Hitler Hurls 2 Great Columns At Moscow in Major Offensive

Supreme Court Mourns Death of Retired Judge—Brandeis Rites to Be Held Today

Declarar Double Thrum Slowly

A sterilizer German war prisoner is carried around the British hospital ship at Naples, England, and is about to be released. These were loaded with wounded men and were selected at sea where they were exchanged for prisoners on an equal number of wounded Britons. The operation was performed without signs, although the wounded men were selected at sea.

German-British Prisoner Swap Postponed Again

Berlin Radio Says Deal Off At Last Minute

Hate Nazis, German radio has announced in its broadcast that a sterilizer German war prisoner was carried out of the British hospital ship at Naples, England, and is about to be released. These were loaded with wounded men and were selected at sea where they were exchanged for prisoners on an equal number of wounded Britons. The operation was performed without signs, although the wounded men were selected at sea.

SOVIET INFANTRY ENGAGES NAZIS ON EASTERN FRONT

Soviets Admit Nazi Advance Toward Capital

Declare Two German Troops Final Smashed in Center

MOSCOW (AP)—Confidence among authorities here that the German advance toward Moscow was being halted and that the second great column of the enemy was being cut off was expressed in the announcement of the capture of two German troops. The announcement came from the Moscow government, which said that the German advance was being halted and that the second great column of the enemy was being cut off. The announcement was based on information received from the Western front, where a German advance was being halted.

5-Year-Old Girl Found Alive After 8 Day Sojourn in Desolate New England Forest

HEROIC 8-Year-Old Girl Found Alive After 8 Day Sojourn in Desolate New England Forest

Soviet news agency reported here last night that the 8-year-old girl, who was lost in the New England forest, was found alive after an 8-day sojourn. The girl, who was lost in the forest, was found by some hunters who were searching for her. The girl was found in a small wooden cabin in the forest, where she had been living alone.

Booklet Sheds Light On Activities of RA F

Author Says French Prevented British Air Attack on Nazi Troops

LONDON (AP)—Confidence that the French air forces were preventing an attack on the British air force by the Germans was expressed in a booklet published here by the British government. The booklet, which was published by the British government, said that the French air forces were preventing an attack on the British air force by the Germans. The booklet was published by the British government, which said that the French air forces were preventing an attack on the British air force by the Germans.

Army Bomber Found Wrecked; Report All Six Occupants Dead

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sources at the War Department said yesterday that an Army bomber, which was flying over the Caspian Sea, had been reported wrecked. The Air Force, which was flying over the Caspian Sea, had been reported wrecked. The Air Force, which was flying over the Caspian Sea, had been reported wrecked. The Air Force, which was flying over the Caspian Sea, had been reported wrecked.

Mexico's Investigate Large-Scale Smuggling

By Japanese Vessels

NAZI U-BOAT AND ITS VICTIM

The German submarine commander, who was killed in the attack on the British ship, had been reported dead. The submarine commander, who was killed in the attack on the British ship, had been reported dead. The submarine commander, who was killed in the attack on the British ship, had been reported dead.

Kekokuk Blast Destroys National Carborundum Company Warehouse; $100,000

Kekokuk, Ill.—A 100,000-gallon tank containing 100,000 gallons of oil was exploded yesterday in the National Carborundum Company warehouse in Kekokuk, Ill. The explosion was reported to have been caused by a leak in the tank, which had been leaking oil for several days. The explosion was reported to have been caused by a leak in the tank, which had been leaking oil for several days. The explosion was reported to have been caused by a leak in the tank, which had been leaking oil for several days.

Interpreting The War News

New German Drive On Moscow Moving With 'Gloster' Speed and Power

By TORD R. JENSEN

The formidable new German drive on Moscow moving with 'Gloster' speed and power. The new German drive on Moscow moving with 'Gloster' speed and power. The new German drive on Moscow moving with 'Gloster' speed and power.

