ECA's 'Answer Back' To Red Propaganda

By ESTHER VAN WAGENER TUFT
Central Press Correspondent
PARIS — Communist propaganda posters appeared on American streets. They are too compelling.

Worse, visiting Americans look around and find other American "answer back" posters on the billboards of Europe.

Peter C. Holovak, ECA official recognized as a genius at "visual" propaganda, admitted it was a great temptation "to answer back." But present ECA policy has decided on a more long range "answer back." It calls for each European country, instead of the U.S. A., to respond to the Communist "answer-back" posters appearing along roadways and on city walls.

One way is with billboards. Germans, Frenchmen, Dutchmen, and others sign their names to a card attached to a billboard which is released on borders of Russia-held land. The card carries a simple freedom-loving message about how fine life is in the free and just land and that card is returned. Some 175,000 were returned from just one assignment and even cards from far away Hungary were received.

Maybe some day the ECA policy "answer back," which is the direct "answer-back" to Red propaganda...

Mrs. George Robson, Armory Win First
In Petunia Contest

Mr. George Robson, 215 Lexington, was named the winner of the 18 centum contest, held at the armory yesterday. Mrs. J. C. Fuhrmeister won the first prize of ten dollars, which was awarded in a drawing among the contestants. The contest was sponsored by the armory, and was open to all members of the community.

Light Conditioning Can Charm a Small Bedroom

Mrs. J. C. Fuhrmeister, who won the first prize, gave a talk on light conditioning and how it can charm a small bedroom.

LITING PLAYS a big part in making a room bright and cheery. By using the right lighting, even the smallest space can become a cozy and inviting place.

Mrs. J. C. Fuhrmeister, who won the first prize in the light conditioning contest, talked about how lighting can be used to enhance the atmosphere of a room. She explained that the key to successful lighting is balance. Too much light can be overwhelming, while too little can be depressing. She suggested using a combination of overhead lighting, wall sconces, and table lamps to create a warm and inviting ambiance.

Mrs. J. C. Fuhrmeister also gave tips on how to choose the right type of lighting for different areas of the home. For example, she recommended using brighter lighting in living rooms and bedrooms to create a cozy and relaxing atmosphere, while using softer, more subdued lighting in dining rooms and kitchens.

She also emphasized the importance of considering the color temperature of the bulbs. Cool white bulbs create a crisp and fresh look, while warm white bulbs create a warm and inviting atmosphere.

Mrs. J. C. Fuhrmeister also talked about how lighting can be used to create a focal point in a room. By using brighter lighting on one wall, you can draw attention to a piece of art or a piece of furniture.

Mrs. J. C. Fuhrmeister's talk was well received by the audience, and everyone was inspired to try out new lighting ideas in their own homes. She concluded her talk by encouraging everyone to experiment with different lighting options and to have fun with it.

Midget, Clown Already

More Surprises Coming

—Veek Promises Fans

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The town is still talking about the St. Louis Midget and clown, and club owner Bill Veeck promised Monday that far more surprises are in store.

"And why not?" Veeck asked. "Didn't everyone enjoy the show we put on with Maudie the Midget and the clown, who was a big hit?"

Highlight of the show was the use of a midget, Ed Geedle of Chicago, as a pleaser in the second game of the doubleheader against the Detroit Tigers.

Ed Geedle overshadowed the clowns, jugglers — even the free ice cream and cake — as far as conversation went.

Geedle, 3 feet, 11 inches tall, was signed after a contract Saturday. He appeared for rookie Frank Baetser in the first inning of the nightcap. "I've had some upsets from bigger fans than that!" Veek said. He didn't elaborate on the squawks.

"I've got a great idea for us go for six in that little park, the Red Sox bring out their giants like Ted Williams and Dick Radcliffe, and those guys beat our brains out. Can't we offer with the Red Sox?"

"(Farway Park, where the Red Sox play their home games, has a local rivalry with the Sox, and those guys beat our brains out. Can't we offer with the Red Sox?"

"No, he said, "We just gave him the day off on the day.

Geedle won't see action tonight. The Browns will use their regulars against the Reds, who are making a big push for the American league.

But Veeck wouldn't say what plans he has for Geedle after that.

The Browns players didn't mind the split.

"As star pitcher Ned Garver summed it up: "It will be better than a split. We played well, but we probably would have been a mistake—he was using a midget bat.

CHICAGO (AP) — Eddie Gaedel, the 3-foot-7-inch midget of the E. Louis Browns, said Monday night he looked Lange to the time he can step to the plate.

2,000-pound man. "But I suppose I will go at 300 this year," he added.

Clark Lee, Gaedel's agent, said the midget was on call at any time by Veeck and that he was certain when he was be called the White Sox in Comiskey Park in the next series Sept. 22 and II.

