Stalin Advises Worker's Union For Protection

Leader Would Gain Political, Moral Backing

Organization Necessary For Strengthening Army and Navy

MOSCOW, Feb. 14 (AP)—Joseph Stalin, leader of the communist party, urged today the Soviet Union bolster its defensive program by organizing the working classes of other countries to give Russia political aid "in case of military attack."

The "final victory of socialism" will not be complete, he said, until such aid is added to Russia's efforts to strengthen her army and navy.

Stalin's declarations were made in a letter in Pravda, the party organ, written in response to a question of a young communist league agitator who asked him whether the final victory of socialism could be considered won.

"The aid of the international proletariat appears to be a force without which the final victory of socialism in one country is not to be decided," he declared.

He did not say whether he had in mind collaboration with foreign labor parties, non-communist as well as communist, nor did he mention communism or advocate the overthrow of capitalism in other countries.

"Of course," Stalin said, "it doesn't mean that we must sit with folded arms awaiting help from the outside."

"On the contrary, the aid of the international proletariat should be joined with our work for increasing the defense capacity of our country, of strengthening the red army and the red navy, the mobilization of the whole country and with our struggle against armed attacks and attempts to restore bourgeois connections."

The first stage of socialism's victory in Russia has been won, Stalin wrote, "by liquidation of the bourgeoisie." He said the exiled Leon Trotsky and others who advocated international revolution had been shown to be wrong.

Vern Nall Gives Report

Attends Conference Of Small Business Men in Washington

"There's no difference in the viewpoint of a small business man and a large one," said Vern Nall, owner of the Nall Chevrolet company, who attended the recent conference of small business men in Washington.

Asked for the opinion of small business men regarding the causes of the current business recession, he said, "The general impression is that labor unrest, coupled with uncertainty and fear of government policies. Many people say they are not buying things because they are afraid of what's coming."

Almost a thousand attended the conference which was divided into 10 sections to discuss different problems, including government loans to small companies, unemployment, fair trade practices, social security, government research, wages and hours, housing, installment selling, development and location of industries, and other subjects.

Nall's chief interest was the section that discussed installment buying. This group was dismayed by the president's recent condemnation of installment buying and passed resolutions to the effect that installment buying is sound and requesting the administration to abandon efforts to regulate competition between different business units, and to instead pursue a policy of enforcing competition coupled with a strict and energetic enforcement of present anti-trust laws.

"There were a few business men there who wanted government loans," said Nall, "but what most of us wanted was just to be left alone."

While in Washington, Nall had the use of a limousine and chauffeur as a courtesy of the Buick sales organization there. Incidentally, Nall's chauffeur and car were the same that were used the week before by Alfred P. Sloan Jr., president of General Motors corporation, when he attended the big business conference.

Ten Tons of Food for Needy Families

Nearly 540 Johnson county and Iowa City families will benefit by the distribution of ten tons of food today and tomorrow. It is piled in the basement at 227 S. Capitol street. Iowa City families may call for their packages today and tomorrow. The remainder will be trucked to other towns in the county. The food was supplied under the surplus commodities act last year passed by congress. It will be distributed under the auspices of the Social Service league. The County Relief committee has arranged the project.

'Odd' Jots Down Last Column

Creator of 'New York Day by Day' Feature Dies After Short Illness

NEW YORK, Feb. 14 (AP)—O. O. McIntyre, famous New York newspaperman—whose daily syndicated column "New York Day by Day" made his name a household word to millions of readers—died at 2 a.m. today in his Park avenue apartment.

He was 53 years old. Pending a medical examiner's report, the exact cause of death was not known. He had been ill only a few days.

The jaunty, trim-figured writer jotted down his last column in bed Saturday, read the Sunday papers and made notes for his next column, and then retired with a mild complaint he felt "a little rocky."

"At the last, he seemed to become exhausted and just drifted off to sleep," said Charles B. Driscoll, long time friend of McIntyre and editor of McNaught's syndicate, which released the columnist's daily 800-word vignettes of the passing scene of New York to 508 newspapers from coast to coast and in Canada and Mexico.

Only his wife, the former Maybelle Hope Small, was at his bedside when he died. He refused a doctor, saying he would soon be up and "feeling chirky" again. Mrs. McIntyre, his devoted companion since their marriage in 1908, said his last words were: "Turn your face to me so I can see you."

They would have celebrated their 30th wedding anniversary, also his 54th birthday, on Friday. Funeral services will be held at Gallipolis, Ohio, probably on Thursday.

Relief Supplies Received Here

Distribution Will Begin This Morning For Entire County

Nearly 540 needy Johnson county families will share more than 10 tons of food received by the County Emergency Relief committee, headed by Dr. W. L. Bywater, to be distributed today and tomorrow.

Distribution of the food, sacked by social service workers, will start at 8 o'clock this morning at 227 S. Capitol street, under the auspices of the Social Service league.

Iowa City families may call for the food at this building while Oxford and Lone Tree families will receive their portions from stations located in those towns. The food will be taken out by trucks today.

Collected by the federal government as part of the "surplus commodities" authorized by an act of congress last year, this food includes five tons of potatoes, 100 bushels of apples, 3,400 pounds of beans and two tons of rice.

In the event that all the food is not distributed, the remaining perishable supplies will be given to the county juvenile home, 538 S. Gilbert street.

End of 19-Day Rain Sighted

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 14 (AP)—

Success from rains and driving winds that have swept northern California for 19 days, left the western seaboard relatively calm tonight, but flood damage grew as the final runoff choked valley creeks and rivers.

Among the 11,000 guests at the ceremony were Sultans of the Malay States, including the Sultan of Johore who made a personal gift of $2,500,000 toward the cost of the base.

The drydock, on the heavily fortified north coast of Singapore island, formally was opened when Sir Shenton Thomas, governor of the Straits Settlements, dedicated it and named it "The King George VI dock."

Twenty-four British naval ships from various bases in the far east were here for the occasion.

Crop Control Bill Wins Approval Amid Praise And Bitter Criticism

Nazi-Austrian Pact Hits Snag On One Point

Hitler's Suggestion For New Nazi Cabinet Member Vetoed

BERLIN, Feb. 14 (AP)—The path to a complete understanding between Germany and Austria and the Anglo-German settlement that depends on it still is strewn with potential stumbling blocks.

While the conference Saturday between Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler and Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg served to clear the stormy atmosphere between them, it marked only the beginning and by no means the end of negotiations.

In fact, Schuschnigg took away with him several questions, the nature of which were not disclosed, which he promised to answer after meeting the Austrian cabinet.

(In Vienna Schuschnigg was said to have brought three proposals to put before President Wilhelm Miklas for his selection. A hitch in the settlement was reported to have developed as the chancellor discussed his interview in hours long conferences with the president and cabinet.

(Miklas was said to be withholding his approval because he objected to Hitler's suggestion a Nazi sympathizer be made minister of the interior with full control of police.)

The discussion by the two chancellors of means to end the friction caused by Nazi ambitions in Austria centered by ways of strengthening and widening the provisions of the accord of July 11, 1936.

Article one of that agreement contains the German government's unequivocal recognition of the full sovereignty of Austria. Article two pledges both governments not to interfere directly or indirectly in the internal affairs of the other.

Such a clarification of Germany's position with regard to Austria was understood to have been made a preliminary requirement by Britain to a general settlement with Germany that might include return of colonies.

Superior Court Jury Receives Sanity Hearing

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 14 (AP)—The question of deciding whether Paul Wright was insane when he shot to death his wife and John Kimmel, his friend, was given to a superior court jury at 6:45 p.m. (C.S.T.).

The jury is the same body which last week convicted Wright, former airport manager, of manslaughter in connection with the slayings.

Both defense and prosecution were surprisingly brief in presenting their cases.

The sudden termination of testimony seemed to come as a welcome relief to jurors. They had already been on duty for nearly a month when they convicted Wright last Saturday of manslaughter.

Jerry Giesler, Wright's defense counsel, did not call a single defense witness, and was able to limit the number of prosecution witnesses to four. In his contention that Wright was shocked into temporary insanity upon seeing his wife and Kimmel in an unusual embrace, Giesler relied solely upon his cross-examination of psychiatrists called by the prosecution.

The three psychiatrists—Drs. M. J. Rowe, Victor Parkin and Gustav Boehme—all testified for the prosecution that they believed Wright was sane at the time of the shooting, realized the nature of his act and knew right from wrong.

The three psychiatrists appointed by the court some weeks ago, interviewed Wright yesterday. Dr. Rowe attempted to examine him last December, but Wright refused to submit to the test.

'Where Are The Good Old Days?' Asks Valentine, Neb.

VALENTINE, Neb., Feb. 14 (AP)—

Maybe it's the machine age, but Valentine's day ain't what it used to be, Postmistress Marguerite Phelps reported today.

Only 250 valentine letters were on hand for cancellation today with the Valentine, Neb., postmark, she said, compared with the record of 8,000. Last year 1,000 persons wanted their Feb. 14 letters to carry the unusual marking.

