CIO Officials Read Fact Finders Report

CIO UNITED STEELWORKERS' PRESIDENT, Philip Murray, reads in Pittsburgh, Pa., for the first time a summary of the fact finders report sent to President Truman yesterday. Listening at left is Walter Reuther, head of the CIO united auto workers, with David McDonald, steelworker secretary-treasurer, at center. Murray would not comment on the recommendations.

Steelworker Pay-Raise Vetoed; President Asks for Extension

Board Recommends Insurance, Pension

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman vetoed an 11-day extension of the steel strike truce yesterday after his fact-finding board had vetoed the CIO steelworkers' demand for a fourth-round wage hike.

With 500,000 steelworkers poised for a strike at 10:01 a.m. (Iowa time) Wednesday, Mr. Truman fired off telegrams to CIO President Philip Murray and the steel company heads asking that the deadline be pushed back at least to Sept. 25.

The steel union already had postponed from July 16 to Sept. 14 the deadline for the walkout, which it called to enforce de-spokesmen withheld consent on the board's proposals and the President's appeal. But all indications were that they would agree to the extension, probably on Monday.

Mr. Truman said he asked for more time "in the public interest" because the fact-finding report must be studied and all concerned given a chance to try again for a settlement. He ordered the government's mediation facilities made available to the disputants.

"I urge all parties in the steel industry labor dispute to cooperate with this request," Mr. Truman said in telegrams to Murray and company officials. He directed Federal Mediation Director Cyrus S. Ching "to make available to the parties every facility at his disposal to assist them in reaching agreement."

The board report dealt a severe blow to the drive for a fourth post-war general wage increase being pushed by unions representing more than 3-million workers.

"We think the report affords a basis for settlement," Daugherty told newsmen after a 20-minute conference with Mr. Truman. He said the board is "certainly" hopeful that its report will avert a strike.

Report in Brief

WASHINGTON (AP) — These are the Presidential fact-finding board's recommendations for settling the steel dispute:

Wages — no increase. The union had asked a 12.5-cent hourly boost.

Pensions — a plan to give a worker $70 monthly on retirement which, coupled with his average $30 monthly social security from the government, would give him about $100 a month. Details on the plan to be worked out by March 1, 1950. The cost of the pension, to be paid by the companies, was estimated to average about 6 cents an hour per working employee. The union had asked 11.23 cents an hour toward pensions.

Insurance — an employer-financed plan costing $80 a year, or four cents an hour, for each worker. The union had asked 6.27 cents an hour for insurance.

demands for a 12 1/2 cent-an-hour wage increase plus insurance and pension benefits adding up to another 17 1/2 cents an hour.

Indications were that the union will grant the truce appeal.

The Presidential fact finders, who have been studying the case since July, rejected altogether the pay raise demand. But they recommended insurance and pension benefits amounting to 10 cents an hour.

The board said it turned down the wage raise because it might lead to a fourth-round spiral in other industries that could upset the nation's whole economy.

The steel workers and U.S. Steel company, largest industrial member, said they would have no comment on either the board's findings or the appeal for extension of the strike deadline until Monday.

However, Bethlehem Steel company, agreed to keep its plant open so long as its employees worked. Inland Steel company also agreed to the extension.

The board said the steel companies could afford to pay the additional social benefits without raising prices.

Both union and management

These two developments were seized by government experts as indicating that the downward spiral in the nation's economy had been halted — provided that the unsettled labor situation does not bring forth a series of crippling strikes.

U.S. Industrial Output Swells After Decline

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's industrial output is swelling upward again after 10 months steady decline, the President's economic advisers reported yesterday.

They said August production jumped seven points above the preceding month to notch the first gain since October, 1948, when the peak mark was reached and the long slump began.

The economic council did not attempt any forecast of the future, but its findings followed on the heels of the census bureau's report that employment spurred to the highest point of the year in August while the number of jobless fell 406,000 below July's record total.

These two developments were seized by government experts as indicating that the downward spiral in the nation's economy had been halted — provided that the unsettled labor situation does not bring forth a series of crippling strikes.

SENATOR INJURED

SALEM, ORE. (AP) — Sen. Wayne Morse (R-Ore.) was thrown from his horse last night at the Oregon State Fair horse show. He was taken to a Salem hospital in what was described by fair officials as "a possibly serious condition."

Murray Denial . . .

PITTSBURGH (AP) — CIO President Philip Murray last night denied reports that he was prepared to call off a threatened strike if the steel industry accepts the recommendations of President Truman's fact-finding board.

He also denied that he made up his mind to accept the President's plan to extend the strike deadline to midnight Sept. 25.

"I have made no such statement nor have I hinted any such thing," Murray said at his home here. "The whole situation is up to the (CIO united steelworkers) international executive board and the wage-policy committee which will meet with me Monday."

"Whether the wage-policy committee agrees to extend the truce, or whether it agrees to accept the findings of the fact-finding board, we'll have to wait until Monday to find out," Murray said.

Stassen To Examine British Health Plan

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Harold E. Stassen, University of Pennsylvania president, will leave for England tomorrow for a three-week study of the British national health plan.

The former Minnesota governor and presidential aspirant said he would study the program's particular effect on medical education. He will visit medical schools in the London area, and at Edinburgh and Belfast.

Stassen also will study the social security program of England, and its economic, social and financial implications.

Supreme Court Justice Wiley Rutledge, Former SUI Dean Of Law, Dies At 55

Non-Political, Liberal Jurist Named to High Court by FDR

(From the Wire Services)

YORK, ME. — Supreme Court Justice Wiley Blunt Rutledge, 55, former dean of the SUI law college, died shortly after 7 p.m. last night after two weeks in a hospital suffering from a heart condition.

Justice Rutledge had been vacationing at nearby Ogunquit when stricken with a cerebral hemorrhage.

The jurist had been in a coma much of the time since Sept. 2. His doctor had issued a statement late yesterday which indicated that death was very close.

Rutledge's death came less than two months after that of another Roosevelt appointee to the high tribunal, Justice Frank Murphy died of a heart ailment in Detroit, July 19.

Rutledge, President Roosevelt's only supreme court appointee who had no political background, was one of the court's most outspoken defenders of civil liberties.

The question he used to put to his law students at SUI became his guide for judging supreme court cases: "Of what good is the law if it does not serve human needs?"

