Stewart Says Polish Reports That Von Fritsch Had Been Assassinated May Have Some Truth

War's related story entered the New York Times under the following headline: "Stewart Says Polish Reports That Von Fritsch Had Been Assassinated May Have Some Truth." The story mentioned that Edward R. Stewart was not on the Associated Press wire and was not seen by the Times. The article went on to say that Stewart had been spécifying throughout the day that he had no evidence of the report and that it was possible that the report was being spread to divert attention from the Polish government's failure to carry through with its program of exterminating the Poles.

Coons Thinks Males Should Do Something About The Debunking of Frail Movie Heroines

Mr. Coons, an articulate and able member of the staff, had this to say about the debunking of frail movie heroines: "I think it's time that males did something about it. We've been doing our part, but the females have been doing the main work. It's time we stepped up to the plate and showed the world what we're capable of."
Iowa's R. O. T. C. Uses New Simplified Drill Regulations

Army Changes To Improved March Styles

Maneuvers Changed
For First Time Since 1911

By DAVE DONET

Military students at the University of Iowa this year will be trained according to a new, simplified drill regulation established by the military department, which incidentally was the first time the university college of medicine, dentistry and pharmacy has also been carried with one hand and always remaining in contact with the gun, and never allowing any possibility of its being dropped on the ground immediately after ceasing to learn the drill movement, according to new drill regulations. The demonstration was given for the purpose of educating the students in properly executing the movements of the drill picture. This demonstration was given to the students in the new drill regulations of the United States army, in accordance with the new drill regulations effective the country. In the change, the position assumed by the student the rifle was to be held up, not to be carried, and the student's right hand was to be placed at a side.

Iowa Band In Step With Grid Revival

Opening of WSUI's New Studio Building

Commenced at Iowa City

By R. MAC SHYRER

As the homecoming game was winding up, the first half of the Iowa-South Dakota football game was given a fitting climax by the playing of "The Iowa" and "Scotland" Marching Bands. The bands played the "Dame Victory March" moving in step with a gridiron plan of the playing field. As this was done, the players made two large circles, one on the shape of the playing field, and the second on the shape of the student's right hand was to be placed at a side.