She attributes part of the decline to competition from Valentine, Ariz., Valentine, Tex., Valentine, Mont., and Valentines, Va.

England Opens Largest Naval Dock in World

Formal Ceremony In Singapore Attended By U. S. Ships

SINGAPORE, Feb. 14 (AP)—With three United States cruisers as the only foreign warships present, Great Britain formally opened the world's largest naval dock today, marking virtual completion of her $150,000,000 "Gibraltar of the Orient."

Rear-Admiral Julius Townsend, commanding the battle cruisers Trenton, Memphis and Milwaukee, represented the United States at the inauguration of the $55,000,000 drydock which is the major feature of the naval base.

Although two years' work on subsidiary equipment must be done before the base officially is completed, British naval authorities guardedly admitted it is now "ready for use." They said Britain's entire navy could be based here "comfortably."

The United States warships did not actually take part in the opening of the dock, but they dressed ship in salute as Sir Shenton Thomas, governor of the Straits Settlements, dedicated it and named it "The King George VI dock."

Twenty-four British naval ships from various bases in the far east were here for the occasion.

Bywater Heads F. D. R. League

Dr. W. L. Bywater was elected president of the Roosevelt Non-Partisan league at an organization meeting last night in the Unitarian church basement.

Six other officials were named including Prof. W. Ross Livingston, co-president; Mrs. Bion Hunter and Mrs. F. A. Stromsten, vice-presidents; Harry Shulman, treasurer; C. G. Sample, recording secretary, and F. W. Meyer, corresponding secretary.

Dedicated to "his principles for the new deal," the new organization claims representatives of both major parties. Its aims are to advance the general policies advocated by President Roosevelt, officials said.

Members declined to state whether the league plans to sponsor the president for a third term.

Lengthy Battle Culminates In Final Passage

Iowa's Senators Vote For Compromise Measure

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14 (AP)—A crop control bill, praised as "the best farm bill ever enacted" and denounced as "regimentation" and "more harness" for the farmer, received final congressional approval today.

The measure, establishing a system under which the secretary of agriculture, in cooperation with farmer committees, may prescribe limitations upon the quantity of wheat, corn, cotton, rice and tobacco grown or marketed, now goes to the White House for the expected signature of President Roosevelt.

The last step in its tortuous journey through congress, which began in mid-November, was taken when the senate adopted a compromise measure, 56 to 31.

While the bill establishes varying approaches for each of the crops affected, in general it directs the secretary of agriculture to make an estimate of the expected supply, set this figure against expected demand and adjust production accordingly.

This would be done by paying benefits to farmers who planted no more than a specified acreage. In addition, in years of bumper crops, the secretary of agriculture would be empowered to fix marketing quotas, limiting the quantities that could be sold and thereby protecting the price.

Such quotas would be dependent on a two-thirds vote of farmers taking part in special referendum.

Before Christmas, divergent bills were approved by both house and senate after much stormy debate. Upon recovering after the holidays a conference committee representing both houses took up the task of working the provisions of the two measures into one bill.

Iowa's two senators, Clyde L. Herring and Guy Gillette, both democrats, voted in favor of adoption of the conference report on the farm bill today.

U. S. to Spend Gold in Effort To Halt Slump

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14 (AP)—The treasury administered a dose of potential credit expansion to ailing business tonight.

Secretary Morgenthau announced a plan for putting newly acquired gold to work in such a way as to increase the nation's credit base to a limited extent, and to reduce the treasury's borrowing.

With the approval of the federal reserve board, he decreed a year-old gold "sterilization" program, under which gold has been prevented from enlarging the potential credit resources of the country, would be partially abandoned. Each quarter year, the first $100,000,000 of gold the treasury acquires will not be sterilized.

Instead, the treasury will spend the gold, and permit the yellow metal to expand the credit base.

No official explanation of the new policy was made, but it was attributed by authoritative persons to the business recession. The "sterilization" program was initiated Dec. 24, 1936, to neutralize the inflationary effects of the then huge inflows of foreign gold.

Mother to Ask Son's Return From Spain

GIBRALTAR, Feb. 14 (AP)—Mrs. Harriet Bayne Castle of Oxen Hill, Md., arrived today on her way to ask insurgent Generalissimo Francisco Franco to allow her wounded legionnaire son to return home from Spain.

Japanese Advance Threatens To Bottle Up 400,000 Chinese

Army Surges Toward Kaifeng, Lunghai Railway Exit

SHANGHAI, Feb. 15 (Tuesday) (AP)—A Japanese army of 60,000 men, buttressed by hundreds of tanks and planes, has surged down across the plains of north China and is threatening to bottle up 400,000 Chinese on the central front.

In modern war style but over the same rolling terrain, the Japanese were emulating the 13th century conquest by the Mongol emperor, Kubla Khan. Instead of the great Khan's yak tail banner the conquerors carried the rising sun flag.

The spearhead of this swiftly mobile column has less than 20 miles, including the broad Yellow river, between it and Kaifeng, Honan provincial capital near the western end of China's vital central front corridor.

Capture of Kaifeng would choke off the vital Lunghai railway, practically the only means of exit for the legions of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek now deployed along the railway for 300 miles eastward to the Yellow Sea.

Reports today from the northern Honan sector told of the 60,000 Japanese slogging knee-deep through mud and snow in the overland thrust toward the Yellow river.

Japanese said this and other offensives from both the north and south against the Lunghai railway were continuing with terrific losses to the Chinese, despite rain and snow which fought for the side of the defenders.

EXCUSED TARDINESS

School Boy Captures Escaping Thief

CHICAGO, Feb. 14 (AP)—Shepard Kerman, 16, unwittingly captured a robber today, which made him late for school.

Waiting for a bus, Kerman saw a six foot stranger emerge from the Sheridan inn amid a welter of shouts from people inside. He grasped the man by the arm and led him docilely back inside.

There the stranger identified himself as Otto Loh, produced $9 loot and gave up a .38 caliber pistol. Kerman glanced hastily at the pistol and ran for his bus.

At school, he told of his capture. Teacher let him off for the day.

Place in Rifle Team Competition

Two Iowa Citizens, Corp. Albert Carleton and First Sgt. Arthur Baldwin, members of Troop I of the 113th cavalry regiment of the National Guard, won first and third places respectively in the Chief National Guard Bureau's indoor rifle team matches in Des Moines.

The 113th regiment, Iowa City, failed to win the match by 22 points, the 168th regiment placing first and the 133d regiment, second.

The matches, held in the Memorial armory in Des Moines, consisted of firing in the prone, kneeling, sitting and standing positions.

F. R. Names Movie 'Cute as a Button'; Pays President $100

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 14 (AP)—President Roosevelt has submitted the title of Janet Gaynor's next motion picture.

When the actress was in Washington to attend the president's birthday ball, the chief executive spoke of her as "cute as a button."

That will be the title of the tiny actress' next picture at Selznick International studio. Budd Selznick and Marshall Neilan have been assigned to write the original story.

—And the president is being sent a check for $100, which is the fee the studios pay for naming pictures. The money will go to the National Paralysis foundation.

Strike Causes Traffic Tie-Up In Minneapolis

MINNEAPOLIS, Feb. 14 (AP)—

Minneapolis was without public conveyance service tonight.

The last street car was pulled into the barns before 6 p.m. Buses on both local and Minneapolis-St. Paul lines had ceased running hours earlier.

In St. Paul the stoppage of service spread somewhat slower than it had in Minneapolis, but by evening only a few street cars were operating.

The result, particularly in Minneapolis where taxicabs were off the streets because of a strike started Friday, was the stranding of thousands of persons in the loop.

It also precipitated a mass movement of private automobiles that created the worst local traffic jam in the city's history.

Meanwhile city officials, and union and street railway officials sought a common ground for ending the tie-up that began this morning at the Lake street barns, and spread rapidly through the city.

Bulletin

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15 (Tuesday) (AP)—Rear Admiral Cary T. Grayson, chairman of the American Red Cross, died early today.

The 59-year-old naval physician, close friend of President Roosevelt and the late President Wilson, had been ill of anemia. An acute respiratory infection had complicated his condition during the last few days.

'Whaler Jim' Plans 'Whalin' Big Hunt for Mammals

By EDDIE GILMORE

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 14 (AP)—Jim Moran, who came from Washington, D. C., to get a whale from San Francisco bay, got a look at one today—but didn't know what to do about it.

The whale, incidentally, was a dead one.

"What a thrill," said "Whaler Jim," who has come no closer to whaling than reading Moby Dick. "Words fail me."

Dressed in a fur coat and waving his harpoon he gazed at the 100-ton mammal which was washed ashore by the recent gale. He asked for a piece of it.

"Sure," said a bystander, "take it all. The city would be delighted."

"I think," answered Moran, slightly frightened at the prospect, "I'll stick to live ones."

So—shouldering his harpoon he pushed off to lay plans for the hunt which he said would start as soon as he had sharpened his weapon to razor-edge fineness.

