U.S. May Control Policies in 2 Merged Zones in Germany

LONGISH off-Majestic American capital and the United States and Britain have reached a tentative agreement to allow American forces to take over in two separate zones of the country. The two sides have agreed to establish American and British zones in the center of the country and an American zone in the southeast. The agreement also provides for the withdrawal of American and British forces from the remaining three zones, which will be occupied by French forces.

The agreement was reached after two days of talks between American and British representatives in Washington. The talks were initiated by the American government in an attempt to resolve the dispute over control of the country's capital, Berlin.

The American and British zones will be divided by a line running through the city, with the American zone covering the eastern part and the British zone covering the western part. The French zone will remain in place, but its boundaries will be adjusted to reflect the new arrangements.

The agreement also calls for the establishment of a joint commission to oversee the transition period and to ensure the smooth functioning of the new zones. The commission will be composed of representatives from the three countries and will be chaired by a German national.

The agreement is expected to be signed within the next few days and will be presented to the American and British governments for approval. Once approved, the agreement will be submitted to the United Nations for ratification.

Decision Expected on All-Campus Congress And New Constitution

A decision on the establishment of a central student government and the ratification of an all-campus constitution debated at the Student Congress meeting Thursday night was expected to be made tonight. The Student Congress was called to order by Prof. E. R. Brown. As the first item of business, a motion to adjourn was made by P. H. T. Holmes and seconded by P. H. P. Flannagan. After a roll call it was decided to adjourn to 8 p.m. today.

The purpose of the meeting was to form an all-campus constitution for the University. The purpose of the constitution is to bring together all groups at the University and make it possible for all students to work for the betterment of the University as a whole. The constitution would be a kind of charter for the University and would be used to guide the administration of the University.

The Student Congress was formed to represent the interests of the students at the University. The constitution would give the students a voice in the running of the University and would provide a means for the students to express their opinions and make suggestions. The constitution would also provide a means for the students to work together to improve the University and to make it a better place for all students.