Even when his views were unpopular with current public opinion, he did not hesitate to speak out.

He protested that the court was reviving the anti-labor-injunction laws when the majority upheld the contempt conviction of John L. Lewis in 1946.

"I am not radical in any sense of the word," Rutledge once said before he joined the bench. "But I cannot remain blind to the ills of the present system and I am interested in seeing them remedied as far as possible."

Labr cases found him nearly always on labor's side — but working for the working man rather than the union. Early in his career on the high court, he voted against the NLR and for an employer he thought had tried to deal honestly with his employees, although by-passing a union committee.

In February, 1943, when President Roosevelt filled in the commission blank for his eighth and last appointment to the supreme court, he wrote after Rutledge's name: "from Iowa."

While a staunch believer in most new deal policies, Rutledge never was active in politics. His supreme court appointment was not political but it was "politic."

Rutledge was born July 20, 1894, in tiny Gloverport, Ky., the son of a Baptist minister, Wiley Blunt Rutledge, and the former Mary Lou Wigginton. When young Wiley was six, the family moved to Asheville, N.C.

Rutledge got his high school education in Maryville, Tenn., college's preparatory department and attended the college itself for three years. There he studied the classics, including Greek under the tutelage of a young girl from Michigan, Annabel Person. In 1917, he married her.

For his final school year, Rutledge went to the University of Wisconsin, and received his B.A. degree in 1914.

While teaching in Boulder, Rutledge finally completed his law work. He won his degree at the University of Colorado and was admitted to the Colorado bar in 1917.

In 1926, Rutledge went to Washington to join the staff of the Army Secretary Gordon Gray.

Gray reinstated Feldman in his quartermaster command yesterday — the general's 60th birthday — with a warning that any more "errors of judgment" like the Hunt affair would cost him his job.

The only charge substantiated against Feldman was that he gave Hunt a list of the quartermaster corps' procurement needs. Hunt was said to have boasted of great influence with Feldman, but Feldman testified that none of the five percenter's clients ever got a contract from him.

Much of the senate testimony against Waitt involved Hunt's efforts to get a chemical corps contract for the Deering - Milliken Research trust, Greenwich, Conn. The contract never was awarded.

Cotton Belt Trains Out After Tie-Up

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The Cotton Belt railroad, which with a big oil refinery had been paralyzed by the Missouri-Pacific strike, announced last night that its picketed trains have begun to roll.

A railroad spokesman said assurances from union leaders had sent crews aboard their strike-bound trains and that crews were beginning to straighten out traffic snarled over a day by the strike.

The Cotton Belt runs its trains over the Missouri-Pacific system. Missouri-Pacific strikers picketed lines had held Cotton Belt train crews away from work.

Nine hours of negotiations between railroad officials and leaders of the four unions striking against the Missouri-Pacific resulted in assurances to Cotton Belt crewmen that they might take trains out.

Shortly after 10 p.m. (Iowa time), a company official said that a locomotive had been coupled to one stranded freight train. It left East St. Louis at 10:20 p.m. (Iowa time). An 11:30 p.m. passenger train will leave on schedule, he said.

Three more were scheduled to leave by midnight.

R. E. Davidson, spokesman for the engineers, trainmen, fire men and conductors who walked off the job at the Missouri-Pacific yesterday said, the tie-up was "a regrettable misunderstanding." He said the Cotton Belt trains would be allowed to go through.

Meanwhile, the Texas and Pacific announced at Dallas it was temporarily suspending operation of six passenger trains which it operates over Missouri-Pacific tracks to Texarkana, Tex. These included the Texas Eagle which will be discontinued east of Dallas.

Effects of the walkout of 5,000 key operating personnel were spreading to communities and industries on the Missouri-Pacific's 7,200-mile system.

At Wichita, Kan., an oil refinery which ships 500 to 600 tank cars a month, was isolated. The firm planned to build emergency tracks to other railroads nearby.

Another oil firm used trucks to haul its products to other railroads.

Trucking firms in the 11-state area served by the railroad prepared for "land office" business as indications for a long strike mounted.

U.S., Britain, Canada to Tap Private, Public Capital for Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States, Britain and Canada announced yesterday they would try to tap Wall Street and two big government banks for some of the dollars Britain needs to break its economic crisis.

As stated officially, the three governments agreed to seek removal of obstacles to foreign investment of "private capital," and to encourage loan requests to the World Bank and the U.S. Export-Import bank.

Action along both lines, if successfully carried through by the three governments, would have the effect of pumping unestimated millions of dollars into England and other parts of the empire.

The announcement, made by Secretary of the Treasury John Snyder after yesterday's session of the three-power financial talks here, constituted first disclosure of an agreement since officials met here last Wednesday.

Informants said there would be other public reports, climaxing in a communique now expected to be issued tomorrow night.

Together, authorities expect, the disclosure will either declare or indicate a broad program of action by all three nations and cover half a dozen or more major points.

Waitt Retires, Feldman Scolded

WASHINGTON (AP) — The army forced one major general into retirement and publicly reprimanded another yesterday for getting mixed up in the five percenter scandal.

Squeezed out of the service for "irregular actions" was 56-year-old Maj. Gen. Alden H. Waitt, chief of the chemical corps and a veteran of 30 years' standing.

The reprimanded officer was Maj. Gen. Herman Feldman, 60, army quartermaster general who enlisted as a private in the ranks almost 42 years ago. The army said he had been guilty of "errors of judgment" which he must not repeat.

Both men had been under temporary suspensions since July 16 when charges were made linking them to James V. Hunt, the central figure in the senate's investigation of five percenters—brokers who make a living by getting government contracts for their clients.

Army Secretary Gordon Gray

announced that "in the best interest of the service" Waitt has been fired from his command. He said he has accepted Waitt's "voluntary" application for retirement, effective Sept. 30.

Gray reinstated Feldman in his quartermaster command yesterday — the general's 60th birthday — with a warning that any more "errors of judgment" like the Hunt affair would cost him his job.

The only charge substantiated against Feldman was that he gave Hunt a list of the quartermaster corps' procurement needs. Hunt was said to have boasted of great influence with Feldman, but Feldman testified that none of the five percenter's clients ever got a contract from him.

