Kinnick Gets Excited—Coach Staff Has Sure Arms From Handshakes—Celebration—MEET THE TEAM TODAY!

Daily Iowa Managing Editor

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (Associated Press)—Said Coach Kinnick today: "Joe Iowan, you lose face, but don't make it a surefire celebration. That is our attitude.

You have had potentially one of the best teams in the country fighting for you all season, but it wasn't until today that it found itself. No one is in to blame for past performances. Forget those. And remember when Iowa becomes auzzle avarite worthy of speaking any school in the country.

The theme tonight was that in the absence of this team are probably Coaches Edith Anderson, Jim Harris and Frank Phenetrant. Their right arms have been turned off by the hundreds of weekly newspapers which have been shooting down the drawing room after the games.

Kinnick was happy the Iowa fans turned out today to see this team put on a show in its seventh meeting of representing the best in the country.

- Opinions for a Successful Central Student Council-(Last in a Series)

There remains little to be said in an objection to the study of Central Students. Today's consensus is that the body is well organized and is doing its work with a high degree of efficiency. It is up to the students to decide whether they wish to be represented by the present plan.

But it may be well, in light of certain aims which have been forthcoming in the pages of past years, to speak of certain plans of student activity which are not widely interpreted by the average student. Is not the central aim of such activity better to be focused upon the student body as a whole? Is not the student government plan a good one, but is it not held up as a specific cause of such a comparatively small section of the body as student unions for university?

Resuming With a Hitch in It
If there has been the slightest doubt that opposition to Iowa life was master has been put in its place after the last two weeks. It is hard to believe the fact that every body who plays at Iowa isn't in favor of the student government. The mass of

The only complaint was the fact that student government was unorganized and that the only things that were accomplished were simple and efficient. But the start of the entire student council must be sound, it must be workable, and it must have the support of those students who wish to

We believe such a plan can be made. It must be modified. If we are talking about the primary reason for the existence of the student government, it is that there is a need for an organization that is making excellent use of common sense.

1939 Approach Is Fresh
It must be said in all fairness to the consumers who have been responsible for the central student council that they have not approached the question of this particular student council from an entirely opposite source, but have been generally in favor of good work.

In this manner, the work of the student government has been quite favorably commented and matters along the way that the work of the student council is on its way to being meaningful and

Buckeyes Beat Illinois, 14 to 7

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. - Ohio State's Don Scott, striving for 1940 All-America quarter back honors, scored two touchdowns today to enable the Buckeyes to hand Illinois its fifth straight defeat. The 14 to 6 result gave 15,571 shivering fans, among them 4,000 visiting dads, a Champaign head ache. The Illini are winding up a disastrous season, having beaten only Bradley in the first game of the year.

Ohio dominated the play in all but the last period, using mostly power plays because cold weather made pass-catching difficult. The Buckeyes hurled four incomplete passes in the opening period, then stuck to a round game to score.

If Dr. Gallup were to conduct a poll among college football fans to determine who is America's most popular football star, chances are Tom Harmon, Michigan's all-time great scoring machine, would lead the list. Not quite a fullback, Harmon has the speed and the power of only one other ballplayer—Red Grange. Hanging up 99 points in his last three games, Harmon jumped into the world scoring list, to almost certain to finish the season as the nation's leading scorer.

As of this writing, Harmon has been all-American twice, will most assuredly be selected for the honor again this fall. His greatness lies in his speed and endurance. Once and the line of scrimmage, he runs with long, powerful strides, would be tackle with his "jelly" big outside. Up move! Ann Arbor number 99 has become as believable as the immortal 77 which Grange made famous for the Illini.

Tom's a good student, too. Here's looking through a textbook before going into class.

Harmon started football late by playing with his dinner-bells nearly to the elbows. He can run 100 yards in less than 11-seconds.

No question, though, how Joe Norris gets the extras in his cigarettes. He turned to the slower burning brand--Camel--for extra mildness and found several other pleasing facets as well, including extra smoking. Slower burning--cigarette brief--what pleasure may add to smoking? More mildness and freedom because Camel's free from the irritating effects of fast burning. More flavor--because slow burning lets the flavor come through. And along with extra pleasures--extra smoking per pack (see below, right).
Tom doesn’t limit his play to keeping the ball. He is an excellent passer and punter, kicker, and return man. He never tires, and during the PM’s tests, some tests which Grange himself supervised, he was free from the irritating effects of slower burning, and found several other extras as well, including extra smoking.

THAT IS THE "Fireball" Joe Norris (above) uses a two-finger combination ball with supreme grip—a quick-breaking hook—thrown one of the fastest, helps in bowling. But increased...no fast burning...for Joe in his own words: “It’s always slow burning Camel. He says: "Camels give me extra mildness. And there’s nothing like a Camel for flavor.”

Back in 1880-81 Radcliffe college offered its students a course in astronomy—a radical departure for women in those days. Then, as now, Radcliffe had in faculty all its own but used the services of Harvard's faculty. Among special interest to the students was the planetarium, which the Radcliffe women turned into a kind of laboratory, with the heads of all the planets polished to a shine. Moreover, it was a radical departure for women in those days. Then, as now, Radcliffe had no faculty of its own but used the services of Harvard's faculty. Women's roles in astronomy are a small, rather clerical, and enthusiastic group. A great many continue in other fields, but since they very often marry astronomers, marriage does not mean the end of their astronomical work.

Stone Idol Gets 80th Coat of Paint

The Rev. Dr. J. W. Farnham, a graduate of Union College, presented his alma mater with a replica of stone idol in 1860. For 16 years it rested under a shed. In 1876 Dr. Farnham gave notice that he was returning to the campus. Students gave it a liberal coat of paint before his return, but since they very often marry astronomers, marriage does not mean the end of their astronomical work.

Stone Idol Gets 80th Coat of Paint

The Rev. Dr. J. M. W. Fawcett, president of Union college, presented his stone idol with a massive stone idol in 1850. For 16 years it rested under a shed. In 1870 Dr. Fawcett gave notice that he was returning to the idol and was hastily set up on the campus. Students gave it a liberal coat of paint before his return, but since they were still poor, they did not paint the idol properly. Thirteen coats of paint have been applied in the past.
