Elections are coming and the political parties are bustling with activity. The candidates are making their rounds, trying to win over the voters. The campaign rhetoric is filled with promises and attacks. It's a time of great anticipation and tension.

candidates are running on various platforms. Their platforms range from economic policies to social issues. The candidates are trying to appeal to the voters' needs and desires.

The election process is complex and involves several stages. First, the candidates must register and submit their candidacies. Then, they must campaign to gain support. Finally, the voters go to the polls and cast their ballots. The results of the election determine who will hold office.

It's a crucial time for the nation, as the elected officials will shape the policies and directions of the country. The candidates' promises and policies will influence the future of the nation.

As citizens, it's important to be informed and knowledgeable about the candidates and their platforms. This will help us make informed decisions and choose the candidate that best represents our interests.

The political process is a continuous one, with new elections and candidates coming each year. It's a dynamic and ever-evolving system, always changing and adapting to meet the needs of the nation.

All-SUI-Student TV Show
Scheduled for WOC-TV

By BELL BARKER

Gals, tough breeziness and a big 4th of July bonus are all part of an original light mystery, "Alias Juan Skelly," which an all-SUI student TV show will present at 2 p.m., today.

The play was written by Edith Redinger, N.Y., and directed by Tom Viner, A. of Pennsylvania.

Students appearing will be Tony Study, A., Urban City, N. J.; Janie Bigner, A., New York; Jim Adam, A., Pennsylvania, Mr. and Mrs. Peter, A., Ogle, and Jack Nybakken, A., Illinois.

First Student-Written Show

This will be the first student-written show on the WOC-TV schedule. The first show is to incorporate the principle of the script, which is common in the theater.

Two completely new and unique plays will also make their debut. The one written by Edith Redinger is a farce and the other is a tragicomedy. A second show is planned, but this has not been revealed.

Far East Airforce Using Bombs Controlled by Radio

WASHINGTON 8 — Radio-controlled bombs now are being used in the Far East.

Two types of guided bombs are being used. One is a radio-bomb equipped with advanced models made in England, and has discrimination on chemical warfare munitions. The other is a radar-guided type.

In World War II bombs, it was found that the bomb should be launched close to the target. Radar is used to locate the target and guide the bomb to within limits after release from the plane, it was found.

Duffy said that before the war, only experts could control the bombs. Nowadays, even soldiers on the ground can control the bombs using a control tower. (Ag.

50 Witnesses to Appear Before Crime Committee

NEW YORK — The biggest crime investigation yet to be held by the city — the huge Chelsea racket probe — is under way in U.S. District Court, and hundreds of witnesses are scheduled to testify.

A sense of excitement permeated the courtroom, and the audience listened intently as the evidence was presented.

Top among the politicians present was Frank X. Martel, the Democratic candidate for governor, who was expected to testify in person.

The hearing is expected to last for several weeks, and will be followed by a hearing in the state Supreme Court.

ATO’s ‘Change Hell Week’ into ‘Construction Week’

ATO (Army Training Operations) announced today that it has changed its annual ‘Change Hell Week’ into ‘Construction Week’ as a way to improve morale and productivity.

ATO spokespeople said that the change was made after consultations with the troops and that it was decided that the name ‘Change Hell Week’ was too negative.

The new name, ‘Construction Week’, was chosen because it better reflects the focus on building and improving facilities during the week.