Yankees Divide; Red Sox Close In, 9-1

Nats Win, 4-3, Then Lose, 8-1

NEW YORK (AP) — The last place Washington Senators scared the pants off the New York Yankees yesterday, defeating the American league front-runners, 4-3 in the first game of a doubleheader before bowing, 8-1, in the finale.

The split cut the Yanks' lead over the rampaging Boston Red Sox to a single game, lowest edge the Yanks have held since the beginning of the season. A defeat in the second game, called after the Senator eighth because of darkness, would have sliced the Yank lead to four percentage points.

Rae Scarborough tamed the Yankees in the first game, outpitching Vic Raschi who was seeking his 19th triumph. The Senators wrapped up the game in the sixth with a two run rally. Jack Early doubled home the first run and Raschi forced home the second when he walked Gil Cpan with the bases loaded.

The Senators battled the Yanks for six innings in the nightcap before the Yanks iced the game with a five run blast in the seventh.

The Yanks entertain the Senators in another doubleheader today while the Red Sox clash with the Athletics in a bargain bill at Philadelphia.

Indians, 4 1/2 Games Behind, Squeeze by Lowly Browns, 2-1

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The Cleveland Indians, refusing to be counted out of the American league pennant fight, squeezed out a 2-1 decision over the St. Louis Browns last night. The Indians were limited to three hits, but one of them was a bases-loaded single by Mickey Vernon, which was enough to give Bob Lemon his 19th victory.

A ladies night crowd of 7,088 saw the light-hitting Browns suffer their seventh straight defeat. The victory lifted Lou Boudreau's men to within 4 1-2 games of the front - running New York Yankees.

Bill Kennedy duelled Lemon on even terms, but one bad inning cost him the decision. Ray Boone opened the fifth with a walk. Jim Hegan bunted and when Jack Graham dropped Kennedy's throw at first both runners were safe. Lemon laid down another sacrifice and Kennedy passed Dale Mitchell to load the bases. Kennedy breezed a third strike past Thurmon Tucker, but Vernon came through with a drive to center to score two runs.

Lemon, although frequently in trouble, escaped unscathed except in the seventh when Dick Kokos walked, advanced on an out and counted on Paul Lehner's pinch single.

Cards Win on Musial's Homer

CINCINNATI (AP) — Stan (The Man) Musial took personal charge yesterday to protect the St. Louis Cardinals' one-game lead over Brooklyn in the tight National league pennant race. He blasted a home run into the right field bleachers with two on and two out in the first of the ninth to give the Cards a 6-5 victory over the Cincinnati Reds.

The towering blast, which was fair by only about five feet, came just after the Reds had taken a 4-3 lead in the last of the eighth. It was Musial's 29th homer of the season.

At that, the Cards barely staggered in for their victory. Cincinnati rallied for a run in the last of the ninth and had the tying and winning runs on base when Jimmy Bloodworth grounded to Marty Marion for the final out.

So desperate was the Cardinal situation in that frame that Manager Eddie Dyer used three pitchers in the one inning.

Ted Wilks had relieved starter Max Lanier at the opening of the inning and Alpha Brazle and George Munger followed him to the mound as the Cards fought to hold their lead.

Howard Fox, the Reds' hard luck pitcher, went all the way for Cincinnati and yielded only five hits but three Redleg errors did him a lot of damage.

Football Domination By Ex-Servicemen Now Disappearing

The ex-servicemen who have dominated football squads since 1945 slowly are giving way to the youngsters who were under-age during the later stages of the war.

Take the 1949 Hawkeye football squad, for example. Of the 56 men issued game uniforms, only 19 of them were in the armed forces. Thirty-one are under 21 years old.

Eight of the 19 now are seniors and only three of them played wartime football before entering the service, then returned after their stint for Uncle Sam ended.

Iowa's wartime players who came back are Guard Louis Ginsberg, Cedar Rapids; Tackle Don Winslow, Iowa City, and End Ralph Woodard, Fort Dodge.

Other ex-servicemen now in their fourth and final season with the Hawks, besides the above-mentioned three, are Guard Earl Banks, Chicago; Tackle Bob Geigel, Algona; Halfback Bob Longley, Davenport; End Bob McKenzie, Tonkawa, Okla.; and Tackle Jim Shoaf, Grindstone, Pa.

Remaining ex-servicemen now on the squad are Quarterback Joe Bristol, Corydon; End Dave DeProspero, Wheeling, W. Va.; Guard Bob Lage, Long Grove; Fullback Gerald Nordman, St. Louis; Guard Junebug Perrin, Cherokee; Tackle Don A. Woodhouse, Harlan; Tackle Ronald Blenderman, Sumner, Wash.; End Arnold Caplan, Des Moines; Tackle Don Gregory, Des Moines; Center Frank Heldt, Chicago, and Guard George Vrame, Chicago.

Cubs Win Fourth, Dump Pirates, 9-5

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Pittsburgh Pirates lost their fifth straight game and the 13th of their last 14 yesterday by dropping a 9-5 decision to the Chicago Cubs before 5,376 fans.

It was the fourth consecutive win for the Cubs. Dutch Leonard was the winning hurler but had to have help from Bob Rush when the Pirates connected for five straight hits in the eighth inning and scored four runs.

Home runs by Herman Reich and Mickey Owen, off Bill Werle, gave the Cubs a comfortable early lead. When they added three more runs in the seventh Werle was sent to the showers.

Tiger Victories Continue, 8-3

CHICAGO (AP) — The Detroit Tigers continued a hot challenge for the American league pennant by handing the Chicago White Sox an 8-3 licking yesterday for their ninth straight victory and No. 17 in the past 19 games.

The Tigers used 11 hits and as many walks off three Chicago pitchers plus George Metkovich's throwing error to complete all their scoring in three innings.

Detroit got away to a fast start, scoring a run in the first inning when Don Kolloway doubled and scored on George Kell's single.

The Tigers made it 3-0 in the second, and added five runs in the seventh as 10 batters went to the plate.

Freddie Hutchinson, who scored his 15th victory despite a yield of 11 hits, rationed the White Sox to one run in three different innings.

Charlie Kress singled for the first Chicago counter in the fourth. Then Howie Judson, who finished up for Pieretti, and Flynd Baker powered across the final Sox runs in the seventh and ninth innings.

