FRENCH PREMIER RAMADIER QUIT

Approval Europe Relief Funds; Committee Rejects Rationing

WASHINGTON, D.C. - Winter relief up to a limit of $185 million for France, Italy and Austria was approved by the present Foreign Relations Committee of the Senate yesterday, after the committee had made an inspection trip to the affected countries. The inspection trip was sponsored by the State Department.

The State Department reported that the inspection trip represented the first step in a program to provide relief to the countries, and that it was expected that the relief funds would be distributed within a few weeks.

The committee approved the plan of the State Department, which called for the distribution of the relief funds to be made through international organizations and agencies.

Betty Jo Phelan Tells Of France’s Misery

Quits Scholarship After Two Months

Her eyes turned from smiles to tears as an instant of Betty Jo Phelan told the story of her two-month stay in France.

Betty Jo went to France early in November with a scholarship from the French Institute of the American Education to study postgraduate work in French literature.

"I came back because I was warned that while the French are wonderful people, they aren't the same in France that they are in the rest of Europe," she said, quite seriously.

"I'm not saying it isn't lovely," she continued, "but it isn't the place for anybody right now.

"Life is grim and desolate in Paris," she said. "The food is terrible. The people are wonderful but that's the only plus about it."...

The BIG NAME is Demand

So France Are Terrific."

"France is a beautiful country," she said. "I think the French are terrific."...

"But the food is terrible," she added. "I saw a dozen hogs hanging around a market in Paris. They were all tied up and there were flies all over them."

"The people are wonderful," she said. "But it isn't the place for anybody right now."

CRAFT TO HEAD COMMITTEE ON ENGINEERING SCHOOLS

Prof. Robert G. Craft, Head of the Department of Mechanical Engineering at Iowa State College, has been invited to head the committee on engineering education in the American Society for Engineering Education."

France, he said.

"Anderson—and head football coach, that win athletics.

"Young fellow, France has a policy of encouraging engineering education and scientific research."

"That will lead to new types of committees, which is designed to encourage and extend the number of engineering schools in France and in Europe as a whole."

"The ICFE is a conference of engineering educators organized to promote the professional status of engineers. It represents more than 2,000 educational institutions."
