteenth annual interscholastic cross country run on Pinkbike course yesterday morning before the largest crowd to watch a cross country meet here this season.

The Muscatine victory took the crown from Ottumwa, champion for the last three years. The defending champs, with 19 points to Muscatine's 12, tied with East High of Des Moines for second place in the scoring.

PITT PANTHERS HUMBLE CORNHUSKERS, 25 - 6

Nicksick Runs Across Four Touchdowns

Second Worst Defeat Suffered by Huskers On Home Gridiron

LINCOLN, Neb., Nov. 10 (AP)—Back in the same midland gridiron jungle where they had been starved on a scoreless diet through three successive hunts, the slaying Panthers from Pittsburgh held one of the sweetest feasts today by routing Nebraska's vaunted but outclassed Cornhuskers, 25 to 6 before 35,000 spectators.

A Brimming Cup

The defeat, sealed and certified during the first three periods when Nick Nicksick raced through the Nebraska defense for all four Panther touchdowns, was the second worst ever suffered by the Cornhuskers at home and gave the Panthers full revenge for the scoreless fight on the same field in 1928-29 and 32. The worst Nebraska rout at home was turned in by Notre Dame 18 years ago, 20 to 0, but the Panthers had that one shaded up until the final period when "Chief" Henry Bauer flipped a 22-yard pass to Ray Toman for the only Cornhusker score.

Nicksick, the stocky Serbian boy who was a great flop in Coach Jock Sutherland's plans for two years, rolled over all the Panthers touchdowns in today's lopsided battle, but standing with him head and shoulders above the rest of the team was the Panther all-American (and also, Izy Weinstein. Izy not only was a bulwark in the Pitt defense but ran superb interference and tossed laterals to his running mate that completely baffled the Cornhuskers who were out rushed 150 to 153 yards, 70 of which were gained by passes.

Nebraska Routed

Nicksick gained a total of 101 yards in 14 attempts while Weinstein piled up 91 in 14 thrusts at the Nebraska line which was saved from an even more disastrous rout by exceptional defense by the secondary.

Lloyd Cartwell, speedy sophomore back, was the spearhead of the Cornhusker attack, gaining 28 yards from rushing, and electrifying the former home team rooters with spectacular punt returns.

Colgate Baffles Tulane, 20-6

Kerr's Pigskin Toters Break Southerner's Winning Streak

NEW YORK, Nov. 10 (AP)—Shuttling the pigskin around with amazing dexterity, Andy Kerr's maroon-clad magicians from Colgate completely baffled the beefy Tulane team today and knocked the southerners from football's unbeaten ranks with a sensational intercollegiate triumph.

Bewildering Attack

A crowd of 45,000 spectators saw the speedy up-state eleven dash off with a 30 to 6 decision after executing a bewildering passing attack.

After the first period, when Claude (Dumb) Simons, Tulane backfield ace, led the Green Wave's only scoring drive but failed to tally the tying extra point, Colgate kept the upper hand in all departments of play. The maroon magicians didn't have much margin at rushing and they had only a 12 to 9 edge in total first downs but they ran Tulane ragged with their passing wizardry.

Simons Stars

Simons, an outstanding star even in defeat, carried the brunt of Tulane's kicking, passing and running game until he dropped from the combined effect of tackling punishment and exhaustion, late in the final period. He scored Tulane's touchdown on a short buck, after heaving passes to Kyle and Hardy during a 40 yard advance, but thereafter he was mostly bottled up by the aggressive Colgate forwards. Tulane penetrated Colgate territory only once in the last three periods, due to a 44 yard sprint around end by Barney Kintz.

Army Rambles Over Harvard By 27-6 Tally

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 10 (AP)—Looting a minute for every one they worked, the high-powered Army cadets counter-marched back to victory today by overwhelming Harvard's inexperienced forces, 27-6, before the grey-uniformed corps and 45,000 civilians, a combination that provided the Crimson with its largest crowd of the season.

Rip-Raring Backs
The rip-roaring Army backs, behind the tank-line blocking of their captain, Joe Stancok, hit almost a point-a-minute rate during the first half during which Right Half-back Whitey Grove carried over two of Waco Jack Butler's passes for touchdowns and Bill Grohs, sub quarterback, ploughed over for two more.

The Cadets, in gaining their third straight win over the Crimson, enjoyed a half holiday, for little of their second half time was spent bearing down on their helpless Harvard rivals, who had seven sophomores in their starting lineup.

