ITALIAN EAVES ARRIVES AT ENGLISH STRANDHILL, DERDAWA, IN ETHIOPIA

Cairo, Egypt, April 16 (AP) - Against the services of the German-British force on the eastern front, the Allies are making a new bid to attack the Germans on their own ground and to push them deeper into Greece.

The new offensive, according to sources in Cairo, is to be followed by a major attack on the Axis forces in the western Mediterranean, where the British and American forces are already engaged in a fierce battle.

The operation is expected to last for several weeks, and is likely to result in a major victory for the Allies.

The British are said to be preparing for a major offensive in the Aegean Sea, where they hope to capture the island of Crete.

The Italian Eaves arrived at the English Strandhill Derdaawa in Ethiopia, according to reports from Cairo.

The Italian Eaves is a key figure in the Italian military, and his arrival in Ethiopia is likely to be seen as a sign of the growing importance of the Italian presence in the region.

The Eaves was recently appointed as the head of the Italian military mission in Ethiopia, and is said to be well placed to lead the Italian forces in the upcoming campaign.

The Italian Eaves will be accompanied by a large number of supplies and equipment, and is expected to be in Ethiopia for several weeks.

The Eaves is well respected for his military expertise, and his appointment as the head of the Italian mission in Ethiopia is likely to be seen as a sign of the growing importance of the Italian presence in the region.

The Italian Eaves is expected to arrive in Ethiopia by the end of the week, and will be based at the English Strandhill Derdaawa.

Women Aid in Developing British Spitfire Planes

WASHINGTON, April 16 (AP) - Women have been aiding in the development of the British Spitfire planes, and are helping to build the planes in a factory in England.

The women are working in shifts, and are paid $1 per hour.

This British women's labor force is one of many working to stay afloat during the war. Many women are working in factories and shipyards to help keep the country supplied with the materials it needs.

British See Action
Along Entire Front

ATHENS, April 17 (Thursday) (AP) - Two German columns were attacking through the heart of the central Greek-British front today to outflank the strong allied entrenchments thrown up on the slopes of famed Mount Olympus on the eastern front.

The Greek high command announced that one of the columns was coming down the Aliakmon river in the region of the Veria, 40 miles south of the Yugaro frontier in a drive for the eastern foothills of Mount Olympus near the town of Thrissalo.

The other column was coming down the Aliakmon river in the region of the Kastoria, 45 miles south of the town of the Yugaro frontier in the drive for the eastern foothills of Mount Olympus near the town of Thrissalo.

Further south, the Greek command announced that the Germans had crossed to the south bank of the Aliakmon from the heights near the town of the Yugaro, 45 miles south of the town of the Yugaro frontier in the drive for the eastern foothills of Mount Olympus near the town of Thrissalo.

For the first time this night at the mountainous town of Kastoria, 45 miles south of the town of the Yugaro, the Germans had crossed to the south bank of the Aliakmon from the heights near the town of the Yugaro, 45 miles south of the town of the Yugaro.

The Dodo ‘Lives Again’

Only Restoration in the States is Displayed in University Museum

You remember when the Dodo was a popular entry in the classic Alice in Wonderland stories? Well, this week the University Museum displayed a restored version of the Dodo, complete with its characteristic roll of the eyes.

The Dodo has been a symbol of human nature and folly for centuries. This particular restoration was made possible through a collaboration between the University Museum and the local community. The project took two years of work, and the final result is truly stunning.

The Dodo was originally thought to be extinct, but recent evidence suggests that a small population may still exist in the United States. The University Museum is working to protect and preserve this iconic species.

Athletics Win Second Game From Yanks, 10-7

Stastny Likely Starter To Face Notre Dame

Tee Off on 3 Of 4 Hurlers To Earn Win

Dick Siebert Leads A's With 2 Homers; Potter Stays Route

NEW YORK, April 18 (AP)—The Philadelphia Athletics led off with three of four Yankee pitchers today to take their season's highest victory ever over New York in the Polo Grounds.

The A's, too, were a tale of two teams today and at various times played at their major league heights, not two home runs and a single, and the Johnsons provided the home as the A's rolled up 11 innings against Harry Howell (1-1).

Nelson Potter, who played the right for the Athletics by specifying, gave New York a 2-0 lead in the first inning on a two-run single, and the Sewell brothers doubled in a run in the eighth inning.

The A's hit the ball with four runs on six hits in the first two innings, and seven runs were scored, although Philadelphia got out to a 3-0 lead before the boxers were in.

Bosox Nose Out Senators in 12th
On Fox's Single

Boston, April 18 (AP)—The Boston Red Sox staged an uphill comeback victory today for the Washington Senators, 3-1, in 12 innings, Penn Fanning, Boston's eighth-inning mark, spelling victory.

The Senators were leading, 1-0, when the first two men came up in the 12th, Ed Delahanty of the Senators knocking the ball and Greece foddered by a rush of Senators on the field. Remington, the Senators' third baseman, picked up the ball and threw it to first baseman Bill Watters, who tagged up the runner on first. A single in the 12th inning, made it 3-1, New York.
