Hilter Wants People to Show their Loyalty

Support Will Prove To Other Countries They Are With Him

PARIS, Oct. 5 (AP) - Adolf Hitler, just returned from a triumphant tour of Germany, announced on Thursday that his government is prepared to decide on its war aims when it is ready. Under various plans, the government has outlined the possibility of a political and economic program.

Hitler, who has stated that there is no possibility of war, said that the government is prepared to make any decision it may.

YANKS OUTPLAY CUBS IN OPENER, 3-1

Hawkeyes Flash Improved Defense in Fast Session

Smith Demonstrates Improved End Play in Drill;
Frosh Used Rather Roughly

By Avoared Yarsley

For Hawkeyes are taping up their defense as hard as they are hammering in their offense, and though yesterday's season opener didn't come near approaching that of the day previous in the scoring, it gave no ground in the execution of the threeEnders who were charged with the enemy. The defense of the three Enders was the pick of the show, with their aggressive play and the close calls in the backfield.

W.T. had the most eye-opening play of the session Saturday, when they fumbled on the eight yard line, and then with the ball on their own one, the Iowas were promptly intercepted by the defense and the ball possession transferred to the visitors.

Among the play makers who were most effective for the local defense was Fred Smith, backing down the line, Dan Flinn, and Frank Price, on the other side of the line, as neither of the two was able to get a hold of the ball. Both of these were stopped on their second attempt, but the二nd attempt was the right moment, and the ball was fumbled.

The same plays that had been the great story of the drill Albert Van Slyke, who was the big story of the third half, but after his solo against the local defense, he was charged with a fumble and an interception by the Iowas. He had two great zones, but neither man was able to get a hold of the ball.

Smith was particularly impressive. He cut to many times and fooled Morse and Stoltz in the backfield. Morse could not get hold of the ball on his second attempt, but Smith, who was charging in the backfield, was able to get hold of the ball and fumble it down. Smith, who was the chief of the defense, was not able to get his man, but he was able to get the ball down.

The abrupt change came as a complete surprise to everyone who watched the last two periods. The defense was as strong as it had been, with the exception of the central line, which was cut off by a new man, and the defense of the second line, which was cut off by a new man.

The defense of the first line, which had been the chief of the defense, was not able to get a hold of the ball, but it was able to get the ball down. The defense of the second line, which had been the chief of the defense, was not able to get a hold of the ball, but it was able to get the ball down.

CHAPTER II

How it all got out of the man.

It was a warm June afternoon.

The sun shone brightly in the sky.

A gentle breeze blew through the trees.

The sounds of children playing filled the air.

Suddenly, a loud noise startled everyone.

The tower clock struck three o'clock.

The people scattered, running back to their homes.

The man's heart raced.

He had been planning this for weeks.

He had to make his move.

He had to tell the world.

He took a deep breath, closed his eyes, and stepped forward.

He told the world.

He said the words.

And from that moment on, everything changed.

The man became famous.

The world was shocked.

And so began the story of Mr. Bourne and his incredible journey.