The Washington, D. C., business man, entranced by the possibility of a whaling cruise within a natural harbor, decided suddenly to make a vacation of it, and flew to San Francisco.

The Soviet Says 'No'

RUSSIA LAST week refused point-blank to climb out any farther on the Far Eastern limb in order to aid China.

Desire to avoid war with Japan was the ostensible reason, but undoubtedly others also influenced the decision. Pravda, the Soviet news organ, declared that the government would avoid belligerent moves "unless Japan becomes the aggressor, infringes the peace and violates the Soviet frontier."

Observers say that Russia has been using the war as a laboratory to test out men and equipment as well as to observe Japanese fighting methods. Obviously the Soviet does not wish to discount the "laboratory" for the real thing at this time.

The refusal was prompted in part by lack of inducement. Sun Fu, Chinese special agent to Russia, is reported to have offered the Soviet government "everything" for aid. When asked what "everything" meant, he confessed that he would have to cable his government. The answer revealed "everything" to be the Chinese diplomatic equivalent for "nothing."

It is not improbable, moreover, that a feeling of resentment at Chiang Kai-Shek's coldness to communist domination was another of the significant factors. Chiang, a former enemy of communism, accepted the aid of Chu Teh and the red army with reluctance, even in the crisis. Last month in the reorganization of the Chinese government, Chiang disregarded communist pressure in appointing Dr. H. H. Kung to the premiership. Although not a direct slap to communists, the move was a hint that Chiang was not yet ready to accept communist domination, either Chinese or Russian.

In addition, the present stake is not high enough to induce Russia to risk more direct aid. While a Japanese-dominated China would be highly objectionable to Russia, there is no immediate cause for alarm. Arms and munitions still continue to flow into China through British Hong Kong; guerrilla warfare is tending to scatter Japanese forces; and Russia's troops and mechanical equipment—including some 1,500 planes—are keeping Japan's most powerful troops away from the northern border.

Just how much part each of these motives played in the Russian decision is not altogether clear, but for the time motives are relatively unimportant. The important aspect of the whole matter is that as long as arms continue to move freely into China and as long as China maintains a fairly effective defensive, the Soviet will not risk burning its fingers by raking additional Chinese chestnuts out of the Far Eastern fire.

Dedicated to Man—Heaven Help Him

WOMAN, if her acquisitiveness continues at its present rate, will before long own the world, a nationally read magazine announced a few days ago. By his innocent assumption that such a statement is news, one may immediately assume that the editor belongs to the benighted species, man.

From Maine to California woman smiled silently to herself as she listened to the pronunciation read aloud in scornful tones from around a masculine pipe in the depths of the fireside easy chair. Smiled, and continued darning the socks that next morning would dash for the 8 o'clock train out into the business world.

So woman will shortly own the country. So woman is stepping on man's toes in business, government and the professions. Long before this enlightened day of feminine emancipation—would Romeo without Juliet have brought Shakespeare any lime-light? (Query—is it, by the way, the Shakespearean or the Elizabethan age?) Did you ever hear of a Napoleon without a Josephine, a Columbus without Queen Isabella and her jewels, a masculine Carrie Nation?

It may have been the Pilgrim fathers who carried the rifles. But it was undoubtedly Mother who remarked one morning that she'd heard the Mayflower was offering special excursion rates next week and didn't Papa think it would be nice to take the children on an educational tour?

Does the modern poem of efficiency who remembers the birthday of the president's wife, all of the family's own anniversaries and whether the account with Jones, Jones and Smith was settled in June, 1918, or July and for how much—wear trousers? Not literally, she doesn't.

If man, poor soul, is just wakening to the realization that his better eleven-tenths rules the coop, he has a long hard day ahead of him. It's been that way from the time Adam followed Eve out of Eden.

Each member of England's parliament will be issued a gas mask for use in case of war. For protection in time of peace, we gather, they will continue to depend on the old-fashioned ear muff.

Grizzly bears are disappearing—there are only 670 left in the United States, according to a government report. This does not, however, include recent Wall Street statistics.

CLIPPED from other COLUMNS

SKY BLUSH AND SUNSPOT

Telegraph keys tapping unintelligible code under the nervous touch of invisible fingers; fire departments frantically answering false alarms; telephone systems stuttering drunkenly and radio waves shrieking and fading hysterically—these disquieting phenomena a few days ago upset equanimity on two continents. Reports came from England, France, Holland, Austria, the Bermuda islands, the eastern Canadian provinces, and parts of the United States. Good Turks, early abed in Istanbul, were awakened from slumber by an earth tremor. In the sky of the northern hemisphere the Aurora Borealis was hanging its radiant pennons the world around. The colorful streamers ran the gamut of the spectrum.

In this era of alarms the unusual celestial display, accompanied by terrestrial antics, dismayed the superstitious. It was ominous of war in Europe; it portended a bloody struggle between Russia and Japan; it was the beginning of the final conflagration and dissolution of all things.

But, if the scientists conjecture rightly, all that had happened was the eruption of a pimple on the fair face of the sun. It may happen again, and soon. The maximum development of the solar blotches is rapidly approaching. Roughly a period of 11 years is estimated as the length of the interval from one maximum sun rash to another. The last was in 1928. The spots should be increasing in frequency until 1939.

