Senate Group Votes $5.7-Million for SUI

The appropriations committee of the Iowa senate Wednesday morning approved the operating budget for SUI for each of the next two years.

Although the proposed appropriation is an increase over the SUI budget, it is less than had been expected. The committee voted to give SUI $5.7 million, a decrease from the $5.9 million the Governor requested.

The bill was approved by a vote of 19-0.

Interest for Hospital

The bill provides for an interest rate of 3% on the SUI building fund to prevent the institution from losing interest on the $80 million of SUI bonds. The money will be invested for the benefit of the hospital.

The group also approved the building fund which will be used to build new buildings to accommodate the growing hospital.

The committee voted to accept a report of the Iowa State Board of Health which recommended an increase in the building fund.

Red Withdrawal Puzzles UN Leaders

By JEFF ERIKSON

The South Korean Army's Third, Fourth, and Fifth Divisions, which have been in the fighting on the western front of the Korean War since the armistice agreement was signed on July 27, 1953, have been ordered to pull out of the front line. This move is being kept secret by the South Korean government.

The withdrawal of the South Korean forces from the front line is expected to cause widespread panic among the UN forces, who have been facing severe resistance from the Chinese troops in the area.

The United Nations Command (UNC) has been under increasing pressure from the UN Security Council to take action against the Chinese troop buildup in the area. The UNC has been considering various options, including a military operation, but has been unable to reach a consensus.

The withdrawal of the South Korean forces is likely to be seen as a sign of weakness by the UNC, and could further undermine its ability to maintain its hold on the front line.

1951: The Year Of The Big Snow In Iowa City

IOWA CITY'S 26 INCHES of snow made imagination back to childhood snowballs, snowforts, and this new Harrow, Roger J.
Newton, C4, Conrad, posed with Harvey, creation of married students of Manse house, 4 E. Market street.

CAR PARKED FRIDAY RESEMBLED IGLOO
by Wednesday, and unless a person remembered just where in a parking lot he'd parked his car it was conceivable to shovel your way behind the wrong steering wheel.

THE SNOW WAS SNOWING, the wind was blowing, but Iowa City weathered the storm. The girls of Currier Hall noted their work was worth it, having fun in the snow. Iowa City, Iowa 1951.

NOBODY LOSES FAITH in the US mail man however deep the snow, but even the mail carrier needed signs this week.

THE BIGGEST SHOVEL IN TOWN
headed Iowa City's business district. The white snow could be pushed to the north in residential areas, but down the street, the snow had to be removed. Nobody really noticed when city workers took the snow. In fact, snow was one thing all Iowa City had—and few people cared for more.

THE JOB NO ONE IN IOWA CITY ENJOYED was the task of clearing snow from the street near its 35 years. City workers, however, used a snow-blower, an end-loader, and 5-6 tractors laboring day and night to remove the business district.

CAR CHAINS that a few days earlier hung in garages or rattle in car trunks were suddenly found useful on tire wheels and were then many available for more than chains which can supply on snow.

MAYOR PRESTON KOSER took his old end-loader downtown. The city had every man at work pushing the snow out of the way,
city, and it can't be cleared even if it's for long.