Eight Mountain Climbers Rescue Parachutist After Six Days On Peak's Top In Western Alps

BY KENNETH W. DUNLOP

The eight mountain climbers who rescued the parachutist after six days on the peak's top in the Western Alps. The eight mountain climbers who rescued the parachutist after six days on the peak's top in the Western Alps. The eight mountain climbers who rescued the parachutist after six days on the peak's top in the Western Alps.
In the Nation's Capital

F.R.'s Mention of Soviet Religion Was a Mistake

WASHINGTON—There is little truth in a recent statement made by Franklin Roosevelt in reference to the religious freedom matters in the Soviet Union.

The president, in a recent radio address, asserted that the continued denial of religious freedom in the Soviet Union constituted a violation of the spirit of the United Nations and of the principles of democracy.

However, it is believed by some that the assertion was made in a spirit of propagandistic overreaching, and that the president's statement was not intended to be a factual statement of the situation.

The president's statement was made in the context of a discussion of the United Nations' efforts to promote religious freedom in the world. It is believed that the president's statement was made in a spirit of propagandistic overreaching, and that the president's statement was not intended to be a factual statement of the situation.

The president's statement was made in the context of a discussion of the United Nations' efforts to promote religious freedom in the world. It is believed that the president's statement was made in a spirit of propagandistic overreaching, and that the president's statement was not intended to be a factual statement of the situation.

The president's statement was made in the context of a discussion of the United Nations' efforts to promote religious freedom in the world. It is believed that the president's statement was made in a spirit of propagandistic overreaching, and that the president's statement was not intended to be a factual statement of the situation.

The president's statement was made in the context of a discussion of the United Nations' efforts to promote religious freedom in the world. It is believed that the president's statement was made in a spirit of propagandistic overreaching, and that the president's statement was not intended to be a factual statement of the situation.

The president's statement was made in the context of a discussion of the United Nations' efforts to promote religious freedom in the world. It is believed that the president's statement was made in a spirit of propagandistic overreaching, and that the president's statement was not intended to be a factual statement of the situation.

The president's statement was made in the context of a discussion of the United Nations' efforts to promote religious freedom in the world. It is believed that the president's statement was made in a spirit of propagandistic overreaching, and that the president's statement was not intended to be a factual statement of the situation.

The president's statement was made in the context of a discussion of the United Nations' efforts to promote religious freedom in the world. It is believed that the president's statement was made in a spirit of propagandistic overreaching, and that the president's statement was not intended to be a factual statement of the situation.

The president's statement was made in the context of a discussion of the United Nations' efforts to promote religious freedom in the world. It is believed that the president's statement was made in a spirit of propagandistic overreaching, and that the president's statement was not intended to be a factual statement of the situation.

The president's statement was made in the context of a discussion of the United Nations' efforts to promote religious freedom in the world. It is believed that the president's statement was made in a spirit of propagandistic overreaching, and that the president's statement was not intended to be a factual statement of the situation.

The president's statement was made in the context of a discussion of the United Nations' efforts to promote religious freedom in the world. It is believed that the president's statement was made in a spirit of propagandistic overreaching, and that the president's statement was not intended to be a factual statement of the situation.

The president's statement was made in the context of a discussion of the United Nations' efforts to promote religious freedom in the world. It is believed that the president's statement was made in a spirit of propagandistic overreaching, and that the president's statement was not intended to be a factual statement of the situation.

The president's statement was made in the context of a discussion of the United Nations' efforts to promote religious freedom in the world. It is believed that the president's statement was made in a spirit of propagandistic overreaching, and that the president's statement was not intended to be a factual statement of the situation.

The president's statement was made in the context of a discussion of the United Nations' efforts to promote religious freedom in the world. It is believed that the president's statement was made in a spirit of propagandistic overreaching, and that the president's statement was not intended to be a factual statement of the situation.

The president's statement was made in the context of a discussion of the United Nations' efforts to promote religious freedom in the world. It is believed that the president's statement was made in a spirit of propagandistic overreaching, and that the president's statement was not intended to be a factual statement of the situation.

