Disagree Proposal For Reorganization Of Campus Groups

By SOLDES RENONING

A reorganization of campus groups is being discussed in light of recent events. The proposal, which is being viewed by many as a solution to the problem of factionalism on campus, has caused much debate among students and faculty.

The proposal includes the creation of a new council, which would have the power to appoint members to various groups. This council would be composed of representatives from each of the existing groups, as well as a faculty member.

The proposal has met with strong opposition from some groups, who feel that it would dilute their influence. However, others believe that it is necessary to prevent the formation of new groups, which can lead to fragmentation and disorder.

'Little Things' Bring Success To 'The Late George Apley'

By Jack Goforth

It's a little thing that makes a difference, lure or least a difference. It might be something as simple as a dangling feather, a pair of dangling earrings, a pair of dangling earrings, or it could be as complex as an entire world view. What's important is that the little thing matters. It has the ability to capture our attention and hold it captive. It's the little things that make a difference, lure us in.

The University Theatre's performance of 'The Late George Apley,' which opened Wednesday night, has a great beauty of form. It's an effective container. It has a high polish, a sense of elegance. But it should be said. It should have the same high polish, the same elegance. It has a sense of finesse, of lightness. It's a thing of beauty. It's a thing that makes a difference, lure us in.

Beyond that, it has a strangely emotional pull. Pat Weir (Elea­nor) is coming to have power. It's a thing that we can't help but feel. It's a thing that we can't help but see. It's a thing that we can't help but understand. It's a thing that we can't help but be enchanted by. It's a thing that makes a difference, lure us in.

While George Williams is exactly the kind of thing that makes a difference, lure us in. He's a thing that we can't help but feel. He's a thing that we can't help but see. He's a thing that we can't help but understand. He's a thing that we can't help but be enchanted by. He's a thing that makes a difference, lure us in.

Don't miss it. Don't miss this. Don't miss the opportunity to see something truly wonderful. Don't miss the opportunity to see something truly wonderful. Don't miss the opportunity to see something truly wonderful. Don't miss the opportunity to see something truly wonderful. Don't miss the opportunity to see something truly wonderful.

Director of the Technicolor process, Robert E. Sholtis, the chief technical man for the "Underworld 'Fixer,'" said yesterday that he was "an American citizen of freedom in his own way." The Government's attempt to define his words has been a "graphic illustration of a failure of democracy," and so the government to "Join Crow" has been stopped.

2. Federal and state laws to prevent racial or religious segregations and discrimination, including the working of public and private buildings, churches, hospitals, and museums.
3. The need for a national policy of "sufficiently free," in which property owners bind themselves not to sell or lease to "undesirables." A Federal Congress should pass legislation that, in the opinion of the government or any other agency if there is segregation in the use of the public facilities.