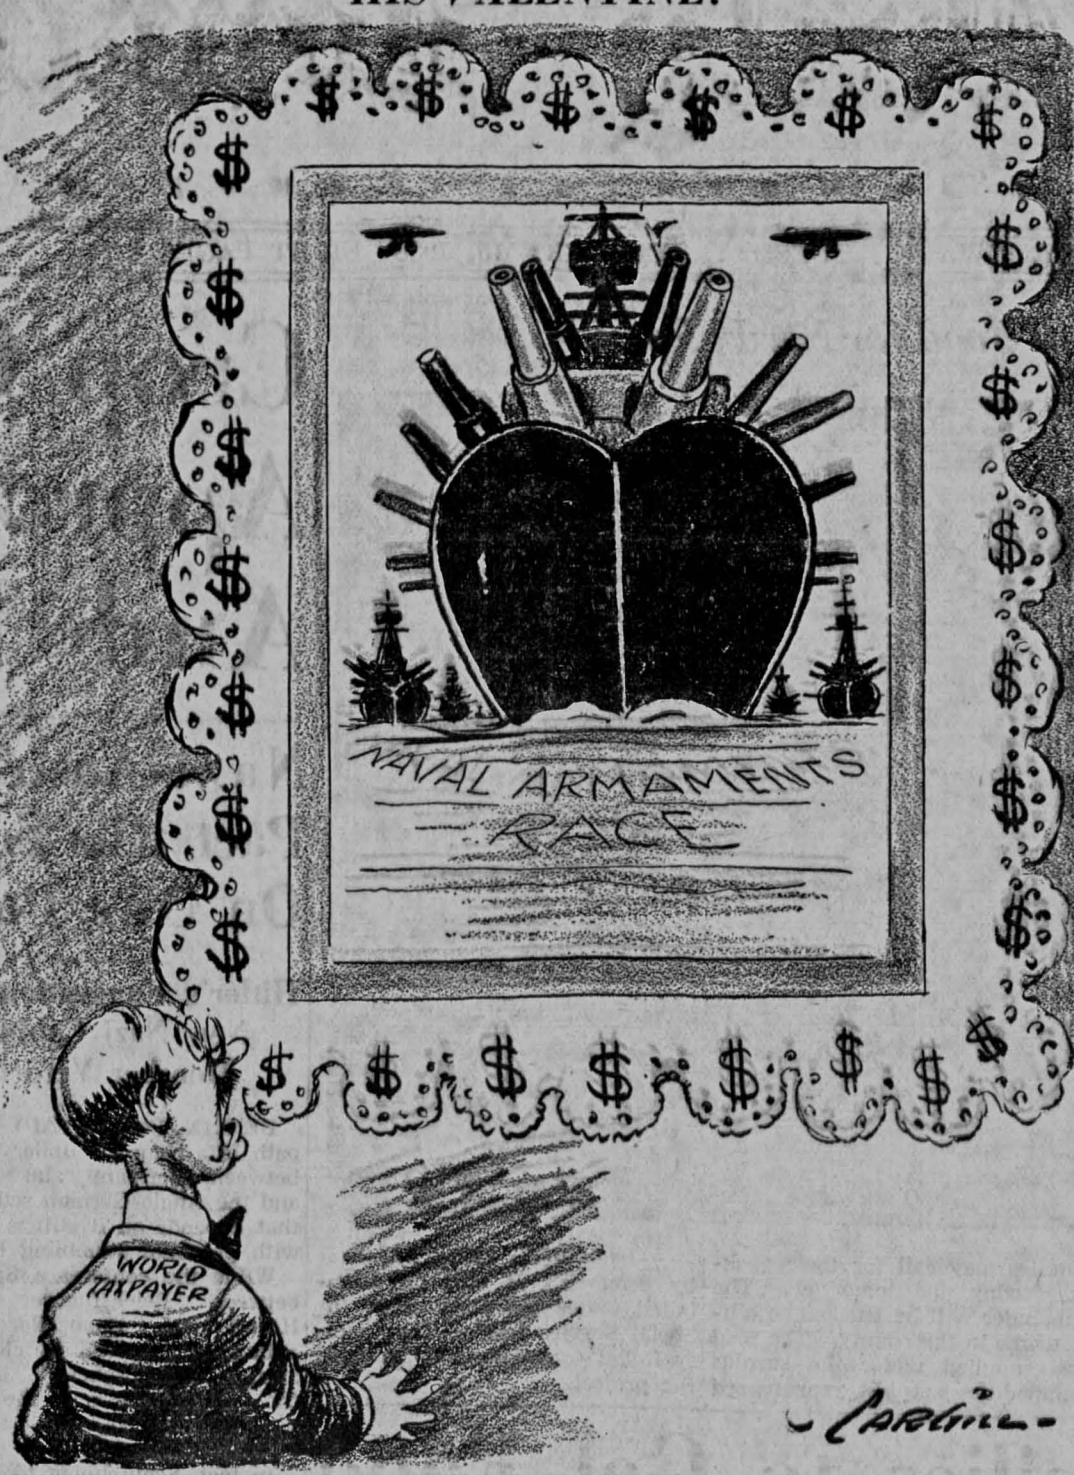

Scientists have supposed that sunspots are terrific storms in the superheated gaseous atmosphere of the sun—storms of violence and velocity that would make the worst tornado of our tropics seem like a summer zephyr in comparison. But why should these disturbances, 93,000,000 miles away, paint the earth sky with northern lights, or throw all our electric gadgets into confusion?

George Ellery Hale, a famous native Chicagoan, whose name is inseparably linked with the history of Yerkes observatory, the later development of the observatory at Mount Wilson, and the great American-made 200-inch mirror which will soon give this country unrivaled telescopic command of the heavens, answered that question when he confirmed in 1908 his theory that sunspots are vast and powerful magnetic fields, sometimes 6,000 times as strong as the magnetic field of the earth. An erupting sunspot, hurling its gases into the solar system at the rate of hundreds of thousands of miles an hour, may drench our atmosphere with electrified particles. According to Jeans, that may account for extraordinary Auroral displays. Equally it may account for the queer behavior of radio, the telephone, the telegraph, and some freaks of weather. If Jeans is right, we should have an unusually moist summer this year or next.

HIS VALENTINE!

Beneficial Effects of Sunlight Discovered in Third Century

By LOGAN GLENDENING, M.D.

The sun always has been regarded as the giver and preserver of life. All primitive people welcomed the return of the sun at the time of the spring solstice, and held religious ceremonies to commemorate the event.

It was first used deliberately for the purposes of treatment as long ago as the third century, when Aetius, a famous physician of the Roman empire, recommended sun baths in the treatment of skin disease and also to treat rickets. Avicenna, the great Arabian physician of the tenth century, recommended sun baths, and de Monville, the French surgeon, used red light in smallpox.

In recent times, however, the first widespread use of sunlight was begun by Bernhard, a Swiss physician living at St. Moritz. He noticed that Swiss butchers cured their meat by sunlight. In 1902 he made his first experiment by taking a patient who had an abdominal wound full of pus and exposing the wound to the sunlight. The effect was remarkable. In a short time the wound was completely healed.

Treats Tuberculous Children
Almost at the same time, Rollier, also a Swiss, began his famous treatment of tuberculous children by the use of sunlight. He selected a spot high up in the Swiss Alps.

He tells the story of the incident which prompted him to use sunlight; that he had a little dog from whose spine he had removed a tumor. He dressed the wound and was determined to keep it covered with a bandage, which the dog was just as determined to remove. He did this several times, and one day Dr. Rollier came on the dog by accident and found out the reason for his persistence. Instinct had prompted the dog to lie with the wound exposed to the sunlight and it was soon healed.

The first artificial sunlight was used by Dr. Niels Finsen.

Tuning In

with Betty Harpel

Tunes They're Crooning—
Perhaps we are just ahead of the times—anyway, campusites picked "I Double Dare You" for their favorite last week, and this week the Hit Parade follows on our heels and nominates it national favorite.

Campusites deviate again from the preferences of the nation as revealed in the Hit Parade by listing as their co-favorites, "Thanks for the Memories," and that revival that is going almost as strong as "Josephine" did, "Loch Lomond."

When asked about their preference many students said immediately, "Well it isn't 'Bei Mir Bist Du Schoen.' A few championed the oft-plugged tune, however, and we are happy to record that every one made a pretty fair stab at the name—no 'My Dear Mr. Shane's' this week. One fellow pulled a good boner, 'Buy Beer Mr. Shane' was his contribution. Incidentally, this misquoted rated third on the Hit Parade.

"Rosalie" was another tune that students maligned. Residents of Iowa City mentioned this tune often as their choice, so maybe we're wrong.

No one chose it, but the tune most often rendered by campus strollers seems to be "I Live the Life I Love." One hears it on every side.

"Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" has afforded us some hummables—one of them, "Whistle While You Work," received second rating in our poll.

Most danceable tune was listed as "The Dipsy Doodle."

Have you heard the new arrangements of "Annie Laurie"? That "Let Her Go" is worthy of notice, too.

Lucrative business this song writing!—Ralph Rainger and Leo Robin, composers for "Thanks for the Memories," have turned down a $10,000 offer from Charles Cochran, London producer, who wanted to put the song into a stage production. They feel it's worth more to them than that.

A Man ABOUT MANHATTAN

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—The best story of the week is about that little Jap who plays the part of a valet in the new Guild show, "Wine of Choice." It is a small part, hardly more than a spear-carrier's chore, yet after the first trial performance in an out-of-town city a shower of flowery epistles, praising the Jap's "inspired performance" descended in the management's lap.

Somewhat puzzled, the Guild authorities read the letters, dismissed them from their mind, and moved on to another city. Next morning a dossier of even more laudatory notes was delivered.

Then the show moved into Philadelphia. As is frequently the case with trial performances, the authors were traveling with the show, studying each performance carefully, frequently rewriting lines and scenes.

At the last minute they decided to eliminate the little Jap entirely and the curtain went up with the "valet" written out of the script. Nevertheless next morning the mailman lugged a salvo of "bravo" mail into the theater, complimenting the Guild on its astute casting and calling attention again and again to the wonderful performance of the valet.

With that, everybody went into hysterics. Those letters were explained. The valet, anxious to further his theatrical career, was sponsoring his own fan-mail service.

Epilog: He's back in the show. The authors and directors felt that such enthusiasm shouldn't go unrewarded. "After all," as Guy Kibbee says, "you can't blame a guy for trying."

Circumstances
Another instance of circumstances proving a boon to an aspiring player was the mishap that befell Betty Lancaster in the office of a producer one afternoon. The play was "Gentlemen of the Press." When Miss Lancaster applied for the ingenue's role it was felt she was not the type desired.

George Abbott, who directed the play, and Mark Barron, one of its authors, were in the office at the time, and they told her they felt she would find the role unsuited to her talents.

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS & SOUNDS

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—The Schnickelfritzes are as incredible as their name. It sounds like a gag, and it is—half a dozen of them.

They, or it, is a band. Freddie Fisher's Schnickelfritz Band from Minnesota. Rudy Vallee gave a party to show them off—they're in Rudy's "Gold Diggers in Paris" at his insistence—and the show-off was amazing.

They are a rustic novelty crew of the musical jester school. All six of them manage to look like bewildered hayseeds. They don't dare look anything else, this being expected of ex-farmhands, as Paul Cooper, pianist and arranger, explained. Cooper used to be a radio announcer (Wichita Falls, Tex.).

Fisher organized the group in Winona, Minn., late in 1935. A year ago they began making phonograph discs which sold like Shirley Temple dolls. Vallee found them in a Minneapolis night club. They had gotten together—from Iowa, Missouri, Nebraska, Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota.

Together, they found, they could do the derndest things. They still do. One of them is "The Wreck of the Old 97," with Neals Laakso, the Finnish cornetist, playing a train whistle while the others do a choo-choo with their feet and smoke comes out of Maestro Fisher's tail hat.

Hats, it is soon apparent, are vital to the Schnickelfritz act. They brought two trunks full of old hats with them. One of the main uses of hats, which is to keep the hats going, from one player to another, in endless chain while the music plays.

The trombone is Fritz's forte. By no means his only talent. His specialty is, believe it, the guitar. That isn't a musical instrument, except in this band. To it are fastened assorted objects. He strums a washboard, taps off cadences on a cowbell and struts pan with thimble fingers.

Iowa Blasts Michigan Hopes, 38-30

Unbeaten Hawk Swimmers Down Wisconsin

Stephens Leads Hawkeyes To Second Straight Big 10 Win; Losers Get Eight Field Goals

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Feb. 14.—(Special to The Daily Iowan)—Iowa's up and coming basketball team dealt the championship dreams of Michigan's Wolverines a severe blow here tonight by holding the home team to eight field goals and winning a Big Ten game, 38-30. A crowd of 7,100 saw the tilt.