The Harvard touchdown, rammed over by the 137-pound Bill Parquette, a high skilled passer, came later in the second period, after the Army fire had ceased. Maury Simons intercepted one of Parquette's longer heaves on the Cadets' 10-yard line, but fumbled on the first play and Henry Adlis, sophomore tackle recovered for Harvard.

The Thin Man

An offside penalty moved the ball up to the Cadets' five yard line and Parquette cracked the powerful Army front with his thin shoulders. His touchdown was the first one Harvard has scored against the Cadets since 1913, when Barry Wood filled the air with Crimson passes for a last-minute 14-13 triumph.

Southern Methodist Use Pass Plays To Rout Texas Aggies

DALLAS, Tex., Nov. 10 (AP)—Up to their old passing tricks again after several weeks of devastating running play, Southern Methodist's Mustangs plastered the Texas Aggies with one of their worst South-west defeats in 10 years here today, 28-0.

The Mustangs made 196 yards via the air. Eighteen times they attempted aerial gains and 14 times they clicked.

Navy Stops Savage Notre Dame Attack to Win, 10-6

CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 10 (AP)—Bitter as though the inland seas themselves were in danger, the young men of the Navy made a magnificent stand on the shores of Lake Erie today, hurled back the Green might of Notre Dame 10 to 6, and sailed on toward unbeaten glory as great as any the football forces from Annapolis ever have known.

Only twice in all the 60 minutes of play did the dauntless machine of "Buzz" Borries, Bill Clark, Slade Cutter, Bob Dornin, Dick Burns, Lou Robertson and the rest, have a chance to score on a hapless Notre Dame team that piled up 14 first downs to their three, outmuffed at least eight clear chances to score before finally putting over a touchdown in two swift plays in the last 60 seconds of the game.

Two Swift Stabs
Yet swift and blasting as six inch guns at point blank range, Navy cut loose both times for a 19 yard field goal from Cutter's big boot in the second quarter, and a dazzling pass play for a touchdown in the last period, a few seconds before Notre Dame's breathless final surge contributed the final thrill of a sensation-packed afternoon for 60,000 in the huge Municipal stadium.

With only two minutes to go, and the play getting ragged as every one tired, it appeared that Navy's one swift stroke early in the half game was all there was to be. Burns, late in the first quarter, had broken from his guard hole into the Notre Dame backfield, had blocked Bill Shakespeare's punt and recovered on the Ramblers' 37 yard line. Borries threw a pass to Dornin on Notre Dame's 11, and as the second period opened, Cutter dropped back and kicked the field goal.

Cyclones Drop 12-0 Tilt to Oklahoma

Score Twice In 1st Period For 12-0 Win

Markers Come After Iowa State Fumbles Put Ball in Position

NORMAN, Okla., Nov. 10 (AP)—Two rapier-like thrusts in the first period gave the up-and-coming University of Oklahoma Sooners a 12 to 0 victory over Iowa State here today. The win, cheered by more than 8,000 fans, gave the Sooners undisputed hold on third place in the Big Six conference and a chance to step into the runnerup position against Kansas State next Saturday.

A punt by Cash Gentry, Oklahoma's triple threat tackle, early in the opening period, paved the way for the first Sooner score. Gentry, with the wind at his back, punted 70 yards over the Iowa State goal line.

Poole Fumbles

The Cyclone, stooped on the 28 yard line when Poole fumbled and ran instead of kicking, couldn't stop the charging Sooners.

Robertson, hard-running Sooner quarterback, carried the ball to the Iowa State 15. After repeated plunges, Poyner went over for a touchdown. Long's attempted kick was blocked by Miller.

Gentry was forced out of the game by a twisted knee when he slipped and fell after punting in the second period, but the game was won.

The second touchdown that came almost immediately after the first was indirectly the result of Gentry's booting.

Allender Fumbles

After an exchange of punts Oklahoma failed to make downs and Gentry punted out on the Iowa State 16 yard line. Allender fumbled on the first Iowa State play and Parks recovered. Line plunges failed to give the Oklahoma Sooners much yardage and Robertson passed, Miller intercepting the flip on the five yard line. Behind his own goal line Poole at-

Buena Vista Wins, 7-6

STORM LAKE, Nov. 10 (AP)—Buena Vista turned in one of Iowa's greatest upsets today defeating the highly-touted Morningside eleven 7 to 6 after having outplayed the Sioux City team throughout the second half.

