The weekly report of U.S. attempts of victory in Russia, there is a suggestion that the Moscow victory reports may be exaggerated. In London Red Moscow reports that the great force of the German attack was based on the back 180 miles from the front to the west.

But Allied generals said that Germany had lost less than 100,000 men in the Moscow fight. The British press correspondent at Moscow, showing the Allied forces which have won the battle of Moscow, said that the reports taken at the German capital indicated the size of the German battle groups which had been fought at the beginning of the war.

But the Associated Press noted that Germany's victory report was not as high as that of the German press.

The Associated Press reports that it was not clear whether the German victory reports were accurate or exaggerated, but that the Allied generals were not sure of the exact size of the German battle groups which had been fought.

However, the Associated Press reports that the Allied generals were not sure of the exact size of the German battle groups which had been fought.

Football Experts Say Big Ten Loop Tops, Northwestern-Michigan Week’s No. 1 Tiff

Minnesota Tops First Associated Press Poll; "Cats" 5th, Wolverines 6th

NEWS (AP) — If ever the world of college football was to have one number one team, it would be the University of Minnesota. It has a record of 5-0 this year with no points against. And the Gophers are the No. 1 team in the United States, according to the latest poll of team experts. The results of the first Associated Press poll of the 1954 season were released this week. The Gophers, who started their season with a 49-0 victory over Boston College, have been ranked first in every poll since then. The poll, which is based on the opinions of 53 football experts, was made by the Associated Press. The coaches, who are responsible for the poll, are not permitted to vote for their own team. Students to View Mars From SUI Observatories

Adventurous students without wish to see the planet Mars have an opportunity this afternoon, Tuesday, from 3 to 4 p.m. in the Astronomy department.

The University of Iowa's 40-inch telescope, the nation's largest on a college campus, will be shown with the help of Dr. George R. Williams, professor.

The telescope is used for research and has a power of 150,000 to 200,000.

The viewing time will see the planet through a 10-inch aperture. It will be possible to see the Martian surface, including the polar ice caps and the polar regions of the planet.

The viewing time will also be used to view the planet Mercury, which is in retrograde motion.

At 4 p.m. the view will be seen through the Antares telescope, which is used for planetary observations.

Daily Iowa City Citizen
The latest in the series of investigations of the Iowa prison farm, in the recent escapes, is the report of Dr. J. H. Peck, superintendent of Oakdale, on the presence of liquor at the prison. It is the report of a three-member committee, which includes Robert McCann, Robert M. Anderson, and the Rev. Dr. Peck, in charge of the prison farm.

The committee's report states that the liquor was found in the possession of one of the convicts, and that it was seized by the authorities. The report also states that the convicts were given the liquor by a prisoner who had been released.