With Blazing Benny Stephens leading the way with 15 points the Hawkeyes led during most of the game and staved off a late Michigan rally to emerge victorious. An aggressive attack netted the Hawks a 16-11 halftime lead and they were behind only once during the remainder of the game.

Michigan Rallies

Leading 21-15 midway in the second half the Hawks saw their lead dwindle away on baskets by Slavov and Beebe and a free throw by Thomas. Fishman connected from far out to put Michigan in front, 22-21. Lanky Joe Van Ysseldyk, who tallied eight points during the evening, came through with a free throw and Stephens cashed in on a free throw and a set-up and the Iowans went out in front to stay.

With only a minute and a half to go the Iowa lead was cut 34-30 but buckets by Van Ysseldyk and Stephens put the Hawkeyes out of danger.

Two Iowa players, Prasse and Drees, were sent from the game on personals and a total of 14 misuses was charged against the Hawks. Tight guarding, especially by the Iowa quintet, kept the game going at a slow pace during most of the game. Jake Townsend, stellar Michigan forward, was limited to four field goals by the close defensive net strung up by Rollie Williams charges. The entire Michigan team was able to collect only two field goals during the first half.

Even Up

Tonight's victory gave the Hawkeyes a record of four victories and four defeats in Big Ten competition and left them in fifth place in the conference standings. The Wolverines dropped from third to fourth place.

Saturday night the Iowans will attempt to raise their conference standing at the expense of the Chicago Maroons, whom they defeated Saturday on the Midway, 42-29. The game will be played in the Iowa fieldhouse. The Maroons suffered their 33rd straight Big Ten defeat last night at the hands of Wisconsin, 46-32.

Doubt If Iowa Team Attends National Meet

Possible Loss of Fred Teufel Makes Trip Hopes Gloomy

Iowa's participation in the National A. A. U. indoor track championships in New York's Madison Square Garden Feb. 26 became doubtful yesterday when the possibility arose that Fred Teufel's recovery might not be rapid enough to permit him to attain championship form in time for the competition.

Teufel, who suffered a slight concussion of the brain when he slipped and fell on the ice two weeks ago, returned to practice last week after resting at his home in Davenport. He had been one of the five men picked by Coach Bresnahan to make the trip together with Co-captain Jim Lyle, John Graves and Milton Billig. The other man had not definitely been decided upon.

The men were scheduled to leave Feb. 23 and would have been away when the Iowa tracksters tangle with Chicago at Chicago Feb. 25 in a dual meet. Although the withdrawal from the Hawkeyes' first entrance in a National A. A. U. meet would be a severe disappointment to the Iowa trackmen, the strength of Coach Bresnahan's forces to Chicago would be considerably augmented.

Billig, Lyle and Graves, the men who helped roll up the 59 points that whipped the Minnesota tracksters last week, would be sorely missed in the Big Ten meet.

Friday night practically the same team that saw action against Minnesota will be entered by Coach Bresnahan when the Hawkeyes take on Northwestern in the second home meet of the season.

Easy victories over the Gophers, practically the same Iowa squad will find tougher going when it matches strides against Northwestern's 24-man squad. The rival track teams have entered a total of 58 athletes in the dual meet, the first competition between the track teams of the two institutions since 1932.

The Wildcat's entrants are headed by Capt. Hank Keitel, one of the leading Big Ten quarter milers; Forrest Pirtle, high jumper; Tom Irving, shot put; Gene Hathaway, hurdler, and Jim Catlin, half and mile runs.

Rowe's Arm Is Pronounced OK

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 14 (AP)—Lynwood (Schoolboy) Rowe, lanky pitcher for the Detroit Tigers, broke into a smile nearly as wide as he is long when a doctor pronounced his arm in shape today.

"I knew it was all right," the moundman commented. "It hasn't bothered me since Christmas, and not much then. I'm going right up to Lakeland and start working out."

Walter O. Briggs, owner of the Tigers, and Manager Mickey Cochrane watched as Rowe stripped off his shirt and Dr. Cecil B. Ferguson put his hurling arm through an intensive examination.

"It looks all right," said the white-frocked osteopath some minutes later. "As far as I can see right now there shouldn't be any trouble."

Trouble is what Rowe has had since a ligament in his right arm was sprained two seasons ago. He tried to carry on last season, but met with below average success.

Iowa Wrestling Team Suffers Blow by Loss of Ed Lybbert And Illness of Carl Vergamini

118-Pounder Takes Job With Government In Washington

Iowa's hard-luck wrestling team suffered its severest blow of the season yesterday when it was announced that Edward Lybbert, promising 118-pound sophomore, will be lost to the team for the remainder of the year and Carl Vergamini, star 175-pounder may be lost for the meet with Minnesota here Saturday because of a touch of glandular fever. In addition, Capt. Wilbur Nead will wrestle under the handicap of a torn cartilage in his left hand, suffered in his match against the State Teachers last week.

The loss of Lybbert, who is leaving school to accept a government job in Washington, D.C. this week, will leave a decided weak spot in the lighter division of the squad. Bob Tompkins, who has had considerable experience as the new 118-pound performer. There is also the possibility of putting Philip Millen back to the 118-pound position where he wrestled the first part of the year and shoving Tompkins into the 126-pound spot.

Although Nead will wrestle against the Gophers, the extent to which he will be handicapped in his match with the undefeated Minnesota captain, Gustafson, is not known. Vergamini's illness will keep him from practicing for at least two days and he may be lost to the team for Saturday's encounter.

Saturday's meet with the Norsemen will be the first conference meet of the second semester for the Iowa team and the third of the year. Minnesota is again represented by a powerful aggregation and sports several of the outstanding individual grapplers in the conference. Gustafson is the Big 10 heavyweight champion from last year and is unbeaten this season.

Maroons Lose To Wisconsin

Chicago Suffers 33rd Straight Big 10 Defeat

CHICAGO, Feb. 14 (AP)—Wisconsin's Badgers dealt Chicago its 33rd consecutive Big Ten basketball defeat tonight, coincidental to scoring their fourth victory in eight conference starts this season, 46 to 32, in the Maroon fieldhouse.

The Badgers took the lead at the outset, managed to work up nothing better than a five-point margin during a slow first period. With Mannie Frey and Hod Powell finding the range in the last half, Wisconsin pulled away to a safe margin and coasted in. Powell led the Badgers with 13 points while Frey contributed 11. Morris Rossin and Fred Mullins headed Chicago with 12 and 10 points, respectively.

Co-op Dorms Open Volleyball Season

Cooperative dormitories began their volleyball tournament at the fieldhouse last night when the Maroon advanced a peg by way of a forfeit from Jefferson house.

Another game scheduled for last evening between the Gables and Whetstone house was postponed until next week when definite schedules will be distributed to the dormitories.

Disappointment

With a 15-point splurge last night, Benny Stephens, speedy Iowa forward, boosted his Big 10 scoring mark to 95 points in eight games. Stephens now stands second only to Lewis "Pick" Dehner of Illinois, who has chalked up 108 points in seven contests. The most consistent free throw shooter on the squad, Stephens has accounted for 25 of his points with charity tosses.

The return to form of Joe Van Ysseldyk has been a big factor in the Hawkeyes' two-game winning streak over the week end. In the Chicago game, the lanky forward totaled 12 points to lead the Iowa point-getters and last night he scored eight points—as well as playing a good floor game.

Drees Holds Up

To Jack Drees goes the palm for his fine performance in the last two games. Never before a very rugged performer, the Hawk center played all but nine minutes of the games with Chicago and Michigan. Rollie Williams took him out in the last five minutes of the game against Chicago and he was sent to the showers last night with four personal fouls and only four minutes of the game remaining.

Cinder Artists

There are some pretty disappointed track men on the Iowa campus today. The disgruntled men are those who thought they were going to make the trip to New York City for the National A. A. U. championships. The men contend the reason they are not making the trip is because it is feared the Iowa cinder team would be seriously weakened and would lose the dual meet with Chicago scheduled for the evening before.

An Iowa track team hasn't lost an indoor meet against Big 10 competition since 1932 and it has a good chance of finishing the 1938 season with its record unblemished. Whatever the reason is that the men are not going, it is a shame that they won't be allowed to make the trip. And it's too bad for Iowa that the trip can't be made—for a winning relay team or a winning individual in the A. A. U. meet would give the Hawkeye institution a lot of prestige now enjoyed by Indiana and Wisconsin.

Albert Spaulding, American violinist, made his debut in 1905 in Paris.

Iowa Mermen Roll Up 51-39 Score on Badger Tanksters By Taking Seven First Places

MADISON, Wis., Feb. 14 (Special to The Daily Iowan)—The University of Iowa's unbeaten Hawkeye swimming team won its first dual meet of the season here tonight, downing the hapless Wisconsin mermen 51-39.