The Beavers played heads-up all the way and would have had another touchdown in the first quarter had the play not been called back for backfield in motion.

Morningside scored when Rosenberger blocked Sweet's punt and Hedum fell on the ball behind goal. Buena Vista's score came in the fourth quarter, after repeated threats, on a pass Sweet to S. Keister for 30 yards.

Explanation Of "Strange As It Seems"

The International, battle hymn of the Russian revolution and national anthem of Soviet Russia, was not the work of a Russian revolutionist, nor was it the product of or for the Communists in their revolt against the Czarist government. Strange as it seems, it was written words and music by two Frenchmen, and it was sung on the streets of Paris while the Red revolt was still 28 years away.

The words were written by Eugene Pottier of Paris, in hiding at the moment for taking part in the attempted overthrow of the government at the close of the Franco-German War in 1871. He escaped later to America, eventually returned to Paris and there published a volume of his poems included in which was a poem which later came to be the words of The International.

The music was by Alphonse Desgeyter, a French textile worker, who wrote the music to fit the words after he discovered Pottier's poem in 1885. Four years later the

Stanford Juggernaut Thunders on Over Previously Unbeaten, Untied University Of Washington Huskies for 24-0 Triumph

PALO ALTO, Cal., Nov. 10 (AP)—Stanford's mighty football juggernaut thundered on toward the Pacific Coast conference championship and Rose Bowl recognition today with a crushing 24 to 0 victory over the previously unbeaten, untied University of Washington Huskies.

With smashing power that swept the game but sadly outclassed Huskies into defeat, Coach C. E. "Tiny" Thornhill's Cardinal Raiders retained their status as an unbeaten eleven and apparently clinched the right to represent the west for the second successive year in the New Year's day classic at Pasadena.

Only California remains on Stanford's conference schedule and on the basis of comparative scores should not produce enough strength to check the drive of the Indians.

Only once did Stanford take to the air. Bobby Grayson led the attack and defense that sent Washington tumbling to its first defeat of the season and the worst since California ran up a 33 to 0 count last year.

song was sung in Paris during the International Labor Congress. It was not until 1917 that the Russian revolutionists adopted the song as their battle hymn.

Al Wittmer holds the world's all-time record for yardage per rush—he rushed the ball just once in three years' play with the Princeton backfield. His principal offensive job was to run interference. Tomorrow: Man, the midway point.

Quiet

"Yesterday's was the quietest football game we have ever experienced," Chief of Police W. H. Bender said last night when he announced that no persons had been arrested during the game or immediately following for intoxication.

Bood

One of Iowa City's policemen received the united boogie of the north half of the west stands at the game yesterday when he attempted three times to arrest a rather jovial gentleman.

Fire

Firemen were called to the J. W. Pearson home, 10 Grant street, to extinguish a small roof fire yesterday.

New Cases

Fifty-two new cases were filed for the November term of district court which opens here Nov. 19. The deadline for filing new cases was Friday afternoon.

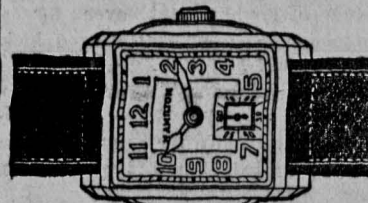

School

Eight subjects are listed in the curriculum of the adult school sponsored by the General Workers' organization of Iowa City. Persons may sign up for classes in earth, sewing, current events, physical education, dietetics, music, and German. Matilda Paul, chairman of the school, announced yesterday.

District No. 10, 10th of the month
District No. 15, 15th of the month
District No. 20, 20th of the month
District No. 25, 25th of the month

● The change is made to do away with the first of the month congestion caused by customers throughout the entire city paying their monthly bill on the same two or three days of each month. This caused most customers to wait in line for some minutes, an annoyance now removed.