Bosox Behind By One Game

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The hot Boston Red Sox leaped closer to the New York Yankees in the American league pennant race yesterday by slugging the Philadelphia Athletics, 9-1.

The Sox moved at least temporarily to within one-half game of the first place Yanks who lost the opener of a doubleheader with Washington, 4-3. It was the closest Boston has been all season. But the Yanks took the nightcap, 8-1, to pull a full game in front.

Southpaw Mel Parnell held the A's to three hits for his 22nd victory against seven defeats.

His teammates jumped on pitcher Dick Fowler for six runs in the first inning.

Boston added another run in the fifth on a walk and two errors. With two gone in the seventh Bobby Doerr tripled to center to score Ted Williams and Vern Stephens.

The A's scored in the third on a double by Pete Suder off the left field wall and Fowler's single. Joost made the only other Mack hit, a single to left in the sixth, which was Boston's 14th victory over the A's in 19 games.

Hawks Polish Plays As Team Prepares For 1st Scrimmage

Dr. Eddie Anderson sent his Hawkeye football team through a three-hour dummy drill this afternoon as a final tuneup for the contact scrimmages that will start next week.

The first team was quarterbacked by Glenn Drahn, signal caller who handled the defensive quarterback position last year when Al DiMarco was around to run the Hawkeye offense.

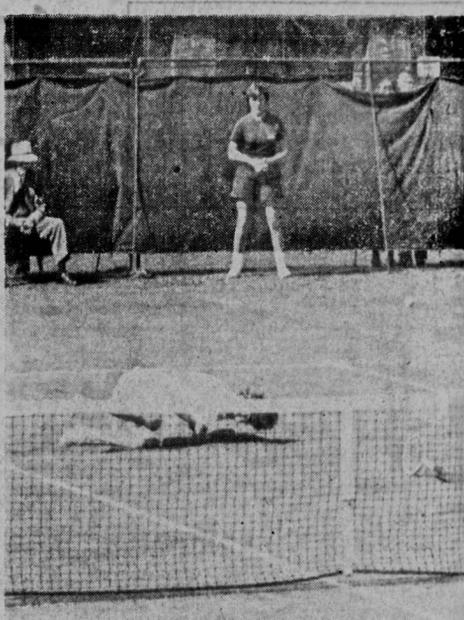

Two sophomores, Don Woodhouse, right halfback and Mike Riley, 210-pound fullback, teamed with Drahn and Halfback Mearl Naber in the top backfield.

The Old College Try

TAKING A SPILL in Wightman Cup tennis play is Doris Hart of Jacksonville, Fla., who goes down as she returns a drive from Mrs. Betty Hilton. Miss Hart's victory in the opening singles match clinched the cup for the Americans yesterday. Both her racket and the ball are flying through the air as she falls. The matches took place in Philadelphia.

U.S. Girls Win Wightman Cup

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Britain's faintly flickering hope of regaining the Wightman Cup perished in just 22 minutes on the sun-drenched Merion cricket club court, and last night the prized women's international tennis trophy is in the possession of the United States for the 19th straight year.

It took Miss Doris Hart of Jacksonville, Fla., just 22 minutes to defeat Mrs. Betty Hilton, 6-1, and 6-3, in the "must" match as far as the English girls were concerned.

The Americans had won the two singles and one doubles match Friday and needed only one victory out of the four matches yesterday to assure a four-out-of-seven edge in the competition. Miss Hart's victory relegated the remaining two singles and one doubles match to a "formality" status, although the matches count in the final standing.

In the other singles matches Mrs. Margaret Osborne DuPont of Wilmington, Del., defeated Mrs. Jean Walker-Smith, 6-4 and 6-2, and Miss Beverly Baker of Santa Monica, Calif., substituting for Miss Louise Brough of Beverly Hills, Calif., defeated Miss Jean Quertier, 6-4 and 7-5. Miss Brough injured her hand.

The final doubles match resulted in a 6-4, 8-6 triumph for Miss Gertrude Moran, of Santa Monica, Calif., and Mrs. Patricia Canning Todd of La Jolla, Calif., over Mrs. Hilton and Miss Kay Tuckey.

Thus the Americans swept through the seven-match series without the loss of a set.

Try and Stop Me

NEW stories about Tallulah Bankhead are more plentiful these days than bills after Christmas. John Emery, for instance, describing his brief but tempestuous marriage to the lady, recalls an argument they had with an inebricated guest at a Broadway restaurant. Emery silenced the man very neatly and quietly without resort to fistuffs, but when he returned to his table, found that Tallulah did not approve of his tactics at all. "You should have killed him," she announced, and unleashed a splendid left.

Another day she visited F.D.R. at the White House, and was ushered into his study just as a group of graduates from a girls' reformatory was being bowed out. Tallulah took in the girls' uniforms at a glance, and won the president's heart by declaring, "We're going to get along just fine. I see you like delinquent girls!"

A cub reporter on the Columbia Spectator announced, "Here's a wire saying our fencing team lost another match this evening." "Curses," said the editor. "Poiled again."

Dr. Steindler Gets Tribute from Look For Brilliant Work

An article in the latest issue of "Look," pictorial magazine, pays tribute to Dr. Arthur Steindler, noted professor of orthopedic surgery at SUI.

Following are excerpts from the article on the doctor, who has set up a private practice at Mercy hospital:

"His brilliant work as a bone surgeon has been helping crippled children for over 40 years. For the past 36, he has been chief surgeon of Children's hospital, Iowa City, Iowa. He's now retiring. But thousands of children with once twisted bodies have walked again. And they'll never forget him.

"Dr. Steindler came to America from Austria in 1907. He was naturalized in '14. A teacher as well as a surgeon, he has trained hundreds of orthopedists now practicing all over the United States. His latest contribution to a happier world: opening his home to persecuted scientists from foreign lands."

A caricature shows the doctor throwing crutches into a fire.

World War I Veteran Wins Tax Lawsuit

Harold D. Kerr, World War I veteran, yesterday won his district court lawsuit against the state tax commission and county tax officials.

Kerr filed suit after the tax commission ruled he was not eligible for homestead tax exemption this year, although he had been considered eligible in years past.

Yesterday Judge Harold D. Evans ruled that since Kerr had been honorably discharged from the army he was eligible for the tax exemption.

Messer, Hamilton, Cahill and Bartley represented Kerr. Henry W. Wormley, assistant attorney general, represented the defendants.