Speedy Bob Reed, Hawkeye senior, was the star of the show, winning the 100-yard free style in :56.5, placing second in the 60-yard free style and leading his mates to a victory in the 400-yard free style relay.

It was just another meet to big Bob Allen and Tesla who came through with sweeping victories in the 200-yard breast stroke and 440-yard free style events respectively.

mates to a victory in the 440-yard relay free style, Bob Reed, Gene Kershaw, Bob Sweitzer and Capt. Bob Christians splashed their way to victory over the Badger quartet in the time of 3:42. John Stark, trim Iowa diver, came through on the law board for a first place win over Wielgosz and Morgan, his two Wisconsin foes for another Hawkeye victory.

The victory tonight firmly established Iowa's mermen in the Big 10 championship picture. They have already scored wins over Minnesota and Chicago in a triangular meet in Iowa City several weeks ago and tucked the Midwest A.A.U. title under their belts early in the season.

300-yard medley team: Iowa (Heydt, Lowry, Sweitzer) first, Wisconsin (Jones, Sternkopf, Deutsch), 3:09.

220-yard free style: Siefert (W) first; Tesla (I) second; Armbruster (I) third, 2:22.5.

60-yard free style: Emerick (W) first; Reed (I) second; Kershaw (I) third, 3:1.

100-yard free style: Reed (I) first; Emerick (W) second; Christians (I) third, 5:5.

150-yard back stroke: Bremer (I) first, Franke (W) second, Ryan (I) third, 1:41.3.

200-yard breast stroke: Allen (I) first, Ristov (W) second, Lowry (I) third, 2:32.4.

14 Leagues of Women Voters To Hold State Convention Here

Prof. Haskell Speaks On Our Relations In Far East

The Iowa City League of Women Voters will be host to the delegates of 14 Iowa leagues at a state convention here April 19 and 20, according to an announcement made by Mrs. Orvis C. Irwin, president, at a luncheon meeting yesterday in the foyer of Iowa Union. Mrs. E. L. Nelson, state president, will come to Iowa City Feb. 28 to confer with the local league board.

Discussing "Our Economic Relations with the Far East," Prof. George D. Haskell of the college of commerce, guest speaker at the luncheon, asserted, "International trade is an exchange of goods, not for dollars."

Professor Haskell told of our export and import trade with China and Japan and described the types of trade carried on with each country. Supporting his statement with statistics, he said that trade with Japan is more beneficial and profitable than with China because it is more abundant.

The proposed boycott of Japanese silk goods was also discussed. According to Professor Haskell, such a boycott would not be beneficial to the United States. "For example," he said, "only three cents of a dollar spent for silk hosiery goes to Japan; the other 97 cents is received by American labor, industry and transportation agencies."

Mrs. George Martin, chairman of the government and foreign relations department of study, was in charge of the program.

As Westlawn Style Show Opened

Models are pictured as they appeared at the Westlawn style show last night. The show exhibited new dresses, coats and suits and a variety of spring colors and styles. Thirteen models were employed in the presentation of the style show.

1938 Spring Fashions Show Influence Of Spain, Orient in Westlawn Show

By VIRGINIA SNYDER

Laughter, music and dancing were as much a part of the Westlawn style show last night as the lovely dresses. Parading to the music of Vette Kell and his orchestra, 12 Westlawn women modeled new spring styles.

This year, the show emphasized styles trend toward the original and Spanish influence. Bolero jackets and straw hats with long tassels and veils seem especially popular. L. D. Wareham of Strub's department store gave in interesting highlights on spring style trends.

Man-tailored suits, made and styled in men's factories, are especially good. Dressmaker and reefer suits will be worn. There will also be box swagger coats and three-piece suits.

Many colors will be used this year, but gloves, purse and scarf must be of the same blend. Patent leather bags and shoes to match are very good. Beige, British tan and navy blue seem the most outstanding shades, though black still holds its popularity.

Gloria Tharpe, N1 of Charles City, wore a lovely three-piece suit of yellow tweed with black patent leather accessories. A striking suit in a combination of navy blue and thistle was modeled by Pauline Hoepfner, N2 of Newhall.

Dusky pink, soft blues, navy, saddle and luggage tons, beige and hedgerose dresses were shown.

Hose of lighter shades to blend with soft clothes are being worn this spring. Such shades as lazy tans, venture golds and bright coppers to blend with women's moods — as fashion designers put it — will be good. V-throat pumps with pin-point perforations and "peep" toes will be especially popular.

Nurses' uniforms with the new-fashioned zippers down the front received intrigued attention from the Westlawn women.

Tafetta, chiffon and crepe formal were modeled. A fitted white chiffon formal with blue and red streamers down the back was very lovely. Rhinestone straps with an evening bag to match completed the outfit.

Eunice Tuecke of Garfield, Martha Royer of Des Moines and Helen Greve of Davenport, all N1; Marie Overholt of Indianola, Dorcas Hill of Mt. Morris, Ill., Kathryn Allen of Sigourney and Helen Atchley of Ames, all N3; Vernon Dau of Gama, Louise Koonce of Ames and Rose Tomlin of Waterloo, all N2; Margaret Alberi, G of Red Lodge, Mont., Miss Hoepfner and Miss Tharpe were models for the evening.

Thornton Praises P. T. A.'s Character Building Program

Organization Observes 41st Anniversary Of Founding

"Continue to emphasize the basic need for character building, high thinking and religious inspiration," advised Prof. H. J. Thornton of the history department in an address last night to local Parent-Teacher associations.

The groups met jointly in Iowa City high school auditorium to celebrate the 41st anniversary of the founding of the Congress of Parents and Teachers.

Commending the P. T. A. for its joining of parents and teachers for the purpose of character building in three traditional areas — home, school and church, Professor Thornton said, "There are so many signs of selfishness in this complex age, but there are also signs of unselfishness and glory — this is one."

He also traced and correlated the growth of education with the advance of social and economic history, including the struggle and accomplishment of popular education.

Giving the address of welcome was Mrs. Clark Woodburn, president of the Iowa City P. T. A. council, who outlined the history of the local P. T. A.'s since their founding some 25 years ago.

The Mothersingers chorus presented a short musical program and the traditional candlelight service of lighting one candle for each year of the organization's existence followed. Birthday cakes were auctioned. Birthdays were celebrated.

Following the program there was a reception with presidents of all groups in the receiving line.

Mrs. Nall Tells of Trip Washington Visitor Describes Sights, Tea at White House

By CORNIE SHRAUGER

"I had a wonderful time," declared Mrs. V. W. Nall, 348 Hutchinson avenue, in regard to her trip to Washington, D. C., from which she returned Sunday night.

"Mrs. Edward C. Eicher, as soon as she learned that I was interested in the city, took me under her wing and showed me many things which otherwise I could not have seen," Mrs. Eicher is the wife of Representative Eicher from Washington, Iowa.

Mrs. Nall attended a tea at the White House last Tuesday. "Because Mrs. Roosevelt knew Mrs. Eicher and knew that we were both from Iowa," she said, "she came over to visit with us."

Mrs. Roosevelt told Mrs. Nall that she enjoyed talking at the Iowa State Teachers convention in Des Moines and also joked about bobbing her hair.

"Mrs. Roosevelt's pictures do not do her justice," Mrs. Nall added, "for she is much better looking." "In fact," she declared, "Mrs. Roosevelt is the most charming and gracious woman I know and she has a wonderful personality."

The Supreme Court building impressed Mrs. Nall most. Through Mrs. Eicher, she was given the privilege of viewing the law library in the building. In describing the structure, she explained that the marble for the building came from both northern and southern states in the United States. "The marble in the pillars came from Italy, though," she added; "it is the only marble that is not glazed."

Mrs. Nall heard the senate, the House of Representatives and the Supreme court in session. When she visited the senate, the anti-lynching bill was under discussion.

After their trip to Washington, Mr. and Mrs. Nall vacationed in Florida.

Reveal Secret Fall Wedding

Announcement of the marriage of Marion Hurst, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Cuddy of Cedar Rapids, to Wendell Prugh, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Prugh of Bedford, was made at a dinner party Saturday night in the Roosevelt hotel in Cedar Rapids.

The wedding was solemnized Sept. 5, 1937, in Savannah, Mo., with Pauline Anderson and George Schmitz, both of Bedford, attending the couple.

Mrs. Prugh attended Stephens college and was graduated from the university in February. She is a member of Pi Beta Phi sorority.

Mr. Prugh is associated with his father in the B. Prugh Furniture company in Bedford, where the couple will make their home.

Artists of the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra

Here are three great music artists, Vladimir Golschmann, Scipione Guidi, and Max Steindel, left to right, who will appear here tomorrow with the famous St. Louis symphony orchestra, at 3:15 and 8 p.m., in the main lounge of Iowa Union.