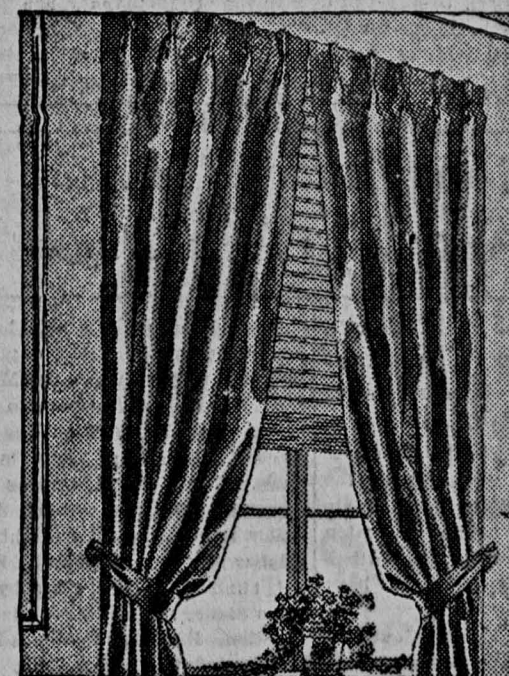

● The company hopes the inconvenience caused by the change-over to the new bookkeeping system will be short-lived.

Report Card

By Prof. Metro Ebb Hack

BOOKS

B "Men in White" was a great success. So now we have WOMEN IN WHITE, by Peter Delius (J. B. Lippincott, $2.00), which is much better than might be expected under the circumstances. Some nice characters, well drawn. Romantic and courageous.

A K-7: SPIES AT WAR, by George F. Zimmer, as told to Burke Boyce (Appleton-Century, $2.50), is a thriller which is all the more thrilling because it is authentic. Book is based on the radio show, "K-7" and is one of the best of this type of books which has come out in a long time.

A THE VISITING VILLIAN, by Carolyn Wells (J. B. Lippincott, $2.00) is the latest Fleming Stone detective novel. The usual murder mystery, of course, but a pet cobra and too many wills serve to really complicate things!

MOVIES

B NOW AND FOREVER—Just exactly how the title fits this picture is still a mystery to ye reviewer, but the picture has Shirley Temple, and "for them that likes Shirley", that's enough. The story is one of those unbelievably romantic crook yarns. (Gary Cooper, Carol Lombard).

B HAPPINESS AHEAD—If you like to hear Dick Powell sing, go and hear him. Also take a look at Josephine Hutchinson, a newcomer to films. See that dimple? Picture is not long on story, but it's an entertaining cross between straight movie and musical comedy.

RADIO

B SARBORUNDUM BAND—This band is made up almost entirely of amateurs and is interesting for that reason. In addition, they put out good music and a splendid show. (WABC-CBS, Saturdays, 10 P.M. EST.).

B UNCLE EZRA goes "big time." Pat Barrett brings his famed character to a NBC network as the owner of a small town radio station. More trouble! (NBC-WEAF network, Wed., Fri. 7:30 EST and Sundays, 7:15 P.M. EST.).

PIPE OF PEACE » The traditional ceremony is held between halves of the annual University of Illinois (Champaign) and Washington University (St. Louis) grid battle.

