Troops Patrol France, Ready To Prevent Nationwide Strike

Cruisader Trio Takes Over

By JOHN MOONEY

Three courageous Crusaders, bearing their shields aloft and casting their banners to the east, swept through France's victory salutes and left the proudest nation of the world prostrate before them. They were the Knights of the Holy Cross, Eddie Anderson, Jim Harris and Joe Sheeketski, who fought a battle not for conquest, but for freedom.

These Knights of the Holy Cross, Eddie Anderson, Jim Harris and Joe Sheeketski, were not the only ones who fought on this day. The 100-year-old Knights of the Holy Cross was the oldest knight in the world, and his men were in the vanguard of the attack.

For Knight Anderson, this mission has an entire new significance from his last campaign on Iowa turf. Some 17 years ago, Knight Anderson, then leader of a rival band of Crusaders, had left for the French front with the word of the hour. When Anderson returned, he was a large, powerful figure.

Yesterday, however, it was different. From the time two courts met the trio in Chicago, they have been surrounded by the press from all over the world. In the center, Dr. Eddie Anderson, recently transferred to the New York Times, was a member of the board of the American Press Association. He was not a man to be trifled with. He turned out to welcome him.

Anderson reaffirmed his statement made earlier in the week when he said, "We are in the battle of our lives, and we'll fight each game as it comes along, and we'll give our best." The entire world was enlivened by this new group of heroes who, although not appearing in public, showed that they had a mission for the living "patriots of France." (See Anderson page 6.)

German Pair Found Guilty

Federal Court Convicts Two Of Espionage

Johanna Hofmann, Airplane Mechanic Unable to Appeal

New York, July 27 (AP) - Red-haired Johanna Hofmann, German airplane mechanic, was convicted by a federal court tonight of espionage in and out of the United States.

Hofmann, a 26-year-old woman, was arrested March 20 in New York under an extradition warrant from Germany. She was found in possession of plans for several German military airplanes.

The case was tried before Judge Arthur J. Hoffman of the Southern District of New York, who ordered a sentence of from two to five years. The maximum penalty for espionage in this country is 15 years.

Johanna Hofmann is said to have been a member of the German military aviation. She is alleged to have supplemented her salary by diverting material to Germany.

The case was prosecuted by Assistant United States Attorney Robert F. Kennedy, who declined to comment on the sentence.

A jury of 12 men found the defendant guilty of the charge of espionage.

The defense rested its case without a verdict, and the prosecution introduced evidence of a confession given by the defendant.

Hofmann, who was born in Germany, is said to have emigrated to the United States in 1931. She lived in New York City until her arrest last March.

She is the second German to be convicted of espionage in this country this month. The first was Paul K. H. Mallery, who was sentenced to three years in prison.

Iowa State Board of Education Recommends Suitable Location

Board Thinks Ames Better For Research Laboratory

At this week's meeting, the State Board of Education recommended that Ames be chosen as the site for a new research laboratory. This decision was based on the recommendation of a joint committee appointed by the United States department of agriculture to study the feasibility of such a project in the Ames area. The committee's report, which was presented to the board, indicated that Ames was the most suitable location for the laboratory due to its proximity to major agricultural research facilities and its availability of land. The board agreed with the committee's recommendation and directed the state's research commissioner to proceed with the necessary steps to establish the laboratory in the Ames area.

Almost Too Popular

Putting note in Christmas cards is said to have been originated in France. In the 1870's a Parisian, M. Davy, patented a Christmas card and soon after its introduction artists began sending cards to friends and these were sold on a scale similar to that in the present day.

After a while, Christmas cards were quite the rage among the fashionable. Artists turned to playing up the Christmas spirit in their greeting cards in a variety of ways.

Tales of Snowmen and the Winter

In the first Christmas card, we are shown the snowman, which can be traced back to the days of Aesop the Greek. The snowman symbolizes the festival spirit that pervades the world during the Christmas season.

A Silhouette of the Season

In the first book, ‘The Illustrations of Christmas Greeting’, by Edward J. Detmold, one can see the beginning of the art of silhouette. The use of silhouette in the Christmas card brought the individual attention to the season, and it has been a tradition ever since.

Why Not Vary the Gift You Give This Year?

If you’re tired of giving the same old gifts, and you’re looking for something different, then this might be just the thing for you. Christmas cards are a great way to add a personal touch to your gift giving.

1. Personalized Gifts
   - Customized Christmas cards can be made with your loved one’s name or special message on the card.
   - Add a personal touch by including a handwritten note on the back of the card.

2. Gift Certificates
   - Give the gift of choice with a gift certificate for a favorite store or restaurant.
   - Let them choose their own gift.

3. Handmade Gifts
   - Personalize the gift by making something yourself.
   - Think outside the box and create something unique.

4. Subscription Gifts
   - Give a subscription to a magazine or newspaper your loved one would enjoy.
   - A gift that keeps on giving.

5. Experience Gifts
   - Give an experience such as a concert or show ticket.
   - Create a memory that will last a lifetime.

Remember, the best gifts are those that come from the heart and are tailored to the recipient’s interests.

HOSTESS HINTS

With Thanksgiving just past and Christmas on the horizon, now is the perfect time to think about the hostess gifts.

HABIT OF THE DAY

CHAPTER 2

It all started one day when Peaches, young American girl, gave a friendly "Hi" to Thornton Holgate, a high school student, but had done herself a great service. A week later Peaches found her suit had been taken by Thornton, and had been unable to find it, being so well taken by him. The two were engaged then, and eventually, after much discussion, Peaches decided to go to Galveston with her boy, only to find that he was with other girls there. She returned home, only to have Thornton follow her.