Golschmann, Guidi, Steindel Will Appear Here With St. Louis Symphony Orchestra Tomorrow

Golschmann, Guidi, Steindel Will Appear Here With St. Louis Symphony Orchestra Tomorrow

When the St. Louis symphony orchestra appears in concert here at 3:15 and 8 p.m. tomorrow in the main lounge of Iowa Union, Iowa City music lovers will have an opportunity to hear brilliant personalities of the musical world. Among them will be Vladimir Golschmann, conductor, Scipione Guidi, assistant conductor, and Max Steindel, solo cellist.

Golschmann, who early developed an ambition to become a conductor started his career as a concert violinist. In 1919 he organized his own orchestra and was later engaged by the French government as director of the "Cercle Muzical" which presented an annual series of concerts at the Sorbonne. He has appeared frequently as guest conductor in Marseilles, Madrid, Brussels, Glasgow and Edinburgh.

In 1924 and 1925 Golschmann accepted Walter Damrosch's invitation to appear as guest conductor of the New York symphony orchestra, and since then he has been engaged as permanent director of the St. Louis symphony orchestra.

He has appeared as guest conductor with the New York philharmonic symphony society, the Philadelphia orchestra, the Rochester philharmonic and the Detroit symphony orchestra.

The orchestra's assistant conductor, Scipione Guidi, is one of the most distinguished concert masters in America and is a violinist of international reputation. Guidi, until he was engaged by the St. Louis symphony orchestra, was concertmaster with the New York philharmonic orchestra and has served under such famous conductors as Bodanzky, Molinari and Toscanini.

In the personnel of the orchestra also, is Max Steindel, solo cellist, who before he was 12 years old played before kings.

Steindel has studied under his father, royal musical director Alvin Steindel and in this country under his uncle, the famous Bruno Steindel. As a solo cellist, he ranks among the few great artists of that instrument in the United States.

May Strike Against Seats

Art Students Protest To Professor About Alphabetical Order

Art students are threatening to strike against sitting!

Peaceful arbitration between students and faculty awaits the return tomorrow of Prof. Lester D. Longman, head of the graphic and plastic arts department, and instructor of the history of fine arts course.

Professor Longman's students entered their lecture room yesterday morning to find their names on little white cards glued to the arms of the chairs in alphabetical order.

Students were hostile to the alphabetical seating arrangement. There are not enough good seats for all to see, without distortion, the lantern slides which are thrown on the screen in the dark lecture room. They maintain that those who are late should be penalized by having to take one of the stilted seats.

An organized protest written in a bold black medium on a white card three feet by five, resulted.

It reads: "Dear Dr. Longman: 'What's come over you? For a whole semester we've been happy and contented, coming to class and choosing our seats where we could see best, hear best and enjoy you most.

'And now this complete upheaval, this revolting disruption. Why? 'Have you considered these dire consequences? THINK of the late-comers whom you are forcing to stumble gropingly over their classmates in the dark. THINK of the early-leavers who must plow blindly from the far side of the room, interrupting your concluding passages. THINK!

'Is this how you hope to achieve an honor system? Where, O, where are our cherished ideals? O, tempora! O, mores! 'We, the undersigned, do hereby petition to continue as in the past, untrammelled and unfettered."

Paints Portrait of Percy Bordwell

The feature of tonight's "Percy Bordwell" dinner will be the presentation of a life-size oil painting of the law professor, the work of Edith Bell of the graphic and plastic arts department. Miss Bell, shown at work in her studio, has received high acclaim for her portrait of Professor Bordwell. Miss Bell, who was graduated from the Cumming School of Art in Des Moines, was one of the first women to be awarded a fellowship in the Louis C. Tiffany foundation for artists at Oyster Bay, Long Island. Later she was awarded the Pulitzer traveling scholarship, spending a year in Europe. She studied at the Academie Colorossi in Paris.

Dinner to Fete Prof. Bordwell Of Law College

Portrait by Edith Bell To Be Presented To School

The "Percy Bordwell" dinner honoring Professor Bordwell's 27 years of association with the college of law will be given tonight at 6:30 at the Law commons, with approximately 200 lawyers and law students attending. The feature of the evening will be the presentation of Edith Bell's oil painting of Professor Bordwell. The life size portrait, completed in the fall of 1937 by Miss Bell, a member of the graphic and plastic arts department, will be presented to the college of law by Attorney Donald D. Holdoegel of Des Moines. Former students of Professor Bordwell during the 25 years of his teaching contributed toward the painting of the portrait which will be hung in the law library.

Toastmaster for the dinner will be Attorney Herschel G. Langdon of Des Moines. After the presentation of the painting, Dean Wiley B. Rutledge of the college of law will accept the portrait, and Miss Bell will be introduced by Professor Ladd.

A short address will then be given by the representative of the law students, Morris Druker, L3 of Marshalltown, president of the Iowa Law School association. The law school quartet will entertain the guests with two numbers which will be words adapted to old tunes.

Expressions of appreciation will be presented by Prof. Rollin Perkins, representing the faculty; President Eugene A. Gilmore, representing the university; and Judge Truman S. Stevens, representing the legal profession of Iowa.

The program will be concluded with the introduction of Professor Bordwell by Mr. Langdon.

Photo Process
Turns Plywood
Into Mahogany

SEATTLE (AP) — Architects who favor tailor-made light and ventilation may take windows away from Americans of the future. But the windowless householder still can have any view he desires.

Landscapes or seascapes can be made part of his wall by a new photo-mural process at the price of ordinary wall finishes. If he doesn't want pictures, he can transform his walls of inexpensive wood so they will look like costly walnut or mahogany. He can even make the wood look like gaily colored tiles.

From Australia

The process, which one of its sponsors describes as an "electro-chemical-photographic process with eating and chilling in it, too" was invented by Herbert C. Wilson, an Australian. It is said to have been in use in Australia for five years. English markets are reported receiving 50,000 to 60,000 square feet of treated wood from there a week.

Three brothers from New York — Ernest F., Frank R. and Charles P. Chester, are introducing the process here, one of the country's largest plywood producing areas.

Secret as much of the process is, it appears like simple photography, using a highly sensitized plywood surface for the print. It's a matter of 58 seconds making such a print and handing out a finished copy, which may be, for example, a 2- by 3-foot picture of Mount Rainier.

The cost? About the same as giving a surface a good paint finish. American walnut paneling, costing about 50 cents a foot, can be copied for about eight cents.

Samples of such finishes put on Australian deal wood, exposed to all weather for four and a half years, have changed a shade, it is said. The finish is also described as dampness, acid and fire-resisting, and in a demonstration an inflammable fluid was poured onto a piece and burned, without leaving a mark.

10-Day Sales Drive to Open

Tomorrow 1st Campaign Day

Iowa City Retailers Will Cooperate in Price Cutting

In a city-wide campaign to increase the retail trade area of Iowa City, local merchants tomorrow will open a 10-day sale of new merchandise at reduced prices. The cooperative drive is sponsored by the retail trade division of the Iowa City Chamber of Commerce.

All retail merchants will cooperate in the sale which features new spring merchandise at special discounts and lowered prices.

"10,000 New Customers"

A. A. Aune, co-chairman of the campaign, declared that the purpose of the extensive sale is to attract 10,000 new customers to Iowa City.

He emphasized that the sale is a departure from the usual technique in that, instead of coming at the end of the season, it will be at the start of the spring season, "introducing the latest in spring merchandise."

Not "Odds-and-Ends" Sale

This sale has been termed the first cooperative movement of its kind, and is not to be considered an "odds-and-ends sale," explained Aune.

"It promises to be the most important cooperative promotion in the series aiming to make Iowa City a better and greater shopping center," said L. D. Wareham, head of the retail merchants division.

Wareham pointed out that Iowa City stores are stocked with a quality of merchandise comparable to that of stores in much larger trading areas. He attributed this in part to the existence of the university.

"It's a drive to make Iowa City a real trade area," said C. A. Bowman, secretary of the chamber of commerce, "and a desire on the part of merchants to give people an opportunity to buy quality merchandise at reduced prices."

Board Will Let Two Contracts

Two contracts for improving the Morningside site, location of the new $725,000 high school, will be let by the city school board at 2 p. m. tomorrow.

The work consists of laying 180 feet of 18-inch corrugated drainage pipe and grading the site to an elevation of 175.

The contracts, valued at approximately $8,000, will be awarded to the lowest bidder.

Kost Given Jail Term of Year

George Kost was sentenced to one year in the Johnson county jail by Judge James P. Gaffney yesterday morning. He pleaded guilty to a forgery charge and Judge Gaffney suspended six months of the sentence during good behavior.

Kost admitted through his counsel, Attorney Will J. Hayek, that he forged the signature of Peter E. Graef to a check and cashed it at Gump's grocery Jan. 15.

Other officers elected were Carl Williams, Iowa City, vice-president; William Warren, Iowa City, secretary-treasurer; and H. J. Dane, Iowa City, director at large.

'Corn Yield Test' Bulletins Available, Gardner Announces

"Corn Yield Test" bulletins giving the results of the 1937 Iowa corn yield, are available at the Johnson County Farm Bureau office, County Agent Emmett C. Gardner announced yesterday. This bulletin contains information on the yield, lodging resistance, moisture content, percentage of dropped ears and per cent of damaged kernels for the best of the 1,331 hybrid combinations and open-pollinated strains of corn entered in the 1937 test.