The president's statement was made in the context of a discussion of the United Nations' efforts to promote religious freedom in the world. It is believed that the president's statement was made in a spirit of propagandistic overreaching, and that the president's statement was not intended to be a factual statement of the situation.

The president's statement was made in the context of a discussion of the United Nations' efforts to promote religious freedom in the world. It is believed that the president's statement was made in a spirit of propagandistic overreaching, and that the president's statement was not intended to be a factual statement of the situation.

The president's statement was made in the context of a discussion of the United Nations' efforts to promote religious freedom in the world. It is believed that the president's statement was made in a spirit of propagandistic overreaching, and that the president's statement was not intended to be a factual statement of the situation.

The president's statement was made in the context of a discussion of the United Nations' efforts to promote religious freedom in the world. It is believed that the president's statement was made in a spirit of propagandistic overreaching, and that the president's statement was not intended to be a factual statement of the situation.

The president's statement was made in the context of a discussion of the United Nations' efforts to promote religious freedom in the world. It is believed that the president's statement was made in a spirit of propagandistic overreaching, and that the president's statement was not intended to be a factual statement of the situation.

The president's statement was made in the context of a discussion of the United Nations' efforts to promote religious freedom in the world. It is believed that the president's statement was made in a spirit of propagandistic overreaching, and that the president's statement was not intended to be a factual statement of the situation.

The president's statement was made in the context of a discussion of the United Nations' efforts to promote religious freedom in the world. It is believed that the president's statement was made in a spirit of propagandistic overreaching, and that the president's statement was not intended to be a factual statement of the situation.

The president's statement was made in the context of a discussion of the United Nations' efforts to promote religious freedom in the world. It is believed that the president's statement was made in a spirit of propagandistic overreaching, and that the president's statement was not intended to be a factual statement of the situation.

The president's statement was made in the context of a discussion of the United Nations' efforts to promote religious freedom in the world. It is believed that the president's statement was made in a spirit of propagandistic overreaching, and that the president's statement was not intended to be a factual statement of the situation.

The president's statement was made in the context of a discussion of the United Nations' efforts to promote religious freedom in the world. It is believed that the president's statement was made in a spirit of propagandistic overreaching, and that the president's statement was not intended to be a factual statement of the situation.

The president's statement was made in the context of a discussion of the United Nations' efforts to promote religious freedom in the world. It is believed that the president's statement was made in a spirit of propagandistic overreaching, and that the president's statement was not intended to be a factual statement of the situation.

The president's statement was made in the context of a discussion of the United Nations' efforts to promote religious freedom in the world. It is believed that the president's statement was made in a spirit of propagandistic overreaching, and that the president's statement was not intended to be a factual statement of the situation.

The president's statement was made in the context of a discussion of the United Nations' efforts to promote religious freedom in the world. It is believed that the president's statement was made in a spirit of propagandistic overreaching, and that the president's statement was not intended to be a factual statement of the situation.

The president's statement was made in the context of a discussion of the United Nations' efforts to promote religious freedom in the world. It is believed that the president's statement was made in a spirit of propagandistic overreaching, and that the president's statement was not intended to be a factual statement of the situation.

The president's statement was made in the context of a discussion of the United Nations' efforts to promote religious freedom in the world. It is believed that the president's statement was made in a spirit of propagandistic overreaching, and that the president's statement was not intended to be a factual statement of the situation.

The president's statement was made in the context of a discussion of the United Nations' efforts to promote religious freedom in the world. It is believed that the president's statement was made in a spirit of propagandistic overreaching, and that the president's statement was not intended to be a factual statement of the situation.

The president's statement was made in the context of a discussion of the United Nations' efforts to promote religious freedom in the world. It is believed that the president's statement was made in a spirit of propagandistic overreaching, and that the president's statement was not intended to be a factual statement of the situation.

