U.S. Requests Israel, Egyptians to Curb Hostilities in Negev

The United States has asked both Israel and Egypt today to act against the simmering violence in the Negev Desert in south-western Israel, which is being blamed on both sides.

President Johnson said that the United States hoped that the situation would improve, but there was no indication that either side was inclined to take any steps towards a settlement.

Israel has been urged to stop the harassment of the Egyptian army, which has been reported in recent days, and Egypt has been asked to cease its attacks on Israeli settlements in the Negev.

State of the Union —

The jocular quotation is no more: Today Congress must face the issues of war and peace, of prosperity and depression, of the future of the world. For these are the issues of the state of the union.

The Democrats will call for an attack on aggression. They will propose a program of international cooperation. They will urge the adoption of a policy of peacemaking in the world. They will call for a policy of vigilance and preparedness.

But the Republicans will call for a program of isolationism. They will propose a policy of non-intervention. They will urge the adoption of a policy of neutrality. They will call for a policy of withdrawal from the world.

And so the debate will go on, as it has gone on in the past. And the country will decide which policy is best for it.

State of the Union —

The United Nations will be abolished after a vote by a one-fifth majority. That is the only course open to the United Nations.

But the United Nations is a failure. It is a failure because it is a failure. It is a failure because it is a failure. It is a failure because it is a failure.

And so the United Nations will be abolished. And so the United Nations will be abolished. And so the United Nations will be abolished.

A break down is as follows:

1. An initial 150 students, who signed up in the first week.
2. A slower increase to 200 students over the first month.
3. A gradual increase to 1000 students by the end of the third month.
4. A final peak of 3500 students by the end of the sixth month.

The test results show that the method of learning is effective and the students are likely to continue their education.

A new test is planned for the next quarter, and it will be conducted in a similar manner.

In conclusion, the new method of learning is a success and it promises to bring more students to the educational program.