Local Fly Campaign Termed 'Successful'

The local one-week anti-fly campaign, which ended yesterday, was termed "very successful" by Ted Fay, chairman of junior chamber of commerce's campaign committee.

Fay said the campaign was carried out according to plan, with businessmen and householders doing their part in reducing the heavy fall fly population.

The city spraying machine treated downtown alleys, dumps and also visited local school grounds during the week, Fay said.

Primary Schoolers Told Fall Enrollment Schedule for School

Iver A. Opstad, superintendent of schools, yesterday said 6-A pupils from Longfellow and Horace Mnn grade schools may go to either Junior high school this year or to Henry Sabin school.

Because of the small enrollment in the sixth grade at Henry Sabin school, he said, it would be advisable for several Longfellow school pupils to attend that grade in Henry Sabin school. All 6-A pupils of Henry Sabin school will be required to attend that school, however, he added.

Kindergarten pupils from Finkbine park may enroll in Henry Sabin or Kirkwood schools. Other pupils from Finkbine park may attend Henry Sabin school.

Morning kindergarten school will be held at the Roosevelt, Henry Sabin and Horace Mann kindergarten sessions will be in the afternoon, Opstad said.

New pupils not registered earlier are to come in the morning to Kindergarten classes at Longfellow school, but all others must come in the afternoon.

16-Year-Old Faces Prison

Life Sentence Confronts Gerald Burns On Bank Robbery Intent Charge

(George T. Sudermann, professor at Parsons college at Fairfield, Iowa, undertook a personal investigation of a 16-year-old boy's fight against life imprisonment, charged with entering a bank with intent to rob. The article was written for the Fairfield Daily Ledger.)

By GEORGE T. SUDERMANN

The people of Iowa owe a debt to a 16-year-old lad, Gerald Burns of Albion.

In the paying of it they will help clear the good name of this state; they will prove once again that human values transcend the material; they will demonstrate that in Iowa the fate of a human life is more important than trainloads of hogs and corn.

Young Gerald Burns is not a bad boy. He is emphatically not a hardened criminal. One would hesitate to class him even, as a juvenile delinquent. Yet, under the laws of Iowa, Gerald Burns faces the likelihood of life imprisonment at Ford Madison penitentiary.

What he did was confess to the intent of robbing a bank he did not rob. He took not a penny!

Early Aug. 9, Gerald Burns drove his old car into the crossroads town of Murray, just west of Osceola. With his twenty-two rifle, pockets stuffed with its tiny shells, a black mask hiding his eyes, Gerald climbed through a convenient window of the Murray bank.

Soon a woman arrived to open the bank. She unlocked the safe. Something then happened to Gerald which he had not anticipated. He had lost all his ardor for banditry. He became frightened; then panic-stricken, Gerald Burns fled the bank to retreat into a real estate office upstairs. No one saw him.

For five long hours Gerald lay hidden. Finally, he acted. He picked his way to a back door of the bank leading to a private apartment.

He crawled his way undetected to this back door. Then he made a run for it.

But a housewife saw Gerald and screamed for help. Several men chased Gerald, but the lad was able to escape.

However, when he returned for his car, Gerald was apprehended by the Clark county sheriff.

What caused the 16-year-old to rob the Murray bank? Perhaps not even Gerald Burns himself knows precisely. When asked, all he could say was that he was worried over the fact that the finance company was ready to repossess the car.

But this was only a part of the true answer. Gerald Burns is an imaginative boy — inclined to daydream. He might have let his imagination run riot.

His twenty-two caliber rifle and the black mask were all so reminiscent of modern pulp magazines, of second-rate movies; of Robert Louis Stevenson and Jack London.

It is unfortunate, Gerald crossed the thin line between imagination and reality.

Gerald Burns was in part at least, a victim of his all-devouring

"jalopy," that vehicle of opportunities.

Now some years ago, back in the days when the Dillinger gang was running rampant in Iowa, our legislature enacted some rather drastic laws.

It was then, the intent to rob a bank, not just robbing a bank was declared a major crime, punishable with a mandatory sentence of life imprisonment. No provisions were made for situations like that which confronts Gerald Burns.

These laws were designed to end the criminal careers of professional and habitual "bad men," in the worst of categories. Otherwise applied, they are a piece of legal savagery.

The purpose of the American law is to protect society. The purpose of the law is to rehabilitate those who have slipped beyond its pale. And the punishment must fit the crime, that's the hallmark of justice under Anglo-Saxon tradition.

To send 16-year-old Gerald Burns to Ford Madison for life, will scarcely make society measurably more secure. To place Gerald Burns, the boy, among hardened and habitual transgressors, wise in the lore of crime, will not make a better man of him.

To shove Gerald Burns into a cage of the penitentiary cell-block and lock him there, like a rabbit caught in a farm boy's trap, will not be justice.

It will, instead, be society's crime upon a human life; a crime against the birthright of an American boy.

No, the law has a greater purpose than wrecking the life of Gerald Burns; branding him with a penitentiary sentence.

The law is no ugly Phillistine god, a bestial Moloch, into whose fiery belly the people of Iowa must fling their own children.

Near Albion, not too far from Marshalltown, stands the parish house of Bethel Grove, shaded by tall trees. There a family waits for their boy, one Gerald Burns, aged 16.

This is America and not Soviet Russia. It's Iowa where people have hearts as big as their bursting barns.

The King Counting His Corn

Interpreting the News —

Tito Leads People Back From Iron Curtain Area

By J. M. ROBERTS JR.
(AP Foreign Affairs Analyst)

Marshal Tito is to have the economic power of the west behind him in his battle against Russian imperialism in Yugoslavia.

It is the same power which saved the post-war governments of Italy and Greece, handcuffed the Communists in France, bolstered the resistance of Turkey and Iran, established a democratic government in western Germany, held the line in Berlin, and is now helping Finland.

Tito is to have an American-fabricated steel mill, mining machinery and other material which is denied to iron curtain countries. The $20-million loaned him by the export-import bank is expected to be followed by a larger loan from the western financed world bank for recovery and development.

Yugoslavia has just negotiated a $94-million trade agreement with Italy. A big new trade agreement with Britain is expected to be announced shortly.

Thus the west indicates its conviction that Tito is bringing 15-million people back from behind the iron curtain.