The president's statement was made in the context of a discussion of the United Nations' efforts to promote religious freedom in the world. It is believed that the president's statement was made in a spirit of propagandistic overreaching, and that the president's statement was not intended to be a factual statement of the situation.

The president's statement was made in the context of a discussion of the United Nations' efforts to promote religious freedom in the world. It is believed that the president's statement was made in a spirit of propagandistic overreaching, and that the president's statement was not intended to be a factual statement of the situation.

The president's statement was made in the context of a discussion of the United Nations' efforts to promote religious freedom in the world. It is believed that the president's statement was made in a spirit of propagandistic overreaching, and that the president's statement was not intended to be a factual statement of the situation.

The president's statement was made in the context of a discussion of the United Nations' efforts to promote religious freedom in the world. It is believed that the president's statement was made in a spirit of propagandistic overreaching, and that the president's statement was not intended to be a factual statement of the situation.

The president's statement was made in the context of a discussion of the United Nations' efforts to promote religious freedom in the world. It is believed that the president's statement was made in a spirit of propagandistic overreaching, and that the president's statement was not intend...
NATIONAL Newspaper Week, 1931, turns up on the calendar with American newspapers and their 130,000,000 readers facing the greatest national situation that has confronted their country in the last ten years. While within the past 18 months, the national government has committed the nation to responsibilities that are fundamental in human nature—the wish to know about what our friends (or maybe enemies) around the corner is doing. That sentiment can lead to the darkest days of recorded human history. It can't be answered. It can't be suppressed.

Mr. American may work his eight hours, plus overtime, at the mill and get home to dinner dead tired. Mrs. American may work by a foreman by eight o'clock every day. There are two different worlds of the little American girl—of the little American boy. There are two different worlds of the little American girl—of the little American boy. They couldn't understand a word without their newspapers if they had to—but what a hole it would leave in their lives.

Mr. and Mrs. American, and there are over 100,000,000 of them in these United States, like to consider that they know what is happening on the planet. They like to have opinions and to discuss them. Their world may range from the black in which they live to the universe itself, but they won't take their place behind their neighboring hedge. The newspapers come to them and lead the parade.

They want the news, of neighborhood, city, county, state, nation, and world—a circumstance in which the American press is almost unique. James Whitcomb, and Abraham Lincoln held dear will fall into fragments.

All of us know the failings of democracy. They are our own failings as individual human beings. We are all selfish. Our selfishness is reflected in the laws which we demand of our elected representatives at the 68 state capitals and at the Capitol in Washington. If we are members of a church society, we are convinced that the welfare of the nation depends upon the enactment of a law that will limit the liberty—we may call it license—of some millions of our fellow citizens. If we are members of a labor union, we cheer lustily for the passage of a bill that ensures the right of collective bargaining. If we are manufacturers, we work with heart and soul for a measure which will give us toxict protection against goods which are produced by cheaper labor in lands across the sea. It is not often that any of us forgets his own selfish interest and considers his problem in the light of the whole national fabric. He is selfish and comfortable and proud of his country.

There is no longer any doubt that the American way of living—the life in which a man is free to choose his own livelihood and location—is opposed by another in which the state is umpire, superior to the individual. The great peril in our own civilization is that in the effort to defeat the plan which makes the same end and the individual nothing, we should conform to the same end and do less well.

If we stop to sit at the sentiment before that last draft, we should have overlooked something that is fundamental in human nature—the wish to know about what our friends (or maybe enemies) around the corner is doing. That sentiment can lead to the darkest days of recorded human history. It can't be answered. It can't be suppressed.

Mr. American may work his eight hours, plus overtime, at the mill and get home to dinner dead tired. Mrs. American may work by a foreman by eight o'clock every day. There are two different worlds of the little American girl—of the little American boy. They couldn't understand a word without their newspapers if they had to—but what a hole it would leave in their lives.

Here is the time when the newsfirst of all. It is the time when the newspapers can come to the people and help them to understand their work and world. We believe that Mr. American does recognize those realities.

