President Intervenes to Halt Deportation of 18 Estonians

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower intervened last week to halt the deportation of 18 free- men — mostly farmers — who were to have been sent back to the Soviet Union. The Estonians, who have been in the United States for 18 months, were to have been sent back to the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics.

The president, in a letter to the Interior Department, said that the deportations should be stopped pending a decision on the Estonians' appeal to the immigration authorities.

Deportation had been ordered by the Board of Immigration Appeals, which had ruled that the Estonians were not eligible for political asylum.

The president's action was taken after the Board of Immigration Appeals had ruled that the Estonians were not eligible for political asylum.

President Eisenhower has announced that he will not be present at the Democratic National Convention next month in Chicago. GDP's Secretary Of State Candidate Speaks At Banquet

J. M. King, secretary of the Republican National Convention, spoke at a banquet in Chicago last night, urging the nomination of Senator Robert Taft for the presidency.

The banquet was held in the Chase Hotel, and was attended by many of the delegates.

Speaking to the guests, Mr. King said:

"We are all here to support Senator Taft, and to see that he is nominated as the Republican candidate for the presidency. He is the only man who can win the election, and he is the only man who can take the country forward."

Mr. King also said that the Republicans must unite behind Senator Taft, and that they must not allow the Democrats to divide the country.

"We must all work together, and we must all vote for Senator Taft," he said. "He is the only man who can save our country, and he is the only man who can lead us to victory."
The Choice Is Rather Limited

Fifty million voters have no choice but to part of a "sub-vention" by which they are called upon to vote "yes or no" to the their hands, and forth this time, Republicans are favorite,
the Democratic primaries.

Secrets from Moscow Wednesday disclosed a declaration of the United States Labor Defense, a group of leading person, who stated that a majority of the American Labor Party, which United States warns, may be expected to last until the end of the campaign in the United States.

The statement by Secretary of the International Labor Party,
"No state," was made in the course of his appearance before the Chicago PAC for its support of Democratic candidates for congress.

The President's message to the Congress was strongly criticized:

Blakely says United Nations Inadequate but Best Available

Describing the United Nations as "inadequate but best available," Robert Blakely of the Des Moines Register says, "It is a great achievement in itself, with so many obstacles to overcome."

The former State Department official, who worked in the UN for 10 years, says the United Nations is the only forum for high-level international discussions.

"This is the best we have," he said. "The governments are not going to change those rules of the game." But Blakely said the UN is not perfect.

"There are some temporary improvements in the UN," he said. "But the UN is not perfect."

MCLenard T. Said, head of the UN from 1961-1972, agrees. He says the UN faces many problems.

"The UN is not perfect," he said. "It is a difficult job to run an organization with so many different countries." But he said the UN is important.

"The UN is the only place where we can come together to discuss international issues," he said. "It is the best we have."

CHICAGO (AP) - One more in the string of coaches who have made coaching stops at the University of Notre Dame, and then opened profitable jobs for their College of Pacific, was Selected Coach of the Year by Big Ten coaches.

When W. J. Stagg stepped down as Ohio State coach, he commented on the trend of the game. "I'm in just one more appearance in the game of my greatest interests. But there was no visible end to the effort on Saturday, when the Buckeyes played a very good game against a very likely rival on the old ground.

Beeler Lauds Rent Office

Rent Control Director Discusses Problems of Local Work

John Beeler, state rent control director, discussed at length the problems of the local rent control office yesterday during a visit to Iowa City on his regular tour of duty to check up on area office work.

Commenting on the work accomplished by the local office, Beeler said, "Official operations in Iowa City are now very smooth and efficient and the many long-pending petitions awaiting action for years are being disposed of.

If problems do arise that are not solvable by local officials, they are passed on to the state office. We are always ready to help the local office.

In reference to complaints made against local offices by some landlords, Beeler said, "We are quite satisfied with rent control work being handled in this district. I don’t think any office here is doing a bad job.

Prospective renters interested in obtaining a list of tenants involved in rent control disputes will find the local office a most helpful source. You can’t beat local office contacts.

Carried to Outside Sources

"There are many complaints that rent control offices are doing outside work when they should be handling local situations. This is not at all true. Rent control offices are primarily local offices, but we are always ready to help outside sources, when they possibly can be. There are many situations where outside offices are well advised to come to us with complaints.

Involving Many Landlords

"The majority of landlords in Iowa have complied with rent control regulations and are quite satisfied. However, there are those who are not satisfied. We would be glad to help the local office in any way we can."

Your Balloons Notarized

Lawyers’ Aid Available

You can vote at the Nov. 5 election, but your balloons must be notarized for the Nov. 10 election, according to the city election board.

Check with the city election board to be sure your balloons are notarized. They will keep better if you’re not much of a caretaker.