He is by no means recognized as a new ally. In fact, he insists he is not—that he will not be bought by the west any more than he would be controlled by the east. But, as an enemy of Moscow — by the Kremlin's avowal as well as his own—he is to be supported.

In the month since Russia tagged Tito as an enemy there has been much speculation and rumors of war. Now that the dust has cleared somewhat it appears most likely that Moscow, instead of planning direct action, merely hopes, through an intensive propaganda campaign and an economic blockade, to encourage internal unrest in Yugoslavia.

This picture can only be heightened by the sight of rebellious Tito, sitting back and getting vital machinery from the west which is also badly needed in Poland, Czechoslovakia and others among Yugoslavia's former Communist partners.

But the Tito regime has gone serenely on its way. The marshal, wonderfully equipped to counter Moscow's methods because of his long experience as "one of the boys" himself, seems perfectly assured, moves about with no more security precautions than does Stalin.

Instead of signs of unrest or an anti-Tito underground of any importance in Yugoslavia, the dispute has actually developed signs of anti-Russian agitation—among Communists in Germany, and in the other Balkan states as evidenced by their party purges.

Another model of the distinctively styled luxury auto already is on the drawing board and one is in the mockup stage. Engineers still are trying to find the right engine for it.

The Continental, its low underslung look borrowed from European design, is getting the personal attention of Benson Ford, son of the late Edsel Ford who penciled the first sketch of the car that was introduced in 1939.

The new Continental will retain as much of the old styling as possible. Lincoln spokesman said the design was so popular that the company has been asked by many prospective buyers not to change it at all.

Iowa Group Plans To Establish Clubs For Older People

DES MOINES (AP) — Quite a few exclusive clubs are expected to pop up over the state this winter — exclusively for oldersters.

When the Iowa Welfare association meets in Des Moines Nov. 8, 9 and 10, a session will be devoted to planning projects for persons of 60 or over.

John E. Wieland, director of the division of public assistance of the state department of social welfare, said it is hoped a speaker can come here from some city which already has successful programs for oldersters to explain their operation to the Iowa group. He said two cities which have been particularly successful in helping older people utilize their idle time are Chicago and Cleveland.

As a result of the welfare association meeting, Wieland said his division hopes the county workers either will organize, or interest some community club or church group in organizing a club for the oldersters. Such a club recently was organized in Cedar Rapids, he said.

"It's an important thing for older people to utilize their time. It helps them to have something to look forward to," he added.

Several churches already have expressed interest in getting ideas, Wieland said. Most of them have a basement room or other room they can use for meeting places but don't know what kind of programs to plan.

Cities that already have such projects under way have organized clubs to appeal to different interests. Some are hobby clubs, some organize fishing outings and a few set up workshops where the oldersters rejuvenate children's toys. The toys usually are collected and redistributed by another local club.

Wieland said the members of one Chicago club wrote a history of their neighborhood from facts the members remembered. Others had checker or card tournaments some were devoted to sewing and at least one was a book review club.

Wieland said the project would not be expensive since it was expected communities would utilize their own resources and other local groups would contribute to the oldersters group.

As an example, he said in one community, the Isaac Walton league offered a prize for the largest fish caught by a fisherman or woman over 65.

Wieland said clubs he had heard of were not strict about the minimum age, although in some places there are separate clubs for those over 60 and those over 70.

The clubs expected to develop in Iowa will be for all oldersters just those on public assistance, he said, Wieland emphasized.

Interest in such clubs has developed because of the growing population of persons over 65. Wieland said it has been estimated that persons over 65 in the state will increase at the rate of about 5,000 a year during the next 10 years.

High-Paying Jobs Go Begging

NEW YORK (UP) — Talk about increased unemployment is baffling a lot of the people who find jobs for the jobless.

Many large New York employment agencies are having a hard time finding people to fill hundreds of positions — and they are positions that pay from $40 a week to $30,000 a year. They range from humdrum stenographic jobs to drilling oilwells in South America.

"I don't understand why anyone else has a hard time finding a job," said Helen MacDonell, co-owner of an agency called "Yes." "We haven't seen any indication that unemployment is just around the corner."

"There are a lot of good jobs available. We manage to fill the high-paying ones, but sometimes it takes a lot of time. We had only three applicants for one job writing television mystery plays for $15,000 a year."

Jerome Fields, head of "Jobs Unlimited," said he has advertised week after week for a general manager for a printing firm, to earn $20,000 to $30,000 a year. He's been trying for a month to find someone to edit a medical magazine for $6,000. And he can't find an advertising copy writer with food experience to work for $15,000 a year.

"It is understandable that we have a hard time filling jobs paying $40 to $100 a week," Fields said. "Most of the people who fall in that bracket are making at least that or more and want to stay in jobs where they have a little seniority, in case business takes a turn for the worse."

"But I don't know exactly why big-paying jobs can't be filled easily. Maybe the jobs are so specialized that hardly anyone qualifies for them. But that can't be the whole reason, because sometimes we don't have a single applicant for a $15,000-a-year job."

Harry Dranow, who owns an agency which deals almost solely with engineering jobs, said he manages to fill the high-paying ones, but the low-paying jobs are going begging.

"It's certainly safe to say that there isn't any more unemployment than usual," Dranow said. Fields said salaries had come down slightly since the war. Employers now pay $40 to $45 for a stenographer, compared to the $50 to $55 they paid in 1946.

"We had one girl come in here who was bored with her stenographic job that paid $50 a week," Fields said. "The best I could find was a $40-a-week job. She turned it down. She said she couldn't afford to take it because she said her psychiatrist more than that and she didn't want to ask for any more money from him."

Republicans to Hold 'Grass Roots' Farm Convention at Ames

DES MOINES (AP) — Iowa farmers who have their own ideas about the kind of a farm program congress should enact will get a chance to express themselves at Ames tomorrow.

That will be the day of the "forum for farmers" sponsored by the Republican state central committee. It will be a preliminary to another farm meeting to be held at Sioux City Sept. 23-24, sponsored by the GOP national committee.

"The Ames meeting will be a grass roots meeting to learn what Iowa farmers are thinking regarding farm programs," Whitney Gilliland, Republican state chairman, commented yesterday. He added:

"There will be no political oratory. We feel the farmers should be the 'experts' on farm legislation and we're going to the farmer to get his advice and counsel on farm programs."

