Maryland's all-winning push kept J, Mi, t educatedly. We're in the middle of something, the coach declared. The Terps haven't lost the 14-14 game since they gave up a 3-7 loss to the Packers in the 1994 Pro Bowl.

The game was a convincing 14-14 victory for the Terps, who scored their first touchdown of the season when quarterback Billy Cox threw a 14-yard touchdown pass to halfback Ryan Siler in the second quarter. Maryland's defense held the Packers scoreless in the second half, forcing two turnovers and limiting their offense to just 14 points.