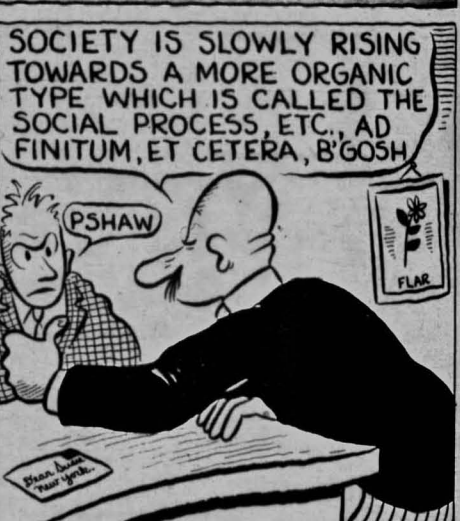

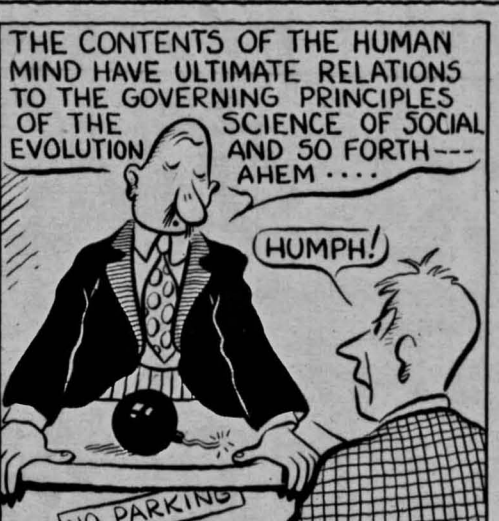

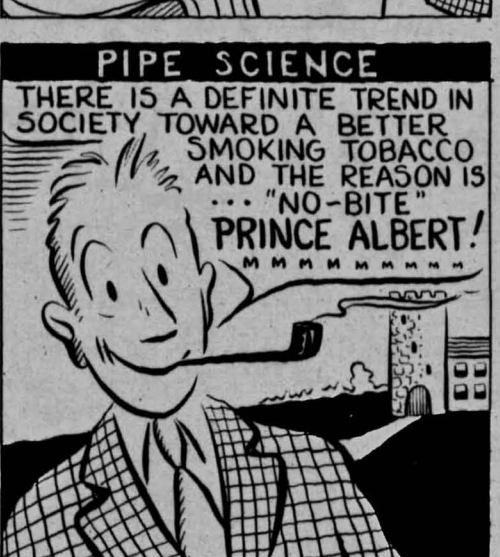

TWIN PRESIDENTS » Bernice and Barbara Stiles look so much alike that members of the Arizona State College (Flagstaff) Y. W. C. A. elected them co-presidents.

AGED HARVARD MAN » John T. Morse Jr., 94, is the second oldest living graduate of Harvard University (Cambridge, Mass.).

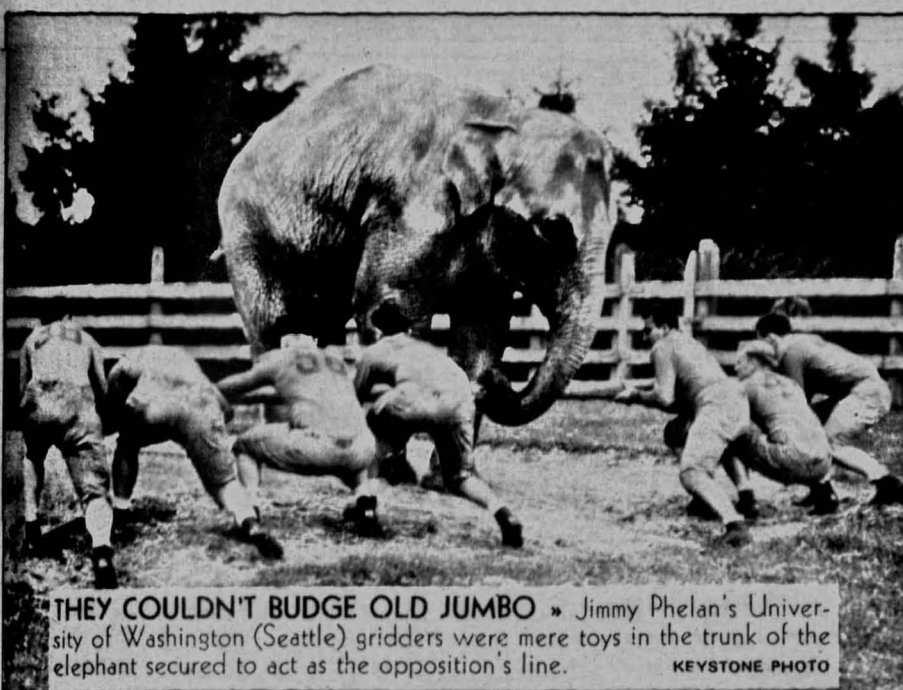

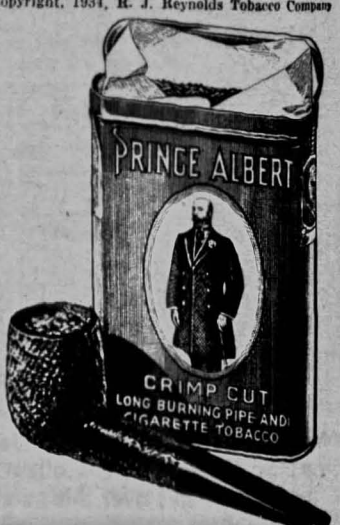

JIM THORPE LINES UP WITH MOVIE ALL-STARS » The famed grid player and coach holds down the right end on this studio workers' team. Victor McLaglen does the running from his full-back position.

AFTER EVERY CLASS IT RINGS THE BELL!

IT IS not only top-quality tobaccos that make Prince Albert the finest smoking tobacco you have ever tried—in addition, these choice tobaccos are blended by a secret method and then treated by a special process which absolutely removes all the "bite." You'll enjoy this mellow smoke—full of rich, smooth flavor!