There is more to it than the mere thirst for information. Our people know that when or if their source of primary information is taken from them, the process of destroying liberty is only begun. Mr. American can sit any time with his pipe and his slippers and his favorite paper, secure in the knowledge that his freedom is in his own hands. He tells him that he can no longer have the newspaper he wants to read, and he knows that more and worse is coming.

Mr. American of the U.S.A. knows these things from which he has seen and read—but does he fully realize that the newspaper in which he puts his confidence is the key stone of the arch supporting all of our liberties? Does he know that the four freedoms about which so much has been written constitute the foundation of the society upon which his America has been built? Does he know that destruction of any one of those four freedoms immediately calls for the destruction of the other three and of the foundation that rests upon them? Does he realize that to put a muzzle upon the free press is to make war upon the American way of life? Does he realize that to put a muzzle upon the free press is to make war upon the American way of life?

The years between the Civil War and the Spanish-American War, have seen a rise in the American press which is estimated at 300,000,000 copies a week, with a circulation of 75,000,000. In every city, town, and village, the men and women who make the world go round have the right to buy the newspaper of their choice. Mr. American has listened, shrugged his shoulders, and he will resist any such effort to curb the press. He knows that he can't swap ideas with the man next door or with the fellow at the next beach or desk without letting himself in for trouble with the press. He knows that he cannot go to his own church or send his children to a Sunday school of his own choice without putting himself under the eyes of people to whom all religion is a thing to be feared. He knows that the lodges meeting that he attends every week or so is an object of suspicion to the people who make the world go round. And he also wants to know what the men who study the news think from day to day of its doings.

It isn't often that we are called upon to think of any institution in this country as representing the whole structure of our society. We don't even take it for granted that there is such an institution; we seldom consider it in that light. We lay down our two or three or five cents for our favorite newspaper as a mother lays down her two or three dollars for the bundle of blankets around every corner of the world. We look at the headlines, we laugh at the funny, we swear at editors, and even kneck the drop from the box top—without considering that there is another thing in life that we recall that only on the North American continent does the worker and the housewife read the same press. Only in the United States and Canada today, in the Western hemispheres, does the man and woman who make the world go round have the right to buy the newspaper of their choice. Mr. American has listened, shrugged his shoulders and he will resist any such effort to curb the press. He knows that he can't swap ideas with the man next door or with the fellow at the next beach or desk without letting himself in for trouble with the secret police. He knows that he cannot go to his own church or send his children to a Sunday school of his own choice without putting himself under the eyes of people to whom all religion is a thing to be feared. He knows that the lodges meeting that he attends every week or so is an object of suspicion to the people who make the world go round. And he also wants to know what the men who study the news think from day to day of its doings.

It isn't often that we are called upon to think of any institution in this country as representing the whole structure of our society. We don't even take it for granted that there is such an institution; we seldom consider it in that light. We lay down our two or three or five cents for our favorite newspaper as a mother lays down her two or three dollars for the bundle of blankets around every corner of the world. We look at the headlines, we laugh at the funny, we swear at editors, and even kneck the drop from the box top—without considering that there is another thing in life that we recall that only on the North American continent does the worker and the housewife read the same press. Only in the United States and Canada today, in the Western hemispheres, does the man and woman who make the world go round have the right to buy the newspaper of their choice. The newspapers come to them and lead the parade.

Mr. American of the U.S.A. knows these things from which he has seen and read—but does he fully realize that the newspaper in which he puts his confidence is the key stone of the arch supporting all of our liberties? Does he know that the four freedoms about which so much has been written constitute the foundation of the society upon which his America has been built? Does he know that destruction of any one of those four freedoms immediately calls for the destruction of the other three and of the foundation that rests upon them? Does he realize that to put a muzzle upon the press is to make war upon the American way of life? Does he realize that to put a muzzle upon the press is to make war upon the American way of life?...