AROUND THE TOWN

With TOM JOHNSON

O. O. McIntyre
The news of O. O. McIntyre's death yesterday afternoon shocked thousands of mid-western newspaper readers. His column of New York and small-town memories will continue for a few more weeks — and then...

To his fans, no other column of metropolitan life was readable. "If you read McIntyre," they said, "you'll soon pick up a vocabulary."

McIntyre, started newspaper work in Gallipolis, Ohio, and after writing at a few other magazines, went to New York via Cincinnati.

Originally from Missouri, he worked on newspapers in several other small towns, and was city editor of the Cincinnati Post at 23. He didn't hit New York 'till nearly 30.

Lately, with his column syndicated in 500 newspapers, he was considered one of the original small-town boys who made good.

Memory
They say he was only 54. I rode with him once, on an elevator. He looked nearer 70, a pale-faced, dour, nattily-dressed old man...

Valentines
Get any comic valentines yesterday? Down at Racine's 1, Loreda McNamara (sly old fox), John Walton (bar room tenor), and Coach Joe Gerber (never sweat), received theirs by telegraph.

Sudden Death
Donnelly's, hearing that Speedball Charles James has girded for future bowling matches, hasn't challenged Joe's place for more than a week. "Smatter, boys?"

Oil
Roland Smith will probably inspect his Texas oil interests before summer sets in. Handy things, those oil wells.

Closed
No one dined in the Iowa grill yesterday. And now, the Reserve Officers corps is looking for a place to hold their National Defense week banquet Thursday night.

Farley
"Genial Jim" Farley has autographed four postage stamps for Charlie Ingersoll, son of C. O. Ingersoll, president of the Iowa City Chamber of Commerce.

It makes a nice addition to Charlie's stamp collection. I wonder if Farley is trying to win friends for the 1948 election?

2,508 Licenses Not Yet Issued

Approximately 2,508 motorists have failed to re-register their cars and must pay late registration penalties to obtain 1938 licenses, County Treasurer W. E. Smith said yesterday.

Motorists have purchased 6,925 plates since registration began Dec. 1, 1937. Truck registrations are 987. Nearly a thousand cars have been placed in storage. On March 1, a second five per cent penalty, a minimum of $1, will be assessed. The first penalty went into effect Feb. 1.

U. High Sophs Will Present 2 One-Act Plays

Two plays will be presented by the University high school sophomore class at 8 o'clock tonight in the high school auditorium.

"The Rector" by Rachel Crothers, and "Lieutenant Fortesque's Christmas Dinner," by Prof. M. F. Carpenter, head of the school English department, both one-act plays, will be given under the direction of Walter J. Dierlam, A4 of Boulder, Col., and Ann Mae Klotzbach, A4 of Burlington.

Harshbarger to Talk At Kiwanis Meeting

Prof. H. C. Harshbarger of the speech department will comment upon radio broadcasting at the luncheon meeting of the Kiwanis club in the Jefferson hotel today. President H. J. Dane will preside.

Thieves Enter Service Station, Iowa City High

50 Pennies, Brief Case, Fountain Pen Set Found Missing

Thieves, who jimmied and broke open windows, entered the Gasoline Alley service station, the Iowa City high school and the administration building Saturday night or early Sunday morning according to police.

Jake Kelly, who discovered the service station break-in at 6:15 a. m. Sunday, reported that 50 pennies, some keys and a ticket machine were taken.

Both of the school buildings were entered through jimmied windows. A leather brief case was taken from the office of Iver A. Opstad, superintendent.

Entrance to the high school building was made by forcing open a window on the fire escape above the boiler room. Principal W. E. Beck said, "The thieves evidently knew the building well. Nearly every room was entered, and in the office every drawer was opened."

"They even went so far as to open all the small boxes in the drawers, and the purses in the lost and found department," he said.

The hammer and chisel which the thieves used in an unsuccessful attempt to open the high school safe in Beck's office, were left on the floor near the safe. Chief Bender said yesterday he obtained fingerprints from some empty milk bottles in the cafeteria. "They apparently had a lunch while they did their work," he said.

The high school loss amounted to a few cents taken from dispensing machine in the rest rooms, stamps taken from the principal's office and a Shaeffer fountain pen set from the office, Chief Bender reported.

Hillbillies Lead Frolic Tonight

High School Rifle Club Sponsors Barn Dance Show

The North Liberty Hillbillies, a One Man Band and Barnacle Bill and His Gal, will be novelty feature highlights in the Barn Dance frolic to be presented by Junior Farm bureau members and other local talent tonight at 8 o'clock in the Iowa City high school auditorium.

Singing and yodeling cowboys and cowgirls, quartettes, ballad singers, tap and toe dances, old time square dances, readings and a variety of skits comprise the program. Moie Hamburger, 118 N. Johnson street, will be master of ceremonies.

The show is sponsored by the high school rifle club.

Junior Chamber Of Commerce To Hold Dance

Members of the Iowa City Junior Chamber of Commerce and their guests will dance to the music of Earl Harrington's orchestra at the Varsity ballroom Thursday from 9 p. m. until midnight.

It is the first dance of the year sponsored by the organization and will be informal.

Burnell Horrabin, program chairman, has announced that there will be entertainment during the evening. Others serving on the dance committee are Maynard Miller and Dean Jones.

Recreation Center Remembers St. Valentine

More than 70 girls made their own valentines at the Recreation center party. Naomi Miller, A2 of Macedonia, (above) supervised the craft program, Elizabeth Fowler, A3 of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., led the children in a game period in the gymnasium and Jeanne Miller, A1 of Conway, took the merrymakers aside for group singing and story telling.

Sub-District Debate Tourney For State Begins Here Friday

Eight Teams to Compete In 2-Day, Round Robin Meet

Beginning a three-month round of verbal battles, the sub-district meet of the annual state high school debate tournament will be Friday and Saturday in Schaeffer hall and Iowa City high school, E. J. McCreary, high school debate coach, announced last night. Eight schools in the southeastern district will compete in the forensics contest. They are Iowa City, Clinton, Davenport, Muscatine, Ft. Madison, Washington, Keokuk and Burlington. Each school is expected to bring at least five speakers.

The debates will be conducted under the round-robin system in which each team will debate every other team and will argue both sides of the question. This will give each team 14 matches. This year's national high school debate question is: "Resolved: That the several states shall adopt a unicameral system of legislature."

The contests Friday will be at 2 p. m., 3:15 p. m. and 4:30 p. m. in room 7, Schaeffer hall, Saturday they will be in various rooms of Iowa City high school at 9 a. m., 10:30 a. m., 1 p. m. and 2:15 p. m.

Judges for the meet will be Prof. H. G. Barnes, Prof. H. Clay Harshbarger, Orvin Larson, Elton Abernathy, Otto Dieter, Eugene Chenoweth, E. Thayer Curry and an unselected graduate assistant in the speech department. All are of the university speech department. Principal W. E. Beck of Iowa City high school will be in charge of the contest.

Davies Will Speak At Final Forum Of City Peace Council

Prof. George R. Davies of the college of commerce will speak on "The Economic Causes and Effects of War" at the final forum discussion meeting of the Iowa City Peace Council at 7:30 tonight in the city council chambers.

An opportunity will be given the audience to ask questions and comment upon the subject material presented by Professor Davies.

2 Candidates Get Nomination Papers for County Supervisor

Walters, Floerchinger, Droll, Contestants For Position

Two candidates for the office of county supervisor obtained nomination papers from County Auditor Ed Sulek yesterday. The term of C. W. Lacinia, an incumbent supervisor, expires in 1939.

W. W. Walters of Lincoln township is the first republican to announce his nomination for supervisor. He made an unsuccessful race at the last election in 1936. He is a veteran Lincoln township assessor.

F. J. Floerchinger, democrat, of Oxford, will contest Lacinia at the primary election June 6. He is the second candidate to announce his candidacy for county supervisor on the democratic ticket. J. C. Droll of Liberty township announced his candidacy three weeks ago.

"I just got out of ALCATRAZ!"

No. 293 did twenty months on America's Devil's Island, most dreaded of all Federal prisons. In an insider's story of "the Rock," where they count the prisoners every thirty minutes, he tells about Al Capone, Alvin Karpis and Machine Gun Kelly; shows you where movies about Alcatraz made their mistakes. He reveals why the inmates go insane, and predicts a mutiny for this Spring which will be "foolproof"! See this week's Post.

Introducing AMERICA'S LEADING MUMMY "The Man Who Killed Lincoln"

Meet the mummy who tours under this banner: $1000 REWARD TO ANYONE WHO CAN PROVE THAT THIS IS NOT JOHN WILKES BOOTH. He has been bought and sold, kidnapped and seized for debt. He's been chased out of towns for "not having a license," and threatened with hanging by indignant G. A. R. veterans. You'll find his strange story in your Post this week.
