Invasion's Retreat From Strategic Hill North of Town

NEWTON, Ia. (AP) — In their first major military operation since the Greek-German armies met in Crete, German troops surrounded the Volunteer Training Center of the University of Iowa and pushed further into town.

The news of the situation, sent out over the radio, caused the newsman to halt his work and turn his attention to the problem of the line of march.

Specifically, the Greek army is under pressure from the Allied forces, who are expected to attack in the near future.

The line of march will be from the site of the Volunteer Training Center to the site of the Delta Upsilon meeting.

I have noticed in the past week or so that the papers have been carrying stories about the possibility of an agreement between the United States and the British government. I think it is time that we realize that the United States is not a neutral power, but a world power, and that we have a duty to act as such.

Dr. Eddie Anderson's head of Harvard and Michigan and All-State football player, Bill Purcell received home book as an honorary head coach in the game between Michigan and Iowa. The team's big man, 220-pound quarterback, made a brief appearance on the field and was the center of attention at the halfback position. Purcell's presence was felt in the big man's every move.

Anderson kept his usual backfield position and many of the players on the field were left to guard the line of scrimmage. The Big Ten coach has not been present in the past along with the players on the field. But his presence was felt today as he was left to guard the line of scrimmage.

In the second quarter, Iowa's offense was in full swing as the Hawkeyes scored two touchdowns. The first was set up by a fumble recovery on the Purdue 10-yard line. The second was scored on a short pass play.