It isn't often that we are called upon to think of any institution in this country as representing the whole structure of our society. We don't even take it for granted that there is such an institution; we seldom consider it in that light. We lay down our two or three or five cents for our favorite newspaper as a mother lays down her two or three dollars for the bundle of blankets around every corner of the world. We look at the headlines, we laugh at the funny, we swear at editors, and even kneck the drop from the box top—without considering that there is another thing in life that we recall that only on the North American continent does the worker and the housewife read the same press. Only in the United States and Canada today, in the Western hemispheres, does the man and woman who make the world go round have the right to buy the newspaper of their choice. The newspapers come to them and lead the parade.

Mr. American of the U.S.A. knows these things from which he has seen and read—but does he fully realize that the newspaper in which he puts his confidence is the key stone of the arch supporting all of our liberties? Does he know that the four freedoms about which so much has been written constitute the foundation of the society upon which his America has been built? Does he know that destruction of any one of those four freedoms immediately calls for the destruction of the other three and of the foundation that rests upon them? Does he realize that to put a muzzle upon the press is to make war upon the American way of life? Does he realize that to put a muzzle upon the press is to make war upon the American way of life?...
Hancher Inaugurates Significant Radio Show Tonight

In "Herd Life," next week's "Heritage" and Weekly Review will be heard on WABX (1300 AM) from 7:30 to 8 p.m. Dr. Flick, psychology professor at WSU, will speak as the featured personality.

While "Herd Life" will be heard nightly, the show will also be heard in several other states.

Stuents

Wait for the Biggest News in Iowa City.

No Cramming Necessary! For swell flavor and real chewing fun—the answer is delicious Wrigley's Spearmint Gum.

United Gospel Plans Spiritual Campaign

Three weeks of special services, including the United Gospel church, will be held in the various churches.

Krause, Philp Key and Harriet Evans will be in charge.

荧光灯

Hanchler Elected President of SUI Forensic Fraternity

Norman Foerester, director of the library, also announced that the first and last names will be used in the cinema throughout the year at 2:30 in the home of Mrs. W. Keyser, 325 E. College.

Dr. D. Foerester, director of the library, will give the address.

As the barrage of words was shouted, Mr. Key and Mrs. Harriet Evans, 128 E. College, will meet this evening at 7:30 to discuss plans for the first meeting of the new officers.

During his four years here Dr. Foerester has been the director of the library.

Today 10 Local Organizations Plan toMeet

Announcement was made for the opening of Vogue magazine at 10 a.m. The show will be on the stage at the American Legion Building. A film will be shown at 10 a.m.

Herald and Weekly Review

ben Bell, 44 or Speck

Will Bell, 44 or Speck

The show will last for three weeks, with the same cast.

The show will be in charge of table decorations, and another 35 per cent of the first semester's work was done.

A four-year-old boy will be in charge of table decorations, and another 35 per cent of the first semester's work was done.

Dr. H. Clay Harshbarger of the United Gospel church has been appointed to serve as a religious leader.

The show will be in charge of table decorations, and another 35 per cent of the first semester's work was done.

We plan to take tryouts today.

Dramatic Interpretation: The Pride of Pride and Prejudice

To Be Aired Over WSUI

The famous Java Audubon will give the address.

Two members added to librarian staff

Dr. D. Foerester, director of the library, also announced that the first and last names will be used in the cinema throughout the year at 2:30 in the home of Mrs. W. Keyser, 325 E. College.

Dr. D. Foerester, director of the library, will give the address.

As the barrage of words was shouted, Mr. Key and Mrs. Harriet Evans, 128 E. College, will meet this evening at 7:30 to discuss plans for the first meeting of the new officers.

During his four years here Dr. Foerester has been the director of the library.

Today 10 Local Organizations Plan to Meet

Announcement was made for the opening of Vogue magazine at 10 a.m. The show will be on the stage at the American Legion Building. A film will be shown at 10 a.m.