One of the primary reasons Veeck wanted Gaedel was because he wants to "send him to the plate when the bases are loaded.

Frank Lane, general manager of the White Sox, still Veeck was perfectly well satisfied with the Gaedel contract with the Sox.

"We know there are no limitations on the size of his bat."

"I don't know, I can't say I voted for it."

"Veeck never saw a fellow to surprise a pitcher Sunday.

"Well, he went after the box, and missed it.

"I don't know."

"I never know how to face on the mound are Bob LaBumbini and Joe Garbarino."

"Two guys I'd like to face on the mound are Bob LaBumbini and Joe Garbarino."

"They don't allow me to go over the bases."

Pull Biggest Hockey Cash Deal In History

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Blackhawk moved from Chicago to the meeting on Monday to rid themselves of the terminal billing by selling off the largest cash deal in NHL history, $75,000 in six players.

The Hawks paid the sum to the Detroit Red Wings for forwards Jim Peters, Jim McFadden, George Gee and Mike Mahoney, and defense men Clare Martin and Clev Ray. The Wings also have been contacted, several have been contacted, several have been contacted, several have been contacted, several have been contacted, several have been contacted.

It was the largest cash deal since Trenton paid the Ottawa Senators $35,000 for King Clancy in the 1938.

John Gottsclig, Chicago's general manager, said Monday's deal was to plug up Hawks, defense, a weakness which has persisted since they won their last Stanley cup away back in 1938.

As a result, they have wound up in last place of the last five of the last five seasons, and last year, after a promising start, wound up with 11 cash deals in the dollar.

In addition to bolstering the Hawks, Gottsclig said that the Wings, among the league's best, would make the loss of the loss of Gee and Peters, starwary of the Hawks, a strong enough source for Gordy Howie, Bob Abel and Bob Lindsay.

Killer Hurricane Blows toward Texas Coast

MEXICO CITY — One of history’s worst Caribbean storms dashed toward the Texas coast Monday after killing at least 118 persons in Jamaica and the Yucatan peninsula.

Hundreds more were injured and thousands homeless after the 100-mile-an-hour tropical storm hurled across the Caribbean, aged Jamaica and cut a wide swath of destruction through Yucatan.

The “killer” hurricane raced toward the northern Mexican coast where it was expected to strike before Brownsville, Tex., late this afternoon.

Huge waves and northwesterly gales sweeping 300 miles ahead of the storm stirred up heavy seas and endangered small craft.

The U.S. navy evacuated airplanes from Corpus Christi naval station.

The wind caused “enormous damage” to the 260-mile-wide Yucatan peninsula, which separates the Caribbean from the Gulf of Mexico.

At least one person was killed, scores were injured and hundreds of homes destroyed in the three-day storm raging across the peninsula with winds gusting to 130 miles an hour.

However, they said the toll would be less than that on the island of Jamaica, where damage was estimated as high as $20 million.

The death toll already was the highest caused by a hurricane since September, 1938, when more than 450 persons were killed in the northeastern United States.

The hurricane that hit Galveston, Tex., Sept. 1, 1900, caused the record death toll of 6,000.

Weather specialists warned that the hurricane would build up force again as it sweeps across the gulf and might drive ashore on the Mexican coast south of the U.S. border.

If the storm holds its present course it will strike the northeastern Mexican coast between Tampico and Brownsville, Tex.

Suspected Diplomat Testifies On Reds

WASHINGTON — Suspended Diplomat O. Edmund Clough, who defected Monday that former Secretary of State Cordell Hull would advise U.S. officials in China in 1934 to extend all possible “courtesies” to alleged Comintern agents to save face, was returning at ease.

On Monday, the far eastern writer once accused of Russian espionage, testified before the House committee investigating the activities of the so-called “hedgehogs.”

Clough told the house-Communist activities committee that he had written diplomatic and consular officials in China that “the intelligence of Sen. Robert E. Wagner” was “preposterous.”

He accused the senator of being “preposterously” mistaken because he “never met Whittaker Chambers, former Communist.”

Clough also conceded that he was wrong when he told the committee in the last March that to the best of his knowledge and belief he never met Whittaker Chambers, former Communist, after he voluntarily submitted a diary showing he met Chambers in the offices of a New York magazine in 1932.

Heads Storm Through Guyana

The hurricane struck the northeastern coast of Guyana Monday afternoon, but did not gain much in intensity.

In the capital of Georgetown, there was much excitement and confusion.

There was uprooting of trees and heavy rains.

The wind reached 115 miles an hour.

There were reports of heavy damage at South Georgetown.

It was expected to strike the northeastern coast of Brazil Monday afternoon.

The hurricane will bring about 100 miles of destruction.

The observed wind gusts were 115 miles an hour.
