Leading Democratic political workers will be keeping close watch on the results of the November election in Washington State, which will determine whether the state is to be added to the list of three states (New York, New Jersey, and Wisconsin) in which the Democratic party has held a majority for 20 years. The state's political movement of the '30's and '40's was headed by Franklin D. Roosevelt, and his political methods have left a lasting impression. The current Democratic candidate for governor, John L. Fairchild, is a native of the state and has been actively involved in state politics for many years.

In the 1930s, the state of Washington was a stronghold of the Democratic party. The state's political leaders were guided by the principles of Franklin D. Roosevelt, who had become the dominant figure in American politics during this period. The state's political parties were closely aligned with the national Democratic party, and the state's political leaders were closely tied to the national Democratic party leadership.

The Democratic party in Washington State has been undergoing a period of transition in recent years. The state's political leaders have been facing new challenges, and the party has been working to adapt to these changes. The Democratic party has been trying to attract a wider range of voters, and it has been working to improve its message and its organization.

New AYD Group Organizes; Hears Grosser Outline Aims

State persons attended the Annual's first meeting. Previous meetings had been held by the International's chapter in Chicago, New York City.

In an open forum preceding the election of officers, an outline of the organization was announced by the national office.

The outline was as follows:

Astronomer Says—

Meteors Vanish

Meteors which struck across the sky again Wednesday night but appeared almost entirely to the south, were a result of normal meteorological conditions.

Byron Brandwein, of Grimsby, N. B., said he observed a shower of meteors about 2 a.m. on the city streets.

The shower consisted of bright meteors which crossed the sky in a northerly direction and disappeared in the north.

According to the outline of the organization, "AYD is an independent progressive organization of youth, united irrespective of sex, national origin, religious or political belief, which seeks "improvement of youth through the development of common interests of American young people.

Grosser stated that AYD was founded in New York City by a group who felt the need for organization and activity on a national scale.

Sellers Case Goes To Grand Jury After Preliminary Hearing

Raymond S. Sellers stated the reason for the granting of the grand jury's hearing was to give the prosecution an opportunity to present evidence to the grand jury.

Martin Says U.S. Forces Are Weak in Pacific Area

Touring Congressmen See Lack of Supplies, Inexperienced Men

From a military standpoint the Pacific theatre, it is told to the Pacific, was the opinion expressed by Thomas E. Martin, chairman of the House Committee on Military Affairs, at a meeting of the Iowa City committee of the chamber in Midwest yesterday.

The congressman said the American military establishment in the Pacific theatre is weak for two reasons: First, he said, it is not being supplied with the necessary weapons; and second, he said, the personnel is not trained regularly.

Kelly Years' Army Experience

In most cases only len men to a regiment, but military training for this job is not being given regularly, according to Martin.