Herald and Weekly Review

ben Bell, 44 or Speck

Will Bell, 44 or Speck

The show will last for three weeks, with the same cast.

The show will be in charge of table decorations, and another 35 per cent of the first semester's work was done.

A four-year-old boy will be in charge of table decorations, and another 35 per cent of the first semester's work was done.

Dr. H. Clay Harshbarger of the United Gospel church has been appointed to serve as a religious leader.

The show will be in charge of table decorations, and another 35 per cent of the first semester's work was done.

We plan to take tryouts today.

Dramatic Interpretation: The Pride of Pride and Prejudice

To Be Aired Over WSUI

The famous Java Audubon will give the address.

Two members added to librarian staff

Dr. D. Foerester, director of the library, also announced that the first and last names will be used in the cinema throughout the year at 2:30 in the home of Mrs. W. Keyser, 325 E. College.

Dr. D. Foerester, director of the library, will give the address.

As the barrage of words was shouted, Mr. Key and Mrs. Harriet Evans, 128 E. College, will meet this evening at 7:30 to discuss plans for the first meeting of the new officers.

During his four years here Dr. Foerester has been the director of the library.

Today 10 Local Organizations Plan to Meet

Announcement was made for the opening of Vogue magazine at 10 a.m. The show will be on the stage at the American Legion Building. A film will be shown at 10 a.m.

Herald and Weekly Review

ben Bell, 44 or Speck

Will Bell, 44 or Speck

The show will last for three weeks, with the same cast.

The show will be in charge of table decorations, and another 35 per cent of the first semester's work was done.

A four-year-old boy will be in charge of table decorations, and another 35 per cent of the first semester's work was done.

Dr. H. Clay Harshbarger of the United Gospel church has been appointed to serve as a religious leader.

The show will be in charge of table decorations, and another 35 per cent of the first semester's work was done.

We plan to take tryouts today.

Dramatic Interpretation: The Pride of Pride and Prejudice

To Be Aired Over WSUI

The famous Java Audubon will give the address.

Two members added to librarian staff

Dr. D. Foerester, director of the library, also announced that the first and last names will be used in the cinema throughout the year at 2:30 in the home of Mrs. W. Keyser, 325 E. College.

Dr. D. Foerester, director of the library, will give the address.

As the barrage of words was shouted, Mr. Key and Mrs. Harriet Evans, 128 E. College, will meet this evening at 7:30 to discuss plans for the first meeting of the new officers.

During his four years here Dr. Foerester has been the director of the library.
PERSONALS

MRS. R. W. FINLEY and daughter, Janet, 40, 402 Wall, attended the Massillon (Ohio) banquet of the Order of the Palmetto State Society.

Mrs. John Panelli and his brother, Joseph, 39, 302 W. 11th, attended the Massillon (Ohio) banquet of the Order of the Palmetto State Society.

ELIZABETH KIRKPATRICK, 47, 1223 E. 5th, has returned from Los Angeles, where she had gone to be with her mother, Mrs. Edna Kirkpatrick, 61, 1321 E. 5th. Mrs. Kirkpatrick was treated at the hospital for a heart attack.

Mrs. Marietta Williford, 44, 222 E. 5th, will be the hostess for a dinner for the order at the University of Iowa.

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 7, 1941

The University of Iowa will hold a dinner at the University of Iowa for the order. The dinner will be held at 6 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Williford.

The dinner will feature a program of entertainment by the order's local chapter. The program will include a variety of musical numbers and speeches. The dinner will be attended by members of the University of Iowa and the order.

The dinner will be followed by a dance in the home of Mrs. Williford. The dance will feature music by the order's local chapter. The dance will be open to members of the University of Iowa and the order.

The dinner and dance are being held to raise funds for the order's local chapter. The funds will be used to support the order's local chapter's activities and programs.

The order's local chapter has been active in the University of Iowa community. The chapter has held a variety of events and programs, including dinners, dances, and speakers' programs. The chapter has also been involved in community service projects and activities.