Gilliland said it is expected that representatives of the Iowa congressional delegation will attend the meeting, but, he added, "only as observers."

"What we want," Gilliland emphasized, "is an expression of opinion from the farmers."

Rep. Clifford (R-Kans), co-sponsor of a congressional farm program scheduled to become effective next Jan. 1, will be one of the speakers.

Four Iowa farmers have been asked to present their views in a panel discussion to get things started. They are C. Rollin Bufington, Glenwood; Lawrence Beckett, Boone; Scott Ellis, Dallas Center, and Harold McKinley, St. Ansgar.

"Among those who will attend are Guy G. Gabrielson, new Republican national chairman; Gov. William S. Beardsley and Secretary of Agriculture Harry D. Linn.

Navy's Attack Power Falling, Captain Claims

WASHINGTON (AP) — A navy captain said yesterday that the navy's attack power is being wrecked in the Pentagon and that he is throwing away his 30-year career by saying so publicly.

He said the furor over the airforce's B-36 bomber sprang partly from an attempt to keep military policy makers from "emasculating the offensive potential of the U.S. navy."

Capt. John G. Crommelin, member of the staff that does spade-work on America's top secret war plans, protested that the navy's offensive power is "being nibbled to death" and its morale destroyed. He told reporters he is t'assing overboard his career by speaking out because the navy's fighting spirit is "going to pot" and "I just can't stand it any longer."

"I'm finished," he said. "This means my naval career. But I hope this will blow the whole thing open and bring on another congressional investigation."

In a prepared statement, Crommelin said much of the same feeling as he holds may have "goaded" the late Secretary of Defense James V. Forrestal to suicide.

He said, too, that Forrestal told him July 1, 1947, that some airforce officers using "wild statements and acts" were "sniping at the army and navy to such an extent that I am afraid they will undermine the security of the country."

The country needs the navy as never before, Crommelin told reporters. But he said its fighting efficiency is going to pieces because the armed services are dominated by "the general staff." This is the army planning body. He also contended the navy is subject to "decision of two men on the joint chiefs of staff who may have a landlocked conception of national defense."

On the joint chiefs of staff are the chief of naval operations and the chiefs of staff of the army and airforce. Crommelin is on the staff working under the joint chiefs.

Democrats Teach Practical Politics

CHICAGO (AP) — Vice President Alben Barkley, Senator Scott Lucas of Illinois, Governor Adlai Stevenson of Illinois and Mayor Martin Kennelly of Chicago — all Democrats, gave 32,560 persons a demonstration of practical politics yesterday.

All four attended the Chicago Bears and New York Giants football game and were introduced at half-time to the Wrigley field audience.

"Being in politics," Barkley told the crowd, "I would like to see one team win, and being in politics, I won't say which one I wish."

Stevenson, Lucas and Kennelly were more outspoken. They said they were rooting for the Chicago Bears. Barkley quickly returned to the microphone and said: "These other men have said they were in politics, and therefore I would like to change my position. I would like to see the Bears win."

The Bears did, 20 to 17.

Five Men Break out Of Council Bluffs Jail

COUNCIL BLUFFS (AP) — Five men chopped their way free from the Potawatamie county jail last night.

Officials said they cut a foot-square hole through an 18-inch brick wall on the southwest corner of the old building.

The prisoners were discovered missing at about 8:10 p.m. by Jailer Otto Gudath, making a routine checkup on jail cells.

Hawaiian Arbitrators Report No Progress

NEW YORK (AP) — Efforts to end Hawaii's 133-day-old dock strike were called off last night for the week-end, with all sides reporting no progress toward a settlement.

Cyrus Ching, director of the federal conciliation and mediation service, announced that union and employer representatives would meet with him again tomorrow.

Favorites in Miss America Contest

(AP Wirephoto)

AMONG THE FAVORITES in the Miss America beauty contest at Atlantic City, N.J., are these four beauties, each a winner in preliminary bathing suit judgments. They are (left to right) Jacque Mercer, Miss Arizona; Jone Pederson, Miss California; Sylvia Canaday, Miss Colorado, and Trudy Germl, Miss Illinois. Miss Mercer won the Miss America title late last night.

Miss Arizona Wins Beauty Title

ATLANTIC CITY (AP) — "Miss Arizona" — Dark-haired Jacque Mercer of Litchfield — became Miss America last night. Gov. Alfred E. Driscoll of New Jersey placed a jeweled crown on the head of the 18-year-old ranch girl to the cheers of 22,000 spectators.

It was the first time in 29 years of the pageant that a public official took part in the crowning ceremony.

Miss Mercer won a $5,000 scholarship, a $3,000 automobile and numerous contracts for personal appearances.

She was selected from among 52 girls from 45 states, four major cities, Puerto Rico, Hawaii and Canada.

These are the new Miss America's statistics:

Five feet, four inches tall, 106 pounds, 34-inch bust, 22-inch waist, 34-inch hips.

The four runners up to Miss America and the scholarships they won:

"Miss Mississippi" — Katherine Wright, Pascagoula, $3,000.

"Miss Illinois" — Trudy Germl, Chicago, $2,500.

"Miss Colorado" — Sylvia Canaday, Denver, $2,000.

"Miss California" — Jone Ann Pederson, Santa Rosa, $1,500.

The new Miss America told the audience she plans to go to Stanford university to study dramatics.

"Plans for the future are marriage first, career second," she said.

She did not name any young man as her prospective husband.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur L. Mercer of the X-Bar-X ranch, Litchfield, Ariz.

The dark-eyed beauty has been studying at Phoenix, Ariz., junior college in preparation for Stanford.

Her trim figure was rated tops in a bathing suit during preliminaries earlier in the week.

Miss Mercer replaces 1948 Miss America, Bebe Shopp of Hopkins, Minn., whose year-long reign came to an end at midnight.

While the 52 candidates were narrowed last night to 15 finalists, then five and finally one, Miss Shopp sat on her throne clad in a gown that bore the flowers of all 48 states on its huge skirt.

Miss Mercer's favorite sport is not horseback-riding, as might be expected of a ranch girl, but trout fishing. She also likes to play golf.

Asked to what she attributes her prize-winning beauty, health and happiness, she answered: "Arizona sunshine, Arizona ancestors, and Arizona friends."