The order's local chapter has a membership of over 50 members. The chapter is led by a group of dedicated and enthusiastic volunteers who work tirelessly to support the order's mission and goals.

The order is a nationwide organization that was founded in 1870. The order's mission is to enhance the quality of life for individuals and families through education, leadership development, and service.

The order's local chapter in the University of Iowa community is an active and vibrant group that is committed to supporting the order's mission and goals. The chapter's events and programs are open to all members of the University of Iowa and the community.
Yankees Top Dodgers, 3-1, to Win Series

Ernie Bonham Invincible In Four-Hit Win

BULLEITON

Little Hawks Get Stiff Workout After Three Days of Relaxation

Bob Krueger

The Box

New York AL LEAGUE

Cleveland 3 @ New York 9

Cincinnati 3 @ Boston 1

Philadelphia 3 @ St. Louis 1

Pittsburgh 0 @ Chicago 2

Baltimor 4 @ Milwaukee 8

St. Louis 1 @ Chicago 2

Kansas City 3 @ Detroit 2

Boston 5 @ Pittsburgh 3

Chicago 5 @ Cincinnati 3

Chicago 5 @ Atlanta 2

Kansas City 1 @ Pittsburgh 3

Team Shows Vigor During Scrimmage

Play Powerful Polo Eleven on Shredder Field Friday Night

After three full days of relaxation, Little Hawks players showed their prowess against powerfully prepared for the Fourth Annual Shredder Field Polo Tournament, which will open the season this Saturday night. Played before a small crowd, the Polo Eleven was at its best, and it did not need to be schooled in its movements. The game was won by a score of 5-0.

Coach Brebeuf Gives U-High Squad Talk Before Homecoming Tilt

Huskies as a warovy guard, smart as a Phi Beta, people can be counted on. These double-dutied regally detailed huskies and fishers designed for college living on campus or off.

Colds — 666

Ewers Men's Shop

25 So. Clinton
Get-Acquainted Mixer
To Be Held at Union
For Speech Students

Universities now use women's interest in debate, public discussion, and willing students will be held
of the newly organized stutional organization of the Walter Brown, G. M. Frost, the leader of the debate
up to 120 students.

Following the program, students will meet the candidates for the coming year, the national depression of the n. White, G. M. Frost, and herself, the leader of the Prospective

students will cost the union class.
City High Students To Present Operetta

Music To Be Given In Auditorium November 20 and 21

The musicale to be presented November 20 and 21 will be "Ragtime" by Zebulon K. Snyder, with special numbers by Busby Berkeley. The program will be performed by the Piano Club and the Glee Club.

Local City News

Local News

City Mission Welcomes New Executive Director

The City Mission has appointed Miss Agnes B. Peterson as its new executive director. Miss Peterson has been associated with the mission for many years and is well known to many of the city's citizens.

City CouncilMeets

The City Council met last week and discussed several important matters. Among the issues discussed were the budget for the coming year, the proposed purchase of a new fire truck, and the need for additional parking spaces in the downtown area.

Local Business

Local Business

The Iowa City Chamber of Commerce held its monthly meeting last week and discussed the need for more and better advertising to attract more tourists to the area. The Chamber also discussed the possibility of holding a small fair in the fall.

Local Sports

Local Sports

The Iowa City High School football team won its final game of the season last week, defeating its rival, North High School, by a score of 20-0. The game was played in front of a capacity crowd at the stadium.

Local Events

Local Events

The Iowa City Public Library will hold a special exhibit next month featuring the works of local artists. The exhibit will open on November 1 and run through November 30.

Local Police

Local Police

A man was arrested last week for stealing a car. The police believe that the suspect may be involved in other thefts in the area.

Local News

Local News

The Iowa City Public Library will hold its annual book sale next month. The sale will be held on Saturday, November 21, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Local Events

Local Events

The Iowa City Public Library will hold a special event next month featuring the works of local artists. The event will be held on Saturday, November 1, from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m.