U.S. Schools Face 'Most Critical' Year, McGrath Announces

WASHINGTON (AP) — American schools, jammed as never before, are up against their "most critical year," U.S. Education Commissioner Earl James McGrath said yesterday.

McGrath is a former dean of the SUI liberal arts college. And Federal Security Administrator Oscar R. Ewing declared it is a situation calling for aid of congress as well as state and local action.

"Teacher and school housing shortages cannot be overcome by states and communities with their limited finances," Ewing said in a statement. The office of Education is a part of his department.

McGrath said that overcrowding and half sessions will "short change" many boys and girls. Elementary school enrollments will be rising a million a year for several years, he said.

McGrath has predicted a record enrollment of 32,671,500 in elementary and secondary schools and colleges this fall. The 1948-49 total was 31,880,000.

Cities represented at the meeting, to be held at the Jefferson hotel, are Muscatine, Davenport, Clinton, Dubuque, Marshalltown, Waterloo, Independence, Cedar Rapids and Iowa City.

First of the sessions is scheduled for 10 a.m.

Nebraskan Orders Vice Crackdown

LINCOLN, NEB. (AP) — Attorney General James H. Anderson last night ordered a statewide crackdown on gambling and directed that all law enforcement agencies, local and state, be marshaled for the drive.

The attorney general said if it were necessary he would utilize every agency of the state, including the safety patrol and men from his own office, to enforce the prohibition.

His order applies to all forms of gambling with the exception of pari-mutuel horse racing which is specifically exempted under the Nebraska law by constitutional amendment.

Anderson specifically cited slot machines and bingo, but said that other forms of gambling, including punch boards in public places, must be halted.

U.S. Searching Party Can't Find Noah's Ark

ISTANBUL, TURKEY (AP) — An American expedition seeking the remains of Noah's Ark on Mt. Ararat in southeastern Turkey has ended in failure, according to reports reaching here yesterday.

A reporter for the Turkish newspaper Vatan who accompanied the expedition said miserable weather forced the Americans to give up after 15 days.

CALIFORNIAN DIES

NEEDLES, CALIF. (AP) — Rep. Richard J. Welch, 80, of San Francisco, died yesterday. He suffered a heart attack on an eastbound Santa Fe train Friday night.

Kidnapped 4-Year-Old Safe

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Blonde little Janie Franz, 4, safe and sound after a night with a strange man, told her daddy yesterday, "I'll never go riding with a stranger again."

The man she said took her in his auto Friday from her Trenton, N.J., neighborhood was charged with kidnapping and indecent assault. He was docketed as Gerald A. Hutt, 35, of Bridgeport, Conn., and said he was a brush salesman estranged from his wife and two children.

Hutt waived extradition. He was taken to Trenton later for arraignment last night. Under New Jersey law, maximum punishment for kidnapping is life imprisonment.

Janie and her father, John Franz, Trenton truck driver, were reunited in a police station here. The little girl sat on her daddy's lap as he stroked her head. They spoke in whispers.

"I wouldn't take a million dollars for this moment," Franz said.

The little girl was reported missing late Friday. Playmates said a stranger took her into a battered car and drove away. She was found yesterday morning standing beside the Philadelphia-Trenton highway.

"Thank God, thank God," sobbed the mother when a reporter told her the child was safe.

As they sat talking with reporters in the police station, Franz asked his daughter why she went away with a stranger.

The child who will be five in November, replied, "He called me over, Daddy, and said, do you want to take a ride with me. I said no. He said, sure you want to take a ride and pulled me into the car."

"I said I want to see my mommy and daddy but the man said, we'll go for a little ride and then I'll bring you home."

"I'll never go for a ride with a stranger again Daddy."

Police testified the unshaven, disheveled Hutt admitted taking the five-year-old child into his car and sleeping with her Friday night.

When Detective Bernard McLaughlin quoted Hutt as having said he slept with the girl at a farmhouse, Hutt shouted: "I did not, I did not."

McLaughlin said Hutt told him he did not assault the girl but did undress her and molest her.

Dr. Morris Seltzer, police physician, examined the girl at Philadelphia general hospital. He told reporters the examination showed the child had not been assaulted.

Janie's only testimony was to nod affirmatively when Magistrate Thomas Costello asked her, "Just tell me if that's the man whose car you were in."

Later, sitting in a small cell, Hutt told a reporter his version of the ride.

"I stopped on a street corner," he said, "and the little girl (Janie) got in the car. I drove until we came to a farm about a mile from the Philadelphia city line."

"We had supper at the farm and slept in separate beds overnight."

"I was taking the child back to

JOHN FRANZ KISSED and held tightly his five-year-old daughter Janie in a police station yesterday shortly after the girl was found. Police said the child had been kidnapped while playing in front of her New Jersey home when Gerald A. Hutt drove up in his car and took her away. Hutt is being held without bail.

Sioux Citian Blasts Attorney General

SIoux CITY (AP) — Fred H. Free, 77-year-old cleric of the city council, declared yesterday that Robert Larson, Iowa attorney general, "doesn't dare stick his nose in here" to investigate Free's charges of graft and corruption.

The former city attorney said Larson was afraid of politics. He smashed at what he said was Larson's statement that Sioux City now "is cleaner than it has been in 30 years."

That might be true at present, he admitted, but he declared it is true only because "when the cat's around, the mice get in their holes. They're there now and they'll stay there until after the grand jury has met."

Federal Road Fund For Iowa Announced

WASHINGTON (AP) — Allotments to the states from the $45-million authorized for the year ending June 30, 1951, for improvements to primary, secondary and urban roads were announced yesterday by Secretary of Commerce Charles Sawyer.

Iowa was allotted $9,841,917 for its share of the road improvement fund. Funds for the Iowa primary roads totaled $4,913,437; secondary roads, $3,513,955 and urban roads, $1,414,525.

Sawyer said that the individual states are required to match the funds put up by the federal government. Allotments for the year become available Oct. 1 and will remain available to the state until June 30, 1953.

They also suggested that priests and ministers be restrained from "overstepping their authority in secular matters."

A steady stream of arm-waving speakers flowed across the stage at yesterday's continuous session, in which the congress is trying to clean up the backlog of 30 liberals, left-wingers and Communists who want to address the "peace" assembly before it ends today.
